WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—[Correspondence of the N. Y. Herald.]—Gov. Walker had his second interview with Mr. Buchanan to-day, but each remained fixed in his own opinion, and there is but little or no hope of a compromise. The Governor says he could not influence a single man in Kansas to vote for the constitution, so great is the popular prejudice there to the whole proceeding. His idea is that Congress should promptly pass a bill, similar in all respects to the Minnesota Territorial bill, providing for a State government in Kansas. This would avoid the whole difficulty, by doing away with any action whatever on the late convention. Letters received to-day show the overwhelming popular opposition in the Territory to the constitution.

VESSEL ROBBED OF $10,000.—New York, Nov. 30.—A heavy robbery was committed on board the barque Pentucket on Saturday evening, whilst lying in the stream.—While the captain was absent on shore, the cabin was entered, and two casks of doubloons, of the value of $10,000, were stolen. The Pentucket was bound for Trinadad. The mate and cook are missing.

The Albany Knickerbocker cautions four black cats that are continually serenading in the back shed, that there is a sausage shop two doors to the right.

High Testimonials

IN Favor of Professor Kelly's New Invention of WRITING.

The study of years reduced to a few hours, which is sustained by the testimony of eminent and independent men in the Union, whose letters he holds in his possession, corresponding with the following statements, which is convincing proof of the extraordinary results produced by his new invention.

Rt. Rev. Bishop Clarke, of Rhode Island, says in his letter:—"I would give more for six lessons from Professor Kelly, then for sixty from any other teacher I ever knew."

Rev. Dr. Blagden and Ex-Mayor Seaver of Boston. Rev. Dr. Putnam of Roxbury, and Prof. Warren of Amherst College, have also given letters which Prof. Kelly holds, in testimony of the unquestionable results produced by this invention.

Rev. Mr. Ellis, of Charlestown, Mass., has certified by letter, to the very remarkable change produced by this invention, and says that the improvement in his son's hand-writing, resulting therefrom, had not only been very satisfactory, but wonderful; he therefore was pleased to admit of reference and application to him.

The above are only a few of the many testimonials which are in Prof. Kelly's possession, from some of the most eminent men in the Union.

Applications may be made to Prof. Kelley, through the Chronicle Office. n25 a 28

WE WISH TO SAY TO EVERY PERSON Who reads this that there is an article known as "Dr Sanford's Invigorator or Liver Remedy," which can be relied on as certain to cure liver complaint in any of its forms, such as Jaundice, Dyspepsia, and numerous other complaints, described in another column, besides which it is one of the greatest preparations or cures for consumption, taken in early stages, that is now known.

We take it for granted, as experiment has proven, that diseases of the lungs are not generally the first cause of consumption, but a debilitated system, caused by the improper action of the liver, reduces the power of the lungs to resist or throw off diseases caused by cold and irritation, leaving the lungs at the mercy of one disease, because the liver has incapacitated them from performing their proper action of throwing off diseased matter caused by cold, thus to prevent consumption, cure the liver, and keep the system strong enough to throw off slight diseases of the lungs.

There is not in the world a better liver remedy or acure for debilitated system, than "Dr. Sanford's Invigorator," for it has been fully tried in large and extended practice, till its results are fully known and now it is offered as a tried remedy, and one that can be relied on.

NEW TRIAL.

The learned and zealous advocate of rum-sellers and rioters, who eats dirty bread and gets dirtier votes by defending a bad cause in a bad manner, now skulks as an anonymous scribbler behind the anonymous editor of a newspaper.—When he shall look up with the calm gaze of an honest man, and sign his name to his pieces, Uncle Toby will hold himself in readiness to discuss relative characters with the advocate and his equally respectable clients and witnesses.

In the mean time, the case State vs. Pierce, for assault on Mr. Coult, had been carried up by the prisoner's appeal, from the Police Court to the Common Pleas; but seeing conviction ahead and apparently inevitable, like a wise man the prisoner backs out and pays up.

But the zealous advocate is not quite satisfied, and so he brings the suit anew before Uncle Toby in the High Court of Public Opinion. The advocate's plea is as follows:

1. The same editor now announces that the case is settled, and suggests as a reason that the defendant desired to save his witnesses from deeper and more deliberate falsehood.

2. When it is remembered that at the trial in the Police Court, the editor was directly contradicted in his testimony by by some half dozen witnesses, as respectable as himself, it seemed strange that it did not occur to him that the defendant settled his case to avoid perjury in a very different quarter.

3. We are informed however, that the prosecution was not settled till it was certain that the case must be continued to the next term of the Court for trial; and the defendant was advised that the expense of carrying his witnesses to Exeter to make good his defence, would probably exceed the fine and costs imposed by the Police Court.

The Court suggests, first, that the learned counsel's statement No. 1, is a gross error. He is a poor lawyer, and a poorer grammarian, who mistakes a consequence for a cause; and the man who wilfully puts the one for the other, is simply a ——.

Now let us look at what the Chronicle really said. In the Court report of the Daily Morning Chronicle, Nov. 25, was the following item, verbatim:—

The case State vs. Alfred Pierce, for assaulting Mr. John G. Coult last April, which was brought up by appeal from the Police Court of Portsmouth,—has been very wisely settled by payment of fine and costs, about $35, by the prisoner, who thus backs out. By this wise course, the offender has saved the expense of a jury trial; has spared his witnesses the occasion of deeper and more deliberate falsehood; and avoided the more severe penalty to which he would have been extremely liable.

There is not one word about the prisoner's reasons,—of them we know nothing;—but it is a true statement of consequences, which we will presently prove by the advocate's own statement of advice. He may plead ignorance or design, just as he pleases, in this perversion; but every schoolboy will see that he is guilty of one or the other.

2. The Court suggests, on the Advocate's statement No. 2, that of his "half dozen witnesses as respectable as himself," only one of them was near enough to see clearly anything of the assault; and tho' he promised the Advocate, and threatened Uncle Toby, that he would swear Coult struck first,—yet he never came!—The remaining five who did testify, really contradicted nobody but themselves, and would, if they had come before a jury, have testified themselves into accomplices and compliters of the crime, as they did before the city justice. They testified to seeing what never happened, and at the same time, swore themselves so far off, and behind a rising ground, that they could not have seen it if it had happened. The advocate's suggestion that the prisoner settled to keep somebody else from perjury (by telling the truth) is a little too rich for the court house, though exactly in keeping with such "penitent sinners" as his clients are usually painted in his pleas.

3dly. The advocate's statement that the settlement was not made till a certain postponement was ordered, may be true; but it is also true that the prisoner promised to settle, six weeks before. And lastly, if the advocate gave that advice about expense, it was very wise as well as very rich, and proves that the advocate as well as his client, looked forward to a verdict of Guilty! Every lawyer knows that in a criminal case, the prisoner may have as many witnesses as he pleases, and the government must pay them! If he is found not guilty, he is free of cost. If guilty, and only if guilty, then he must bear the expense.

The Court considers, that as Uncle Toby saw the assault, and he says the prisoner was guilty,—and as the Advocate deems it probable,—then there can be no doubt of it. The decision of the Court below is affirmed.

THE LYCEUM.

Yes, the Lyceum,—who is going to the Lyceum to-night? Or, rather, who is not going? There are at least five reasons why everybody who can,—everybody who has got a "dollar or two" to spare—should go to this Lyceum. First, because at least one public literary institution ought to be sustained in Portsmouth during the coming winter, at any rate; next, because the course will be worthy of liberal support and encouragement in itself considered; third, because the Lyceum is gotten up by the Mercantile Library Association—and every dollar paid for it, goes to aid and encourage the young men of our city, and cannot fail to be well invested; fourth, because Mrs. Wentworth, who is to sing some of her best songs, is besides being a charming vocalist, a native of this city, and merits a full house on a professional visit home; and fifth, (last and greatest,) because that glorious good fellow, and most soulfull of poets, Albert Laighton, is to read an original Poem. If all our citizens who love him and his hymnings, are there, nobody else can get into the Temple. Let our public show that they appreciate native talent and real worth, by welcoming him with every seat full, on this his first appearance thus in public.

We have stated attractions enough; but will mention that Mr. Lang, the pianist who accompanies Mrs. Wentworth, is a very talented and popular player.

So get your season tickets to-day—this one entertainment is worth the price of a couple; and all you get afterwards, will be clear gain.

POLICE COURT.

MONDAY, Nov. 30.

Before Justice Odell.—The case of Andrew Goodrich, accused of setting fire to the dwelling of John Holland, was taken up and finished. It was proved that Goodrich made threats of personal violence and burning, against Holland; that Goodrich was at the house in the evening; and that fire and smoke were smelt two hours before the alarm.

For the defence, Goodrich had two witnesses: first, an Irishman, who saw him in Water street at a certain hour; second his brother's wife, who met him in Hanover street, half an hour afterwards. Unluckily for the prisoner, he might easily have been in both these places at the times stated, and be also at the place of the fire, which is in the line of travel between the two. Thus this defence was a little worse than nothing.

The justice considered that there was ground to bind him over to the Supreme Judicial Court for trial. Bonds $500.

☞ On Sunday evening, at the Stone Church, were held the Anniversary services of the City Mission.

Rev. Mr. Whiting offered prayer. Rev. Dr. Lamson read the City Missionary's Report for the year past, and also the Report of the Female Charitable Society.

After the address Rev. Mr. Whiting made some remarks on the mission, and especially on temperance.

Remarks, generally brief and to good purpose, were also made by Rev. Messrs. Patterson and Lamson, and by Messrs. T. G. Sonter, I. Goodwin, H. D. Walker and W. H. Y. Hackett. The latter spoke particularly of the employment procured for boys, by city missions, which he deemed worthy of support for preventing the evils of juvenile crime.

Rev. Dr. Peabody made a word of remark, the exercises closing with a hymn.

The meeting was a good one, and left the impression that the City Mission is valuable, and must be sustained.

☞ The Inquest on the body of Capt. Wm. Walsh, has not yet closed its labors. His pockets were perfectly whole, but quite empty;—and the marks on each side of the throat, give rise to painful suspicions, that he may have been choked, robbed, and thrown overboard, by some of the villains who lurk around in the dens of thieves, assaulters and robbers.

☞ On Monday afternoon Capt. Benj. Mitchell, of Kittery Point, fell overboard at the Spring Market. He seized hold his boat, but being unable to get in, (probably owing to the Maine Law not being enforced) was carried by the tide down as far as the Narrows, when he was rescued by a boat from the Navy Yard. On Saturday last he was found in his boat, fast asleep, and his craft adrift in the stream.

☞ One day last week, after the afternoon train had left the Eastern depot in this city, an elderly gentleman was found lying alongside the baggage-stand, much bruised and jammed. He had either fallen or jumped from the cars; and narrowly escaped death.

☞ The accident to the Boston train on Saturday evening in Hayes's Ledge—which we chronicled on Monday morning—was near being disastrous to life and property. The cars were thrown from the track near this end of the cut; and after running a number of rods, and crushing into and over a culvert, were stopped just as they were falling down a high embankment. Had the engine not kept on the track, or had the couplings of the cars broken, the train would have rolled over and over down the bank.

The engineer saw the calves just before the engine struck them, and gave the signal to break up; but the train was carried a considerable distance by the momentum, with the two passenger cars off the track—tearing the steps, platform, &c., from the rear car, and throwing the breakman off. His break was found to be set clear up, however; and he carried his wheel with him.

The passengers were much jolted, and not a little frightened; and one young lady was so much affected as to be insensible for several hours. The escape of the whole with so slight damage, was providential. Probably Mr. Hayes will keep his gates closed a little more carefully, after this.

Two or three gentlemen who were riding in the baggage-car at the time of the accident, found the boxes and trunks rattling down about their ears. It is never safe to ride among baggage or freight, for this reason.

SHORT PASSAGE FROM CALCUTTA.—The passage of the Dashing Wave, from Calcutta, recorded in our ship columns to-day, is one of the shortest on record. The Staffordshire in 1853 performed it in 83 days, and the Witch of the Wave in the same year in 84 days; while the Dashing Wave, in a much more boisterous and unfavorable season was but 85 days from port to port. The gallant ship is as stout, staunch and strong as when first launched from the Portsmouth yard. "Long may she wave."—Boston Journal.

The Witch of the Wave was built in this city, by Geo. Raynes & Son, in 1851, and was afterwards sold out of the country; her name being again used, in 1855, by the same builders.—The Dashing Wave by Fernald & Petigrew in 1853.

☞ Prof. Kelly, whose advertisement is in another column, brings the most abundant testimonials to his skill in imparting a knowledge of the principles of writing, and in correcting and improving the handwriting of pupils, whose youthful days and time are wasted by the old ordinary and common mode still practiced. This he does in six lessons, during which he does not put pen to paper with his own hand. It might seem impossible for him to do this; but he defies criticism—self-evident truth must prevail. He has numerous vouchers from among the best judges to prove it.

LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed to superintend their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as well protected as if they were present. The Manager would respectfully call attention to the fact that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are authorized by the Legislature of that State. A lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year, all the year round, and the drawings are drawn next to take place after the same comes to hand. According to the scheme one ticket in every ten will win a prize. Tickets are $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2 50. No tickets sent unless the money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers which has so mystified the buyer. Prizes vary from $40 to $500; every prize is well protected as if they were present at the drawing. Another fact which the managers call attention to, is, that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Maryland, as lotteries are legalized by special law in that state. A lottery is drawn every day in Maryland, and if no particular class is named, orders are filled in the first drawing to take place after the communication comes to hand. The prices of tickets vary from $1 to $20. No tickets are, however, sent unless the money for the same is received with the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket (after the Havana plan), and present a combination. Prizes vary in amount from $20 to $100 00. All orders for tickets or packages will receive prompt attention, and the drawing mailed to all purchasers immediately after it is over.

☞ The drawn numbers of the Maryland Lotteries are published by the State Commissioner in the following papers: Sun, Clipper, Patriot, American, Argus, of Baltimore; also, the National Intelligencer and Union, of Washington, D.C.

A BEAUTIFUL HEAD

OF RICH GLOSSY HAIR,

TO THE GREATEST AGE.

AND who that is gray would not have it restored to former color; or bald, but would have the growth restored; or, if the scalp had ruff and itching but would have it removed, or troubled with scrofula, scald head, or other eruptions or with headache, troublesome but would be cured. It will also remove all pimples from the face and skin. Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative will do all this. See circular and the following:

ANN ARBOR, November 5th, 1856.

PROF. O. J. WOOD—Dear Sir: I have heard much said of the wonderful Nice-ness of your Hair Restorative, but having been so often cheated by quackery and quack nostrums, hair dyes, &c., I had resolved to place your Restorative in the same category with the celebrated and now loudly trumpeted quack remedies, until I met you in Lawrence county some months since, when you gave me such assurance of the merits of the trial of your Restorative in my family—first, by my good wife, whose hair had become very thin, and entirely white, and before exhausting one of your large bottles, her hair was restored nearly to its original beautiful brown color, and had thickened and become beautiful and glossy upon, and entirely over the head; and, to my mind, it not simply because of its beautifying effects upon the hair, but because of its healthful influence upon the scalp, I am induced to use it in my family and friends are using your Restorative, with the happiest effects; therefore my skepticism and doubts in reference to its character, have entirely removed; and I can and do most cordially and confidentially recommend its use by all who would have their hair restored from white or gray, (by reason of sickness or age,) to original color and beauty, and by all young persons who would have the hair beautiful and glossy.

Very truly and gratefully yours,

SOLOMON MANN.

FRIEND WOOD: It was a long time after I saw you at Blissfield before I got the bottle of Restorative for which you gave me an order upon your agent in Detroit; and when I got it we concluded to try it on Mrs. Mann's hair, as the surest test of its power. It has done all that you assured me it would do; and others of my family and friends, having witnessed its effects, are using and recommending its use to others as entitled to the highest consideration you claim for it.

Again, very respectfully and truly yours,

SOLOMON MANN.

CARLISLE, Ill., June 28, 1852.

I have used Prof. O. J. Wood's Hair Restorative, and have obtained its effects. My hair was becoming gray, so much so as to attract the eye; but by the use of his Restorative it has resumed its original color, and I have no doubt permanently.

IMPROVED EMPIRE STATE,

this celebrated Cooking Stove having been in the market many years, is too well known to need any recommendation from us, we would only say that we have received a large Stock of different sizes, to which we invite the attention of purchasers.

THE WHITE MOUNTAIN IMPROVED,

being among the first class Cooking Stoves, is a very heavy, durable, and economical Cook Stove, and a good operator with either wood or coal, and warranted to give satisfaction in every particular.

THE REPUBLIC.

This Stove has been in the market a few years, and those who have used it, speak in the highest terms of its good qualities.

All sizes on hand, and every Stove warranted.

Also on hand all the different kinds of the most approved patterns; among which are the

BAY STATE, TROY, STAR, AMERICAN, BANNER, NIAGARA, PORTLAND, AURORA, &c.

Magee's Patent Ventilating Stove.

FOR WARMING AND VENTILATING

PARLORS, OFFICES, HALLS, STORES, SCHOOL HOUSES, &c.

WHICH for economy, purity of air, and ease of management, has no equal. It can be regulated so as to give and unlike all other Anthracite Coal Burners, ventilate the apartments quite as thoroughly, as a wood fire or Franklin, producing a current of Air, at once moist, pure and agreeable, and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache, so much complained of by those using Stoves and Furnaces, is entirely obviated. The fire may be continued from one to four days without replenishing.

Any amount of Heat required;

These Stoves are beautiful in design, and finished in the most perfect manner. They are equally appropriate, and have given universal satisfaction to all who have adopted them.

For Offices and Stores as well as the Parlor.

The Inventor challenges the world to produce an article by which so much Pure Warm Air can be generated, from so small an amount of fuel, requiring but about 15 pounds of Anthracite Coal, to warm an ordinary sized parlor for 24 hours, without replenishing, and then leaving fire enough to rekindle without the use of charcoal. The coal is all used, and no clinkers made, consequently, sifting coal is dispensed with.—When this Stove is properly managed,

THE FIRE MAY BE CONTINUED THROUGH THE ENTIRE SEASON,

without once going out. Added to all these qualifications, the purchaser may reasonably expect to save from 30 to 50 per cent, in fuel expense.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.

DR. CHEESEMAN'S PILLS FOR FEMALES.

Prepared by an old Physician of 40 years experience

THE combination of ingredients in these Pills, is the result of a long and extensive practice; they are put up in the most certain form for restoring nature to its proper channel, in every instance have the Pills proved successful. They are certain to open those obstructions to which females are liable, and to restore the female in health and vigor, whenever an obstruction takes place, whether from exposure, cold, or any other cause, the general health immediately begins to decline, and the want of a remedy has been the cause of so many consumptions among young females headache, pain in the side, palpitation of the heart, loss of appetite, and disturbed sleep, that most always arise from the interruption of nature; and whenever that is the case, the Pills will invariably remedy all these evils. In all cases of suppression, obstruction, or nervous and spinal affections in the back and limbs, lowness of spirits, hysterics, &c. Nor are they less efficacious in the cure of Leucorrhoea, commonly called the "Whites." These Pills should never be taken during pregnancy, as they would be sure to cause a miscarriage. Warranted purely Vegetable, and free from any thing injurious to life or health. Full and explicit directions which should be read, accompany each box. These Pills are put up in square pill boxes.—Persons residing where there are no Agencies established, by enclosing One Dollar in a letter, prepaid, to Dr. C. L. CHEESEMAN, Box No. 4,581, Post Office, New York City, can have them sent to their respective addresses by return of mail.

—MANUFACTURERS OF—

Melodeons, Organ Melodeons,
—and—
PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

No. 511 Washington St., Boston.

The first premium over all competitors, at the Fair of the Mass. Charitable Mechanic Association, of the National Fair, Washington, D.C., also at the Ohio State Fair, held at Columbus, Ohio, was awarded to these Manufacturers.

By means of a new method of Voicing, known only to themselves, they have succeeded in removing the harsh and buzzing sound which formerly characterized the instrument, and rendering the tones full, clear and organ like. The action is prompt and reliable, enabling the performer to execute the most rapid music without blurring the tones. The swell is arranged to give great expression.

THE PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

Are designed particularly for Churches, Lodges, Halls, &c. It is arranged with two manuals, or banks of Keys, the lower set running an octave higher than the other, and may be used separately, and they can at no one time, distinct instruments; or by use of the coupler, the two banks of keys may be played at the same time by one set. The recent improvements connected with the Pedal Bass, will produce the effect of a large organ, and is sufficiently heavy to fill a house that seats from 1000 to 1500 persons.

THE ORGAN MELODEON

is designed for parlor and private use. The construction is similar to the Church Instrument. Being arranged with two banks of Keys, and when used together, by means of the coupler, is capable of as great variety of power as the Church Instrument when used without the pedals. Also, every variety of MELODEONS for Parlor use.

Purchasers may rely upon instruments from our Manufactory, being made in the most complete and thorough manner. Having removed to the spacious building

511 Washington Street,

We have every facility for manufacturing purposes, and employ none but the most experienced and skilful workmen. In short, we will premise our customers an Instrument equal, if not superior, to any Manufactory, and guarantee an easier and perfect satisfaction.

Music Teachers, Leaders of Choirs, and others interested or wishing to purchase, are respectfully invited to call our Rooms at any time and examine or test the instruments on exhibition for sale at their pleasure.

We will further guarantee to the public as to the excellence of the MELODEONS from our Manufactory, nothing leave to refer, by permission, to the following:

Remedy for Worms.

THE diseases of children are often so complicated that it is difficult to ascertain the true nature of their complaint. In a large majority of instances the cause may be traced to the existence of WORMS—the prominent symptoms of which are, paleness of the countenance, loss of or irregular appetite, starting up and crying out in their sleep, picking at the nose, great thirst, a wasting away of the flesh, &c. These symptoms should be early attended to, as by neglect it often terminates in disease of the brain.

PRESTON'S WORM SYRUP

is the most effectual remedy ever used. It is pleasant to the taste, perfectly harmless, and is warranted in every case to give satisfactory results.

Prepared only by WM. K. PRESTON, Apothecary, at his Family Medicine Store, No. 2 Congress Block. nov3 eod2w

Every form of inflammation (but no other disease) is subdued, by it as easily as fire is extinguished by water. Such is its potency, that like vaccine matter, it requires merely what adheres to the point of a penknife to convert into a solution of it, to affect the entire system.

BURDEN'S

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1857.

POPULAR SOVEREIGNTY.

NO. II.

If the principle, that the people should make their constitution, cannot be sustained, then all pretence to democracy is a mockery. In our No. 1, as published in the Daily Chronicle, the compositor and the corrector left out if,—making it say it cannot be sustained, and democracy is a mockery. But the papers of the Democratic party, in the free States, are beginning to make a large IF,—so large that Daniel Webster's prophesy, "there will be a North," may yet be realized.

Will the Democratic Party and Press in the Free States, swallow all this usurpation in Kansas? Can they, and still breathe the breath of life? They must answer this question. Let us see how some of them do it. We copy first, from the Saco, Me. Democrat, a paper which at first opposed the Nebraska blunder, but afterwards "acquiesced." The Democrat says:

We regret that the convention did not submit the constitution which it framed fully and unreservedly to the decision of the people. Nothing short of this can fully answer the guarantee of the Nebraska bill and the Democratic platform. * * It there be no difference of opinion among the people, regarding its provisions, except in relation to the slavery question, no wrong may be practically committed; but it gives great occasion to the opposition to continue their factious proceedings, and is unnecessary to the democratic party. Indeed we are not aware that this constitutional convention either represents or claims to represent, in any just sense, the national democracy.

Indeed! We shall see presently whether the National Democracy, President, Cabinet, and Congress, will disown them.

The Democrat adds:

Its work must stand upon its own merits; and the people of Kansas must be left free to act in regard thereto according to their own judgment.

But really the people of Kansas, by this bogus item, the only one on which they can vote,—are left free only to vote for slavery in one form or the other.

To show that we interpret this clause aright, we copy next from the Washington Union of Nov. 17, which is supposed to speak the language of the National Democracy at Washington.

We lay before our readers this morning, the schedule of the new constitution prepared by the convention at Lecompton. This schedule acknowledges the people of the new State, to be the only tribunal that can rightfully determine what its domestic institutions shall be; and gives full, practical and fair effect to the great principle of popular sovereignty. On the 21st day of December next, the electors may meet at their proper places of voting, and express their opinion by ballot on the question of slavery or no slavery.—If a majority shall vote in favor of slavery, then the provision which makes Kansas a slave State, will remain in the constitution, and in that shape it will be laid before Congress. But if the greatest number of ballots be cast the other way, that provision shall be stricken out, and then every negro in the State, or hereafter to go there, shall be free, except the few who are now there in legal condition of servitude.

It is barely possible that an ultra-abolitionist here and there may take exception to the provision which protects the slave property now in the territory. But the justice and propriety of this is as clear as noon-day. Let it be remembered that Slavery was established in Kansas by the Constitution, and the question is on the abolition of it.

No, no, Mr. Union, the Constitution did no such thing, and says no such thing. That saying is Mr. Buchanan's dreadful blunder in his letter to the New Haven people, which he founded on the obiter dictum of an old lawyer on the bench, but which dictum is neither law nor gospel.

Now let us see what Mr. Forney says of the matter. Mr. Forney is the man whose engineering in Pennsylvania made Mr. Buchanan president. And Forney, be it known, while he is quite as honest a man and true democrat as either Judge Taney or President Buchanan, is also as sagacious a politician as any.

Col. Forney, in his Philadelphia Press, says:

The drift of all the news from Kansas, by mail and telegraph, shows conclusively that the so-called Constitutional Convention, like other bodies of whom we have read, is another instance of the adage that "whom the gods wish to destroy, they first make mad."—Some of the propositions presented to that Convention—which, be it remembered, represents a mere fragment of the voters of the Territory—would disgrace a despotism; others are merely ridiculous; while the whole affair looks to us, at this distance, as if the parties engaged in it had entered into a contract to mortgage the new State to their own individual interests for a century to come. * * * * *

If the Constitution fabricated by this body is sent to Congress, we trust that short work will be made of it. It deserves nothing but contempt. If it has a single merit, it is its consistency with the fraud and wrong which it is intended to perpetuate, and from which in great part it has grown. The idea of a set of men chosen as delegates to this Convention, attempting to bind posterity to their work, and daring to nullify, in advance, the will of the majority, is so monstrous that we wonder the outrage did not excite the whole people to civil war. * * * * *

If the Constitution suits a majority of the people of Kansas, they would vote for it in any event, and it would become their fundamental law. If it does not conform to the views and requirements of a majority of the citizens of Kansas, they should have an opportunity of voting against it. This proposition seems so clear that we are surprised that it should be questioned in any quarter.

ARREST OF W. S. TUCKERMAN.—Springfield, Nov. 30.—W. S. Tuckerman, formerly Treasurer of the Eastern Railroad, at Boston, was arrested last night, at New Haven, for robbing the mail. The evidence was conclusive, and it is understood he confesses his guilt. He has been in the habit of taking the Sunday night Boston train from New York, carrying with him a large trunk, empty, with the exception of a carpet bag filled with clock weights, to make it appear heavy. During the temporary absence of the baggage man from his car, he would steal a mail bag, and place it in his trunk. His examination takes place at New Haven tomorrow morning. He acknowledges he has $800 worth of stolen postage stamps, and $500 on the Lee (Mass.) Bank, were found upon him.

The Philadelphia mail for Boston has been the one usually stolen, and the Superintendents of the various Railroads between New York and Boston, together with Special Agent Holbrook, and several Postmasters, have been for some weeks laying plans, which, at last, have ferretted out the robber. The exact amount of his robberies cannot be ascertained to-night, but they are supposed to be very heavy.

Great credit is due to Mr. Holbrook, who has been mainly instrumental in Tuckerman's arrest. The developments, it is understood, will be astounding, and the evidence is such as to ensure his guilt.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—(Tribune correspondence.) The disagreement between the President and Gov. Walker is confirmed most positively. All the interviews and friendly intervention resulted in no approach to a compromise, each insisting on his original position. Gov. Walker considers the suggestion made to vote on the slavery clause, and then refer back the remaining part of the Constitution by an act of Congress, as complicating the question and aggravating the difficulties. He is in favor of meeting the issue in the present form, and avows the purpose of opposing its acceptance with all his influence. The President is equally determined to sustain the Constitution, regarding it as the most practical mode of reaching the conclusion. He will make it a test in the party. The forthcoming message will emphasize these opinions, the President being encouraged thereto by the promise of the united support of the South. He will not remove Walker, being content with censuring his position. Walker will not resign, but will remain here to contest the point before Congress.

KANSAS AFFAIRS.—Washington, Nov. 20. (Correspondence of N. Y. Tribune.) To-day the relations between President Buchanan and Gov. Walker have assumed a new aspect, and while friendly professions are still interchanged; it is understood that either the resignation or removal of Walker will take place before the meeting of Congress. The former alternative is now not probable, but the other may be accomplished by the action of the Cabinet to-morrow.

The President justifies his course in sustaining the Convention upon the ground that its legality had been recognized by Congress and himself, and that therefore he is bound to accept its recent action as valid, although he would have preferred that the whole constitution should have been submitted to the people.

The constitution and schedule which recently appeared in the Union were transmitted here by Gen. Calhoun as literal transcripts, but authenticated copies are expected daily, which will be communicated to Congress with the President's Message.

☞ Perley of the Boston Journal, writes from Washington:—

Marshal Hoover, with other personal friends of Ex-President Pierce, went over to Baltimore to eat a Thanksgiving dinner with him. They bring back word that he is in fine spirits, and will leave to-morrow for Norfolk, to embark on the Powhattan. He is said to side with Mr. Buchanan on the Kansas question, and to have expressed surprise at the course taken by the Boston Post, New Hampshire Patriot, and other Northern Democratic papers.

THE TEA TRADE—DECLINE IN PRICES.—Oolong and Ning-Yong tea drinkers will rejoice at the prospect of these favorite herbs being greatly reduced in prices. The shipments from China ports to the United States, during the months of June, July and August, exclusive, appear to have been double those of last year, during the same time. Very respectable black and green teas have recently been sold in New York, by the chest, at auction, at a reduction of 20 cents a pound from the prices obtained a short time ago.

☞ Mrs. Bostwick, a New York vocalist, is to have a $1000 salary for singing in a Chicago church.

FOUND DEAD.—From the Andover Advertiser, we learn that on Wednesday last, the body of Jesse Balcom was found in the woods of John Webster, in that town. Mr. Balcom started from his house on Monday afternoon on an errand, but in crossing the fields became bewildered and wandered about until night overtook him, when, in the severity of the storm probably, he perished. The neighbors instituted a search on Wednesday morning, when the body was discovered in a reclining posture, half-submerged in water. Noise was heard in the vicinity on Monday evening, which probably preceded from the sufferer, but the intensity of the storm and wind precluded the possibility of discovering its whereabouts. Mr. Balcom was in his 85th year.

EXTREME POVERTY.—Last week an Irish woman, poorly clad, called at a housh in Salem, Mass., and told a tale of such distress and poverty as worked on the feelings of the good lady of the house, so that she supplied her pressing demands with a well filled basket. The beggar departed, showering on her head the abundant blessings that the Irish alone can bestow. As she left the door, the lady's son entered who by the way is a clerk in a savings bank; he informed his mother that the poor beggar who had just left the door, had that same morning deposited Fifty Dollars, which being added to her former deposits made upwards of Five Hundred Dollars to her credit; a fair sample of Irish poverty. Our citizens should look well and see that charity is tendered to the more modest deserving poor, instead of the clamorous, long-tongued beggars.

SUDDEN DEATH OF A PRINTER.—About half past 8 o'clock Tuesday morning, as Mr. G. M. Vinal, a compositor in the Boston Traveller office, was distributing his case, he suddenly fall upon the floor speechless, and died in a very few moments. The death was caused by apoplexy. Deceased has been employed in the Traveller office thirteen years, and resided at West Medford, where he leaves a widow and one son. He was 55 years of age.

SOUTH BERWICK JUNCTION, Nov. 30.—An old man, unknown, while walking on the track of the Boston and Maine Railroad, near this place, was instantly killed by an inward bound train today.

THE EX-PRESIDENT.—Baltimore, Nov. 30.—Ex-President Pierce was warmly received here to-day. An immense throng accompanied him to the Norfolk boat, and cheered him vociferously.

The best bank ever yet known is a bank of earth—it never refused to discount to honest labor. And the best share is the plowshare—on which dividends are always liberal.

High Testimonials

IN Favor of Professor Kelly's New Invention of WRITING.

The study of years reduced to a few hours, which is sustained by the most eminent and independent men in the Union, whose letters he has in his possession, corresponding with the following statements, which is convincing proof of the extraordinary results produced by his new invention.

Rt. Rev. Bishop Clarke, of Rhode Island, says in his letter:—"I would give more for six lessons from Professor Kelly, than for sixty from any other teacher I ever knew."

Rev. Dr. Blagden and Ex Mayor Seaver of Boston. Rev. Dr. Putnam of Roxbury, and Prof. Warren of Amherst College, have also given letters which Prof. Kelly holds, in testimony of the unquestionable results produced by this invention.

Rev. Mr. Ellis, of Charlestown, Mass., has certified by letter, to the very remarkable change produced by this invention, and says that the improvement in his son's hand-writing, resulting therefrom, had not only been very satisfactory, but wonderful: he therefore was pleased to admit of reference and application to him

The above are only a few of the many testimonials which are in Prof. Kelly's possession, from some of the most eminent men in the Union.

Applications may be made to Prof. Kelley, through the Chronicle Office. n25 s 28

WE WISH TO SAY TO EVERY PERSON Who reads this that there is no article known as "Dr Sanford's Invigorator or Liver Remedy," which can be relied on as certain to cure liver complaint in any of its forms, such as Jaundice, Dyspepsia, and numerous other complaints, described in another column, besides which it is one of the greatest preparations or cures for consumption, taken in early stages, that is now known.

We take it for granted, as experiment has proven, that diseases of the lungs are not generally the first cause of consumption, but a debilitated system, caused by the improper action of the liver, reduces the power of the lungs to resist or throw off diseases caused by cold and irritation, leaving the lungs at the mercy of one disease, because the liver has incapacitated them from performing their proper action of throwing off diseased matter caused by cold, thus to prevent consumption, cure the liver, and keep the system strong enough to throw off slight diseases of the lungs.

There is not in the world a better liver remedy or acture for debilitated system, than "Dr. Saniord's Invigorator," for it has been fully tried in a large and extended practice, till its results are fully known and now it is offered as a tried remedy, and one that can be relied on.

UNCLE TOBY'S ERROR.—A Counsellor at Law informs us that, in criminal cases, the government does not pay the witnesses for the defence, except in capital cases. So far, then, Uncle Toby's law in the New Trial was erroneous:—He offers, as his apology, the fact that he has no experience in defending criminal cases,—and he supposed that the rule in capital cases extended to others also.

In this view, the advocate's advice was still wiser than he thought, but not quite so rich.

And as a matter of equity, Uncle T. suggests, for the court of public opinion, that the witness for the defence ought to be paid, like the others,—especially when, as in the case referred to, they involve themselves in the crime, without clearing the "equally respectable" culprit. He was a very wise man to back out, in any view of the case; and the sooner the better. And the advocate's advice was far wiser and better than his newspaper scraps.

☞ Capt. Brooks, of Kennebunk, Me., went into a shop near Spring Market, on Monday evening, as he states, to sell fish; and while there he was beset by a set of ruffians, who attacked, stabbed and cut him with knives or daggers. He made a retreat, and got his wounds dressed at Dr. Preston's. Capt. B. did not know his assailants; and from this circumstance, we suppose nothing will be done about the matter, legally, in the present condition of our police.

But something may be said about it in the court of public opinion, which may ultimate in a better paid and better arranged police, of which there is great need.

It is easy to see that a keeper of a drinking shop would not like to complain of and testify against his customers for robbing and stabbing a stranger, lest they might turn upon him. And it is also easy to see that a good shrewd policeman, who could spend the time needful, could ferret out the culprits.

But if any citizens will look at the salary paid to our City Marshal, they will see it to be a mere pittance, $250 a year, with fees and perquisites. The Marshal is an industrious and laborious mechanic, employing men to work for him. How can he afford to leave his work and workmen, and spend a day or perhaps a week in digging out the facts in the case from unwilling witnesses? Who is to pay him for the time he must spend, and for the enemies he must make, in the discharge of this unpleasant but important duty? He is dependent, like other men in business, on the employment furnished by the people; and the meanest scoundrel he offends may have some way in which he can injure him. The City Marshal should have $500 or $600 per annum, and should spend his time in watching rascals, preventing rascality, and bringing criminals to justice.—And then, besides the present small police, he should have 30 assistant marshals, one for each groggery, but who should have no pay, except for services rendered at his call. These should be substantial men, easily found.

One thought more. Many men who visit the groggeries, and who rain themselves there, are not robbers, nor murderers.

But the robbers, thieves, and assaultors, all visit the groggeries. There is not one total abstinent, not one lunatic, among them. And some groggeries in our midst are known to be dens of thieves. Break up the dens, and the robbers could not work so conveniently.

WATCHMAN, WHAT OF THE NIGHT?—On Wednesday night of last week, the residents of a house on Atkinson street, (could countrymen,) kicked up a grand muss,—but the "murder" was all in the "cry."—Probably the Irishers were waking up Thanksgiving, after the "temperance but no Maine law" style.

A lot of exhilerated sons of Erin made more noise than was needful, at the foot of State street, on Saturday night; and about ditto on Sunday night. On Sunday night somebody threw a brick through the sash of Mr. Larrabee's shop door, on Daniel street. Probably he who hurled the missile, had one like it "in his hat."

☞ The Promenade Concert (and the accompanying rain-storm) came off as usual on Monday evening. The Band played finely; but "Sensitious," who was there, wished that the chap who blows the big bass drum, could be furnished with another cornet, on which he can do such good execution. These entertainments are well received; and would be universally popular, if one could be given without the knowledge of the clerk of the weather—so that all who desire might have an opportunity to attend, without wading through a rain-storm.

LADIES' GENERAL CHARITABLE SOCIETY.

We print below the report of this Society, read at the meeting at the Stone Church on Sunday evening.

We shall publish the City Missionary's report, probably to-morrow.

We present you with the first annual report of our Society, which was formed to cooperate with the City Mission in ameliorating the condition of the poor among us, and aiding parents to keep their children in Sabbath and day schools.

Our first act was to enlist the cooperation of ladies from the several religious denominations, to serve as visiting committees, so as to secure the more general cooperation of the whole community.

The city has been divided into fourteen districts, to each of which is assigned a committee of three or four ladies, making in all forty-six in number.

At the commencement of the year, these committees visited every family in their respective districts, to inquire into all cases of suffering, and to solicit aid from those willing to give. Such families as required it have been visited frequently during the inclement season. Their calls have been reported at the semi-monthly meetings of the Society,—which, with few exceptions, have been kept up through the year,—and so far as our means allowed, their wants have been supplied.

There have been found many families who did not attend church. The labors of our City Missionary among this class of persons have been indefatigable, and in conjunction with him our assistance has enabled children to attend the various Sabbath Schools in the city. To keep these children in Sabbath and day schools, parents have experienced more inconvenience from the want of shoes than of any other article. This want our Society have particularly tried to meet. The shoe merchants in our city have kindly furnished shoes to us at reduced prices; but in general we have supplied ourselves through Mr. Ball, of Salem, with a coarser kind of shoe, which has proved more economical than any we could procure here. 100 pairs of shoes have been distributed within the last year, at an expense to us of $72 39.

Many articles of half-worn clothing, bonnets, shoes, &c., have been donated, which have been of great service to us. In all, new and old, more than four hundred articles of clothing have been distributed, besides several articles obtained from the Humane Society, who have cordially cooperated with us.

In several cases the aged and sick have received a regular allowance from week to week, or money has been placed in the hands of the committee, with which to provide suitable articles for their comfort. In one case we have purchased a second-hand cook-stove for an aged woman. In several instances we have furnished bedding and useful articles of furniture.

To many families we have given employment, in several instances found places for girls, and in many ways have aided both parents and children.

The amount of subscriptions the past year is $195.21. Number of subscribers 346.

Many of the meetings have been highly interesting, and have resulted in making us acquainted to an extent that we otherwise could not have been, with the circumstances and real wants of those, who, in various ways, are soliciting the charities of the community.

Portsmouth, October, 1857.

☞ The members of the Methodist Society at East Eliot paid their pastor, Rev. Mr. Barnard, a' donation visit, at the parsonage, on Wednesday of last week.

The Congregational Society in Eliot also give Rev. Otis Holmes, their new pastor, a donation party at the parsonage on Wednesday evening, Dec. 2.

☞ A correspondent of Porter's Spirit, writing of horses taking sea-voyages, says that some horses, being unable to vomit, are driven almost to madness by sea-sickness.

☞ A small sum of money will buy many goods at the present low prices.—Persons purchasing will do well to keep an eye upon our advertising columns.

☞ Rev. H. D. Moore is delivering a course of Lectures for the benefit of the poor—in the Union Church, Portland.—Tickets 25 cts. The subject of the first was Genius and Poetry.

☞ Why is a bad paymaster like a vicious horse? Because both are to be "trusted" with caution—though we should be slow to trust some of them with even that.

☞ The Steam Frigate Powhatan, Capt. George F. Pearson, is to sail from Norfolk in a few days, for the Pacific.

☞ The Republicans of New Hampshire will hold a State Convention at Concord on the 7th of January to nominate State officers.

STEAMER BURNT.—St. Louis, Nov. 30.—The steamer Lucy was totally destroyed by fire on Wednesday last, while iron-bound, at Detroit, on the Missouri river. No lives were lost. The loss on the vessel amounts to $18,000 and the insurance $12,000.

FROM KANSAS.—A Delegate Convention of the Free State party of Kansas, has been called, to meet at Lawrence, on the 24 of December, to take into consideration the present political position of the Territory, as well as the course to be pursued by that party relative to the new Constitution about to be submitted for approval.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Dec. 1.—The Central Bank at Fredericton, suspended specie payment this morning.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 30.—Ex-Gov. Hammond was elected to the United States Senate to-day.

S. D. & H. W. SMITH,

—MANUFACTURERS OF—

Melodeons, Organ Melodeons,
—and—
PEDAL BASS MELODEONS.

No. 511 Washington St., Boston.

The first premium over all competitors, at the Fair of the Mass. Charitable Mechanic Association, and of the National Fair, Washington, D. C., also at the Ohio State Fair, held at Columbus, Ohio, was awarded to these Manufacturers.

By means of a new method of Voicing, known only to themselves, they have succeeded in removing the harsh and buzzing sound which formerly characterized the instrument, and rendering the tones full, clear and organ like. The action is prompt and reliable, enabling the performer to execute the most rapid music without blurring the tones. The swell is arranged to give great expression.

THE PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

Are designed particularly for Churches, Lodges, Halls, &c. It is arranged with two manuals, or banks of Keys, the lower set running an octave higher than the other, and may be used separately, and thus get in one case two distinct instruments; or by use of the coupler, the two banks of keys may be used at the same time by use of the front set only. This connected with the Pedal Bass, will produce the effect of a large organ, and is sufficiently heavy to fill a house that contains from 1500 persons.

THE ORGAN MELODEON

Is designed for parlor and private use. The construction is similar to the Church Instrument, being arranged with two banks of Keys, and when used together, by means of the coupler, is capable of as great volume of power as the Church Instrument when used without the pedal. Also, every variety of Melodeons for Parlor use.

Purchasers may rely upon instruments from our Manufactory, being made in the most complete and thorough manner. Having removed to the spacious Buildings

511 Washington Street,

We have every facility for manufacturing purposes, and employ none but the most experienced and skilful workmen. In short, we will produce our customers with an article which is not superior, to any Manufacturer, and guarantee satisfaction and perfect satisfaction.

Music Teachers, Amateurs, Committees, and others interested in musical matters, are respectfully invited to visit our Rooms at any time and examine or test the instruments on exhibition for sale at their pleasure.

As a still further guarantee to the public as to the excellence of the MELODEONS from our Manufactory, we beg leave to refer, by permission, to the following who have examined our Instruments, and give their opinion when called upon:

Piano Forte Manufacturers of Boston,

Chickering & Sons, C. Pomeroy & Canston,
T. Gilbert & Co., Wm. P. Emerson,
Brown & Allen, A. W. Ladd & Co.,
George Hewes, Woodward & Brown,
Newhall & Co.

MELODEONS RENTED.

Persons who wish to hire Melodeons with a view of purchasing at the end of the year, will have the rent credited as part payment of the purchase money. This matter is worthy of special note, as it enables those who desire a fair test of the instrument before purchasing, to obtain it at the expense of the manufacturers, to the extent at least of a year's rent.

Orders from any part of the country or world, sent direct to the manufactory in Boston, with cash, or satisfactory reference, will be promptly attended to, and all faithfully rendered as if the parties were present, or employed an agent to select, and on as reasonable terms.

Remedy for Worms.

THE diseases of children are often so complicated that it is difficult to ascertain the true nature of their complaint. In a large majority of instances the causes may be traced to the existence of WORMS—the prominent symptoms of which are, paleness of the countenance, loss of or irregular appetite, starting up and crying out in their sleep, picking at the nose, great thirst, a wasting away of the flesh, &c. These symptoms should be early attended to, as by neglect it often terminates in disease of the brain.

PRESTON'S WORM SYRUP

is the most effectual remedy ever used. It is pleasant to the taste, perfectly harmless, and is warranted in every case to give satisfaction or refunded.

Coggswell's Medical Salt,
A PERFECT SUBSTITUTE
FOR THE
LANCET, LEECHES AND BLISTERS.

INSTEAD of being a resource for all maladies. It has control over but ONE MALADY—has but ONE AIM—performs but ONE THING, to wit: SUBDUE INFLAMMATORY DISEASE—whatever be its seat—whether it be in the head, throat, chest, abdomen, extremities or skin. Every form of inflammation (but no other disease) is subdued, if as much Salt as will lie on a sixpence be by water. Is it asked, how it does this?—simply by restoring the lost balance between the fluids and solids. Such is its potency, that like vaccine matter, it requires merely that adjunct to the point of aqui dill dipped into a solution of it, to effect the entire system.

REPORT OF THE CITY MISSION,

Read at the Anniversary Meeting, at the Stone Church, on Sunday Evening Nov. 29.

In our report of last year we had occasion to acknowledge with gratitude the co-operation with this mission of all our clergymen, our different charitable associations, the mayor and other city authorities, together with the friends of benevolence in general throughout the city. All that was then said has been equally true of the year now closing. The duties of your missionary have necessarily brought him frequently into contact with all these agencies, who have invariably treated him with the utmost kindness, cheered him with their sympathy, and cheerfully rendered him such aid as has enabled him to accomplish more than he otherwise could have done.

He has also cause for gratitude for such a measure of health and strength as has enabled him to pursue his labors uninterruptedly through the year; receiving numerous calls at his office from those seeking advice or aid, and devoting the afternoon of each day to visits connected with his mission. In every instance he has met with a kind reception, and, not infrequently, has he been welcomed with the warmest expressions of gratitude.

In visiting the poor, the sick, or the afflicted generally, he has endeavored to go as a minister of Christ, imparting that instruction and administering those consolations which their peculiar situation seemed to require. In several instances he has found the sick laboring under great religious anxiety, in view of their approaching end, and has had reason to hope that his counsel has been the means of leading them to that condition of heart which has prepared them to receive the remission of sins and to lay hold on the hopes of the gospel. Some of these have peacefully and joyfully passed away in full assurance of entering upon the rest which remains for the people of God. Others are still lingering, manifesting to those around them the value of true religion and the triumphs of faith over the ills and trials of life.

Last winter was one of unusual severity. Under the most favorable circumstances we all felt the force of the expression, "Who can stand before his cold?" There was much missionary work to be done. But through the timely aid of our benevolent societies, and of private individuals, we had reason to believe that no family amongst us was left uncared for, but that all were to a good extent made comfortable.

As a general thing our community has been blessed with health. The poor have perhaps been as free from sickness as the more affluent, yet, throughout the year there have been more or less families suffering from this cause, whose cases have required your missionary's special care. Four men residing in our city have within the year been killed by accident, leaving behind them destitute widows and children to be cared for. Your missionary has attended eighteen funerals during the year.

Many who have been heretofore been able to gain a comfortable livelihood, have, under the present pressure of the times, been forced to ask for aid. The temporary suspension of our mill has thrown many out of employ; while the difficulty of obtaining work any where makes it unusually hard for the poor and improvident. The prospect is that the coming winter will witness more destitution than usual, and that those who have the means and a heart to give will have abundant opportunity for the exercise of charity.

From a statistical table which has been regularly kept through the year, your missionary finds that he has visited five hundred and eighty-eight families, many of which have received repeated calls, making the whole number of his visits within the year two thousand one hundred and sixty, of which three hundred and thirty-six were visits to the sick. The labor connected with this has been vastly more than if he could have visited regularly from house to house. Cases requiring immediate attention are often at quite a distance from each other.

During the winter months he preached occasionally at the alms-house, or held a prayer meeting at a private dwelling. Early in the month of May he commenced religious services at the old South church, where he has regularly preached twice every Sabbath, besides being in the Sabbath school and holding a prayer meeting every Sabbath and Wednesday evenings. Many who had never been in the habit of attending public worship have been induced to come to these meetings more or less regularly. The average attendance in the morning has been between sixty and seventy; in the afternoon the congregation has ranged from one to two hundred.

The Sabbath school has numbered in all more than one hundred and twenty scholars, with an average attendance of seventy-five or eighty. In this school he has had the assistance of Mr. Alfred M. Hoyt as superintendent, and of some of the best teachers from the different Sabbath schools in the city. A library of about two hundred volumes has been collected, and a great number of children's papers have been circulated. Many children have also through the influence of the mission been gathered in or assisted to remain in the different Sabbath schools of our city, making in all one hundred and sixty-two who have either been induced to attend or in some measure aided to do so.

Among the seamen visiting our port your missionary has found some opportunities for making himself useful, calling on such as might be found at their boarding house, or as he met them in the streets, giving them suitable religious counsel or such advice as might save them from getting into trouble and losing their hard earned wages. To five of the ships which have left your port, he has furnished bibles from the City Bible Society. He has also distributed quite a number of religious tracts and magazines among the seamen.

Twenty-one times within the year he has visited the alms-house, where he has had frequent conversation with the sick and other inmates. Nineteen times he has visited the jail, endeavoring to give suitable counsel to those who at different times were found there, and often leaving with them tracts or other religious books.

Among the families of the poor he has gratuitously distributed eighty-one bibles or cataments, which, together with those furnished to vessels, amount to one hundred and seventeen. He has also distributed a large number of tracts and religious pamphlets among the poor.

For quite a number of children he has found homes which have proved more or less permanent, and has aided many other persons in getting temporary employment.

Many families have also been assisted to keep their children in day school, or furnished with various articles of clothing or bedding which their personal comfort required. In all, five hundred and twenty-two garments, mostly second hand, have been distributed, besides about one hundred yards of calico and other cloth, which were furnished him by dry goods merchants or other individuals. Eight orders, each for a quarter cord of sawed wood, were presented him last winter, and distributed to different poor familes. From different benevolent individuals he has received in cash $177.14, of which $25 was for specified objects and appropriated accordingly. The remainder has been mostly expended in furnishing provisions and other comforts for the sick and destitute.

The labors of a city missionary, however, can never be estimated by any statistical table. For instance, a child is to be got into the Sabbath school. In most cases he would already have been there but for the indifference or inefficiency of parents. These obstacles are not easily overcome. In some cases, after repeated promises from parents and no small trouble to yourself, the child still fails to make his appearance in school. Perhaps after procuring one garment here and another there you find when Sabbath comes that mother is still wanting, or that the mother has neglected to do her part of the preparation. In some instances, before the whole suit is completed, some garment which you had designed only for Sabbath wear has, by hard usage, become too much defaced to answer the purpose intended.

Again, a child whom the parents have no means to provide for has, by great effort on your part, been furnished with a good and comfortable home; but it is a little home-sick, thinks the work too hard, or from some other trivial cause is allowed to return home, and your whole work is to be done over. These and similar obstacles must be frequently encounted by all who attempt to save children from the evil influences to which many a home among us is exposed.

But nothing is so trying to a city missionary as intemperance, with its legion of ills. A wife and mother comes to you with a tale of utter destitution. She is strong, well, and wishes work. Her husband, too, is well, has a good trade and has been promised employment. But they have no shelter for their head, no furniture, money or credit.

Your sympathies are awakened and you succeed in awakening the sympathies of others in their behalf. The houseless family is furnished with a shelter, employment is given to the mother, the children are placed in school, and you rejoice in the prospect of soon seeing them as comfortable as their neighbors. But alas the appetite for strong drink was there. The man finds himself in the midst of temptations, against which he has no power. His wages go for that which incapacitates him for work. In the absence of money, he pawns any article he can lay hold of. The mother remonstrates, and is answered by personal abuse. Home becomes a scene of confusion. All his skill in trade avails little or nothing, while the means for gratifying this unnatural appetite are so abundant in our midst. Benevolence alone cannot make his family comfortable till he is taken from them.

This is no fancy sketch. It is a picture which might be greatly enlarged from scenes which come directly under the eye of your Missionary. In numerous instances wives and mothers have come to him with breaking hearts, telling him how wretched their homes had become, through the intemperance of the husband and father. In some instances, this wretchedness is greatly increased by the intemperance of both parents.

Very few persons know to what a fearful extent intemperance is prevailing here. Your Missionary is pained to state that during the fifteen months which he has resided among you, he has seen more of the evils of intemperance than in his whole previous life. If we could this day shut up every dram shop in our city, and thus render it impossible for inebriates to procure the means of intoxication, it would be a greater blessing to our community than any language can express.

A City Missionary must also have much to do with poverty and suffering which do not exactly belong to the community which he serves. He is naturally sought unto by every stranger who finds himself friendless and needy. To many such has your Missionary been called to administer within the past year. In several instances a free pass on the railroad has been obtained for them, or they have been otherwise aided to pursue their homeward course. Twenty-six different persons have in this way been assisted by the mission during the past year.

It is not always easy, in the case of strangers, to judge correctly of their claims upon our charity. Some instances of imposition are to be expected, and in many the result of our benefactions may never come to our knowledge; but it is pleasant to know that in some cases our labors are richly rewarded.

Some six months ago, for instance, a young lady called at our door. She had crossed the Atlantic with the expectation of meeting an only brother, who she had just learned had emigrated to the far distant West. From circumstances unforseen and unprovided for, her means had become exhausted. Her clothes were all in New York, and could not be redeemed but by the payment of sixteen dollars. She was taken into your Missionary's family, an order was sent by express for redeeming her trunks, and the whole bill, amounting to nearly twenty dollars, was paid by the Ladies' General Charitable Society, with the expectation that it would be sometime refunded.

The young lady thus aided has resided all summer in the family of one of our clergymen, to whom she has proved herself a most valuable assistant. Seven dollars of the money thus loaned was paid by two benevolent individuals, the remainder has all been refunded by her, and she is now numbered with those who are laboring for the good of others among us.

Before closing this report your Missionary would express his gratitude for the aid cheerfully rendered him by the Howard Benevolent Society, the Humane Society, and particularly by the Overseers of the Poor, all of whom have given to the Mission their hearty cooperation. Without detracting anything from either of these institutions, it is perhaps proper for him to remark that the Ladies' General Charitable Society was formed for the express purpose of carrying out the objects of this mission. Their committees have labored efficiently and the results will appear from their report, which will be read this evening.

It has been our object, so far as possible, to harmonize the benevolent operations of the community, so that no family needing aid should be left uncared for, nor any receive an undue share of assistance.

The confidence which has thus far been reposed in him, leads your Missionary to believe that the benevolent public will not leave him to labor alone. While he is happy to have you continue to direct to him those soliciting aid, with whose circumstances you are unacquainted, he trusts that you will not leave him without the means of affording relief in cases which may require it. Nothing can be more trying to his feelings than to be applied to by persons whom he knows to be worthy, when he has no means at his disposal with which to relieve their necessities. "The liberal soul shall be made fat, and he that waereth shall be watered also himself."

"REJOINDER TO REPLY."

There is much music in the Concord (& Boston) road now. The Committee of Investigation got out a long Report, which was followed by a reply from the Directors; and that is followed by a letter-sheet circular from the Committee. The Manchester Mirror says,—"If we can keep the Committee at work, and Judge Upham replying, for about six months to come, we may strike bottom. The meeting at Concord, on Tuesday, (1st,) promised to be full of wrath. The Ins want to stay in, and the Outs want to be in."

Among other charges, the Committee says:

There also exists a contract with the Portsmouth & Concord Road, for alleged violations of which, by your present Superintendent, a suit in chancery is now pending — whereby, in addition to the $50,000 before loaned to that corporation, your road agreed to furnish land and construct a track for them from your depot in Concord to the Merrimack river, some 2¼ miles, and permit them to have its use and depot accommodations gratuitously for a long series of years; under his liberal construction of which, your late Superintendent not only maintained that track in good repair, devoting some of the sleepers from the Groton Lots, the present year, to that service, but also performed the shifting of their cars and other work at Concord, gratuitously.

The Mirror says,—"The committee's last issue will surprise many of the stockholders, when they learn that the Concord road, with some four or five other roads, have guaranteed $36,000 annually to a road away in the north part of Vermont, every cent of which they will most probably have to pay annually to the end of railroading in the Granite State. It will go as the more than $100,000 have gone from the Concord, to the road between Portsmouth and Concord, by unwise counsels being followed."

THE LOSS OF THE CENTRAL AMERICA.—A committee of the New York underwriters, appointed to investigate the causes of the disaster to the steamer Central America, have made an elaborate report upon the subject, the purport of which is shown by the subjoined extract. The report is signed by Charles H. Marshal and others. The committee say:—

"It cannot and should not be concealed that the testimony before the committee goes to show that the Central America was not found and equipped as she ought to have been; that her crew was not sufficiently numerous, that she was without a carpenter or suitable carpenter's tools; and what seems to the committee a most serious defect, being common, it is feared, in many of our passenger steamers, there was a want of proper organization in regard to the relative authority and duties of the officers and crew of the vessel—each department appearing to be independent of the others, instead of being strictly subordinate and responsible to the captain, as the legitimate superior and chief.

☞ In Wheeling, Va., last week, a young man, for five dollars, hired a neighbor to frighten his sweetheart, by dressing as a ghost, and advising her in a sepulchral tone—such as is used by all respectable ghosts, to marry him. Some of the fast boys caught the bogus ghost and belabored him until he cried for quarter in a manner resembling a human being.

☞ The canary bird saved from the wreck of the Central America by Mrs. Birch, is now at the Walnut Street House, Cincinnati, the favorite of all who see it, as it was of its mistress, who would not leave it to perish in its cage, with the hundreds of human beings who found a watery grave on the fearful night of the wreck. The little fellow sings as sweetly as though it had ever been free and happy on the wing.

☞ Mayor Rice has addressed a message to the board of aldermen in favor of granting the use of a building to the various benevolent societies of Boston for a central house of relief for the poor. Mayor Rice says that his own experience, and that of those whose services are given to the relief of the destitute, satisfies him that ninety-nine out of every hundred applications by street beggars are unworthy of relief. He therefore cautions the people that by bestowing their bounty indiscriminately, they may aggravate the evils they deplore, at the same time wasting the means which should be bestowed on those who are really needy.

What is the difference between a woman and a mad dog? One wears hoops and the other pants.

THE TUCKERMAN CASE.

From the New Haven Journal of Tuesday morning we learn that Tuckerman has been taken before Chas. R. Ingersoll, Esq., U. S. Commissioner at New Haven, and held in $20,000 bonds for examination.—It is stated that tools such as are used by burglars, were found upon his person. The Journal also states that after several mail bags were missed on that route, "Mr. Holbrook ascertained that Tuckerman was in the habit of passing frequently over the road, and was on very social terms with the baggage-master and other officers of the road, smoking with them, and making himself at home in the mail and baggage car. Hr. H. travelled over the road with him once or twice, and smoked a cigar or so with him. A week ago he came up on the Sunday evening train with Mr. Holbrook, and got off at the same way station —and the same night the return train from Boston was robbed. Last Sunday night, while Mr. Holbrook was watching him, he saw him suddenly take two small mail pouches and throw them into his trunk, which opened with a spring; and when he reached New Haven he procured his arrest. When the trunk was opened, the bags were not found. A short time before the robbery, Tuckerman pretended to be asleep. He is very much overcome by his detection, and appears nearly broken down. He has not procured bail."

William S. Tuckerman, the embezzler, is in trouble again. Some time ago, while Treasurer of the Eastern Railroad, he appropriated $250,000 of the Company's funds to his private use. There was a public meeting of the stockholders, much indignation, and the swindler confessed that he stole $217,000; but no prosecution followed. Twelve months ago he was tried before the Municipal Court, on an indictment alleging the larceny of $7000 from the Portland, Saco, and Portsmouth Railroad. He was convicted; but his counsel took exceptions to the ruling of Judge Abbott, and the case was taken to the Supreme Court. * * *

The fellow proves himself to be a real out-and-out thief, after all. It seems a little strange that a man who had "confessed" the robbery of $217,000, and who has been convicted of the larceny of $7000, should be suffered to enjoy the freedom of the baggage train. But we notice that thief worship is growing common.—Boston Courier.

Tuckerman has been employed as bookkeeper by a merchant of New York for several months, and was in the receipt of a salary of $1500 a year. His employer was in Boston last week, and expressed his gratification at the excellent manner in which he had discharged his duties as clerk. Thckerman's frequent visits to Boston were made on account of the state of his case in the Courts.

The Boston Journal learns from New Haven that no time has yet been definitely fixed for the examination of Tuckerman, the mail robber. His counsel, John A. Bolles, Esq., of Boston, left for New Haven Wednesday morning to consult with his client. It is not impossible that the examination will be postponed for several days.

MAYOR OF NEW YORK.—It appears that Mr. Tiemann is elected Mayor of New York city, by about 2000 majority over Mayor Wood. This choice is a Democratic American Republican victory, over the rowdies, rascals, and miscreants, who looked up to Mayor Wood as their patron saint. Just before the election the Irish American said:

There is not now a reasonable doubt that Mayor Wood's majority will be the largest ever polled for the same office. In addition to the large number of adopted citizens, who, almost without an exception, voted for him last year, over 2000 have been naturalized since the present canvass commenced, and of these it is not too much to say he will receive ninety-nine out of every hundred.

☞ The following from the pen of ex-Senator Hannigan, of Indiana, will be appreciated by all.

"We cannot refrain from calling the attention of our readers to the "Hair Restorative" of Prof. O. J. Wood. It will be seen that he has numerous certificates from persons of the highest character, to the merits of his Restorative. From positive knowledge we are also enabled to say that it is in every sense what it professes to be, and we do not hesitate to pronounce it the finest preparation for the head and hair which has, so far, been devised by human ingenuity. We have seen it arrest threatened baldness, and restore to the head its original profusion of natural and glossy hair; and when the latter has been prematurely tinged with gray, we have seen it like magic, restore the colors of youth and health. The distinguishing property of this we might truly say, miraculous "Restorative" is, that it gives to the person who uses it, the same head of hair they wore in youth, thus acting in strict compliance with the first and greatest of all toilet-makers—Nature. No one who has used it will hesitate to unite with us in this testimony to its peculiar merit."—Covington (Ind.) People's Friend

☞ The Post Master General has determined not to appoint the special mail agent on the route from New York to Cincinnati, until after a further test of the system, as put in practical operation between the cities of Baltimore, Philadelphia and Cincinnati. The cause of this action is said to be the unfavorableness of the report of the Second Assistant Postmaster Dundass.

PLAIN TALK.—We have seen some complaints, that the freemen of New England misunderstand the] bogus convention of Kansas, and do injustice to their constitution. But Gen. Calhoun, president of the convention, certainly understands it. Hear him.

Gen. Calhoun, the President of the Convention, made a long speech in favor of the majority report, and of only submitting the Slavery clause to the people. He was opposed to giving the 'Topekaites' a chance to 'vote down down our Democratic Constitution.' The majority report would compel the Abolitionists to vote for the Constitution, while they were voting down the slave clause, no matter how repugnant it might be to them. 'In this way we have them tight,' said he, 'and they can't help themselves.' There are several provisions in the body of the instrument which sufficiently protect slave property, which, with the Dred Scott decision, is all that Southern gentlemen should ask.

NORTHAMPTON, MASS.—The temperance men of Northampton are still active in enforcing the liquor law. A few days ago a hogshead of St. Croix rum was seized while being carted through the streets of that place. A man from Hampden county, a pedlar of liquors, was also caught pursuing the same unlawful business. Seven search warrants were put in the hands of the sheriff on Wednesday.—Bos. Jour.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

THE CHINESE AND THE RATS.—The fertility and the fatness of the rats in Hong Kong, China, are beyond all description, and are wonderful. It is well for the people of the Celestial Empire that rats are as prolific and as fat in that region as they are represented to be, for if they were not the common people would be compelled to abstain from food altogether. It is all the provender of a meat kind they can procure. There is no method by which a poor Chinaman can, in his own country become rich. If he is born poor, he must remain poor until he dies. Here, thank Heaven, itis different. Getting rich swiftly is just as common in real life as it is upon the stage. Lotteries are accountable for these sudden transmigrations from rags to velvets. Should any of our readers wish to encourage a desire to try their potency, they have only to write to Messrs. Anderson & Son, the Managers of the Jasper County Academy Lotteries at Macon and Savannah, Georgia, for a whole, half, or quarter ticket, in their next drawing, which takes place on the 15th instant, on the favorite old Havana plan of single numbers. They cost only ten dollars for a whole, five for a half ticket, and two and a half for a quarter ticket. Will you try your luck? You stand as good a chance as anybody else, to acquire a fortune by this method.

MERCANTILE LYCEUM.

The first entertainment of this course, last Tuesday evening, was a complete success. Albert Laighton's poem was one of the best ever delivered in Portsmouth, and all were delighted and satisfied with it.—His theme was Beauty, and the allusions to the beautiful all around us were so exquisite that we cannot well describe them without giving the poem in full.

Before the poem, Mrs. Wentworth sang the Echo Song in excellent style; then, almost before the echoes had ceased, came the poem, which began with the following lines:

"Sweet echoes haunt the air; again we've heard
The silver warbling of our Native Bird,
Our Queen of Song, whose clear and liquid notes
Were caught from those that swell the tiny throats
Of larks and nightingales—Oh! when she sings,
We seem to hear the sweep of Angel wings,
As if they missed some sweet voice from their band,
And came to lead her to the better land.
Why should I break the spell with tones of mine,
When those that linger are almost divine?
Why should I bring the wreath that Fancy weaves,
When there are left you amaranthine leaves?
And yet these few and simple flowers that grew
Around my heart, I bind and offer you.
You can but take them; they may soon decay;
Then idly you may fling them all away.
Or haply, should they joy and fragrance give,
Or leave some gentle memory that will live
When I'm forgot, or far away, or dead,
Then not in vain are their faint odors shed.

The beauty which is displayed in nature, before all, the poor as well as rich, was pictured in a better manner than we remember ever before to have heard it—seldom, if ever, to have seen it in print. We give one or two extracts from the closing part of the poem. Though our path in life might be dark

"The angel Beauty walks her radiant way,
Oh, follow her, she never leads astray."
* * * *
"She dwelt with Shakspeare, and his dome-like brain
Filled all the world with one melodious strain.
She came to Shelly on the skylark's wing;
And in the crown of Burns the Peasant King,
She twined a mountain daisy wet with dew,
And he was numbered with the deathless few."

The poet paid a touching tribute to Dr. Kane, different from and equal in excellence to anything we have seen, in praise of the brave explorer:

The audience, both in numbers and character, was one of the most respectable ever gathered in Portsmouth; and they sat as if in a trance during the reading of the poem, which occupied little more than half an hour. You could not hear a whisper or rustling throughout the hall, and that, in one of our Lyceum assemblies, is very unusual and remarkable. The poet was received with hearty applause, this being his first appearance in public before a large audience; he showed not the least embarrassment and recited his poem in a clear, distinct voice. It was a string of pearls, broken and scattered, not like those mentioned in scripture, but before an appreciative audience, who were unanimous in their verdict, "Well done."

Mrs. Wentworth is too well known to need praise; she sang in fine voice and in a spirited manner, giving entire satisfaction.

Professor Lang, the pianist, showed himself a master of his instrument, and in playing on the piano gave credit to the taste of Mrs. Wentworth who selected him.

The next lecture will be on Tuesday evening next, Dec. 8. E.

THAT DRUM.—Messrs. Editors:—The following paragraph appeared in the Daily of Wednesday morning:—

"The Promenade Concert (and also the accompanying rain-storm) came off as usual on Monday evening. The Band played very finely;—but 'Sensitious,' who was there," &c.

Now, sirs,—Sensitivus is tolerably well pleased at being remembered, but unqualifiedly indignant about your taking the V out from his name and putting an O in instead.

The "Autocrat" would call this, if he hears about it—smart pilfory.

S. has another effusion within his pen, which he will send in on condition that the V is restored to Sensitivus.

Well, send along your communication—and your V too, if you've a spare one.—By the way, Sensitivus deserves a V, for the fun he has made; and we shall endeavor to see that he has one hereafter.—Ed. Chron.

NAVAL.—U. S. Sloop-of-war Vandalia went to sea from the lower harbor, at six o'clock Tuesday evening, with a light wind from the north-west.

ARRIVAL OF STEAMSHIP FULTON.

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.

The steamship Fulton, from Havre 17th and Southampton 18th inst., arrived shortly after 5 o'clock this afternoon.

She brings $219,000 in specie.

The London papers are full of the details of the India intelligence, but they contain nothing later.

The Divan of Jassy had voted that all citizens are equal in the eye of the law; also the abolition of all classes and privileges, and the liberty of public worship.

The King of Belgium had dissolved the Chamber of Representatives. The elections are to commence Dec. 10. The Senate and Chamber of Representatives are convoked for the 15th December.

Omar Pasha had left for Bagdad with a small body of troops, to ensure a route along the Euphrates, which had been abandoned for a century, owing to Arab depredations.

Accounts from Wallachia represent the Democratic party to be pursuing a course likely to throw serious impediment in the way of the union of the several Principalities. They aim at having the choice of a Sovereign referred to the National vote, and talk of sending a deputation to the Conference at Paris.

A conspiracy was said to have been discovered among the Absolutist party in Catalonia.

The election in Piedmont had resulted in the return of a majority of liberals. At Turin the government had an immense majority.

Upwards of four hundred persons implicated in a conspiracy had been arrested in Naples, in a single night.

The Espana, of Madrid, says that Mr. Dodge, the American Minister, has resigned, but entirely on account of the health of his family, and private considerations.

Our Liverpool Agent telegraphed to Southampton on Wednesday: Cotton—Sales of the three days 13,000 bales, including 1200 to speculators and exporters. The market opened at advance prices, but closed weak, with but little enquiry. Quotations are generally unchanged.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—(Tribune Correspondence.)—A letter has been received from Secretary Stanton by the President recalling his resignation as Secretary of Kansas, and assigning as a reason for this course his intention of standing or falling by Governor Walker whose whole course he approved.

(Times Correspondence.)—Gov. Walker left for New York this morning. He is firm as ever on the Kansas question.

The steamer Fulton arrived on the coast of Costa Rica Nov. 10th, so she could not have been watching General Walker at New Orleans on the 11th.

The Saratoga was still at San Juan at the last accounts. Her Commander's dispatches to the Navy Department mention the rumor that Capt. Canty who had been in a critical position on Lake Nicaragua had captured the town of Fortuga, thus obtaining all needed supplies. The opinion prevailed in the squadron at Aspinwall that Walker would attempt to land at the mouth of the Moir, or Salt Creek, 60 miles from San Jose.

Secretary Stanton has indicated no intention to resign.

3 DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

HALIFAX, Dec. 2.—Steamship America arrived this morning, from Liverpool.

The money pressure continued without a sign of diminution, although a better feeling had sprung up.

Messrs. George Peabody & Co., one of the most eminent American houses in London, became temporarily embarrassed, but received such prompt aid from the Bank of England, understood to be to the amount of nearly a million sterling, that all difficulties were removed.

Their ability to go on with the assistance extended them was unquestionable.

Another unsuccessful attempt had been made to launch the Leviathan, better known as the Great Eastern.

The advices from Manchester and the manufacturing districts were gloomy.

LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed to superintend their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the same is conducted honorably and fairly. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as well protected as if they were present. At the drawing, when I was concluded to try it on Mrs. Mann's hair, as the surest test of its power. It has done all that you assured me it would do; and others of my family and friends have witnessed its effects, are now using and recommending its use to others as entitled to the highest consideration you claim for it.

Again, very respectfully and truly, yours,

I have used Prof. O. J. Wood's Hair Restorative, and have proved it to be what it claims to be. My hair was quite gray, and I thought, premature gray, but by the use of his Restorative it has resumed its original color, and I have no doubt it would do so.

GEORGIA LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of ADAMSON & SON, are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed by the State, to superintend their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner, and that the interests of parties who reside at a distance are as well protected as if they themselves were present at the drawing. Another fact which the managers call attention to, is, that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the lotteries are legalized by there our sister state. A lottery is drawn at Savannah, Ga., about the 15th of every month, and another is drawn at Macon, Ga., every Saturday throughout the year. Prizes paid in full—no percentage deducted from prizes as in other lotteries. All communications strictly confidential. oct29 1y

PROF. O. J. THE WHITE MOUNTAIN IMPROVED,

THE REPUBLIC,

This Stove has been in the market a few years, and those who have used it, speak in the highest terms of its good qualities.

All sizes on hand, and every Stove warranted.

Also on hand all the different kinds of the most approved patterns; among which are the

Magee's Patent Ventilating Stove.

FOR WARMING AND VENTILATING

PARLORS, OFFICES, HALLS, STORES, SCHOOL HOUSES, &c.

WHICH for economy, purity of air, and ease of management, has no equal. It can be regulated so as to give

Any amount of Heat required,

and unlike all other Anthracite Coal Burners, ventilates the apartments quite as thoroughly, as a wood fire or Franklin, producing a current of air at one motion, pure and agreeable, and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache, so much complained of by those using Stoves and Furnaces, is entirely obviated. The fire may be continued from one to four days without replenishing.

These Stoves are beautiful in design, and finished in the most perfect manner. They are equally appropriate, and have given universal satisfaction to all who have adopted them.

For Offices and Stores as well as the Parlor.

The Inventor challenges the world to produce an article by which so much Pure Warm Air can be generated, from so small an amount of fuel, requiring but about 15 pounds of Anthracite Coal, to warm an ordinary sized parlor for twenty hours without replenishing, and then leaving fire enough to rekindle without the use of charcoal. The coal is all used, and no clinkers made, consequently, sifting coal is dispensed with.

When this Stove is properly managed,

THE FIRE MAY BE CONTINUED THROUGH

THE ENTIRE SEASON,

without once going out. Added to all these qualifications, the purchaser may reasonably expect to save from 30 to 50 per cent, in fuel expense.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.

DR. CHRESEMAN'S PILLS FOR FEMALES.

Prepared by an old Physician of 40 years experience

THE combination of ingredients in these Pills, is the result of a long and extensive practice; they are mild in their operation, and certain to produce a free and healthy channel. In every instance have the Pills proved successful. They are certain to open those obstructions to which females are liable, and restore them to its proper channel, whereby health is restored, and the pale and deathly countenance changed to a healthy one. No female can enjoy good health if she is regular; and wherever an obstruction takes place, whether from exposure, cold, or any other cause, the general health immediately begins to decline; and the proper remedy has been the cause of so many consumptions among young females. Headache, pain in the side, palpitation of the heart, hasty breathing and disturbed sleep, that most always arise from the interruption of nature; and whenever that is the case, the Pills will invariably remedy all these evils. In all cases of painful menstruation, or nervous and spinal affections in the back and limbs, lowness of spirits, hysterics, &c. Nor are they less efficacious in the cure of Leucorrhœa, commonly called the "Whites." These Pills should never be taken during pregnancy, as they would be sure to cause a miscarriage. Warranted purely Vegetable, and free from anything injurious to life or health. Full and explicit directions which should be read, accompany each box.

These Pills are put up in square, flat boxes.—Persons residing where there are no Agencies established, by enclosing One Dollar in a letter, prepaid, to Dr. C. C. CHESEMAN, Box No. 4,551, Post Office, New York City, can have them sent to their respective addresses by return of mail.

VARIETY.

In the rough blast heaves the billow,
In the light air waves the willow;
Every thing of moving kind
Varies with the veering wind:
What have I to do with thee,
Dull, unjoyous Constancy?

Sombre tale, and satire witty,
Sprightly glee, and doleful ditty,
Measur'd sighs, and roundelay,
Welcome all! but do not stay.
What have I to do with thee,
Dull, unjoyous Constancy?

As Mr. George H. Geer, the courteous clerk of the steamer Commonwealth, of the Norwich line, was collecting his fare of the deck passengers, he came to an Irish lady seated on a chest on the deck, while around her were six small children, including one at the breast; friend Geer said, "I'll take your fare, my good woman." "An sure," said the woman, "an yo tole me I might coom—didn't I tell yo me husband was sick an I must get to him with the children?" "Yes," said George, "but there was but one child then—where did you get these six?" Irish lady—"Sure an I got them all where I got one; where's the har-r-r-n?" George passed on, and the woman and children were hooked as dead heads.—Boston Post.

"Come Down, I say."—The Washington Star, the little hand organ of President Buchanan, cracks the whip in the following style over those democratic papers of the North that have presumed to speak in terms of condemnation of the Kansas swindle.

Many democratic papers which have taken a stand against the action of the convention, have done it, apparently, upon incorrect and defective information, or erroneous views of the effect of some of the provisions of the constitution and schedule: and it may be supposed that they will reconsider their judgment in the matter.

To all who suffer from Weakness and Debility, we say, try the Oxygenated Bitters—a medicine which contains no alcohol, and has cured the worst cases of Dyspepsia, Asthma, and all derangements of the stomach.

Col. Samel Colt has reduced his rents from 15 to 20 per cent., and has sent a barrel of flour to every tenant in his village. Such acts are not calculated to injure his standing in the other world, when it is time for him to go there.—Worcester Bay State.

☞ Rev. Moses Patten; from Candia, N. H., a graduate of Andover, has assumed for the present the duties of pastor of the Second Congregationalist Church in Dracut, Mass.

The Mormon Leaders.—Heber C. Kimball, as well as Brigham Young, is a native of New England. He was born in Sheldon, Vt., June 14, 1801.

A touch of real calamity cures the imaginary sorrows of those who make mountains of molehills.

Cold Winter is Coming on.

And with it will return the usual concomitants, Coughs, Colds, Dyspepsia, Scorbutic Eruptions, Sick Headache, Rheumatism, Tetter, Ring Worm, &c., which the genial warmth of summer and free perspiration has, for a time relieved, but which, the return of rigid, cheerless winter, will bring back, unless resisted by some medicamentum.

MYERS'S EXTRACT OF ROCK ROSE, is peculiarly applicable, and if freely used will not fail to protect the constitution against the sudden and extreme changes of our variable climate. It purifies the blood, strengthens the stomach, and invigorates the whole system, thus fortifying against the insidious attacks of ungenial frosts and debilitating heats. See Circulars.

Remedy for Worms.

The diseases of children are often so complicated that it is difficult to ascertain the true nature of their complaint. In a large majority of instances the disease may be traced to the existence of WORMS—the prominent symptoms of which are, paleness of the countenance, loss of or irregular appetite, starting up and crying out in their sleep, picking at the nose, great thirst, a wasting away of the flesh, &c. These symptoms should be early attended to, as by neglect it often terminates in disease of the brain.

PRESTON'S WORM SYRUP

is the most effectual remedy ever used. It is pleasant to the taste, perfectly harmless, and is warranted to effectually give satisfactory results.

A PERFECT SUBSTITUTE

LANCET, LEECHES AND BLISTERS.

INSTEAD of being a panacea for all maladies, it has control over but ONE MALADY—has but ONE AIM—accomplishes but ONE THING, and is unsurpassed by any remedy—whatever be its form or locality—whether in the head, throat, chest, abdomen, extremities or skin. Every form of inflammation (but no other disease) is subdued, by it as easily as fire is extinguished by water. Is it asked, how it does this?—simply by restoring the lost balance between the two fluids of animals. Such is its potency, that like vaccine matter, it requires merely what adheres to the point of a quill dipped into a solution of it, to effect the cure—and

Are well known in the United States, and are conceded to be the most regularity and finish, their unvarying uniformity of size, and for the excellent quality of iron from which they are made, to which they have by many attributed their superiority. POPULAR SOVEREIGNTY.

NO. III.

Shall the Federal Government force upon the people of Kansas a constitution made by a set of scamps whom they never chose?

The Bath, Me., Organ says:

It it shall appear that the people have not approved—find not, indeed, had an opportunity to act freely upon it—then, in our judgment, the only course consistent with the Kansas-Nebraska bill for the national legislature, is to remand the instrument to the people, securing to them a full, free, unrestrained expression of their sovereign will in relation to it. Thus far, we unhesitatingly declare, Congress is bound in good faith to go upon this subject; thus far it must go to redeem the pledges and guarantics made not only to the people of Kansas, but to the whole country.

The Chicago Times of the 17th—the organ of Senator Douglas—has come to hand, and upon this subject we find the following language used:

We think it amounts to very little what has been the action of the Convention. The constitution has not been submitted to the people, and that constitution is not worth the paper it disfigures. It may as well be stated now as at any other time, that the people of Kansas have been given a pledge that they should be free to regulate their own affairs for themselves—and that pledge must be made good.

The Boston Ledger says:

We do not see how the Democratic party in Congress, taking the Nebraska-Kansas act as their guide, can for a moment entertain a serious thought of accepting for Kansas a constitution that makes her a sovereign member of the confederacy, unless it has first been passed upon by her sovereign people. Anything less than this is fraud. Such a constitution should be sent back at once to the people, for their approval or disapproval. Giving the permission to vote upon a fragment upon it, without knowing what the body of it may be, too, is giving them nothing at all; it is denying them their broad rights under the Constitution.

The Democratic press at the North are almost unanimous in this opinion. The Philadelphia Press, the Chicago Times, the Detroit Free Press, the Albany Argus, the N. Y. Journal of Commerce, the Providence Post, the New Hampshire Patriot, Buffalo Courier, the Rochester Union, the Pittsburg Union, and the Harrisburg Patriot,—these and the other leading Democratic presses of the North are united on this ground. Gov. Wise's letter takes the same ground, and so does the Richmond Enquirer, which says:

Congress will, no doubt, return back this new constitution, and demand that one shall be presented which more truly embodies the will of the people. It will not regard such an instrument, secured by such a fraudulent method, with seriousness even for a day.

The N. H. Patriot says:

We confess that we are disappointed with the action of the Convention. We have contended, as a matter of principle, justice and expediency, that the whole Constitution formed by the Convention, should be submitted to the people of Kansas for their acceptance or rejection, and we have seen no good reason why this should not be done. * * *

It seems to us that this course is due to truth, justice and fair-dealing; and that a different course will bring disgrace upon the Democratic party, cast unfounded suspicion upon the character and motives of the administration and its Kansas officials, and entail defeat and obloquy upon the national Democracy of the North, who have stood up so gallantly in defence of the Constitution and of the constitutional rights of the South.

The N. H. Gazette endorses the Patriot article, and says:

On the manner of submitting the question of adopting the Constitution to the people of Kansas, the Patriot has an able article which expresses exactly the opinions of the Democracy of New England. We cannot refrain from publishing extracts from the article, which will receive the commendation of every true patriot, who believes that the people of any State have the right to change their form of government in such manner as they may think proper.

And yet, in the same column, the N. H. Gazette says:

As to the disagreement among the Democratic papers upon the action of the Kansas Constitutional Convention, the opposition are welcome to all the capital they can make out of the fact. The Democracy is a free party, which has allowed to tolerate the largest liberty of individual opinion among its members. It prescribes thoughts, sentiments and ideas for no man, but is willing to trust its principles with the people.

May a man be a democrat, then, who believes in a federal sovereignty, which crushes out the great principle of squatter sovereignty, to which hosannas have been sung? If so, we would like to know the difference between a democrat and an aristocrat.

The Boston Courier says:

But we apprehend a different condition of things will prevail, if, by any act or measure of indirection, the people of Kansas are deprived of their popular rights in the premises. A deeper sentiment of dissatisfaction than any Free Soil or Abolition frenzy, would become incorporated with the feelings of that portion of the people which looks hopefully upon the government and steadfastly for the right.

The action of the Lecompton assembly, however, we fear, has changed the issue, and introduced into the unsettled politics of the Territory, elements of complication not so easily disentangled as those which previously existed.

The Portland Argus tries to compromise, and pleads thus for the bogus Convention:

Perhaps they could not agree upon any other, and the majority concluded that this would be better than an utter failure, with the delay which must in that case ensue. Perhaps they had reason to believe that a partisan and factious spirit would cause their opponents to utterly reject the constitution if submitted, in order to make way for pressing more effectively upon Congress their Topeka humbug; and it is said this last suggestion is the real one which decided them to adopt the present plan.

The Newark, N. J., Journal says, pleading hard for the bogus Convention:

What more can reasonable, honest, patriotic men desire? Outside agitators and intermeddlers should never be allowed to wickedly complicate this dangerous question.

The Democratic party are sincerely anxious to adjust the matter, and they ask the co-operation of all good men to bring about so desirable a result. To effect this, the people should be counselled to practice forbearance, and concede something to the prejudices of the pro-slavery men, (who are evidently in a minority,) and thus they will have the power to abate the evils they complain of, step by step, until they attain the end desired. * * *

It is to be hoped that the Democratic presses which have so prematurely put forth opinions calculated to give aid and comfort to the anti-slavery agitators, will make haste to exercise "the sober second thought."

South Berwick Junction, Nov. 30.—An old man, unknown, while walking on the track of the Boston and Maine Railroad, near this place, was instantly killed by an inward bound train today.

Our South Berwick correspondent informs us that the man was Mr. John Towle, of Hampton, N. H., aged about 65; and that an inquest was held on Tuesday, Dec. 1st. E. F. Neally, Esq., one of the Coroners for York County, Me., summoned a jury of five men; of which Wm. A. Cromwell, Esq., was foreman. It appeared that Mr. Towle was walking on the track, and the engineer of the train, "exercised due care in running the same," and gave all practical warning to Towle; but he did not leave the track till the train was just upon him, and a car struck him on the back or loin,—throwing him about fifteen feet and killing him almost instantly. A bottle of gin was found in his pocket, but he is said, not to have been intoxicated.

The Menemon Sandford Case, Boston.—The jury in the case of Capt. Edward H. Sanford, master of the steamer Menemon Sanford, returned the following verdict at the opening of the Municipal Court Thursday morning:

The jurors in the case of Edward H. Sanford find him guilty, in not making sufficient effort to save the life of Allan Fraser, in falling overboard, as set forth in the indictment.

The Court thereupon directed Capt. Sanford to recognize in $5000 for his appearance from day to day and term to term, until the final disposition of the case.

☞ Benjamin F. Hutchinson, of Milford, N. H., had his leg badly broken, a few days since, while attempting to dislodge a tree from some bushes upon which it had fallen. The tree rolled upon his leg, breaking it twice below the knee, dislocating the ankle, and doing much injury to the soft parts.

☞ While Mr. Nathan Morrison of Wolfborough, was engaged in sinking a large rock in the sidewalk near his house, the rock started from its place before he was aware, and crushed him to death.—He was alone at the time, and his little boy about ten years of age was the first to discover him after the accident.

Gov. Walker says of the Lecompton Convention that formed a constitution for Kansas, "a more beggarly and butcherly crowd of sots, ruffians, and assassins, never assembled together on the face of the earth."

Sudden Death.—N. R. Stimpson, editor and proprietor of the New York Day Book, died suddenly on Monday afternoon, in the Long Island cars, while on his way home to Cypress Hill, supposed of disease of the heart.

James Bennett, (Rep.) has been elected Mayor of Dover by a majoity of about 150 votes.

The Northern Railroad in New Hampshire, pays a dividend of $2 per share, to holders of Stock, Nov. 19th.

EXETERIANA.

Exeter, Dec 2.

Dear Chronicle:—A well known merchant in Boston, once telegraphed to his agent in New York, wishing to know if there had been any change in the cotton market. He accordingly sent the following message—which, it will be noticed, was as laconic as convenient: "?." The answer immediately returned was "0," i. e. no change. In like manner we might save paper, pens and patience in giving a reply to the inquiry after news in this locality. But this is only a trick of the telegraph trade, with which, of course, you are well aware. What matters it whether news are plenty or not, the press-gang must have so many sticks-full of local matter, and the fertile imaginations of editor, reporter, &c., must do the business when facts are scarce.

To say the truth, little or nothing has been going on here for the last month. As some men grow fat by starvation, a long list of knights of the quill have seized this opportunity to write letters from Exeter in the Boston papers. The names of the criminals are severally and respectively—'Ned,' 'Propeller,' 'Rover,' 'Sudex,' and 'Index.' One thinks "Hobbs' boot and shoe store" is a great institution, another states his boots came from Snobbs'. The consequence is that their personal opinions have become quite interesting. This immense exportation of "specie" would have caused a terrible crisis, had not "Clifford" brought into the columns of the News Letter some fine letters from New York. We think we recognize in Clifford, the amusing "Tompkins" of your sheet.

On Friday last was held the Annual Meeting of the Rockingham Agricultural Society, for the choice of officers. Hon. Henry F. French having positively declined a re-election as President, William P. Moulton, Esq., was chosen to that office. The other officers were chosen from this and neighboring towns, but none of your citizens appear to have been thus highly honored.

A memorial of some of our citizens, that their daughters might be allowed to enjoy the benefits of the instruction given at the Academy, was handed in to the Trustees at their last meeting. The subject has been referred to a Committee, and that will probably be the last of it.

A paragraph has been going the rounds from the Boston Post, headed "Beware of Lotteries, got up in Rockingham, County, New Hampshire." A gentleman in Indiana writes to Exeter, wishing to know if a certain lottery has been drawn here. We rather think the Indiana gentleman didn't get a prize if the lottery was drawn.

The new parsonage of the Baptist church is now nearly completed. It is situate in Front Street on land given by Mrs. Mead of Boston, to the Society.——The last Promenade Concert, or "Festival" was not any too successful. The public must be getting tired of these performances, and they have good reason for it if they are compelled to go to one every time the moon changes. Yours, F. G.

Middlesex, Mass.—The Lowell News, speaking of the term of the Common Pleas Court just closed in that city, says, "a large number of liquor cases have been disposed of, and no difficulty has been experienced in obtaining convictions where the evidence was such as to warrant it. In many of the cases the parties have been sentenced according to law, and in others exceptions have been taken, and the cases go to the Supreme Court. Give us a few more such terms of Court in this county, and the rum traffic will be broken up."

A correspondent of the New York Herald at Ciudad Bolivar, says that in Venezuela, the gold mines where the Incas got the greater part of their gold, have been discovered, and the stories about them surpass what has been told of any other mines in the world—throwing the gold regions of California and Australia entirly into the shade.

It will be seen by news from London that George Peabody has been upon the borders of bankruptcy. That shows the cause of the rumor that his agents had suspended in Boston. Somebody knowing the condition of Peabody, gave circulation to his opinions.

Washington, Dec. 2.—There is no doubt but that the Administration will adopt measures with a view of securing to to the inhabitants of Kansas a fair opportunity of expressing their opinion at the ensuing election, on the subject of slavery, in the form proposed by the Constitutional Convention. Acting Governor Stanton is intrusted with the duty of carrying out the instructions.

The executive documents will contain full particulars of the proceedings of the Mormons, and show conclusively the falsity of Brigham Young's charge that our government has acted in the absence of official information concerning them.

Free State Meeting at Lawrence, K. T.—St. Louis. Dec .2.—A meeting was held at Lawrence, K. T., on the 19th ult., for the purpose of considering the action of the late Constitutional convention.—Resolutions were adopted declaring the Lecompton Constitution a gross violation of the expressed wishes of the people of Kansas—a fraud begotten of fraud. Solemnly pledging themselves to resist to the last all attempts to thrust it upon them—repudiating the election proposed to be held on the 21st of December, and suggesting that if the Territorial Executive does not immediately call a special session of the Territorial Legislature, that Gov. Robinson call a special session of the State Legislature at the earliest moment.

A resolution recommending the appointment of a Vigilance Committee, and to sustain the action of the committee, was also adopted.

G. B. Whitman presided, and speeches were made by Jim Lane, Gov. Robinson and others.

Several pro-slavery papers in the Territory, have taken strong grounds against the Constitution.

Washington, Dec. 2.—(N. Y. Herald Correspondence.)—The President will send into the Senate the the name of Nathan Clifford of Maine, formerly U. S. Attorney General, for the vacancy on the Supreme Court Bench.

Samuel Ingham, of Connecticut, has been appointed Commissioner of Customs in the Treasury Department, vice Gov. Anderson.

New York, Dec. 3.—Last evening the upper story of the new four-story brick building, corner of Bethune and West streets, fell from the weight of 20,000 bushels of barley bearing upon it, and in the crash carried with it the floors underneath. The whole of the interior of the building was thus piled in one mass of ruins in the cellar. The grain had been stored in the building during the day, and seven men were at work on the upper floor when the disaster occurred, and about a dozen others were in other parts of the building. Only one man was killed, but others were seriously injured.

Norfolk, Va., Dec. 2.—Ex-President Pierce visited the Navy Yard and the ships-of-war to-day. He was entertained by the officers on board the Pennsylvania, and received a national salute. A grand serenade was given him last night. On Friday, he has a public reception at the City Hall. Mrs. Pierce is improving in health. The weather is charming.

Louisiana Sugar Crop.—New Orleans, Dec. 2.—The True Delta has reliable information that the damage to the sugar cane is much more than was expected.—Some plantations will not yield over one third of an average crop.

The Kansas Constitution.—St. Louis, Dec. 2.—The Democrat publishes the Kansas Constitution, but it contains nothing on the subject of slavery not heretofore published.

Col. Fremont and his family arrived in Boston on Monday evening, and took lodgings at the Revere House. His visit is for his private affairs.

THERE ARE [illegible]IONS

When even the healthiest people need medicine; the changes of diet, of weather, and hundreds of other causes, produce a laxity in the system that needs correcting, or in other words, the liver becomes slightly deranged and needs a stimulator. If all who find themselves in this situation will try Dr Sanford's Invigorator, they may be sure of relief, as we can testify to its efficacy in curing Headache, Indigestion, Sour Stomach, and other ills so common in a family. It acts, as a medicine, easier and better than any dose of pills we ever swallowed, and so mild that the smallest infant can take it.

High Testimonials

IN Favor of Professor Kelly's New Invention of WRITING.

The study of years reduced to a few hours, which is sustained by the testimony of the most eminent and independent men in the Union, whose letters he holds in his possession, corresponding with the following statements, which is convincing proof of the extraordinary results produced by his new invention.

Rt. Rev. Bishop Clarke, of Rhode Island, says in his letter:—"I would give more for this invention from Professor Kelly, than for sixty from any other teacher I ever knew."

Rev. Dr. Blagden and Ex Mayor Seaver of Boston. Rev. Dr. Putnam of Roxbury, and Prof. Warren of Amherst College, have also given letters which Prof. Kelly holds, in testimony of the unquestionable results produced by this invention.

Rev. Mr. Ellis, of Charlestown, Mass., has certified by letter, to the very remarkable change produced by this invention, and says that the improvement in his son's hand-writing, resulting therefrom, had not only been very satisfactory, but wonderful: he therefore was pleased to admit of reference and application to him

The above are only a few of the many testimonials which are in Prof. Kelly's possession, from some of the most eminent men in the Union.

LOCAL.

☞ Work was resumed on the new Custom House and Post Office building, in this city, on Thursday. Mr. Brooks, one of the bondsmen for the contractors to the Government, came from Washington on Wednesday, with Mr. Strong; and on Thursday a large body of men were set to work on the big drain, and also on the foundation of the building. They are digging now at the lower end of the ditch, at the foot of State street, where the work ought to have begun. We understand that Mr. Brooks guarantees the workmen their pay, from this time; but it is probable that all previous bills for labor and materials furnished Mr. Merrill, will not be paid in a hurry.

☞ JOHN HAWKINS, of Baltimore, Md., one of the original Washingtonians, will lecture on Temperance, (Providence permitting,) on Monday evening, December 7, in the Temple. An admission fee of 5 cents will be taken at the door. Services begin at half past 7.

☞ Uncle Toby has just received another compliment from his amiable friend of the Ballot; "in his usual style of good-natured insipidity,"—with which he is very well satisfied; as he is also with his "popularity." He has never gone out of his way to seek for one or the other,—but if popularity should ever come upon him like a shower, he will take it as coolly as he does the compliments. A burlesque character, of imperturbable good nature, it well played out, is no unpleasant part of life's drama. —The actor of such a part must not be annoyed by trifles; so buzz away and welcome, insects all.

So much for the fly. Now for the donkey. The inscription, "This is an ass," kindly appended to one of our drawings, by the Ballot, is not so bad as it might be, if appropriated by one who sees his own face as in a glass.

☞ The distinguished and amiable "furriner" who edits the American Ballot, devotes half a column to blackguarding the Chronicle and its editors,—as is not unusual with him. Uncle Toby, who gave no provocation for the first attack, comes in for a share of abuse with "F," who is a successful competitor for business in the same line with "Sore-head." But it is the natur of the critter' to growl, and he might as well bark at us as anybody, perhaps. We don't see anything in his tirade worthy our special notice; and we don't care to advertise his paper too much without "consideration"—of which he isn't worthy. It is simply false, that we ever "caviled at the Band for playing "opera music," or "suggested that they play negro melodies:" or that we ever "got up a hall concert" at which a duet on drums was played. His other statements are matters of opinion—and he is welcome to his. We much prefer, by the way, the "smell of the stable" to that of a stinking cigar. He concludes his biographical notice, with announcing that his "withers are unrung"—meaning doubtless, in the sense that a chair may be said to be unrung, when the "rungs" or rounds are broken out, and the whole is in danger of "all coming together, like Cæsar's sled."

It seems that our method of conducting business of almost anysort, don't suit him of the Ballot. Well, we don't know that we care much for that, so long as a discriminating public are satisfied—of which their liberal continued and increasing patronage, is sufficient evidence. For the present, unless some other objections be raised, the Chronicle will continue to be issued, as heretofore; and if people prefer our advertising columns to any others in the vicinity, we shan't prevent their exercising their own choice, and we don't believe the Ballot can hinder them. F.

☞ The Ballot wants to know what has become of the "Phenix" newspaper. Well, the Weekly Chronicle has "ate it up."—The Ballot predicted, at the time we started our Weekly, five years ago, that the Daily and Weekly would "eat each other up;" but the editor of that paper has proved himself a false prophet—or rather, "no profit" at all.

DEATHS IN PORTSMOUTH.—The bill of mortality in the city for November, is as follows.

Males eight—aged 16 months, 20 years, 30, 30, 53, 61, 72, 83.

Females fifteen—aged 2 months, 3 mos., 3 mos., 3 mos., 6 mos., 1 year, 1 year 5 mos., 2 years, 25, 26, 52, 60, 65, 69, 94.

Total for the month, twenty-three deaths.

☞ Mr. Wm. D. Perkins has reduced the fare for riding in his Hacks,—from a "quarter" to 15 cents, per seat—in consideration of the decline in business of all kinds, and especially in the prices of hay and grain.

MARRIED.

In Kingston, Mr. Franklin Fitts to Miss Abby Sawyer, both of Sandown.

In Salisbury, Mr. Philip R. Morse to Miss Pamela B. Moore, both of Amesbury.

DIED.

In this city, on Tuesday, Dec. 3, after a lingering illness, Miss Caroline Elizabeth Jenness, daughter of Hon. Richard Jenness. Miss J. was highly gifted, elegantly accomplished, and well qualified every way, to shine in the literary, moral, and domestic circles. But for years she has been an invalid, looking forward to death, as the probable termination of her sufferings,—yet for a great part of the time she enjoyed much of actual life;—and by social converse enlivened what must otherwise have been a sad scene; while by her pen, which was that of a ready writer, she pleased and blessed a wider circle, to whom personally she was a stranger,—until increasing ills and diminished strength, left no margin for anything but present suffering, to be endured only in the hope of eternal life.—And in this hope she has fallen asleep.

In this city, suddenly, on Thursday morning, Dec. 3, James Ayers, Esq., aged 63,—one of the Inspectors of the Customs, a worthy man, and generally respected. His disorder was paralysis.

In Epping, Mrs. Eliza Ann Wiggin, aged 32, widow of Reins Wiggin.

In Newburyport, Mrs Hannah Plummer, aged 55, widow of Ebenezer Plummer.— Mr. Moses Moody, aged 75.

LOTTERIES.

THE Letteries of Sanford Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed to superintend their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the business is done in a strictly honorable manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as well protected as if they were present. The Manager would respectfully call attention to the fact that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the lotteries of Sanford Swan & Co. are authorized by the Legislature of that State. A lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year, all orders received before that day will be entered to take place after the same comes to hand. According to the scheme one ticket in every ten must draw a prize. Tickets are $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2.50. No ticket will be sent unless the money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that any child can be entrusted with them. There is no combination of numbers to mystify the buyer. Prizes vary from $40 to $50,000; every prize is paid in full and result of drawing is published to all purchasers.

☞ A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers:—New Orleans Delta, Mobile Register, Charleston Standard, Nashville Gazette, Atlanta Intelligencer, and New York Sunday Dispatch. Write your address plainly, and direct to S. SWAN & Co., Augusta, Georgia

Prizes paid in full—no percentage deducted from prizes. All communications strictly confidential. m18 1y

LOTTERIES.

The well-known Maryland Consolidated Lotteries, of which R. FRENCH & Co. are the managers, are chartered by the State of Maryland, and a commissioner is appointed by the people, who is sworn to superintend and certify that everything connected with them is done in a strictly honorable manner, and that the interests of parties who reside at a distance are as well protected as if they themselves were present at the drawing. Another fact which the managers call attention to, is that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Maryland, as lotteries are legalized by special law in that state. A lottery is drawn every day, and as soon as the particular class is named, orders are filled in the first drawing to take place after the communication comes to hand. The prices of tickets vary from $10 to $20. No ticket will be sent unless the money for the same is received with the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that any child can be entrusted with them. Prizes vary in amount from $20 to $100,000. All orders for tickets or packages will receive prompt attention, and the drawing mailed to all purchasers immediately after it is over.

☞ The drawn numbers of the Maryland Lotteries are published by the State Commissioner in the following papers, viz: Sun, Clipper, Patriot, American, Argus, of Baltimore; also, the National Intelligencer and Union, of Washington, D.C.

A BEAUTIFUL HEAD OF RICH GLOSSY HAIR,

TO THE GREATEST AGE.

AND who that is gray would not have it restored to former color; or bald, but would have the growth restored; or troubled with dandruff and itching but would have it removed, or troubled with scrofula, scald head, or other eruptions, or with sick headache, fainting fits, but would be cured. It will also remove all pimples from the face and skin. Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative will do all this. See circular and the following.

ANN ARBOR, November 5th, 1856.

PROF. O. J. WOOD—Dear Sir: I have heard much said of the wonderful effects of your Hair Restorative, but having been so often cheated by quackery and quack nostrums, hair dyes, &c., I was disposed to place your Restorative in the same category with the one thousand and one loudly trumpeted quack remedies, until I met you in Lawrence county some months since, when you gave me assurance and convinced me the trial of your Restorative in my family—first, by my good wife, whose hair had become very thin, and entirely lacking in that beauty so desirable in your large bottles, her hair was restored nearly to its original beautiful brown color, and had thickened and become beautiful and glossy, and, as entirely overshadowed her head; she continues to use it, not simply because of its beautifying effects upon the hair, but because of its healthful influence upon the head and whole system. Many family and friends are using your Restorative, with the happiest effects; therefore my skepticism and doubts in reference to the efficacy of the article are entirely removed; and I can and do most cordially and confidentially recommend its use by all who would have their hair restored from white or gray, (by reason of age or age,) to original color and beauty, and by all young persons who would have the hair beautiful and glossy.

Very truly and gratefully yours.

SOLOMON MANN.

FRIEND WOOD: It was a long time after I saw you at Hillsdale before I got the bottle of Restorative for which you gave me an order upon your agent in Detroit, and when I got it we decided to try it on Mrs. Mann's hair, as the surest test of its power. It has done all that you assured me it would do; and others in my family and friends have seen the effects, and are now using and recommending its use to others as entitled to the highest consideration you claim for it.

Again, very respectfully and truly, SOLOMON MANN.

CARLYLE, ILL., June 28, 1852.

I have used Prof. O. J. Wood's Hair Restorative, and have almost lost its effect. My hair was growing, as I thought, premature gray, but by the use of his Restorative it has resumed its original color, and I have no doubt permanently so.

Frank Jones, No. 61 Market St.,

HAVING received his Winter Stock of Stoves, is now prepared to furnish them to his customers with little delay generally, at such prices as cannot fail to suit the most economical, among which are the following:

IMPROVED EMPIRE STATE,

This celebrated Cooking Stove having been in the market many years, is too well known to need any recommendation from us, we would only say that we have received a large Stock of different sizes, to which we invite the attention of purchasers.

THE WHITE MOUNTAIN IMPROVED,

being among the first class Cooking Stores, is a very heavy, durable, and economical Cook Stove, and a good operator with either wood or coal, and warranted to give satisfaction in every particular.

THE REPUBLIC.

This Stove has been in the market a few years, and those who have used it, speak in the highest terms of its good qualities.

All sizes on hand, and every Store warranted.

Also on hand all the different kinds of the most approved patterns, among which are the

BAY STATE, TROY, STAR, AMERICAN, BANNER, NIAGARA, PORTLAND, AURORA, &c.

Repairing Pieces of all kinds on hand.

The attention of all those who are about purchasing or exchanging Stoves, is invited, for we are determined not to be under sold.

Our stock of

is complete, comprising the most desirable patterns in the market for either wood or coal—among which are the

ILION, VILLA, LADY FRANKLIN, FAVORITE, RUBY, &c. &c.,

OVEN PARLORS in great variety for wood or coal. Sheet Iron Stovepipe of all sizes, with or without elbows. Also, Office, Hall, Shop and Store Stoves of different Patterns.

The attention of all who are in want of good Stoves at a low price, is invited, for we are determined to sell lower than any other establishment in the vicinity.

Remember the place to buy cheap is at

No. 61 Market Street.

FRANK JONES.

Magee's Patent Ventilating Stove.

FOR WARMING AND VENTILATING

PARLORS, OFFICES, HALLS, STORES,

SCHOOL HOUSES, &c.

WHICH for economy, purity of air, and ease of management, has no equal. It can be regulated so as to give

Any amount of Heat required,

and unlike all other Anthracite Coal Burners, ventilates the apartments quite as thoroughly, as a wood fire or Franklin, producing a current of Air, at once moist, pure and agreeable, and not some of the air which comes in contact with the fire pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache, so much complained of by those using Stoves and furnaces is entirely obviated. The fire may be continued from one to four days without replenishing.

These Stoves are beautiful in design, and finished in the most perfect manner. They are equally appropriate, and have given universal satisfaction to all who have adopted them.

For Offices and Stores as well as the Parlor.

The Inventor challenges the world to produce an article by which so much Pure Warm Air can be generated, from so small an amount of fuel, requiring but about 15 pounds of Anthracite Coal, to warm an ordinary sized parlor for 24 hours, without replenishing, and then have fire enough to rekindle without the use of charcoal. The coal is all used, and no clinkers made, consequently, sifting coal is dispensed with. When this Stove is properly managed.

THE FIRE MAY BE CONTINUED THROUGH

THE ENTIRE SEASON,

without once going out. Added to all these qualifications, the purchaser may reasonably expect to save from 30 to 50 per cent, in fuel expense.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.

DR. CHEESEMAN'S PILLS FOR FEMALES.

Prepared by an old Physician of 50 years experience in this particular branch of female practice.

THIS is the result of a long and extensive practice; they are mild in their operation, and certain to restoring nature to its proper channel. In every instance in which the Pills have proved unsuccessful they are certain to open those obstructions to which females are liable, and bring nature into its proper channel, when the blooming countenance, the pale and deadly countenance changed to a healthy one. No female can enjoy good health unless she is regular; and whenever an obstruction takes place, the consequences soon follow, and other cause, the general health immediately begins to decline, and the want of such a remedy has been the cause of so many premature graves among young females. Headache, pain in the side, palpitation of the heart, loathing of food, and disturbed sleep, that most always arise from the interruption of nature, and whenever that is the case, the Pills will invariably remedy all these evils. In all cases of painful menstruation, or nervous and spinal affections in the back and limbs, lowness of spirits, hysterics, &c. Nor are they less efficacious in the cure of Leucorrhea, commonly called the "Whites." These Pills should never be taken during pregnancy, as they would be sure to cause a miscarriage. Warranted purely Vegetable, and free from anything injurious to life or health. Full and explicit directions which should be read, accompany each box.

These Pills are put up in square, flat boxes,—Persons residing where there are no Agencies established, by enclosing One Dollar in a letter, prepaid, to Dr. C. L. CHEESEMAN, Box No. 4 581, Post Office, New York City, can have them sent to their respective addresses by return of mail.

S. D. & H. W. Smith,
—MANUFACTURERS OF—
Melodeons, Organ Melodeons,
—and—
PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,
No. 511 Washington St., Boston,

The first premium over all competitors, at the Fair of the Mass. Charitable Mechanic Association, of the National Fair, Washington, D. C.; also at the Ohio State Fair, held at Columbus, Ohio, was awarded to these Manufacturers.

By means of a new method of Voicing, known only to themselves, they have succeeded in removing the harsh and buzzing sound which formerly characterized the instrument, and rendering the tones full, clear and organ like. The action is prompt and reliable, enabling the performer, to execute the most rapid music without blurring the tones. The swell is arranged to give great expression.

THE PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

Are designed particularly for Churches, Lodges, Halls, &c. It is arranged with two manuals, or banks of Keys, the lower set running an octave higher than the other, and may be used separately, and thus get in one case two distinct instruments; or by use of the coupler, the two banks of keys may be played at the same time by use of the front set only. This connected with the Pedal Bass, will produce the effect of a large organ, and is sufficiently heavy to fill a house that seats from 1000 to 1500 persons.

THE ORGAN MELODEON

Is designed for parlor and private use. The construction is similar to the Church Instrument, being arranged with two banks of Keys, and when used together, by means of the coupler, is capable of as great volume of power as the Church instrument when used without the pedals. Also, every variety of MELODEONS for Parlor use.

Purchasers may rely upon instruments from our Manufactory, being made in the most complete and thorough manner, having removed to the spacious Buildings

511 Washington Street,

We have every facility for manufacturing purposes, and employ none but the most experienced and skillful workmen. In short, we will promise our customers as Instruments equal, if not superior, to any Manufacturer, and guarantee an entire and perfect satisfaction.

Music Teachers, Leaders of Choirs, and others interested in musical matters, are respectfully invited to visit our Rooms at any time and examine or test the instruments on exhibition for sale at their pleasure.

As a still further guarantee to the public as to the excellence of the MELODEONS, from our Manufactory, we beg leave to refer, by permission, to the following:

Piano Forte Manufacturers of Boston, who have examined our Instruments, and will give their opinion when called upon:
Chickering & Sons, Hallett & Cumston,
T. Gilbert & Co., Wm. P. Emerson,
Brown & Allen, A. W. Ladd & Co.,
George Hewes, Woodward & Brown,
Newhall & Co.

MELODEONS RENTED.

Persons who wish to hire Melodeons with a view of purchasing at the end of the year, can have the rent credited as part payment of the purchase money. This matter is worthy of special note, as it enables those who desire a fair test of the instruments before purchasing, to obtain it at the expense of the manufacturers, to the extent at least of a year's rent.

Orders from any part of the country or world, sent direct to the manufactory in Boston, with cash, or satisfactory reference, will be promptly attended to, and as faithfully executed as if the parties were present, or employed an agent to select, and on as reasonable terms.

Remedy for Worms.

THE diseases of children are often so complicated that it is difficult to determine the true nature of their complaint. In a large majority of instances the cause may be traced to the existence of WORMS—the prominent symptoms of which are, paleness of the countenance, loss of or irregular appetite, starting up and crying out in their sleep, picking at the nose, great thirst, a wasting away of the flesh, &c. These symptoms should be early attended to, as by neglect it often terminates in disease of the brain.

PRESTON'S WORM SYRUP

is the most effectual remedy ever used. It is pleasant to the taste, perfectly harmless, and is warranted in every case to give satisfactory results.

INSTEAD of being a panacea for all maladies, it has control over but ONE MALADY—but DOES AIM—accomplishes but ONE THING, to wit: SUBDUES INFLAMMATORY DISEASE—whatever be its form or locality—whether in the head, throat, stomach, extremities or skin. Every form of inflammation (but no other disease) is subdued, by it as easily as fire is extinguished by water. Is it asked, how it does this?—simply by restoring the lost balance between the fluids and solids. Such is its potency, that like vaccine matter, it requires merely what adheres to the point of a knife blade, into a solution of it, to affect the entire system.

Petition of Alfred Tucker and others, for a Gas Light at the corner on Spring Hill, was referred.

The proposition of Mr. Robert Gray, for widening Vaughan street, was accepted, "providing Mr. Gray will accept $75 in full for the land and fencing."

The Street Commissioner was instructed to cause the removal, within one week, of the heap of earth and stones now lying in State street.

Resolutions condemnatory of the proceedings of the State Legislature at the last session, relative to change of wards, &c. in the city of Portsmouth, were sent up from the Common Council and concurred in.

ALMOST A FIRE.—On Saturday last the house occupied by Jonathan Dearborn, in this city, narrowly escaped destruction by a fire which commenced in a curious manner. On the evening previous, Mr. D. purchased a bottle of alcohol, which he placed on the mantle-piece over a range, where it remained over night. In the morning he lighted a fire in the range, and went to his store leaving the fire well burning. When his wife went into the room, a short time after, she found one side of the room in a light blaze. The bottle of alcohol had burst, and the fluid running over the top of the range and down the sides had become ignited, and communicated the fire to the mantle-piece on which was a lot of newspapers, and to the side of the room generally. Mrs. D. immediately applied water and extinguished the fire. The paint on that side of the room was entirely scorched off, and the wood beneath considerably charred. If the fire had had another quarter of an hour before being discovered, it is probable the house would have been destroyed. The cause of the explosion of the bottle is thus explained: The bottle was completely filled with alcohol, which, being expanded by the heat, and unable to force out the stopple, necessarily burst its bonds.—Gazette.

MR. LAIGHTON'S POEM.—There is always a trembling among the friends of a public speaker when he appears before an audience with his maiden speech, and no small gratification is it to them to find that there has been no trembling in the speaker on the eventful moment. Mr. Albert Laighton made his first appearance, and a very successful one, before a public audience on Tuesday evening, and on the occasion of the opening of the Mercantile Lyceum delivered a Poem, of about half an hour's length. The subject was BEAUTY—not that which was displayed in the bright eyes and cheering countenances before him, but as developed in the whole visible creation. His pictures were vivid and truly beautiful. What could exceed the splendid display he made of the Northern Lights.—He unrolled, in a dozen drop scenes, as many finished and varied views of the brilliant phenomena, such as it is his own peculiar province to paint.—The subject led him over a field of wide extent, and it is no small compliment to the poet to say, that he carried the whole audience with him, as he passed from Season to Season,—they were not only touched with the beauty of his noon-day, but were fairly carried in his balloon among the stars, and were not disposed to leave him while with Dr. Kane he called the beautiful from the frigid zone. His tribute to the northern explorer was in good taste. As the poem will probably be used elsewhere, we give no extracts.—Journal.

FATAL DISASTER.—On Thanksgiving day, Mr. Andrew Emmons, of Kennebunk, aged 82 years, came to Portsmouth to spend the day in the family of his son-in-law, Mr. P. M. Snow. He was alone, and in stepping out of the cars at the Portsmouth depot he sallied on one side, broke his wrist, and in falling struck the latch of a door into his temple. He was carried in a senseless state to his daughter, so disfigured that she administered to his wounds for a time without knowing it was her father. He died on Saturday evening.

☞ Mr. Samuel Dalton, one of the owners of the Brig "Molly Stark," Captain Samuel Cushman, which sailed from this port for Australia last spring, has arrived home. We published in the Gazette an account of the wreck of this Brig, which occurred on the 31st of May last; but our description of the calamity, it appears, fell far below the reality. Mr. Dalton who was on board at the time of the accident, informs us that the escape of the crew with their lives and the dismantled wreck, was a most narrow and miraculous one. It was a question with them whether to abandon the wreck to her fate or to strive to work her into some port of safety. After much hardship, labor and risk they accomplished the latter result, and reached the harbor of Cork, from whence after the necessary repairs, she set sail for Australia, in October last. Mr. Dalton speaks in high terms of Capt. Cushman's seamanship and ability, and coolness in time of danger.—Gazette.

☞ The bids for the building of a new Custom House, at Perth Amboy, N. J., were opened at the Treasury Department, at Washington, last week. The lowest bidders were Messrs. Blaisdell & Emerson of Boston, and the contract was awarded to them. Mr. Blaisdell, who resides in Greenland has had much experience in such work, having built quite a number of buildings for the government, under contract.—Gazette.

A letter has been received from the widow of Capt. Walsh, who fully identifies the body as being that of her husband. There can hardly be a doubt that Capt. Walsh was robbed, either before or after his death, as it is almost certain that he had about $130 in his possession the day before he was missed, over and above all that can be accounted for.

Morning Chronicle.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1857.

LETTER FROM CALIFORNIA.

KNIGHT'S FERRY, Cal., Nov. 4,.

Dear Chronicle:—A year has rolled blithly away, since the first number of your weekly paper reached my home in the foot-hills of the Sierra Nevada Mountains; and its snug little form, done up in its cosy wrapper, always finds a cheering welcome, and its budget of news never fails to interest our circle. Thus, as we have enjoyed the past so well, we institute with this our annual offering ($1) for its renewal, and hope to enjoy the continual feast of good things with which it is freighted. We love to see an occasional item from the the pen of Mrs. Partington, a few lines of Field's and Laighton's poetry, not omitting B. P. Shillaber, Quatuor Decem, Elsie, and many others—for they remind us of home, and those dear old haunts of childhood on the strawberry banks. We love the rehearsal in song of those favored spots, where we in sportive glee whiled our juvenile days away.

The "Old North Mill-Pond" reminded me of the many winter evenings spent there, and also of the old Rope Walk, as haunted by the ghostly apparitions of the adjoining grave-yard. Many a night have I personified the ghastly form of the departed in the winding sheet, to the terror and amusement of my playmates. The track of the iron horse has in its course removed every vestige of the old dilapidated remains of the Walk, and infused new life in its path.

Another feature which we like is the department allotted to Uncle Toby, in which he is so much at home. He handles things in such a masterly manner, especially when officious editors step carelessly on his corns. Being particularly sensitive in that quarter, he deals out right and left, clearing the track of all obstacles, puts them off their guard by his quick foils, and they become non est inventus. So much for the paper,—now for a word as to the prospect of the Golden State.

For the past year California has improved, both in agriculture and mining. The vallies of the Sacramento and San Joaquin are becoming populated by industrious farmers, whose ranches give evidence of a determination to realize the fullest returns for the labor bestowed upon them. Fruits are becoming more abundant, and vegetables now grace the table at all seasons. As the mining towns are becoming more filled in population, a good market is thus always open for the tiller of the soil. Mining continues to improve; river claims in some places on the Stanislaus are paying well, and its banks and side-hills are still yielding plentifully.

Speaking of the latter, it reminds me of a very serious accident which occurred two miles above this place, a week since.—Two men who were running a tunnel into the bank, were imprisoned within, by the caving in of the tunnel behind them, and filling up the mouth of the tunnel with earth.

As soon as the accident was known to their friends, they went to work to dig them out, and when they had nearly reached them, they were heard to say, "be quick, for we are dying;" but ere they could remove the earth intervening, a fresh cave filled up the tunnel again. After toiling some two days, they succeeded in recovering the body of one, and their clothes, which they had taken off to allay their sufferings. Two days after, the other was found, and they were both buried here and were followed to their last resting-place by the miners of the locality.

It is a sad scene, to witness the humble miner, in his rude coffin, shrouded by his blanket, and drawn to the grave in a rough open wagon, followed by sympathising friends, who as they see the coffin pass, join in the mourners' train to do the last honors to one whom they never knew, but whose sad fate they deplore.

These men are called upon to mourn the loss of some one, every few days, as there is one or two killed every week by caves of banks of earth in different portions of the State. But it is not strange that such a fatality should be one of the great evils of mining, for nowhere do men hazard life more than is done here in the mines. The eager reach for gold blinds the miner's caution, and in his haste to be rich he picks away under the bank, as thoughtless as a child and ere he is aware, down comes a slide and covers him up.

There is more underground work or tunneling done now than ever before, and those who do this kind of work say they like it best; but perhaps it is because it pays best, that they like to risk life in the bowels of the earth. A company on the other side of the Stanislaus, have just commenced a tunnel for a raceway, which is to be three thousand feet long; and this is characteristic of the mines, generally, for it is either through a flat, or under a hill, and then from a horizontal they take a perpendicular course and sink shafts of various depths, the deepest of the million being three hundred and twenty feet!

The way miners walk into the earth and rocks here, is a caution to evil doers; for the success attending the labors of a few, encourages others to pitch in and worm their way into the mountain bases; the result is, they find the beds of former rivers, whose course ran East and West—the opposite to the present course of rivers—and it is there the richest deposits have been found.

California has plenty of the ore left yet, but she now feels a little diffident about sending it home in such rotten hulks as the Pacific Mail Company employ; and I feel a little afraid, lest another storm dash the steamer chosen to bring the annual dollar to you.

J. E. W. C.

PREMIUM NEW HAMPSHIRE FARMS.—The Committee of the N. H. State Agricultural Society has awarded the following premiums:—To Horace Dean, Claremont, $50; Isaac Kimball, Temple, $40; Nathaniel White, Concord, $30. Of Mr. Dean's farm they say—

"Mr. Dean purchased this farm of 300 acres six years ago. Price paid $7,000.—Mows 75 acres; 9 acres corn; 1 acre potatoes;—keeps 36 head of cattle, 4 horses, 125 sheep, fats 10 hogs, spreads 20 loads of manure to the acre on his corn land, has built 400 rods of wall, set out 250 fruit trees, grafted; has 30 acres of woodland fenced.

Mr. Dean keeps an accurate farm account; his sales from the farm in 1856 amounted to $1324,61; hired help that year $190,61. Sold from the farm in 1855, 1535,40; hired help $150,79. The reason of the sales being more in 1855 than in 1856, was the selling of one horse for $200.

When Mr. Dean came in possession of the place, its former owner mowed 35 acres more than is now mown, and cut 40 tons less hay.

Estimated crops for 1857—250 bushels of oats, 450 bushels corn, 70 of winter wheat, 59 of barley, &c. He has built roads on the farm that have cost more than $200. His six old hogs will average over 600 lbs. each. He cuts 100 tons of hay."

CARROLL COUNTY.—The Supreme Judicial Court and Court of Common Pleas commenced its session on Tuesday, Nov. 17, and adjourned on Wednesday, Nov. 25, Judge Sargent presiding. Martha N. McIntire, indicted for the murder of a child of the Tamworth Alms House, was adjudged to be insane, and ordered to be carried to the Asylum. Half a dozen individuals, among whom were Judge Henry B. Rust of Wolfborough, and Hon. Joseph Wentworth of Sandwich, were fined $50 each and costs, for selling liquor, "contrary to the statute in such case made and provided." The amount of the fines in all the cases was $500. The other offenders against the act for the suppression of intemperance were Hale Chapman, Z. F. Glidden, J. Q. Rolcs, &a.

☞ A bold highway robbery was perpetrated at Wilton, N. H., Nov. 27th. A young man named Boyden, of Nashua, travelling on foot from Peterborough, was attacked by two men who demanded his money. One of them seized him by the collar, and a struggle took place, during which one of the robbers drew a knife and struck Boyden a blow, piercing through his coat and vest, and slightly grazing his skin. Boyden then ceased to resist, and they took his porte-monnaie, containing fifteen dollars, and left.

A FUNERAL INTERRUPTED.—At the house of one Michael Conley, on Corey street, Boston, Tuesday afternoon, the friends of Conley had assembled for the purpose of burying a deceased child, when the father, maddened with liquor, rushed frantically into the room where lay the corpse, and vehemently interposed to prevent the funeral. In order to proceed with the services, it was found necessary to call in the police, who conveyed Conley to the lock-up.

☞ Rev. L. Luddington of the Second Advent Church at New Britain, Ct., undertook to prevent a Boston "brother" from superceding him in his pastoral charge last Sunday, by breaking out all the lights in the meeting house at early dawn. He was seen, however, and on Monday was fined $7 and costs, and sent to jail for 20 days.

☞ Flour, in New York, on Thursday, at wholesale, ranged from $4.50 to 6.85. Corn 81 to 90c.

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—The Brooklyn Fugitive Slave Case.—The Brooklyn fugitive slave case was brought to a close yesterday, resulting in holding to bail the following persons for conspiracy and kidnapping:—John Jackson, John Cowen, Timothy K. Mason and Thomas Lawler, special policemen; and Thomas McNulty, whose house was made a prison of. On the first charge the accused were held to bail in the sum of $1500, and on the second $3000. Thomas Dobson and Samuel Auld are the bondsmen. The fugitive is safe in Canada.

CONCORD RAILROAD.—There were about 1000 stockholders present at the meeting at Concord, Tuesday. The report of the Investigating Committee was read, accepted and adopted; the Director's Reply laid on the table. The choice of Directors was postponed until next May. The Investigating Committee is to make further investigation, and report prior to the annual meeting in May.—No great excitement.

FROM KANSAS.—St. Louis, Dec. 3.—At a meeting at Leavenworth, Kansas, on the 21st ult., resolutions were adopted similar to those passed at Lawrence on the 19th, and speeches were made by Messrs. Vaughn, Philips, Hutchins, Moore, and others. Mr. Philips advised rallying around the Topeka Constitution, calling it the magna charta of Kansas liberty. A Vigilance Committee is being formed throughout the territory. A letter to the Democrat, dated Lawrence, Nov. 17, states that Gov. Walker said he would call a special session of the legislature, providing the members would sign a pledge guaranteeing that they would not go into general legislation.

SUICIDE.—New Bedford, Dec. 3.—Mr. James H. Richmond, of the firm of A. J. Richmond & Co., brass founders, committed suicide about 4 o'clock this afternoon, by shooting himself in the temple with a pistol. He was injured by a fall some months since, and has been subject to depression of spirits. He was about 35 years of age, and a valuable citizen.

DISASTER AND LOSS OF LIFE.—On Wednesday evening, between eight and nine o'clock, as Capt. Benjamin Perkins and Mr. Henry Wade, of Newburyport, were returning from Pollocking, in a whaleboat, the boat was struck by a sea on the bar, and both men were lost. There were quite a number of boats out at the time, but this one attempted to return too early in the tide, while others remaining till there was more water on the bar, passed in safety. Some of them were near enough to hear the voices of the men when they capsized. Both were young men—from thirty to thirty-five years old, married, and each has left a widow and several small children, in destitute circumstances.—Herald.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

THERE ARE OCCASIONS
When even the healthiest people need medicine; the changes of diet, of weather, and hundreds of other causes, produce a laxity in the system that needs correcting, or in other words, the liver becomes slightly deranged and needs a stimulator. If all who find themselves in this situation will try Dr Sanford's Invigorator, they may be sure of relief, as we can testify to its efficacy in curing Headache, Indigestion, Sour Stomach, and other ills so common in a family. It acts, as a medicine, easier and better than any dose of pills we ever swallowed, and so mild that the smallest infant cap take it.
General Agents in Boston, BURR, FOSTER & Co., No. 1 Cornhill; and GEO. C. GOODWIN & CO., Boston.
Sold in Portsmouth by JOS. HAVEN THACHER, Druggist.
And sold by Druggists throughout the United States and British Provinces.

SAILORS AND SEA FARING MEN,
and persons exposed to wet or cold, and who live principally on salt dry food, with little or no vegetables, are peculiarly subject to Scurvy, and no one with proper forethought will go to sea unprepared for what nine tenths of our seafaring men are subject to. As an Anticorbutic, Myers' Extract Rose is a specific. Scurvey, Salt Rheum or Tetter, cutaneous diseases of all kinds, yield to its influence. It purifies the blood, regulates the system, and imparts health and strength to the weak and emaciated.

CLOAKS AND CLOAK GOODS.
If any of our readers are about purchasing a Cloak, or the materials to make one, they will of course visit NUMBER FIFTEEN MARKET ST., before buying.—Allen & Paine having appropriated one room of their store to that business entirely, are opening to-day one of the largest stocks in this city, including Cloaks, Broadcloths, Black, Brown and Drab Plush for Trimming. To those of their customers who prefer making their own Cloaks, they will give a pattern of any Cloak in their store.

☞ The only place in this city where an Ambrotype can be obtained, is at Davis' Ambrotype Gallery, No. 8 Daniel Street, as they have the Patent, and all infringements will be prosecuted. sept9

LOCAL.

☞ The account of an assault upon the person of Capt. Brooks of Kennebunk, Me., as published in the Chronicle, was probably greatly exaggerated. We learn, upon inquiry of disinterested parties, that the disturbance was commenced by the "ancient mariner," and having been obliged to retire from the encounter second best, he endeavored by his pitiful story to excite sympathy among our citizens. — N. H. Gazette, Dec. 5.

This fully proves all that we asserted about the matter, viz. that if we had a police properly organized and paid, it would be easy to stop or check such doings. The "disinterested parties," i. e. the spectators of a groggery fight where knives were used, might be reliable witnesses, or might not. Nevertheless, there might be some one man among them who would tell the truth.—This case, in connection with the probable robbery and murder of Capt. Walsh, by the assassins who lurk in some well-known dens of vice, shows that we have bad men among us who need watching; every groggery in full blast, makes work for our good policemen. Break up the groggeries, and the robbers and murderers would lose their shelter.

ROCKINGHAM AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.—The Annual Meeting took place Nov. 27th. Hon. Henry F. French declined acting as President another year. The officers chosen for the ensuing year, were :

President, Wm. P. Moulton, Exeter.
Vice Presidents. Abner Littlefield, Greenland ; John O. Cilley, Nottingham ; Edward S. Sanborn, Kingston ; Charles A. Nason, Hampton Falls.
Secretary, Charles G. Connor, Exeter.
Auditors, Jeremiah Robinson, Exeter, and Zebulon Sanborn, Epping.

In the afternoon, Hon. H. F. French addressed the meeting on the subject of his late tour in Europe, and the methods of British Agriculture, till the time of adjournment.—Not having time to conclude his remarks, he was requested to resume them at some future day, suitable notice to be given of the time and place. A committee was chosen to carry the above request into effect.—Exeter Newsletter.

We are glad to see our enterprising friend Conner is to have a hand in the good work. But where is R. H. Parker, Esq., who has heretofore so efficiently performed the duties of Treasurer? and who is to take care of the funds hereafter? We presume the Trustees and Treasurer were chosen for five years, at the formation of the Society, four years ago.

☞ The Freewill Baptist Society will worship in the Vestry of the Temple, as usual, tomorrow forenoon and evening,—but in the afternoon they will attend the funeral of Mrs. Webster, at the Hanover Street Chapel, at half past two o'clock.

☞ A young man, student at Dartmouth, is desirous of obtaining a situation as Teacher of a Winter School. He can furnish the best reference as to scholarship, character and ability ; and may be addressed at the Chronicle Office.

☞ JOHN HAWKINS, of Baltimore, Md., one of the original Washingtonians, will lecture on Temperance, (Providence permitting,) on Monday evening, December 7, in the Temple. An admission fee of 5 cents will be taken at the door. Service begin at half past 7.

☞ We advertise evening tickets for the Mercantile Lyceum in our columns this morning. The lecture next Thursday evening by Arthur Gilman, Esq., is one never delivered out of Boston before this season; it has been delivered in Boston three times and is spoken of in high terms of praise.

☞ Capt. I. T. Doughty, of the marine corps, has not yet received orders of his destination, but expects to be sent to Portsmouth, N. H.

☞ The editor of the Ballot complains that our witticisms in reference to him, are of a low order. Well, who ever heard of aiming high, when shooting at a "swamp kitten?" F.

ACQUITTAL OF SUTTON.—In the Municipal Court, Boston, Thursday, additional testimony in the case of Henry L. Sutton, on trial for manslaughter in causing the death of John Hilton, was put in by the government; but no material fact, other than those recently published, was adduced. For the defence, testimony as to Sutton's good character was put in, and it was shown that he received a severe, almost dangerous wound in the scuffle. His counsel argued that the deed was committed in self-defence. The jury, after a few hours' deliberation, brought in a verdict of acquittal.—Rather a soft verdict.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3, 6 P. M.—The money market is less cheerful and inactive.—The supply is abundant, and large quantities are offered at 6 per cent. on call, without finding takers. Stocks—Stock operators consider the America's news as unfavorable, in consequence of which there is a general decline on nearly all descriptions.

This is the place, stand still awhile,
Let me review the scene,
And summon from the shadowy Past
The forms that once have been.

SILVER WEDDING.—Tuesday last being the 25th anniversary of the wedding of ANDREW J. BECK, Esq., City Marshal, the event was duly & appropriately noticed by a meeting of his early friends and associates at his residence, and with him and his estimable lady partaking not only of table hospitality, but also of that review of the past, which mixed as it may be with sorrow, has more for the voice of grateful joy.

In the course of the evening, there were several appropriate silver presentations.—Among them, if not of the highest cost, certainly richest in symbolical value—used for that article which is the great preserver, and in ancient seal of compacts—was a salt spoon, appropriately inscribed with the present date, and the date of the marriage ; and a silver napkin-ring, showing that the circle of life on which they have entered has no termination. The pastor, Rev. Mr. Whiting, was present and performed appropriate services on the occasion. The scene was one of much interest, and the observance a return of one of those good old Saxon customs which should be more generally noticed.

The Past and Present here unite
Beneath Time's flowing tide,
Like footprints hidden by a brook,
But seen on either side.
—Portsmouth Journal, Nov. 21.

"SILVER WEDDING" THOUGHTS.

Inscribed to my friend A. J. B.

WORCESTER, Dec. 1.

Dear Friends ;—Please take this little versification, which I ran off a week ago or more, on reading the account of my good friend A. J. Beck's Silver Wedding; and put it into the "Chronicle," with my kindest regards to him. When he has his Golden Wedding, it will please me to have an invitation. Yours always, J. G. A.

Thy "Silver Wedding," neighbor?
How these words salute my ear!
Do I rightly read the record,
As it speaks before me here?
Gone, the days and years so swiftly,
And so silently away,
Since those fair and gladsome mornings
Which we hailed in boyhood's day?

But yesterday it seemeth,
That we trod "the common" green ;
When life's paths were all so sunny,
And so seldom clouds were seen ;
When gay sport and ringing laughter
Welcomed morn, or noon, or even,
And home-loves and youthful greetings
Seemed to make our very heaven.

Don't you hear again those voices?
See those faces, too, so fair?
Speak those names, so well remembered?
Live again in spirit there?
As the present tie so firmly
Binds to other hearts thy own,
Will not memory's eager glances
Back upon those scenes be thrown?

Yes, but yesterday it seemeth,
That old play-ground of our own
Was as famed a field of action
As any since we've known.
But the actors, O, how scattered!
And what changes have we seen,
Since we loved to play and linger
On that well remembered green.

New loves and lives have claimed us,
New joys have blest our ways,
New emotions, new revealings,
Since those early youthful days ;
Home has now a higher meaning,
As its sacredness we've found,
'Mid its new endearments standing,
By its new affections bound.

Life's earnest work has called us,
Since those play-days bright were ours;
And life's pathway, somewhat harder,
Has made trial of our powers.
We have wearied and have murmured,
In this trial and this care ;
Yet the Guardian Hand has held us,
Children still, as now we are.

Good heart to thee, my brother!
Years of joy to thee and thine!
Brighter, to the "golden" era,
May thy wedded life-light shine;
Till, our earthly changes over,
We may join with seraphim,
At the marriage feast supernal,
In our final union hymn.

High Testimonials

IN Favor of Professor Kelly's New Invention of WRITING.
The study of years reduced to a few hours, which is sustained by the most eminent and independent men in the Union, whose letters he holds in his possession, corresponding with the following statements, which is convincing proof of the extraordinary results produced by his new invention.
Rt. Rev. Bishop Clarke, of Rhode Island, says in his letter:—"I would give more for six lessons from Professor Kelly, then for sixty from any other teacher I ever knew."
Rev. Dr. Hagden and Ex Mayor Seaver of Boston. Rev. Dr. Putnam of Roxbury, and Prof. Warren of Amherst College, have also given letters which Prof. Kelly holds, in testimony of the unquestionable results produced by this invention.
Rev. Mr. Ellis, of Charlestown, Mass., has certified by letter, to the very remarkable change produced by this invention, and says that the improvement in his son's hand-writing, resulting therefrom, had not only been very satisfactory, but wonderful: he therefore was pleased to admit of reference and application to him
The above are only a few of the many testimonials which are in Prof. Kelly's possession, from some of the most eminent men in the Union.
Applications may be made to Prof. Kelley, through the Chronicle Office. n25 s 28

LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have seven commissioners appointed to superintend their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as well protected as if they were present. The Managers would respectfully call attention to the fact that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the lotteries are legalized by special law in that state, the Legislature of that State. A lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year, all orders received being filled in the drawing next to take place after their receipt, commencing according to the scheme one ticket in every ten must draw a prize. Tickets are $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2.50; one tenths $1; unless the money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them, there is no combination of numbers, which has so mystify the buyer. Prizes vary from $40 to $50,000; every prize being drawn, and result of drawing published in Boston papers.

☞ A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers:—New Orleans Delta, Savannah Register, Charleston Standard, Nashville Gazette, Atlanta Intelligencer, and New York Weekly Dispatch. We publish these papers that persons may refer to S. SWAN & Co., Augusta, Georgia.

Prizes paid in full—no percentage deducted from prizes as in other lotteries.

All communications strictly confidential. m18 1y

Another fact which the managers call attention to, is, that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Maryland, as lotteries are legalized by special law in that state. A lottery is drawn every day of the month. If no particular class is named, orders will be filled for the first drawing to take place after the communication comes to hand. The prices of tickets vary from $1 to $20. No tickets are sent out unless the money for the same is received with the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket (after the Havana plan), and Tertany combinations, prizes vary in amount from $20 to $100 000. A BEAUTIFUL HEAD OF RICH GLOSSY HAIR,

Completely Preserved

TO THE GREATEST AGE.

AND who that is gray would not have it restored to former color; or bald, but would have the growth restored; or troubled with dandruff and itching but would have it removed, or troubled with scrofula, scald head, or other eruptions, or with sick headache, (neuralgia) but would be cured. It will also remove any pimples from the face and skin. Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative will do all this. See circular and the following.

ANN ARBOR, November 5th, 1856.

PROF. O. J. WOOD—Dear Sir: I have heard much said of the wonderful effects of your Hair Restorative, but having been so often cheated by quackery and quack nostrums, hair dyes, &c., I was disposed to place your Restorative in the same category with the one thousand and one lonely trumpeted quack remedies, until I met you in Lawrence county some months since, when you gave me such assurance as induced the trial of your Restorative in my family—first, by my good wife, whose hair had become very thin, and entirely white; and before exhausting one of your bottles, her hair was restored (and beard), to its original beautiful brown color, and had thickened and become beautiful and glossy upon, not the top of the head; she continues to use it, not simply because of its beautifying effects upon the hair, but because of its healthful influence upon the head and mind. Others of my family and friends have used it with satisfactory, and with the happiest effects; therefore my skepticism and doubts in reference to its character and value are entirely removed; and I can and do most cordially and confidentially recommend its use by all who would have their hair restored from white or gray, (by reason of sickness or age), to original color and beauty, and by all young persons who would have the hair beautiful and glossy.

Very truly and gratefully yours.

SOLOMON MANN.

FRIEND WOOD: It was a long time after I saw you at Blissfield before I got the bottle of Restorative for which you gave me an order upon your agent in Detroit, and when I got it we concluded to try it on Mrs. Mann's hair, as the most of it is gone. S. BRESEE, ex-Senator, U. S.

GEORGIA LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of ANDERSON & SON, are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have seven commissioners appointed by the State, to superintend their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner, and that the interests of parties may reside at a distance are as well protected as if they themselves were present at the drawing. Another fact which the managers call attention to, is, that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Maryland, as lotteries are legalized by special law in that state. A lottery is drawn every day of the month. If no particular class is named, orders will be filled for the first drawing to take place after the communication comes to hand. The prices of tickets vary from $1 to $20. No tickets are sent out unless the money for the same is received with the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket (after the Havana plan), and Ternary combinations, prizes vary in amount from $20 to $100 000. All orders for tickets or packages will receive prompt attention, and the drawing mailed to all purchasers immediately after it is over.

☞ The drawn numbers of the Maryland Lotteries are published by the State Commissioner in the following papers, viz: Sun, Clipper, Patriot, American, Argus, of Baltimore; also, the National Intelligencer and Union, of Washington, D.C.

PARLORS, OFFICES, HALLS, STORES,

SCHOOL HOUSES, &c.

WHICH for economy, purity of air, and ease of management, has no equal. It can be regulated so as to give

Any amount of Heat required,

and unlike all other Anthracite Coal Burners, ventilates the apartments quite as thoroughly, as a wood fire or Franklin, producing a current of Air, at once moist, pure and agreeable, and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire goes up for ventilation, the tendency to produce headache, so much complained of by those using Stoves and Furnaces, is entirely obviated. The fire may be continued from one to four days without replenishing.

These Stoves are beautiful in design, and finished in the most perfect manner. They are equally appropriate and give universal satisfaction to all who have adopted them.

For Offices and Stores as well as the Parlor.

The Inventor challenges the world to produce an article by which so much Pure Warm Aircan be generated, from so small an amount of fuel, requiring but about 12 pounds of Anthracite Coal, to warm an ordinary sized parlor for 24 hours, without replenishing, and then leaving fire enough to kindle without the use of kindlings. The coal is all used, and no clinkers made, consequently, sifting coal is dispensed with.—When this Stove is properly managed, without once going out. Based on all these qualifications, the purchaser may reasonably expect to save from 30 to 50 per cent, in fuel expense.

THE FIRE MAY BE CONTINUED THROUGH

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.

DR. CHEESEMAN'S PILLS FOR FEMALES.

Prepared by an old Physician of 40 years experience

THE combination of ingredients in these Pills, is the result of a long and extensive practice; they are mild in their operation, and sure to restoring nature to its proper channel. In every instance have the Pills proved successful. They are certain to open those obstructions to which females are liable, and bring nature into its proper channel, whereby health is restored, and the pale and deathly countenance changed to a healthy one. No female can enjoy good health unless she is regular: and whenever an obstruction takes place, whether from exposure, cold, or any other cause, the general health immediately begins to decline, and the want of such a remedy has been the cause of so many consumptions among young females. Headache, pain in the side, palpitation of the heart, loss of appetite, and disturbed sleep, that most always arise from the interruption of nature; and whenever that is the case, the Pills will invariably remove all these evils. In all cases of painful menstruation, or nervous and spinal affections in the back and limbs, lowness of spirits, hysterics, &c. Nor are they less efficacious in the cure of Leucorrhœa, commonly called the "Whites." These Pills should never be taken during pregnancy, as they would be sure to cause a miscarriage. They are all purely Vegetable, and free from anything injurious to life or health. Full and explicit directions which should be read, accompany each box.

These Pills are put up in square, flat boxes.—Persons residing where there are no Agencies established, by enclosing One Dollar in a letter, prepaid, to Dr. C. L. CHEESEMAN, Box No. 4,581, Post Office, New York City, can have them sent to their respective addresses by return of mail.

SENATOR DOUGLAS ON THE KANSAS AND SLAVERY QUESTIONS.—The Chicago correspondent of the New York Times, writes as follows:—

"Senator Douglas has left home for Washington. He has talked with the utmost freedom upon political topics, and especially upon the Kansas question, with the many politicians who have sought his counsel. He says openly and uniformly that intends to stand by the principles of the Kansas-Nebraska bill, and to insist on the right of the people to choose their own form of Government. If the Constitution made at Lecompton is not the will of the people of the Territory, then he declares himself in favor of throwing that overboard, as the Topeka Constitution was upset, and referring back the whole subject of Constitution, making to the people of the Territory. He maintains that in this matter we have nothing to do with South or North, but must stand by the principles of the Nebraska Kansas bill. The President was elected by the people, on the pledge that the actual settlers shall be protected in their rights to form their own Constitution.

Mr. Douglas has also expressed the opinion, from the statements in the public prints, that the Pro-Slavery men in Kansas have attempted a fraud upon the people. He has also repudiated with special emphasis, the doctrine recently set forth by the Washington Union, that the several States have no right to abolish slavery within their own limits. If the ultraists of the South believe they can face the North upon any such platform as this, he declares his belief they will find themselves mistaken."

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—(Special correspondence of the Evening Post.)—It is stated here upon high authority that Mr. Buchanan has finally determined not to remove Gov. Walker, but submit the policy of his Kansas administration to Congress without note or comment.

Judge Douglas and the President to day had a full and free interchange of opinion on the Kansas question, without, it is understood, being able to arrive at the same conclusion in regard to the line of policy which justice and duty require each to pursue. The interview, it is further stated, was courteous, and they parted as friends, regretting they could not view the Lecompton movement in the same light.

Senator Douglas, in conversation with his friends, freely defines his position. He stands, he says, on the principles of the Nebraska-Kansas bill, which guarantees that each State and Territory has the right to regulate their domestic institutions to suit themselves, and will follow that principle wherever its logical consequences carry him; defending it against all assaults, from whatever quarter they may come.—In its application to Kansas, he insists upon ignoring both the Lecompton and Topeka movements, and securing to the people the right to form a Constitution for themselves. He considers the Lecompton movement directly violative of the principles of the Kansas bill, and the Cincinnati platform; and will, probably, at an early period of the session, introduce a bill authorizing the people of Kansas, to call a Constitutional Convention.

IMPORTANT STEAMBOAT CASE.—The Boston Advertiser of Friday says of the M. Sanford case;—

"The jury came in yesterday morning, and returned a verdict that the defendants were negligent in not taking proper measures to rescue Mr. Frazer from the water, and that they were unable to agree on the first question—whether or not the owners of the steamer were negligent in not providing a proper guard at the point where Mr. Frazer fell overboard. A technical verdict of not guilty was returned, under the direction of the Court, against all the defendants, except Edward H. Sanford, and on this special verdict a general verdict of guilty was ordered. The case will go before the Supreme Judicial Court on exceptions. The bail was raised to $5000.

A SHREWD BARKEEPER.—The Boston Advertiser of Friday says, the alarm at 2 o'clock yesterday morning was caused by a slight fire in dwelling house No. 177 Second street, South Boston, occupied by Allen Shepard. Lieut. Philbrick, of the Sixth Police, arrested Allen Shepard on the charge of setting the fire. The circumstances implicating Shepard are strong, and it is the belief that he has been guilty of several similar acts, for the purpose of pecuniary gain, from firemen and others who might patronize his bar in the immediate neighborhood. Shepard was taken before the Police Court, yesterday, and fully committed for trial.

American and Foreign Patents.
R. H. EDDY, solicitor of Patents,
(Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837.)
No. 70 State st, bppo. Kilby st, Boston,
AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britian, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents. Advice on liberal terms, and with despatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions,—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.
This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND SKILLS, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate.—The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents, which he calls his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, under him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining patents.
All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay the charge of setting the fire. The circumstances implicating Shepard are strong, and it is the belief that he has been guilty of several similar acts, for the purpose of pecuniary gain, from firemen and others who might patronize his bar in the immediate neighborhood. Shepard was taken before the Police Court, yesterday, and fully committed for trial.
Testimonials.
"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity who had so much business before the Patent office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUNDBURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."
From the present Commissioner.
AUGUST 17, 1855.—During the time I have held the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the office, as a Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. Coggswell's Medical Salt,
A PERFECT SUBSTITUTE
FOR THE
LANCET, LEECHES AND BLISTERS.
INSTEAD of being a panacea for all maladies, it has control over but ONE MALADY—but ONE AIM—accomplishes but ONE THING, to wit: SURDUES INFLAMMATORY DISEASE—whatever be its form or locality—whether in the head, throat, chest, abdomen, extremities or skin. Every form of inflammation (but no other disease) is subdued, by it as easily as fire is extinguished by water. Is it asked, how it does this? Answer, by restoring the lost balance between the fluids and solids. Such is its potency, that like vaccine matter, it requires merely what adhers to the point of a pin dipped into a solution of it, to affect the entire system.
☞ Of its intrinsic value, the enlightened community, and not the discoverer, must be the judge.

Morning Chronicle.

MONDAY, DECEMBER 7, 1857.

☞ Congress assembles this day, at 12 o'clock. The large majority of the democratic party in the House, insures the speedy choice of a Speaker, unless it should be prevented by some strange division. There is work enough for a busy session, and strife enough for a stormy one.—Slavery triumphed in the presidential election, and in the Supreme Court, and will not come into Congress now, like a lamb, but like a lion, seeking whom he may devour. We expect to see the doe faces eaten up, as were those ancient Babylonians who owed Daniel a grudge.

It would not greatly surprise us, to see Congress voting to admit Kansas under the bogus constitution, against the protest of two-thirds the voters,—nor would it surprise us in the least, to see most of the pro-slavery presses and politicians in the so-called free States, acquiescing in a measure so eminently National and Union Saving. But a few thousand of the rank and file may leave their old leaders and slide into the "black republican" ranks, where, as the Eastern Argus has it, they turn into vinegar.

THE ARMY.—The Washington correspondent of the New York Courier & Enquirer says the appropriations for the Quartermaster's Department of the Army for the current year, are represented to be quite exhausted. The amount estimated as necessary for the entire service of the year, was found no more than sufficient for the expedition against the Mormons. A bill to supply deficiencies will be presented early in the session, in which from three to five millions of dollars will be inserted for the support of the Quartermaster and Commissary Departments.

Major General Smith, now in command of the Western Division, but on temporary duty at the East, has been directed to repair from Philadelphia to Washington, to consult with the Secretay of War, on the expediency of equipping an expedition in California, to relieve the command of Col. Johnston in case of necessity. This relieving force, if organised, will necessarily consist for the most part of volunteers.—The Secretary is for the present disinclined to employ volunteers, for the reason that they might prejudice the requisition for additional regiments of regular troops which he designs making. The disposition of Congress to increase the army to any required complement, cannot be doubted. It will not surprise any one acquainted with the present state of the service, should Congress raise the effective force to 25,000 men.

☞ John Hyde, the seceding Mormon apostle, writes in the N. Y. Herald, that the Mormons are sternly infatuated, are well armed and disciplined, and supplied with the munitions of war, and will prove much more formidable than the government seems to expect. His plan of the campaign is, to repeal the Utah organic act, proclaim martial law over the territory, call for volunteers in California and Oregon, offer a reward for the apprehension of Young and his chief confederates, and allow those Mormons who prefer to leave the country rather than submit to the laws, to do so. He considers the present small force approaching Utah entirely at the mercy of the Mormons, and believes they will be cut off or made prisoners of war, and that this success will very much embolden the Mormons to persevere in the rebellion.

QUERY.—Had the Democratic party in 1850, hinted at the possibility of the people of Kansas being denied a vote on their Constitution, would James Buchanan have been President at this moment? The Washington Union glories in the fact that the professed principles of its party are thus ground in the dust. The Chicago Times (Douglas's paper,) truly says:

The Democratic party stands pledged in every hamlet in the United States to secure to the people of Kansas the privilege of making their own constitution; and that pledge, though a Union newspaper and a cabinet officer stood at every cross road throughout the land, forbidding it, must be made good!

☞ Two methodist ministers in North Carolina, Messrs. Edwards and Rosser, have been "disciplined" for indulgence in the game of ten-pins, at the Virginia Springs, last summer. They pleaded guilty, expressed regret, promised never to do so any more, and were forgiven.

SUICIDE.—Mr. Edward P. Racklift, a single man, about 30 years of age, committed suicide in Portland on Friday, by hanging.

RAILROAD STRIKE.—A formidable disturbance has broken out among two hundred and odd laborers employed on the terminus of the Erie Railroad. About a week since the paymaster informed them that after Dec. 18, their wages would be reduced from one dollar to 75 cents per day. This caused wide-spread dissatisfaction among them, and a resolution was formed and carried to the paymaster that they would not work at reduced wages.—The result was they were all notified to quit, and 200 men were easily found in New York to take their place. Upon attempting to land, however, they found the old force drawn up to resist them. Being put ashore a scene of the wildest description ensued; clubs, stones, and all sorts of missiles were used. The invaders were pitched overboard, and finally compelled to abandon the attempt to land.

Upon returning to New York and stating the facts, 25 Metropolitan policemen were permitted to volunteer to go with the newly employed and put them in possession of the premises. Cannon and small arms are said to be in waiting for them at Piedmont. The party left New York Friday afternoon. At a late hour the Company received information by telegraph that the party had arrived at Piedmont shortly after dark, and found the place garrisoned by about 600 men under arms, and a brass cannon planted to prevent their landing. A parley was held, but the old force refused to abdicate. They offer to go to work at old rates, but would resist to the death the attempt of any body of men sent to supersede them.

☞ Rev. Dr. Bellows, in his late lecture in Boston, strongly urged the necessity of early marriages as the only remedy for preventing that licentiousness so prevalent among the youth of our large cities; and soundly berated the fair sex for their extravagant tastes and expensive habits, which as he alleged deter, young men of small means from entering the matrimonial state, and thus lead to immoralities.

☞ The Americans have become the greatest book producers in the world. More volumes are sold in this country in one year than in Great Britain, with much the the same population, in five. Where a London publisher issues an edition of 1000 an American prints 5000. In fact, the number of readers with us is as twenty to one, as compared with the same class in England.

☞ It is stated that Judge Drummond, of Utah notoriety, who is a practitioner in the courts of Chicago, has been discovered in an attempt to swindle an infamous female, who was his client, out of all her property, under the guise of securing his fees.

☞ The Greenfield, Mass., Gazette says: "Rev. Dr. Chandler of the North Society in Greenfield delivered an excellent discourse on the "Times" on Thanksgiving day. During his discourse he asked his people to diminish his salary $100 the present year, in view of the hard times, as he said he could live upon less than he now received. His salary was $400."

THE GREAT EASTERN STEAMSHIP.—The failure of the second attempt to launch the "Great Eastern" steamship, in England, will be much regretted. The Liverpool Courier mentions that the first attempt is "said to have cost £70,000," or enough to build a very respectable steamship of the ordinary size.

☞ Peterson's Magazine, December 1st, 1857, is on hand, with three elegant engravings and other embellishments. Its literary contents are lively, instructive and improving. New volume begins in January. C. J. Peterson publisher, Philadelphia.

A FAIR HIT.—The Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia North American says:

When Gov. Walker was congratulated for having returned to a land of civilization, he significantly replied that the congratulation might be qualified, for if civilization was identified with the blessings of self-government, he found that better appreciated in Kansas than in Washington.

☞ In Kanawha county, Va., last week, a young lady sued a gentleman for damages for breach of promise. It was proved in evidence that the young lady was a flirt, and the jury accordingly awarded her one cent damage.

☞ They have in North Carolina fourteen mountain peaks, which exceed in height Mt. Washington. Their range of altitude is from 6318 to 6701 feet. The height of Mt. Washington is 6234 feet.

☞ Seven newspapers in Minnesota have suspended publication, owing to the tightness of the money market.

For the Chronicle.

A TEXT APPLIED.

The voice of thy brother's blood crieth unto me from the ground.—Gen. iv. 10.

These words were spoken by the Almighty to Cain, after he had murdered his innocent brother—were uttered by Jehovah after the committal of the first murder in the world. They echoed through the universe, addressed to the first murderer, to fill him and every fratricide who should come after him, with terror. They are recorded in the Holy Bible to be a warning to all those who may commit so horrible a crime. I will not, however, enter into an extended exegesis of the text, but merely compare the time of Cain, 4000 B. C., with the present time, 1857 A. D.

A few days ago, a boy of fifteen years of age, was drowned in the river, near our village, in consequence of rum sold to him by a person whose name I will not mention; who may slip through the fingers of earthly justice, but he shall be visited by divine vengeance for his deeds, in the day of judgment. To him, God sayoth, "and now art thou cursed from the earth which hath opened her mouth to receive thy brother's blood from thy hand."—Gen. iv, 11.

Great Falls, Nov. 30.

For the Chronicle.

DREADFUL WORK.—Being at our village, I heard an outcry, and soon saw a man chasing his daughter, of some eighteen years, into the street. She went backwards to ward off his blows. He seized her by the neck, but others coming up, he released his grasp. His wife induced him to enter the house. He roared like a madman, and soon the crash of crockery was heard. I turned away pained at heart.

This man had been to another town for liquor. It is sold there by a man who has been in town office. A deacon of a Church approves of the free sale of liquors in the place. I wish they and all engaged in the unhallowed traffic, could be at the dwellings of those that purchase and drink, and witness the awful scenes caused by their business. They would feel, if not past feeling. They would be ashamed, if not destitute of shame. ONE NEAR.

MURDER TRIAL.—Louisville, Dec. 4. The primary examination in the case of the Commonwealth of Kentucky vs. Miller and others, has been closed. The seven prisoners accused by Miller, of the murder of Craddock, have been discharged. Miller's testimony occupied two days.—The defendants, save Miller, severally introduced testimony proving an alibi, and good character; also giving Miller a bad name, and stamping him as unworthy of belief. District-Attorney Craig moved for the commitment of Miller, on the charge of perjury, but the justice replied that he was already held on the charge of murder, by his own confession. Tremendous applause followed from the crowd, upon the discharge of the parties implicated by Miller.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—The Constitution framed by the recent Constitutional Convention is warmly approved by Senator Bigler, and other prominent democrats, although Senator Douglas has freely expressed himself against the Lecompton movement. The opinion is current that he will not place himself in direct antagonism to the administraiion.

The appearances are that the House will effect an organization on Monday without trouble. The contest is particularly warm for Postmaster, door keeper and printor.

It is now contemplated to send the President's Message in advance only to New York, Philadelphia and Richmond. A decision in the matter will probably be arrived at to-morrow.

It is understood that the republican caucus will be held at 10 o'clock on Monday morning. Mr. Grow, of Pa., Blair of Mo., or Washburn of Maine, will probably receive the nomination of Speaker.—The present intention is to make no other nominations.

RICHES NOT HAPPINESS.—The late Stephen Girard of Philadelphia, when surrounded with immense wealth, and supposed to be taking supreme delight in its accumulation, wrote this to a friend:

"As to myself, I live like a galley slave, constantly occupied, and often passing the night without sleeping. I am wrapped up in a labyrinth of affairs, and worn out with cares. I do not value fortune.—The love of labor is my highest emotion.—When I rise in the morning, my only effort is to labor so hard during the day, that when night comes I may be inabled to sleep soundly."

☞ Brayman, the Chicago editor, who was sent to prison at Alton, Ill., for stealing letters from the post office, is engaged in teaching some fifty or sixty fellow prisoners, most of them old men, who are too infirm to labor.

☞ Charles H. Goodwin, engineer in a blind factory in Greenfield, Mass., will go to England in the next steamer to look after an estate of $500,000 left himself, his father and his aunt, by a brother of his father, lately deceased in London.

FUGITIVE SLAVE CASE.—Indianapolis, Dec. 4.—About eight days since the agent of Dr. Vallandingham, of Frankfort, Ky., captured a fugitive slave at Naples, Ill.—When en route to Kentucky, the negro was taken, under a writ of habeas corpus, before Judge Wallace, who liberated him. He was immediately re-arrested and taken before U. S. Commissioner Rea, who, after hearing the case, decided that the negro should go back to slavery. He was again re-arrested on a writ of habeas corpus issued by Judge Wallace, before whom some questions of State sovereignty are now being discussed. It is claimed by the negro's counsel that he is free, under the fugitive slave law, and Dred Scott decision, as well as the State Constitution.

Meanwhile Dr. Vallandingham has been arrested on the affidavit of the negro, for kidnapping, and his case is now in progress before Mayor Wallace.

☞ The Cocheco Mills in Dover are all in full operation, Nos. 4 and 5 having commenced within a few days. It is said the Print Works will commence the 1st of January.

No. 2 mill at Salmon Falls is to be started again, to manufacture a lot of cloth on a contract, the stock being furnished by the party for whom the work is done. This will keep the mill running till April, and probably prevent the necessity of stopping again.

☞ Mr. J. E. Tilton, Salem, Mass., has just published a very pleasant diversion for children, styled Cinderella, or the Glass Slipper. For sale by all booksellers.

☞ Flour of excellent quality is now manufactured from white western wheat at Kendall's Mills, in Maine.

☞ The Dalton divorce case has been withdrawn from court. It is understood that the parties have been living together for some months, and that Dalton is fully satisfied of the injustice of the charges against his wife.

☞ John Coloman committed suicide at Westerly, R. I., a day or two since. He had been but a few weeks married to a wife thirteen years old.

☞ Mrs. Harvey Carlisle, in Pleasant Dale, Va., went to the woods to see her husband cut down a tree. The fell upon her and killed her.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

THERE ARE OCCASIONS

When even the healthiest people need medicine; the changes of diet, of weather, and hundreds of other causes, produce a laxity in the system that needs correcting, or in other words, the liver becomes slightly deranged and needs a stimulator. If all who find themselves in this situation will try Dr Sanford's Invigorator, they may be sure of relief, as we can testify to its efficacy in curing Headache, Indigestion, Sour Stomach, and other ills so common in a family. It acts, as a medicine, easier and better than any dose of pills we ever swallowed, and so mild that the smallest infant can take it.

and persons exposed to wet or cold, and who live principally on salt dry food, with little or no vegetables, are peculiarly subject to Scurvy, and no one with proper forethought will go to sea unprepared for what nine tenths of our seafaring men are subject to. As an Antiscorbutic, Myers' Extract Rose is a specific. Scurvy, Salt Rheum or Tetter, cutaneous diseases of all kinds, yield to its benign influence. It purifies the blood, regulates the system, and imparts health and strength to the weak and emaciated.

CLOAKS AND CLOAK GOODS.

If any of our readers are about purchasing a Cloak, or the materials to make one, they will of course visit NUMBER FIFTEEN MARKET ST., before buying.—Allen & Paine having appropriated one room of their store to that business entirely, are opening to-day one of the largest stocks in this city, including Cloaks, Broadcloths, Black, Brown and Drab Plush for Trimming. To those of their customers who prefer making their own Cloaks, they will give a pattern of any Cloak in their store.

MR. EVERETT'S LECTURE ON WASHINGTON. It will be seen by the correspondence below that Mr. Everett has accepted an invitation to deliver his lecture on Washington in this city; and we understand that Monday, the 10th of January, has been fixed upon, when our citizens will be favored with an opportunity of listening to the most polished orator of the time.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Dec. 1, 1857.

HON. EDWARD EVERETT — Dear Sir :— Permit us respectfully to invite you to deliver your lecture on the character of Washington, in this city, at as early date as you can find it convenient and agreeable.

We shall probably be able to collect at least one hundred and fifty dollars to further your noble design in the purchase of Mount Vernon. There is a universal and ardent desire that you should comply with our request.

Should we secure a favorable reply, we will make all proper arrangements.

Very respectfully, your obedient servants,
Charles Burroughs,
A. P. Peabody,
Daniel Austin,
Ichabod Goodwin,
Wm. P. Jones,
J. M. Tredick,
Geo. W. Haven,
Clement March,
Samuel Storer,
Edward F. Sise,
D. H. Treadwell.

BOSTON, 4th Dec'r, 1857.

Gentlemen :—I have received your letter of the 1st, inviting me to repeat my address on the character of Washington, at Portsmouth. It will afford me pleasure to comply with this request. Engagements in this neighborhood will occupy much of my time during the month of December. It will be in my power to come to Portsmouth on Monday the 10th or Wednesday the 12th of January; the first named day being rather more convenient of the two.

I remain, gentlemen, with much respect, faithfully yours, EDWARD EVERETT.

Rev. Dr. Burroughs,
Rev. Dr. Peabody,
and other gentlemen signing the letter.

THE EASTERN RAILROAD.—The affairs of this road, says the Boston Transcript, under the Presidency of John Howe, Esq., appear to be getting into shape again.—The road is kept in excellent order, and there is an evident desire to accommodate its patrons in all ways consistent with the best interests of the company. Had such wise counsels always prevailed on the line of the road, the rival lines from three of its leading centres of population—Salem, Newburyport and Portsmouth — would probably never have been constructed. The Eastern road paid Tuesday and Wednesday income bonds and coupons amounting to $109,500, in addition to the ordinary payments. We believe that since the election of Mr. Howe in no instance has the road paid more than the usual bank rates of interest for money. With a return of prosperity to New England, the Eastern road will soon take its place among the favorite stocks of capitalists.

EASTERN RAILROAD.—A new arrangement of time for running trains upon this road, commences to-day. It will be seen that the first morning train leaves here at seven o'clock, instead of a quarter past seven, as heretofore. It was at one time, contemplated to take off this train for the winter, which would save an expense in the cost of running, of about seventeen hundred and fifty dollars per month, besides other expenditures. But, notwithstanding the depression of business and consequent falling off in the amount of travel, the managers of the road, in view of the fact, that so large a number of the stockholders of the road, who are its patrons live, at this end of the line, have determined to continue the accommodation to the residents between Newburyport and Portsmouth, so long afforded, by running the train now under the charge of Conductor Young, through the winter months, as heretofore.

A BRIEF PROCLAMATION.—By Charles S. Chase, acting Governor of the Territory of Minnesota: "Thursday the 10th day of December is hereby appointed to be observed by the people of Minnesota as Thanksgiving day."

To the point, certainly, and long enough perhaps. One of our oldest city clergymen has never read a proclamation in his pulpit, we think. He is willing to announce the Governor's appointments, but not that any such functionary should write a sermon for his pulpit.

☞ About one hundred laborers were at work on the Custom House drain, in State street, Saturday—diggers, stone drillers, &c. It was a busy sight.

☞ The fourth Promenade Concert of the Portsmouth Cornet Band takes place at Jefferson Hall this evening.

☞ The Boston Journal, Saturday evening, says:

Mr. John Hawkins is in town, on his way to Baltimore. We regret to learn that his wife is very sick, with little hope of her recovery. Mr. Hawkins expects to return to Massachusetts about the first of January.

So his address appointed at the Temple this evening, will be postponed till further notice.

☞ The fine ship New Hampshire, Capt. Weeks, left her wharf on Wednesday afternoon, and now lies in the lower harbor en route for Mobile.

This leaves but one new ship now in port—that last launched at the Union Yard, not named,—and which is now being rigged.

MARRIED.

E. Green & Co., Merchant Tailors,

HAVE just made great improvement in their CLOTHING ESTABLISHMENT.

It gives them great pleasure to announce their thankfulness to the people of this city and neighboring towns, for their kind patronage; through which, and their own facility for selling cheaper than any other establishment, we were enabled not only to increase our Stock to a great extent, but to accommodate our increased and increasing custom, we have obtained the large and commodious store,

No. 54 Market st., cor. of Hanover St. opposite the Union Store. Said Store is more than double the size of our former establishment; we assure all who may favor us with their custom a courteous treatment and the value for their money. All who are in want of clothing, are invited to call and see whether our statement is true.

A variety of Trunks, Valises, Carpet Bags, Oil Suits, &c., &c.

As the articles we have for sale are too numerous to detail, we will say in short, every article belonging to Gents' and Youths' wear, may be found at our CLOTHING HOUSE; together with an assortment of Woolen Goods, of which we will make garments to order, or sell by the yard, and cut it for them without making, any way to suit the purchaser. MISSING.—On Monday the 23d ult, a man named Dennis Deacy, in company with a stranger in Lawrence, left his house. He continued in the company of this man until late in the evening, when on being conducted towards home he could not tell the house in which he lived, and the man who accompanied him not knowing it himself, left him as near to his house as he could determine. No account was received of him until the following day, when it was ascertained that about 2 o'clock the previous night he left a house on Common street. No trace of his whereabouts has yet been received. He had no money to assist him to leave town, and it is generally believed that in the darkness of the night he fell into the canal. He was a peaceable and industrious citizen, and until lately a strict temperance man,—he having for the last seven years totally abstained from all intoxicating liquor.—Lawrence Courier.

The phrase "until lately," is sadly suggestive of a return to dismal habits, like those which are making martyrs in this city at the present moment.

☞ At the Manchester Print Works, which have been standing idle during October and November, two or three printing machines have been started up, solely in view of the suffering among the poor class of the help, which was becoming very severe.

☞ The city officers of Nashua have made arrangements for a constant supply of baked pork and beans, at the police office, to be dealt out to transient persons who make application for food.

☞ The late Major Warburton—who, in a fit of insanity, produced by bodily pain, committed suicide in England—had a few days before, delivered a lecture on "Heroism."

Rev. E. H. Chapin has nobly devoted the entire proceeds of his public lectures for this winter to the poor of New York; Rev. Dr. Vinton of the same city has also done the same good thing.

The widow of Commander Herndon has just received from the New England Mutual Life Insurance Company of Boston five thousand dollars on a policy issued only a year since.

☞ Mr. Kern, a German, who kept a lager beer saloon and restaurant, in New York, and who was tired of life on account of the hard times and depressed state of business, committed suicide on Tuesday morning, by shutting himself up in a close room filled with charcoal gas.

LIBERAL BEQUESTS.—The late James Battelle of Mobile, bequeathed $600,000 to his widow, the Battelle House to his grand-nephew, and $10,000 each to the Orphan Asylum, and the Methodist Church.

☞ Mr. Silas Farrington was ordained as Pastor of the Second Congregational Church and Society at Concord, on Wednesday evening.

☞ Rev. James Carruthers, father of Rev. J. J. Carruthers, D. D., of Portland, died in that city, on Sunday the 29th, aged 88 years.

☞ Mr. Charles Cutler was ordained pastor of the Congregational Church in Francestown, Nov. 18. Mr. C. is a son of the late Rev. Calvin Cutler of Windham.

Somebody describing the absurd appearance of a man dancing the polka, says: "He looks as though he had a hole in his pocket, and was trying to shake a shilling down the leg of his trowsers."—Exchange.

Don't see how he can look so, for young bloods who dance the polka, never have shillings in their pocket.—Charlestown Advertiser.

LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed to superintend their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner. They offer the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as well protected as if they were present. The Manager would respectfully call attention to the fact that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are authorized by the Legislature of that State. A lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year, all orders received being filled in the drawing next to take place after the same comes to hand. Accompanying the order for tickets is every prize must draw a prize. Tickets are $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2.50. No tickets sent unless the money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no opportunity for manipulating numbers to mystify the buyer. Prizes vary from $80 to $50,000; every prize being drawn, and result of drawing forwarded to all purchasers.

☞ A printed list of numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers: New Orleans Delta, Mobile Register, Charleston Standard, Nashville Union, Atlanta Intelligencer, and New York Weekly Day Book. Write your address plainly, and direct to S. W. SWAN & CO., Los Angeles, Georgia.

Prizes paid in full—no percentage deducted from prizes as in other lotteries.

LOTTERIES.

The well-known Maryland Consolidated Lotteries, of Hall, Sharpe & Co are the managers, are chartered by the state of Maryland, and a commissioner elected by the people, who is sworn to superintend the drawings and that everything connected with them is done in a strictly honorable manner, and that the interests of parties who reside at a distance are as well protected as if they themselves were present at the drawing. Another fact which the managers call attention to, is, that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Maryland, as the lotteries are legalized by special law in that state. A lottery is drawn every day of the month. If no particular class is named, orders are filled in the first drawing to take place after the communication comes to hand. The prices of tickets vary from $1 to $20. No tickets are, however, sent unless the money for the same accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket (after the Havana plan), and Ternary combinations. Prizes vary in amount from $20 to $100,000. Parties for tickets or packages will receive prompt attention, and the drawing mailed to all purchasers immediately after it is over.

☞ The drawn numbers of the Maryland Lotteries are published by the State Commissioner in the following papers, viz: Sun, Clipper, Patriot, American, Argus, of Baltimore; also, the National Intelligencer and Union, of Washington, D.C.

ANN ARBOR, November 5th, 1856.

PROF. O. J. WOOD—Dear Sir: I have heard much said of the wonderful effects of your Hair Restorative, but having been so often cheated by worthless and quack nostrums, hair dyes, &c., I was disposed to place your Restorative in the same category with the one thousand and one loudly trumpeted quack remedies. Until I met you in Lawrence county some months since, when you gave me such assurance as induced the trial of your Restorative in my family—first, by my good wife, whose hair had become very thin, and entirely white; and before exhausting one of your large bottles, her hair was restored nearly to its original beautiful brown hue, and has thickened and become beautiful and glossy upon, and entirely over the head; she continues to use it, not only because of its beautifying effects upon the hair, but because of its healthful influence upon the head and mind. Others of my family and friends are using your Restorative, with equally happiest effects; therefore my skepticism and doubts in reference to its character and value are entirely removed; and I can and do most cordially and confidently recommend its use by all who would have their hair restored from white or gray, (by reason of sickness or age,) to original color and beauty, and by all young persons who would have the hair beautiful and glossy.

Very truly and gratefully yours,
SOLOMON MANN.

FRIEND WOOD: It was a long time after I saw you at Blissfield before I got the bottle of Restorative for which you gave me an order upon your agent in Detroit, and when I got it we concluded to try it on Mrs. Mann's hair, as the surest test of its power. It has done all that you assured me it would do; and others of my family and friends, having witnessed its effects, are now using and recommending its use to others as entitled to the highest consideration you claim for it.

Again, very respectfully and truly, yours,
SOLOMON MANN.

CARLYLE, ILL., June 23, 1852.

I have used Prof. O. J. Wood's Hair Restorative, and have admired its effects. My hair was becoming, as I thought, prematurely gray, but after using the Restorative it has resumed its original color, and I have no doubt permanently so. S. BAUSS, ex-Senator, U. S.

GEORGIA LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of ANDERSON & SON, are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed by the State to superintend their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner, and that the interests of parties who reside at a distance are as well protected as if they themselves were present at the drawings. Another fact which the managers call attention to, is, that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as lotteries are legalized by special law in that state. A lottery is drawn at Savannah, Ga., about the 15th of every month, and another is drawn at Macon, Ga., every Saturday throughout the year. If no particular class is named, orders are filled by the first drawing to take place after the communication comes to hand. The prices of tickets are from $1 to $10. No tickets are, however, sent unless the money for the same accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers, which has not mystified the community for years past. Prizes vary in amount from $40 to $60,000. Every prize being drawn, and result of drawing, or other information, forwarded to all purchasers.

A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount that each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers: New Orleans Delta, Savannah News, New York Dispatch, and New York Atlas. Write your address plainly, and direct to ANDERSON & SON, MANAGERS,
Macon or Savannah, Ga.

Prizes paid in full; no per centage deducted from prizes, as in other lotteries. All communications strictly confidential. oct29 1y

Magee's Patent Ventilating Stove.

FOR WARMING AND VENTILATING PARLORS, OFFICES, HALLS, STORES, SCHOOL HOUSES, &c.

WHICH for economy, purity of air, and ease of management, has no equal. It can be regulated so as to give

Any amount of Heat required,

and unlike all other Anthracite Coal Burners, ventilates the apartments quite as thoroughly, as a wood fire or Franklin, producing a current of Air, at once moist, pure and agreeable, and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire got it used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache, so much complained of by those using Stoves and Furnaces, is entirely obviated. The fire may be continued from one to four days without replenishing.

These Stoves are beautiful in design, and finished in the most perfect manner. They are equally appropriate, and have given universal satisfaction to all who have adopted them,

For Offices and Stores as well as the Parlor.

The Inventor challenges the world to produce an article by which so much Pure Warm Air can be generated, from so small an amount of fuel, requiring but about 16 pounds of Anthracite Coal, to warm an ordinary sized parlor for 24 hours, without replenishing, and then leaving fire enough to rekindle without the use of charcoal. The coal is all used, and no clinkers made, consequently, sifting coal is dispensed with.—When this Stove is properly managed,

THE FIRE MAY BE CONSIDERED THROUGH

THE ENTIRE SEASON,

without once going out. Added to all these qualifications, the purchaser may reasonably expect to save from 30 to 50 per cent, in fuel expense.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.

DR. CHEESEMAN'S PILLS FOR FEMALES.

Prepared by an old Physician of 40 years experience

THE combination of ingredients in these Pills, is the result of a long and extensive practice; they are mild in their operation, and certain in restoring nature to its proper channel. In every instance have the Pills proved successful. They are certain to open those obstructions to which females are liable, and bring nature into its proper channel, whereby health is restored, and the pale and deathly countenance changed to a healthy one. Persons who have been subject to irregularity, may rely on these Pills, whenever she is regular; and whenever an obstruction takes place, whether from exposure, cold, or any other cause, the general health will soon begin to decline, and the want of such a remedy has been the cause of so many consumptions among young females. Headache, pain in the side, palpitation of the heart, loathing of food, and disturbed sleep, that most always arise from the interruption of nature; and whenever that is the case, the Pills will invariably relieve the patient. In all cases of painful menstruation, or nervous and spinal affections in the back and limbs, lowness of spirits, hysterics, &c. No 2 are they less efficacious in the cure of Leucorrhœa, commonly called the "Whites." These Pills should never be taken during pregnancy, as they would be sure to cause a miscarriage. Warranted purely Vegetable, and free from anything injurious to life or health. Full and explicit directions which should be read, accompany each box.

These Pills are put up in square, flat boxes.—Persons residing where there are no Agencies established, by enclosing One Dollar in a letter, prepaid, to Dr. C. L. CHEESEMAN, Box No. 4,831, Post Office, New York City, can have them sent, to their respective addresses by return of mail.

☞ The New Haven correspondent of the New York Times, under date of Thursday, writes as follows:—

To-day, by favor of the officials, I was permitted to see Tuckerman. He was brought from his cell to the jailor's office, (a business-looking apartment, with a handsome parlor on one side, and an unpleasant vista of ugly grating and iron doors on the other,) where he was accomodated with a chair behind the counter, and entered into conversation with Mr. Holbrook, the U. S. mail agent, who accomplished his arrest, and Mr. Shipman, the courteous District Attorney of Connecticut, who conducts the prosecution on behalf of the federal government. Tuckerman's appearance is the last in the world to excite suspicion. The contour of his face forcibly reminded me of Wendell Phillips, though he is somewhat coarser visaged. He has the same fair complexion, however, the same sandy hair, the same softened expression of features, and appears to be about the same age. His hair was closely cut, and his beard of several days' growth. He was nervous, dejected and tearful. One could hardly imagine a creature more haggard and careworn. I asked him about a missing two-thousand dollar note, drawn on a New York bank by a Boston firm, and forwarded by mail on Sunday night week; but he vehemently denied all knowledge of it. "I declare, gentlemen," said he, with a nervous tremor, "I know nothing about it;" and he wiped gathering tears from his eyes. He never spoke save when addressed. I asked him whether his family had visited him lately. He replied in the affirmative and wept again. I was glad to leave him. His guilt is beyond doubt, and his conviction almost equally certain.—What a moral his career affords!

THE NEWSPAPER.—The following is an extract from a sermon delivered in Worcester by Rev. J. G. Adams, and is worthy a place in any good newspaper. It was intended for a Thanksgiving sermon.

"The newspaper! Where does it not go: from the thronged streets of the metropolis, far out into the pioneer's cabin, where civilization and barbarism enjoy peaceful communion, or have open war? And wherever it goes, thought is communicated, intelligence diffused, the mind quickened, fed, and made eager for more receptions of knowledge. The newspaper is the people's encyclopedia of history, art, science, political and literary criticism, morality, religion. There cannot be stagnation of mind where it comes. It is a mirror of the exterior and interior life of the times. The near and the distant come to us at once in it; what is doing at our own doors, at New York, Cincinnati, New Orleans, or at San Francisco, Delhi or Canton. It opens senates, legislatures, courts, pulpits, scientific lecture rooms, to audiences such as never could have been reached save through this consummate reporter. If it bears some evil, it conveys more good. If it advocates false opinions, it promotes that inquiry which shall invite a review through the same or similar sources. It is daily making our land one grand discussion room, where, in time, no bigot, —secular, religious or political,—can enter, without feeling that his opinions are subject to the freest examination, and that in the light of this examination, on their own merits must these opinions stand or fall."

THE DUKE OF WELLINGTON'S OPINION OF NAPOLEON BONAPARTE.—I asked him (the duke) what he really thought of the talents of the Emperor Napoleon as a great general. He said, "I have already considered the presence of Napoleon with an army as equal to an additional force of 40,000 men, from his superior talent, and from the enthusiasm which his name and presence inspired into the troops; and this was the more disinterested on my part, because in all my campaigns I had then never been opposed to him. When I was in Paris, in 1814, I gave this very opinion in the presence of several Prussian and Austrian generals who had fought against him, and you have no idea of the satisfaction and pleasure it gave them to think that, though defeated, they had had such odds against them." On another occasion the duke also said that he thought Napoleon superior to Turenne, Tallard, or any of the old generals of former times; but Napoleon had this advantage over every other general, himself in particular, that his power was unlimited. He could order everything on the spot as he pleased; if he wanted reinforcements they were sent; if to change the plan of a campaign, it was changed; if to reward services, he could confer honors on the field of battle; whereas the duke and other generals were obliged to write home to Ministers and wait their decision, perhaps that of Parliament, and he himself had never had the power of conferring the slightest reward on any of his followers, however deserving.—Raike's Diary.

It is written in plain language for the general reader and is illustrated with upwards of one hundred Engravings. All young married people, or those contemplating marriage, and having the least impediment to married life, should read this book. It discloses secrets that every one should be acquainted with. Still it is a book that must be kept locked up, and not lie about the house. It will be sent to any one on the receipt of twenty-five cents. Address Dr WM. American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY, solicitor of Patents,

No. 76 State st, opp. Kilby st, Boston,

AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents for the United States; also in Great Britian, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions, and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantage for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as a man with the BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges so reasonable, services so moderate.—The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

Testimonials.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

From the present Commissioner.

August 17, 1853.—During the time I have held the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the office, as a Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHAS. MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

Coggswell's Medical Salt,
A PERFECT SUBSTITUTE
FOR THE
LANCET, LEECHES AND BLISTERS.

INSTEAD of bottles of nauseous or fatal medicines, it has control over but ONE MALADY—has but ONE AIM—accomplishes but ONE THING, to wit: SUDDEN INFLAMMATORY PAINS, whatever be the seat or locality, whether it be the head, throat, chest, abdomen, extremities or skin. Every form of inflammation (but no other disease) is subdued by it as easily as fire is extinguished by water. Is it asked, how it does this?—simply by restoring the lost balance between the fluids and solids. Such is its potency, that this vacuum matter, it requires merely what adheres to the point of a quill dipped into a solution of it, to affect the entire system.

CHARITY.

Charity is a divine virtue. Inspired and uninspired writers alike agree in giving it the first place among duties. And yet it may be so conducted as to be an injury, and produce the very evil it was intended to avoid.

Indiscriminate charity is no blessing.—When cunning obtains the gift intended for poverty, it robs the virtuous poor and is confirmed in its evil ways. The stout and healthy beggar who stretches forth his hand for aid, loses his self-respect, and renders the sympathetic feelings to which he appeals, distrustful and uncertain. System should lay the foundation of all our charities. For it reduces the number of applicants, certifies the justness of the application, and makes the donor more willing to give, because he is sure that his gift receives the intended end.

The great majority of cases of actual suffering are voluntary. In a world where sickness and accidents and deaths are of daily occurrence, there must be involuntary suffering which has a right to demand aid by the ties of common brotherhood. But in a country where labor is, or has been until lately, so constantly sought for and so well remunerated, no laboring man has a right to be in debt. Something should be laid up by every one, in preparation for the possible casualties of life. And it is the small but long continued expenditures for daily luxuries, that keep our operatives so poor. Liquor and tobacco rob many a poor child of his education and clothing.

Thus reasons the Worcester Transcript, which adds: Were our grog-shops closed to-day, and to a great extent they might be—our Relief Society might close its door. Not but that isolated cases of poverty would occur, but in their rarity, they would be quietly reached by the willing hands of benevolence. But liquor selling is a curse to the community and it is not the least of its evil effects that it renders the poor poorer and the charitable less charitable. It is within bounds to say that liquor wastes more money in this city than twenty times the amount contributed for charity. We do not refer to the injury to the body, from the habitual use of such vile compounds as drugged liquor; nor to the injury to the temper and the domestic happiness, and the ruin of the family circle. Nor do we allude to the loss the community sustains in changing the able-bodied operative into the trembling, effete, debauched drunkard. We are looking at the subject in its lowest aspect—the loss of dollars and cents and the consequent poverty it causes. We are paying an enormous tax to support this traffic. It employs our police and our courts and our city missionaries, and fills up our asylums and our prisons. It deadens the hand of charity at the very time it is fearfully increasing the number of applicants for aid. And therefore it is incumbent on every donor to examine the cases of application for charity, that imposition may not render his good intentions of no effect.

Last winter, request for aid was made by a poor man in Worcester, who said that he had no food or wood. His case was investigated, and his house appearing to be the abode of want and suffering, food and fuel were sent. A few weeks later, he made a renewed application. Desirous to discover the reality of his situation, the gentleman ransacked his house, and found, snugly stowed away in the cupboard, a barrel of whiskey. When liquor sold, he obtained his living; when sales were low, he applied for charity. Not three weeks since, a widow, burdened with the charge of young children, applied to a friend for aid. He gave her no money, but an order on a grocer, for a dollar's worth of provisions. The next day she was found drunk in the streets, and was sent to the State poor house at Palmer. She had obtained the groceries and exchanged them for rum.

In Boston, the Mayor has just stated officially that "ninety-nine out of every hundred applications for money, made at the doors of houses and at stores, are unworthy of a favorable response."

Do not let us be misunderstood. We would not discourage—charity never was more need of it. But we would advise that discriminating, systematic benevolence, which gives time as well as money, and insures the true nature of the gift. There is great need of charity the coming winter. He to whom the ability to save suffering to others is given, should rejoice in the exercise of his privilege. But the trials of the real poor demands that the counterfeit claims of mediocrity should not receive the aid intended for poverty.

We have in Portsmouth, a good almshouse, well kept; a competent board of Overseers; a City Mission; and a Howard Benevolent Society. To some one of these, let our citizens refer every unknown beggar; giving their private charities only to those poor persons whose character and condition they know.

In the city of Portsmouth there are about two dozen families, where the women and children are decent and well behaved; but where the male heads, who ought to be husbands and fathers, are drunken, and many of them lazy.

The charitable men and charitable institutions, that would gladly help these families, and that do help them somewhat, could do more and better for them, if these drunken men did not come home and destroy.

Now if any body could persuade these men to "leave off drinking," it would be well. But as the case stands, every one of them should be at work in the oakum shop, or scraping the streets, or loading manure, under the authorities.

☞ The published reports of trials before the Naval Courts at Washington, are usually so vague and unsatisfactory, that but little insight into the merit of the cases, or knowledge of the method of proceeding, can be acquired from them. Occasional glimpses of the inner history of the trials, furnished to the public through the exertions of those remarkable expositors of things concealed, the Washington correspondents, show that the proceedings are not altogether dry and uninteresting. The following incident is related by the correspondent of the New York Times:—

"Lieutenant W. D. Porter, late of the United States Navy, having applied for trial before the Naval Court of Inquiry, now sitting here, was requested by the Court to hand in a list of his witnesses. In order that he might know what witnesses he needed to summon, he asked for a statement of the charges pending against him, which, of course, was not given him.—Accordingly, he handed in a list of a hundred and fifty witnesses, including the President, and various other dignitaries, all of whom had known him, his character and services. The Court murmured at this, declaring that it could not summon all these, and asking what in the world he wanted to prove by them. The Lieutenant's answer was that he would not tell what he wanted to prove by them, as he did not know what was charged against him. Yesterday the case coming up for trial, the Lieutenant found that his witnesses had not been summoned, whereupon he entered his protest, and left the court. The case exites much merriment in naval circles."

In this connection the Boston Advertiser mentions a report that a list of fourteen officers dropped by the Retiring Board, has been made out by the Secretary of the Navy, and will be restored with the opening of Congress. The report is generally believed in naval circles, as Secretary Toucey is not a warm friend of the action of that Board.

☞ The United States on the 3d of March last owed $30,000,000. From the 3d of March to the 30 of June, she redeemed $983,000 of her stock. From the 1st of July to the 12th of October, she redeemed $3,711,000. Since that time she has paid off about $150,000 of her debt. The present debt may therefore be said to be $25,150,000. Of this sum about one half, or $12,462,000, are held by foreigners. It is likely, moreover, that the foreigners will continue to hold this stock, for there is none better.

☞ In the Supreme Court, Portland, Me., last week, State vs. Benj. C. Libby and Ward Coburn, of Brunswick, each indicted for selling intoxicating liquors without license, plead guilty. Sentenced to pay a fine of $10 and costs. This is under the Maine License Law.

In four other cases, in the city court, Portland, the witnesses for the State perjured themselves by protesting they could not remember. The Justice of course acquitted the culprits. It is quite as difficult to convict under this law, as it was under the other. A change of the statute in Maine, will doubtless be made the ensuing year.

How He Got Off.—The New Orleans papers give us the particulars of fillibuster Walker's begira from that port, on the 12th. Everybody seems to have known all about it in advance,—the newspaper reporters, the 'longshoremen, and the public in general,—in short everybody but the Collector, U. S. Marshal, and their subordinates. These indefatigable gentlemen seem to have been fast asleep, or stone blind, all the while.

Very blind or very sleepy, to be sure—but does any body believe their sleep was accidental? or that our President and Cabinet were all asleep? or blind?—None are so blind as they who will not see.

☞ The Bridgeport Farmer is informed that Gen. Tom Thumb, who is now in France, is dangerously ill, and not expected to live.

New York City.—Perley, of the Boston Journal, writes from New York thus, Dec. 4th:

The defeat of Mayor Wood has dissolved the unity of the Democratic party in the city. It is conceded on all hands that the coalition could not have defeated the Democratic candidate, except with the aid of Democratic men who joined the People's movement. Mr. Wood is still a formidable opponent, and with the great number of votes which, under the circumstances of the election he was able to poll, tells the number and the power of his supporters.—The fact that in Tammany Hall, Capt. Rynders could not be heard, because of the bare suspicion that he was unfriendly to the Mayor; that in that place where for years he has ruled as a deity; where his word was law, and the uplifting of his finger could awe the most turbulent assembly to calmness; that here he was hissed, hooted, and finally left the hall in disgust—tells the strength of the attachment of the rank and file for their great Chief.

The Democratic General Committee met last night, and expelled Daniel E. Sickles and Godfrey Gunther from membership, on account of their conduct in the late election. The debate on the expulsion was an angry one, and the final vote was 63 to 54. All the recent harmony of the party is at an end—and Mr. Sickles, who presented the resolution of union—voted to blend the Wood and anti-Wood factions—was the first man to bolt from the compact, and the first man to be punished for his "treachery."

We begin to see now, how that great National democratic majority was created in the city, which carried the state.

Elopement and Arrest.—Michael Carroll, a young man 30 years of age, who for some time past has been employed as bartender for Joseph Graffam, of Portland, left that city several days ago for Boston, where he was followed on Tuesday or Wednesday of last week by Mrs. Graffam, who took with her about $500 of her husband's property. Mr. Graffam, says the Advertiser, not being disposed to lose both wife and money, started in pursuit of his absconding spouse; and with the aid of the authorities, found her at a private boarding house in Boston, in company with Carroll, in utter disregard of her conjugal obligations. Carroll and Mrs. Graffam were taken before the Police Court in Boston on Saturday, and in default of bail in $400 each, were held for trial on the charge of adultery.

At the October term of the Supreme Judicial Court in Portland, Mrs. Graffam filed a libel of divorce, which was not disposed of. It would seem that she was in too much of a hurry to wait the process of law.

The Great American Dog "Prince."—The Illustrated London News of Nov. 21 gives the following description of this enormous dog, recently exhibited at Windsor Castle to Queen Victoria. The dog was born in Pennsylvania, but as he is barely a year old, he is far from being fully developed. His height is 37 inches; length 7 feet 9 inches; girth of body 41 inches; of fore leg 13, and of his neck 25 inches;—weight, over 200 pounds. Such is his strength that a man weighing 200 pounds may spring on his back without causing him to flinch. "Prince" is valued by his owner at $1250.

Ladies' Dresses.—In the feminine world of Paris the subject of conversation is the remark of the French Empress to Augustine Brohan, one of the arbiters of good taste in the theatre and the city, that probably dresses would be without flounces this winter. In fact the new dresses of her majesty are widowed of those ornaments. But the crinoline preserves its clandestine empire in the court as well as the city.

☞ The trial of Charles E. Jones for the murder of Isaac Jackson, concluded at Springfield on Saturday, has resulted in his conviction. Great interest attached to this case, because there was an effort to prove that the defendant was insane, while the government maintained that the alleged insanity was only feigned.

☞ The disaffected laborers on the Erie Railroad, spiked a rail across the track, and came near throwing off an emigrant train with 300 passengers, mostly women and children. The laborers supposed this train would contain rival laborers. The striking laborers have gone to work for 75 cts. per day.

☞ It is reported that private advices received in Washington represent the political condition of Mexico as worse than is reported in the published accounts, and the next advices thence are looked for with deep anxiety by the Mexican legation in that city.

☞ Hon. Franklin Pierce and lady took passage, by invitation of the President, in the steam-frigate Powhattan, which was to sail from Norfolk, Va., on Saturday afternoon, for Madeira.

Preparations for Congress.—Washington, Dec. 5.—The democratic members of the House of Representatives met in caucus to-night, and made nominations as follows:

For Speaker—Mr. Orr of South Carolina.
For Clerk—Mr. Allen of Illinois.
For Postmaster—Mr. Cluskey of Georgia.
For Doorkeeper—Mr. Hackney of Virginia.
For Sergeant-at-Arms—Mr. Glosbrenner.

The nomination for Printer was postponed until Monday night.

The republican members held a caucus in the room of the Committee of Commerce; 51 were present. A resolution was passed, unanimously reasserting the doctrines of the Philadelphia platform, when, without transacting any further business, a motion was carried to adjourn till Monday morning at half past 9 o'clock, at which time a nomination for speaker will be made. Hon. G. A. Grow of Pennsylvania is the most prominent candidate talked of, and it is believed will get the nomination. Many of the republicans are in favor of making a straight nomination for the other offices.

Washington, Dec. 7.—Secretary Cobb will send in an application for Treasury notes as soon as Congress organizes, probably on Tuesday.

Fire.—Philadelphia, Dec. 7.—The Ringgold school house on Eighth and Fixwater streets, was destroyed by fire at an early hour this morning. The walls only are left standing. The loss is covered by insurance. The fire was the work of an incendiary.

Notice.

There being notices posted in Portsmouth and vicinity to the effect that cows have been stolen from the Hill Farm, in Newington; in justice to the public, it is perhaps necessary to state that in my belief there have been no cows stolen from said farm; and if any have disappeared, I think they have been removed from the farm by their owner. Prof. O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: Within a few days we have received so many orders and calls for Prof. O. J. Wood's Hair Restorative, that today we were compelled to send to Boston for a quantity, (the 6 dozen you forwarded all being sold,) while we might order a quantity from you. Every bottle we have sold seems to have produced three or four new customers, and the approbation and patronage it receives from the most substantial and worthy citizens of our vicinity, fully convinces us that it is A MOST VALUABLE PREPARATION.

DANIEL LATHROP & Co.

Hickory Grove, St. Charles Co., Mo., 1856.
Pazr. O. J. Woo—Dear Sir: Some time last summer we were induced to use some of your Hair Restorative, and its effects were so wonderful, we feel it our duty to you and the afflicted, to report it.
Our little son's head for some time had been perfectly covered with sores, and some called it scald head. The hair almost entirely came off in consequence, when a friend, seeing his sufferings, advised us to use your Restorative, we did so with little hope of success, but, to our surprise, and that of all our friends, a very few applications removed the disease entirely, and a new and luxuriant crop of hair soon started out, and we can now say that our boy has as healthy a scalp, and as luxuriant a crop of hair as any other child. We can therefore, and do hereby, recommend your Restorative, as a perfect remedy for all diseases of the scalp and hair. We are, yours respectfully,

Prof. O. J. Wood—Dear Sir: I have used two bottles of Professor Wood's Hair Restorative, and can truly say it is the greatest discovery of the age for restoring and changing the Hair. Before using it I was a man of seventy. My hair has now attained its original color. You can recommend it to the world without the least fear, as my case was one of the worst kind.
Yours Respectfully.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

THERE ARE OCCASIONS

When even the healthiest people need medicine; the changes of diet, of weather, and hundreds of other causes, produce a laxity in the system that needs correcting, or in other words, the liver becomes slightly deranged and needs a stimulator. If all who find themselves in this situation will try Dr Sanford's Invigorator, they may be sure of relief, as we can testify to its efficacy in curing Headache, Indigestion, Sour Stomach, and other ills so common in a family. It acts, as a medicine, easier and better than any dose of pills we ever swallowed, and so mild that the smallest infant can take it.

Sailors and Sea Faring Men, and persons exposed to wet or cold, and who live principally on salt dry food, with little or no vegetables, are peculiarly subject to Scurvy, and no one with proper foresthought will go to sea unprepared for what nine tenths of our seafaring men are subject to. As an Antiscorbutic, Myers' Extract Rose is a specific. Scurvey, Salt Rheum or Tetter, cutaneous diseases of all kinds, yield to its benign influence. It purifies the blood, regulates the system, and imparts health and strength to the weak and emaciated.

LOCAL.

A PLEASANT SURPRISE.—One evening last week, Mr. Werner, Foreman of the City Clothing Store (Wm. P. Walker's) was surprised by a most pleasant visitation of the young ladies connected with that establishment, — who visited him in a body, at his residence, and presented him with a most comfortable and inviting stuffed Rocking Chair, as a token of their good feeling and appreciation of his polite attention and uniform courtesy.

All the arrangements were made in secret, and the presentation was entirely unexpected by him and his family. The ladies, with a few invited friends, among whom was their employer, were by appointment of the ladies, "spending an evening socially" at Mr. Werner's; and in the course of the evening, one of the ladies astonished Mr. Werner, and everybody else present but her companions, by addressing him as follows, (presenting the Chair,) on their behalf:—

MR. WERNER AND FAMILY:—In behalf of the ladies present, and some unavoidably absent, I have the pleasure of presenting you this token of our respect and esteem, which the many pleasant hours we have passed with you have so fully proved you to be worthy of, and to the pleasure of which those of this evening have added so much; and we hope that the pleasure may be only indicative of the future. May the recollection for what this chair was presented to you, and by whom; the remembrance of this eve, and the circumstances under which we are now gathered together; produce in your mind thoughts which you may be pleased to encourage on account of the pleasure they may afford you.

On our part we assure you that this eve will never be obliterated from our memories; but be associated with the pleasant hours we have heretofore passed, and those which we hope are still in store for us.

When the body may become fatigued by the labors of the day; be tortured with pain or weakened by disease; or when cares or trouble shall oppress the mind—may this afford you rest for the body and be the means of soothing a troubled mind.

And the best wishes for the happiness and prosperity of yourself and family shall ever be ours.

Mr. Werner replied, thanking the ladies for their beautiful present, valuable in itself and ten-fold more so as an expression of kindly feeling on the part of those with whom it had been his pleasant lot to labor —some of them for a long time; and whom he was happy to say had ever conducted themselves in the most lady-like and courteous manner, thus contributing in no small degree to the happiness of all concerned. He expressed a hope their pleasant relation might long continue, and that he should ever act so as to merit their esteem.

When full justice had been done to supper, good music was discoursed by some of those present; and after an hour or two spent in pleasant social enjoyment, the company separated — well pleased with their evening's entertainment.

Such a presentation as this is of full as much importance and interest as those made in "higher" life—so termed, though not always correctly; and shows that the interests of employers or foremen and those under their direction, need not be antagonistic,—as they certainly are not, if correctly understood. Mr. Walker is a gentleman, and of course treats all whom he meets as such: and is one of those genial, good-natured sort of people,—of whom there are none too many in the world—whose sunny disposition contributes not a little to the happiness of all around them. Success to him, and all concerned.

☞ Mr. Hawkins, one of the original Washingtonians, arrived in this city on Monday, and lectured in the evening. The report (from the Boston Journal) which we published on Monday morning, about Mrs. Hawkins's sickness, and Mr. H.'s being on his way to Baltimore,—was quite erroneous.

LYCEUM.—All who enjoy a hearty laugh, should not fail to hear Arthur Gilman this evening, on New England Humor. Mr. Gilman delivered this lecture before the Boston Mercantile last winter, and so great was the desire to hear him, that he repeated it in Boston three or four times, to crowded audiences. It will be noticed that evening tickets are advertised for sale.

☞ At noon, on Sunday last, the rite of Baptism by immersion was administered by three clergymen, fo sixteen converts, at Noble's Island. Rev. Mr. Gouch, of the Advent Church, baptised nine; Rev. Mr. Hall, of the Methodist Church, four; and Rev. Mr. Holmes, of the Christian Church, three.

☞ We understand that several of our clergymen, with a few young men formerly members, are making arrangements to revive the Christian Association in this city. A preliminary meeting will be held in Exchange Hall on Thursday evening next—to which all interested are invited.

☞ "Is that dog of your's a setter?" enquired a gentleman on Market Street, the other day, of a boy from the State of Maine, who was followed by a smart looking "sporting dog."

"No sir," replied the boy, "he's a Kittery Pointer."

DIED.

In this city, on Thursday night, Dec. 3d, Mrs. Sarah Webber, aged 42, wife of Mr. Charles Webber. Her funeral services were attended on Sunday afternoon, in the Hanover Street Chapel, which was crowded with mourners and auditors. A sermon was presented on the occasion by Rev. A. R. Bradbury of the Freewill Baptist Church, of which body the deceased was a worthy member and highly esteemed. The preacher portrayed her faith and virtues; and urged her example as an encouragement to the christian character, life and hope.

4 DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.
ARRIVAL OF THE BALTIC.

SANDY HOOK, Dec. 7.—The Baltic passed here this morning.

The Breadstuffs market closed with an advancing tendency. Corn declining, and slightly lower.

Provisions very dull.

The additional failures in England, are: Harman, Sillem & Co., and Alexander, Hentz & Co., London—large liabilities:—Penistore & Marshal, provision dealers, Liverpool; and several Hamburg and Bremen houses.

The Banks of England and France were each gaining bullion rapidly.

The distillers of France were memorializing the government for a duty on foreign spirits, on the ground that they cannot compete with foreign articles.

Nothing later from India.

Gens. Havelock and Wilson will be made Baronets.

THE FUGITIVE SLAVE CASE.—Indianapolis, Dec. 5.—An immense crowd assembled in the Senate Chamber this morning, to hear the decision of Judge Wallace in the fugitive slave case. He decided that he could not traverse the decision of the Commissioner, and that the negro must be remanded back to slavery.

U. S. Marshal started in the evening with the negro for Louisville, where he will hand him over to Dr. Vallandingham. The case against Dr. Vallandingham was dismissed.

The excitement caused by the decision of Judge Wallace was intense, and it was apprehended that the Marshal would experience considerable difficulty in indeavoring to force the negro on board the cars. No attempt at rescue, however, was made.

☞ Breen, one of the murderers of the McKenzie family, hung himself in his cell, at St. John, N. B., on Sunday evening, Dec. 6th.

☞ On Saturday night last, a large barn attached to the State Asylum, Brattleboro, Vt., was fired by an incendiary, and burned, together with 29 head of cattle and 100 tuns of hay.

STATE TEMPERANCE CONVENTION. The next annual New Hampshire State Temperance Convention will be held at Smyth's Hall, in Manchester, on Tuesday, Dec. 15, at ten o'clock, for the choice of officers, and for the transaction of other important business connected with the interests of the cause in the State. Will not the friends of Temperance gather in large numbers, to consider the best means of carrying forward this enterprise at the present time? Much has been done, but still the work is not accomplished. We wish to see delegations from as many towns as possible. Let us have a great gathering of the working men, and lay our plans, and then let us carry them forward, till rumselling, with all its terrible results, is driven from our State. Among the speakers expected to be present and address the convention, are the Rev. Messrs. Whiting, Lamson and Hall, of Portsmouth; Prof. J. G. Hoyt, of Exeter; Rev. Mr. Holman of Great Falls;—Rev. Mr. Hartwell, of Nashua; as well as many other active friends from different parts of the State.

Morning Chronicle.

☞ The authorities at Patterson, N. J., have commenced a number of public works, such as opening and grading streets and squares, for the relief of the unemployed people. A sensible operation, and worthy of being followed by other towns and cities. It is far better to furnish employment to the poor, and let them earn an honest livelihood, than to crowd our almshouses with them.

MASSACHUSETTS.—Official returns of votes for Governor, show the following figures. Nathaniel P. Banks, Waltham had 60,807 And is elected.

Henry J. Gardner, of Boston,	37,596
Erasmus D. Beach, Springfield,	31,760
Caleb Swan, of Easton,	213
Sundry other persons,	160
Whole number of ballots,	130,536

Return from the town of New Ashford was not sealed, and rejected accordingly.

LITTERARY GIRL.—A young lady at a ball was asked by a lover of serious poetry whether she had seen Crabb's Tales? "Why, no," she answered, "I didn't know that crabs had tails." "I beg your pardon, Miss," said he, "I mean have you read Crabb's Tales?"

"And I assure you, sir, I did not know that red crabs, or any others, had tails."

SPICE TO THE FARM.—Are pale faces, white hands, decayed teeth and bad health, more genteel than robust frames, a good appetite, sound sleep and independent circumstances? We think not, and for the same reasons, we judge that farming is not beneath any pursuit whatever in all that makes a man virtuous, useful and happy; and it is surely to be regretted that nearly all our young men should prefer a mercantile life or a profession, to the tilling of the ground at their quiet homes. Not only it is to be lamented on account of the welfare of the young men themselves, but also in regard to the prosperity of the country, for it is a truth that cannot be contradicted, that the best interest of the inhabitants of any country are intimately connected with the prosperous condition of its agriculture.

DARTMOUTH COLLEGE.—At a meeting of the Trustees of this institution, Dec. 1, Amos Tuck, Esq., of Exeter, and Lyndon A. Marsh, Esq., of Woodstock, Vt., were chosen members. Vacancies have occurred in the board by the resignation of Messrs. John Kelly, of Exeter, and Richard Fletcher, of Boston, and by the death, some time since, of Edmund Parker, Esq., of Nashua.

THE CLERGYMAN AND THE SCEPTIC.—"If we are to live after death, why don't we have some certain knowledge of it?" said a skeptic to a clergyman. "Why didn't you have some knowledge of this world before you came into it?" was the caustic reply.

☞ The body of the late Senator James Bell was last week removed from a receiving tomb in Gilford, and carried to Exeter for burial.

LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed to superintend their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being well protected if they were present. The Manager would respectfully call attention to the fact that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are authorized by the Legislature of that State. A lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year, all orders received before 10 A. M. in the drawing next to take place after the same comes to hand, according to the scheme one ticket in every ten must draw a prize. Tickets are $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2 50; tenths or whole tickets and shares accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that no one can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers to mystify the buyer. Prizes vary from $40 to $30,000; every prize being drawn, and result of drawing printed to all purchasers.

☞ A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers:—New Orleans Delta, Mobile Register, Charleston Standard, Nashville Gazette, Atlanta Intelligencer, and New York Weekly Sun Dial. Address all orders plainly, and direct to S. SWAN & Co., Augusta, Georgia.

Prizes paid in full—no percentage deducted from prizes. Address as above.

LOTTERIES.

The well-known Maryland Consolidated Lotteries, of which R. FRANCIS & Co are the managers, are chartered by the state of Maryland, and a commissioner also appointed by the people, who is sworn to superintend and certify that everything connected with them is done in a strictly honorable manner, so that the interests of parties who reside at a distance are as well protected as if they themselves were present at the drawing. Another fact which the managers call attention to, is that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Maryland, as lotteries are legalized by special law in that state. A lottery is drawn every day, Sundays excepted, the regular class is passed, orders are filled in the first drawing to take place after the communication comes to hand. The prices of tickets vary from $1 to $20. No tickets are sent out without the money for the same is received with the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that no one can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers, which has so mystified the community for years past. Prizes vary in amount from $40 to $30,000. Every prize being drawn, and result of drawing, or other information, forwarded to all purchasers.

A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount that each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers: New Orleans Delta, Savannah News, New York Dispatch, and New York Atlas. Magee's Patent Ventilating Stove.

FOR WARMING AND VENTILATING PARLORS, OFFICES, HALLS, STORES, SCHOOL HOUSES, &c.

WHICH for economy, purity of air, and ease of management, has no equal. It can be regulated so as to give and unlike all other Anthracite Coal Burners, ventilates the apartments quite as fast as it uses a wood fire or Franklin, producing a current of Air, at once moist, pure and agreeable, and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache, so much complained of by those using Stoves and Furnaces, is entirely obviated. The fire may be continued from one to four days without replenishing.

Any amount of Heat required,

These Stoves are beautiful in design, and finished in the most perfect manner. They are equally appropriate, and have given universal satisfaction to all who have adopted them.

For Offices and Stores as well as the Parlor.

The Inventor challenges the world to produce an article by which so much Pure Warm Air can be generated, from so small an amount of fuel, requiring but about 15 pounds of Anthracite Coal, to warm an ordinary sized parlor for 24 hours, without replenishing, and then leaving fire enough to rekindle without the use of chips, coal. The coal is all used, and no clinkers made, consequently, sifting coal is dispensed with.—When this Stove is properly managed,

THE FIRE MAY BE CONTINUED THROUGH THE ENTIRE SEASON,

without once going out. Added to all these qualifications, the purchaser may reasonably expect to save from 30 to 50 per cent, in fuel expense.

LANCET, LEECHES AND BLISTERS.
INSTEAD of being a panacea for all maladies, it has control over but ONE MALADY—has but ONE AIM—accomplishes but ONE THING, to wit: SUBDUES INFLAMMATORY DISEASE—whatever be its form or locality—whether in the head, throat, chest, abdomen, extremities or skin. Every form of inflammation (but no other disease) is subdued, by it as easily as fire is extinguished by water. Is it asked, how it does this?—simply by restoring the blood-making fluids and solids. Such is its potency, that like vaccine matter, it requires merely what adheres to the point of a pin slightly dipped into a solution of it, to affect the entire system.
☞ Of its intrinsic value, the enlightened community, and not the discoverer, must be the judge.

IS THERE NO WAY?

A DIALOGUE.—NO. TWO.

Mr. B.—Well, Mr. A, have you thought over that matter we were talking about the other day?

A.—Yes, but I don't know that I have anything very luminous to offer on the subject. What do you think is the best way to take to stir up people to get them engaged in the temperance cause?

B. I think one good step has been taken already.

A. You refer to the Temperance Meeting last Sabbath evening?

B. Yes, I was glad to hear that a meeting was to be held, and a lecture given. I was also glad to have the pledge circulated, and a Society formed.

A. Yes, we have certainly taken a step in the right direction. I think many people seem interested. I never saw Squire Seagles at a temperance meeting before.

B. Nor I. And then he made some very good remarks at the close of the lecture, and thought we ought to have a Temperance Society formed by all means.

A. Yes, and it is time he did wake up. Rumor says his boys are pretty wild, and that Tracy, the eldest, was seen intoxicated last summer. He begins to get his eyes open, and see the danger his own children are in. It is astonishing how indifferent some people can live to the good cause of temperance, till rum touches their own families, or till they see there is danger, and then they begin to bestir themselves. Squire Seagles will be a great help to the cause, because he is not cowardly, and what he thinks, he says right out, offhand. He will influence some of the rest of the indifferent ones, too.

B. Yes, but there is the President of our Temperance Society coming across the Square.

A. Sure enough. How do you do, Mr. C., and what's the news about temperance to-day?

C. How do you do friends? Glad to see you. What news about temperance do you ask? Why, I have been looking about town to find a man. You need not look so surprised. I mean I've been trying to get somebody to deliver the next temperance lecture. We thought, two or three of us, that we had talent enough in this town, to get up our own temperance lectures, if we could only get it started. And, besides, we thought the community would be much more effectually stirred up if we could get some of our own citizens at work, than if we should send abroad for some "celebrities" to come and give us lectures. When we work ourselves, we get warm, you know. When we look on, and see somebody else work, our fingers and toes might freeze, for all the exercise they would get. So I've been round and called upon several to ask them if they would give a lecture by and by.

B. What success did you have!

C. O, some good, and some not so good. I first called upon Mr. Batte. You know he is a lawyer, has a liberal education, and can make a very eloquent plea at the bar. I told him that some of us felt that we, as citizens, ought to do something to counteract the terrible effects of liquor selling among us, and that we had formed a Temperance Society; that, as he doubtless knew, we had had one lecture, and there seemed to be a good degree of interest; that it was thought that many of our own townsmen were every way able to give a good lecture before the Society, and that I had called to invite him to take a part in the good work.

A. That's a good idea, neighbor, I am glad it has been suggested. But how did he answer you?

C. O, he was blind. Couldn't see any necessity for his delivering a lecture. He thought the place was very temperate. He did not see any intemperance. He thought there was no necessity for all this ado. In short, he declined.

B. Some men are determined not to see. Mr. Batte is of that class, I think.

C. I next called upon Dr. Deavey. He had not heard of anything very bad in our town. He thought we were a very temperate people. I told him much misery was caused by liquor-selling here, notwithstanding he thought us so temperate a people. But I could make no impression upon him. He was deaf to all argument, and I left him.

B. Dr. Deavey has never been very public-spirited in any matter. I am not much surprised.

C. Next I called upon Editor Hartnotte. He admitted all I said about the miseries of intemperance, thought the place was in a sad condition, and somebody ought to do something. But it did not concern him. He had no time to spend in such business. And, and he didn't like the prohibitory law; said there was no use in making laws that people shouldn't drink liquor, for they would drink the liquor if only out of spite, and to see whether they really were free or were not free. I told him he mistook very much. The law does not say people shall not drink liquor. It only says they shall not sell liquor except under certain conditions appointed by the law. But all in vain. He had no heart for the cause, or else it was in the wrong place. I told him that he might give just such a lecture as he liked. We wanted his help to get up and keep up an interest, and anything that opposed intemperance, we should be glad to hear. All in vain. He couldn't attend to it. So I left Editor Hartnotte.

A. Didn't you get almost discouraged?

C. O no, I thought to myself, "Well, there are more people in town than Mr. Batte, Dr. Deavey, or Editor Hartnotte." So I called next on a minister, the Rev. Mr. Hope. He said he sympathized very deeply with the temperance cause, hoped it would prosper, and would be delighted to deliver a lecture, if he could do it without offending any one But there was Mr. Beere, who kept the worst liquor selling place in the town, and he was one of his congregation, and if he should deliver a lecture on temperance, in all probability, Mr. Beere would never enter his church again. And so he would be thrust out from hearing the gospel, for he would attend no other meeting than his, because the other ministers were such fanatics. Besides, Mr. Beere gave handsomely towards his support. Then there were several very influential families in his society, who used wine at table. He should offend them very much if he moved in the matter. He was sorry. Intemperance was a dreadful evil, he hoped it would be put down,—but he had rather be excused from delivering a lecture just now. If public sentiment got waked up in favor of temperance, as he hoped it would, he should rejoice. Perhaps then he might give a lecture. He hoped the cause would prosper. At present, prudence bade him decline having anything to do with it. In short, friends, you see he had no backbone.

A. Is that the spirit that should actuate a minister of Christ? I am sorry Mr. Hope has shown so little courage and independence.

C. I next called on Dr. Holhart. He was glad to learn my errand, rejoiced that there was some interest in the community, and said he would prepare and deliver a lecture with pleasure. I told him I was rejoiced at length to find a man, for I had tried four times before coming to him, but had found none. I told my adventures to him, at which he laughed heartily. He said it was sad to see such indifference, but he thought we should be able to awaken interest enough by and by, to draw in even the blind, and deaf, and heartless and vacillating. "What we want," said he, "is to create such a wave of public sentiment, as to wash away all such excuses, and make every one feel that he is a part of the community—not outside and separate from it. With God's blessing, we will rouse up this people, and then Mr. Batte will see, Dr. Deavey will hear; Editor Hartnotte will find he has a heart, after all; and the Rev. Mr. Hope, supported by those around him, will find his spinal column amazingly strengthened."

A. That's the talk. Dr. Holhart takes hold like a man. Only get a few more like him hold of the "temperance car," and she's "bound to go ahead."

C. I then went to our other ministers, to three or four more doctors, to several lawyers, and other individuals, and they all, with one consent, promised to deliver a lecture; and do what they could. We are to have a lecture next Sunday night from Dr. Holhart. Circulate the news.

B. I believe this is going to be a pretty good way to get the people roused up.—Many will sign the pledge, and they, by their influence, will draw in more. Our people will come out in good numbers to hear the lectures, for they will have a desire and curiosity to hear their own townsmen speak on this subject.

C. Yes; and we must have a Juvenile Temperance Society, or Band of Hope, as he calls them in some places. This will do a great deal of good to our children and young people.

A. Yes, it will. And they must be taught to sing temperance songs and hymns so that we can have singing from them at our temperance meetings. Their sweet voices will add much interest to the meetings.

C. True, and their taking a stand now, may save them from drunkards' graves.

A. Well, neighbors, I think we will try these means thoroughly, before we conclude that there is no way of bringing up a healthy public sentiment here, with regard to the temperance cause. If we go on as we have begun, and the Lord blesses our efforts, one year will work very great changes here.

C. Yes, we must not forget our dependence upon the divine guidance and blessing. When man rushes headlong, even in a good cause, the Lord often brings him to a stand, and overthrows what he has done, so that he may remember that every good gift cometh from above. I think we have had quite a temperance meeting, and we will now adjourn, if you please, to meet at the Town Hall next Sunday evening.

A. That will do.

B. And don't forget to notify Messrs. Batte, Deavey, Hartnotte and Hope, that Dr. Holbart gives a lecture next Sabbath evening, and they must go and hear him.

Westview, Nov. 23, '57. ELSIE.

LATER FROM LIBERIA.—Intelligence from Monrovia, to the 15th of October, has been received by the schooner President Benson, which arrived at Baltimore on the 3d inst. B. V. R. James, Esq., writes to the Corresponding Secretary of the Colonization Board, under date of Oct. 15, saying:

"The rice crop in and around Liberia has again failed; I never knew rice so scarce as it is this year. In Bassa Cove there is an entire failure of almost all kinds of food, which I must say is owing somewhat to the neglect of the people to plant, for the season for growing potatoes and cassadas has been very favorable. In Mesurado county we have plenty of potatoes and cassadas, but very little rice; with care and prudence the people in this county need not suffer for food. In the other counties there must be much suffering."

S. J. COURT, PORTLAND, Me.—Saturday. State vs. Joseph P. Pratt, for selling liquor without license, at Saccarappa village in Westbrook. Appeal from Justice's Court.—Defendant went to trial. There was some conflict of testimony in the case, but the jury returned a verdict of guilty.

State vs. Albion Cotton and Lucy Cotton. The prisoners were indicted for keeping a house of ill fame. Albion pleaded guilty to the indictment. Lucy said she would not contend. The latter plea, the Court remarked, could not be entered, and she accordingly pleaded guilty. After some statements from the counsel for the prisoners, the Court sentenced Albion to three months imprisonment in the County Jail, and Lucy to thirty days imprisonment in the same place.

Otis Trafton, of Harrison, indicted as a common seller of intoxicating liquors, pleaded nol. con. The case was continued to the next term for sentence, upon a pledge of the Defendant to quit the traffic.

Lewis Edsen, of Harrison, on an indictment charging him with the illegal sale of two quarts of rum, pleaded nol. con. The Court imposed a fine of ten dollars and costs.

MISPRINTS.—Not many years since, a Boston paper informed its readers that a contract had been made with the "Shoe and Leather" company, of Provincetown, to get off a certain vessel which was ashore at Cape Cod. Screw and Lever company was intended. A day or two since another Boston paper stated that parties at Jonesport have contracted with the underwriters to take off and repair the "logwood and timber" from deck of schooner A. Sawyer. Locomotive and tender would have been correct.—Advertiser.

FORFEITED BAIL.—Henry L. Sutton, who was found not guilty of manslaughter in killing John Hilton, was on the 10th of November admitted to bail in $200, on a charge of assault and battery. Mr. Joshua G. Todd became surety. It is reported that he has forfeited his bail, because Hilton's friends have threatened to kill him if they get him.—Boston Advertiser.

Morning Chronicle.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 9, 1857.

NEW YORK CORRESPONDENCE.

Dec. 7, 1857.

Dear Chronicle.—Your readers are probably aware that the Rev. R. W. Clark, for merly much respected as pastor of the old North Church in Portsmouth, is now in charge of the South Congregational Church in Brooklyn—a society which was formed in May last. Brooklyn has among her residents, many men of note who claim New Hampshire as their birth-place. Indeed a comparatively large number of its population are from that section; many of whom can boast like Mason, — "New Hampshire is a good state to emigrate from."

An evening spent by their hospitable and home-like firesides is to me a relief from the noisey turmoil of a Life in the metropolis. A few hours passed in the little well filled study of "Chocorua" is really a rich feast, to the lover of that genial pleasure which the companionship of a fertile mind always inspires.

Brooklyn is rightly called the "City of Churches," but the visitor as he views the city for the first time, in crossing the river, is somewhat fearful of disappointment in his expectations, excited by this sobriquet, for he sees but one or two spires in view. The Churches are for the most part built in modern style, by which a short and well proportioned tower, or a picturesque group of gothic pinnacles and turrets, are substituted for the tall stiff unsightly spires, which, though they add so much to the effect of a general landscape, particularly to a rural picture, (hardly complete without one) are, when the building is viewed by itself with an architectural eye, an undesirable addition, wanting in chasteness and elegance of design.

The streets of Brooklyn wear a peculiarly beautiful and rural aspect.—It deserves, besides its name of "City of Churches," that of the "City of Homes," for it is almost exclusively the residence of those who do business in the noisy Babylon across the stream. The beauty of the city, with the purity of its atmosphere, its neat and quiet streets, added to the facilities afforded for reaching the metropolis, render it a desirable situation for this purpose. It is like a quiet, mild sister, pacifying and soothing by gentle home influences, the turbulent and impetuous brother by her side. The rapid growth of Brooklyn is almost unparalleled. It has twice trebled its population in ten years. From the little obscure Dutch hamlet of the last century, it has arisen to the rank of the third city (in number of inhabitants) in America.

But, I am almost forgetting a visit to the South Congregational Church, for the narration of which, this letter was commenced. Leaving my residence at a reasonable hour on Sunday morning, a walk of an hour brought me to South Ferry, and a Ferry ride across the widest part of the East River, exposed to the clear, bracing sea breeze which sweeps up the noble bay, invigorates one, and sharpens the mental appetite for an intellectual treat. A short walk of half a mile brings us to the Church. The outward appearance of the building is anything but prepossessing. It is a large ungainly structure of brick, built in a style of architecture which would do credit to the designer if modelled for a penitentiary or alms-house.

We enter and find that the beautiful and chastely ornamented interior fully recompenses us for our disgust at the outward appearance. I think I never visited a house of worship which so impressed me with its simple and neat, yet costly and elegant appearance. We find a large choir of the pretty faces for which Brooklyn is celebrated, chaunting the opening hymn. I doubt if a more choice collection of female beauty can be found in any other church outside of Portsmouth.

The singing was the finest I have heard for years, and is a pleasing contrast with the operatic style of melody so prevalent in our city churches, which we hear screeched from an invisible mouth, apparently among the tubes of the organ, or hidden among the carvings of the chorister's perch.

Glancing towards the pulpit, the jovial, pleasant face of Mr. Clark shines like a ray of warm sunshine on our eager vision, after an absence of many years. A sudden impulse almost incited me to rush to him and take his hand in greeting. I need not describe his sermon. You will remember how that clear, energetic voice made the solid walls of the old North Church reverberate with its earnest truths.

The same honest tones and sentiments are earning for Mr. Clark a popularity attested by his fast increasing congregation, of which he may be called the founder.—The services ended, after a sociable chat with my much respected friend as he left the church, I recrossed the "Styx," and was again among the palaces of the metropolis—resolved to repeat my visit at an early day.

Having a roomy paragraph left, I will refer to an incident of a different character from church going, which came under my notice last week. A wager after the style of the valiant Ben: Perley Poore was fulfilled on Thursday afternoon last.

Two parties had offered each other, in case of the defeat of their favorite candidates for Mayor, to saw a load of wood on the square near the Girard House on Chambers street. The adherent of Mr. Wood performed the interesting task in presence of a crowd of several thousand people, he being mounted on a platform level with the heads of the spectators. A square placard, raised on a staff by his side, bore the inscription, "Fernando Wood!" The meaning conveyed by this significant placard is susceptible of somewhat ambiguous interpretation. A doubt still remains in my mind whether it was intended as an insinuation that Fernando was a tough log of wood to saw, or as a delicate but rather uncomplimentary reference to the handsome manner in which the said Wood was sawed on Tuesday last.

An enthusiastic follower of Mr. Tiemann perpetrated the following, after witnessing the operation:

"O, woodman, spare that load,
Saw not a stick for me—
The man to manage Wood
Is Mr. D. F. T."

Yours truly, ISLINGTON.

THE LEMMON SLAVE CASE.—New York, Dec. 7.—The celebrated Lemmon slave case was decided in the Supreme Court to-day. The former decision of Judge Paine was sustained, and the slaves declared to be free,—thus denying the right emphatically of transit with slaves through this State. Judge Roosevelt dissented.

This Lemmon is now sucked quite dry. This decision is in strict conformity with all decent law on both sides of the water—though it contradicts the Taney opinion, the Washington Union, and other dicta of the same sort.

☞ A correspondent of the Hartford Times states that Colonel Colt, who on the first of October reduced the rent of his tenants within his improvements on the South Medows, 15 per cent. to the contractors, and 20 per cent. to all the laborers in his employ, again on the eve of winter sent a Thanksgiving present of a barrel of flour to one and all the tenants in his village. He has in his employ about 600 men, of which 276 are men with families.

THE TROUBLES AT PIEDMONT, N. Y.—The dispatches to the Saturday evening papers, on the authority of the New York Times, in relation to trouble among the workmen on the Erie Railroad at Piedmont, appears to have been without foundation. No fight occured; no arms were used, and the cannon story was entirely false. Everything was quiet, and the men were going to work at reduced wages.

☞ The stable of Wm. Shaw, in Newburyport, was burned on Monday night—supposed by an incendiary. Horses and carriages saved. The upper story of the building was a carpenter's shop—tools lost. Building worth $1500—no insurance.—Other small buildings, worth $700, were burnt. Marshal Westcott arrested Joseph Jewett and Wm. Cavanagh on suspicion.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Hon. John Porter, of Derry, N. H., died on Friday afternoon—probably of heart disease. Mr. Porter had just retired from the postoffice, being in his usual health—complained of difficulty in the region of the heart, and expired before the physician arrived. He was 82 years of age.

DEATH OF AN EDITOR.—Rev. Anson Rood, late editor and joint proprietor of the Philadelphia Times, died in that city on Friday last. Mr. Rood was in this city and spent some days, in September last.

RICHMOND, Dec. 7.—The Virginia Legislature organized today by the re-election of last year's officers. Gov. Wise sent in four messages, unprecedentedly long, and largely devoted to banks and banking.

SUICIDE.—An Irish woman, named Elisabeth O'Neal, who kept a liquor shop in Medford, Mass., was found, Friday morning, suspended from a rafter in the attic of her house, dead.—Mirror.

The Philadelphia Gazette, speaking of a new prima donna, says—"Her voice is as soft as a roll of velvet, and as tender as a pair of slop-shop pantaloons."

The people of Sacramento, Cal., talk of repudiating their city debt. It is a million and a half, and the taxes are five per cent. on the assessed value of property.

CONGRESS ASSEMBLED.

On Monday, Dec. 7, the Thirty-fifth Congress was formally organized, but the President's Message was not sent in.

In the absence of Vice President Breckenridge, Mr. Fitzpatrick of Alabama, was chosen President of the Senate, pro tem.

After other routine business, the Senate went into executive session, and confirmed the appointment of Geo. W. Bowman as Superintendent of Public Printing.

James L. Orr of S. C., dem., was chosen Speaker of the House, by a plurality of 44 votes over G. A. Grow, repub., of Penn., and a majority of 31. There were 13 scattering votes; Grow had 31.

Messrs. Giddings and Banks conducted the new Speaker to his seat.

On assuming the chair Mr. Orr expressed thanks for the honor conferred upon him.

Mr. Allen of Illinois, was then elected Clerk, receiving the same number of votes as Mr. Orr for speaker.

Mr. Glosbrenner was elected Sergeant-at-arms, and Mr. Hackney, doorkeeper.

Mr. Florence gave notice of his intention to introduce a bill for the entire suppression of all Bank notes as currency, or of Bank notes of a less denomination than $100, as a circulating medium in the District of Columbia.

The House then adjourned.

The Washington Globe, with a supplementary sheet, was occupied with an exposition of alleged frauds in the purchase of books during the last Congress. The publication produced much excitement and sensation.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.—The latest intelligence in regard to the Message, which seems to be authentic, states that the document has been mailed only to Baltimore, Philadelphia, and New York. It fills about eight columns of the Washington Union.

☞ The America at Halifax reports that the powder mills at Mayence, on the Rhine, exploded lately, destroying the upper part of the city. Thirty persons were killed, and nearly five hundred wounded. Damages £80,000.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

CANKER.

I hereby certify that some three months since my little girl, three years old, was attacked with what appeared to be Mumps, but upon examination was discovered it was Canker in the worst forms; so bad that for two or three days she could scarcely swallow. Having Myers' Extract Rock Rose at hand, we commenced giving it in doses of a teaspoonful every hour. In twenty-four hours there was a decided change for the better, and after administering it (less frequently) for three days, a perfect cure was effected.

I can with confidence recommend it to all similarly affected, and will not be without it in my house. CURTIS B. BLAKESLEE.
Northfield Society, Lichfield, Ct., Dec. 1858.

THERE ARE OCCASIONS

When even the healthiest people need medicine; the changes of diet, of weather, and hundreds of other causes, produce a laxity in the system that needs correcting, or in other words, the liver becomes slightly deranged and needs a stimulator. If all who find themselves in this situation will try Dr Sanford's Invigorator, they may be sure of relief, as we can testify to its efficacy in curing Headache, Indigestion, Sour Stomach, and other ills so common in a family. It acts, as a medicine, easier and better than any dose of pills we ever swallowed, and so mild that the smallest infant can take it.

SAILORS AND SEA FARING MEN,

and persons exposed to wet or cold, and who live principally on salt dry food, with little or no vegetables, are peculiarly subject to Scurvy, and no one with proper forethought will go to sea unprepared for what nine tenths of our seafaring men are subject to. As an Antiscorbutic, Myers' Extract Rose is a specific. Scurvey, Salt Rheum or Tetter, cutaneous diseases of all kinds, yield to its benign influence. It purifies the blood, regulates the system, and imparts health and strength to the weak and emaciated.

CLOAKS AND CLOAK GOODS.

If any of our readers are about purchasing a Cloak, or the materials to make one, they will of course visit NUMBER FIFTEEN MARKET ST., before buying.—Allen & Paine having appropriated one room of their store to that business entirely, are opening to-day one of the largest stocks in this city, including Cloaks, Broadcloths, Black, Brown and Drab Plush for Trimming. To those of their customers who prefer making their own Cloaks, they will give a pattern of any Cloak in their store.

LOCAL.

☞ In the temperance lecture of John Hawkins, the Washingtonian, delivered at the Temple, on Monday evening, he dwelt particularly on the fact, that most of the liquors and wines now sold in this country, even those at the highest prices and "pure as imported," are dangerous and poisonous mixtures.—He exhibited the liquor maker's book, in which the methods of mixing are given, for the benefit of the trade.

Much whiskey is sent out from this country, to France, and other countries, mixed and brought back, with custom house mark, as brandy, wine, &c. and sold here at high prices.

Much bogus drink also is made in this country. As a confirmation of this, we may state that a man no farther off than Lowell, Mass., advertises this week, to sell to any one, for $1, a receipt whereby a barrel, 30 gallons, of beer may be made for $2.10, that is 7 cents per gallon.

Now the people grumble when flour is high, when the baker's loaf dwindles, and and when the milkman calls for 6 cents.—Yet they buy beer, and wine, and brandy, so called, at 300 per cent. profit to the maker, and poisonous stuff at that.

Hawkins says, "in ten years not one old drunkard will be left; they will be all dead and gone." The new drinks make short work.

☞ The coroner's jury on the case of Capt. Wm. Walsh, of Rockland, Me., whose body was found about ten days ago, have brought in their verdict to the effect that he died from strangulation by hands to them unknown. It appears that the deceased was a pleasant, companionable, free hearted man; easily induced to treat, drink, and go hither and thither with companions.—And hence he would fall an easy prey to such villains as abound in dens of sots and thieves. We do not learn that suspicion rests on any particular person; but there is a class of idlers in this city who have no visible means of living, but who eat, drink, and smoke sumptuously every day, and who are better clothed than many laborers. If we ever find the culprit, he will belong to this class.

☞ An advertisement of "Ale" will be seen in another column this morning.—Large quantities of the "Dutch Swill" are made and drunk in this city—enough, doubtless, to support a hundred poor families—whether according to the cheap recipe advertised, or not, we can't say.

Portsmouth Atheneum	1000.
" Mercantile Library Association	500.
" Howard Benevolent Society	500
" Seamen's Friend "	300.
" City Mission "	100.
	$5400.

We can hardly imagine $1400 better spent, than when devoted to the four Societies last named—all which are needy.

☞ The fourth Promenade Concert came off as usual on Monday evening but the accustomed storm didn't come off—or rather "it came off clear" in the morning, and the night was a beautiful one. The attendance was large and highly respectable; and all passed off pleasantly.

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY, solicitor of Patents,

(Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837.)

No. 76 State st, oppo. Kilby st, Boston,

AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France, and other foreign countries. He also prepares Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions,—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not equal to any agency, or agency, which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL, AT THE PATENT OFFICE, than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that no agency, of the kind, at the charges for professional services so moderate.—The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and the Patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

Testimonials.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissione of Patents."

From the present Commissioner.

AUGUST 17, 1855.—During the time I have held the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the office, as a Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHAS. MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

THE GREAT BEAUTIFIER

So long unsuccessfully sought,
FOUND AT LAST.

FOR IT RESTORES PERMANENTLY GRAY HAIR to its original color; covers luxuriant by the bald head; removes all dandruff, itching, and all scrofula, scald head and all eruptions;—makes the hair soft, healthy, and glossy, and will preserve it to any imaginable age; removes, as if by magic, all blotches, &c., from the face, and cures all neuralgia and nervous headache See circular and the following.

DOVER, N. H., Feb 2, 1857.

Prof. O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: Within a few days we have received so many orders and calls for Prof. O. J. Wood's Hair Restorative, that today we were compelled to send to them for a quantity, (the 6 dozen you forwarded all being sold,) while we might order a quantity from you. Every bottle we have sold seems to have produced three or four more customers, and the approbation and patronage it receives from the most substantial and worthy citizens of our vicinity, fully convinces us that it is A MOST VALUABLE PREPARATION.

Send us as soon as may be one gross of $1 size; and one dozen of $2 size; yours very reaply.

DANIEL LADD & CO.

Hickory Grove, St. Charles Co., Mo., 1856.

PROF. O. J. WOOD—Dear Sir: Some time last summer we were induced to use some of your Hair Restorative, and it has proved a wonderful, we feel it our duty to you and the afflicted, to report it.

Our little son's head for some time had been perfectly covered with sores, and some called it scald head. The hair almost entirely came off in consequence, when a friend, seeing his sufferings, advised us to use your Restorative, we did so with little hope of success, but, to our surprise, and that of all our friends, a very few applications removed the disease entirely, and a new and luxuriant crop of hair soon started out, and we can now say that our boy has as healthy a scalp, and as luxuriant a crop of hair as any other child. We can therefore, and do hereby, recommend your Restorative, as a perfect remedy for all diseases of the scalp and hair. We are, yours respectfully.

GEORGE W. HIGGINBOTHAM,
SARAH A. HIGGINBOTHAM.

GARDINER, Me., June 22, 1855.

Prof. O. J. Wood—Dear Sir: I have used two bottles of Professor Wood's Hair Restorative, and can truly say it is the greatest discovery of the age for restoring and changing the Hair. Before using it I was a man of seventy. My hair has now attained its original color. You can recommend it to the world without the least fear, as my case was one of the worst kind.

Yours Respectfully,

Magee's Patent Ventilating Stove.

FOR WARMING AND VENTILATING PARLORS, OFFICES, HALLS, STORES, SCHOOL HOUSES, &c.

WHICH for economy, purity of air, and ease of management, has no equal. It can be regulated so as to give and unlike all other Anthracite Coal Burners, ventilates the apartments quite as effectually as a wood fire or Franklin, producing a current of Air, at once moist, pure and agreeable, and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache, so much complained of by those using Stoves and Furnaces, is entirely obviated. The fire may be continued from one to four days without replenishing.

Any amount of Heat required,

These Stoves are beautiful in design, and finished in the most perfect manner. They are equally appropriate, and have given universal satisfaction to all who have adopted them.

For Offices and Stores as well as the Parlor.

The inventor challenges the world to produce an article by which so much Pure Warm Air can be generated, from so small an amount of fuel, requiring but about 15 pounds of Anthracite Coal, to warm an ordinary sized parlor for 24 hours, without replenishing, and then leaving fire enough to rekindle without the use of chips or coal. The coal is all used, and no clinkers made, consequently, sifting coal is dispensed with.—When this Stove is properly managed,

THE FIRE MAY BE CONVENIENTLY THROUGH THE ENTIRE SEASON,

without once going out. Added to all these qualifications, the purchaser may reasonably expect to save from 30 to 50 per cent, in fuel expense.

NO FREE STATES.

The Washington Union, the organ of President Buchanan, declares that slavery rightfully exists in all the free States, under the guarantees of the federal Constitution. The Union of Nov. 17 says:

The Constitution declares that "the citizens of each State shall be entitled to all the privileges and immunities of citizens in the several States." Every citizen of one State, coming into another State, has therefore a right to the protection of his person, and that property which is recognized as such by the Constitution of the United States, any law of a State to the contrary notwitstanding. So far from any State having a right to deprive him of this property, it is its bounden duty to protect him in its possession.

If these views are correct,—and we believe it would be difficult to invalidate them,—it follows that all State laws, whether organic or otherwise, which prohibit a citizen of one State from settling in another, and bringing his slave property with him, and most especially declaring it forfeited, are direct violations of the original intention of a government, which as before stated, is the protection of person and property; and of the Constitution of the United States, which recognizes property in slaves, and declares that "the citizens of each State shall be entitled to all the privileges and immunities of citizens in the several States," among the most essential of which is the protection of person and property.

That is, the constitution of New Hampshire is nothing; but slavery may exist here in spite of it! Are you ready to swallow this doctrine?

A REVEREND BRUTE.—Emily Cherry, wife of Rev. Henry Curtis, appeared at Westminister court of Queen's bench, in England, to swear the peace against her husband. Since her marriage, 1853, she has been a miserable woman, for her husband soon began a course of unkind treatment of her. In a few weeks after, her husband commanded her, in the presence of members of the family, at ten o'clock at night, "to quit the house." In 1855 she left his house and in 1856 he entered St. Giles Church, and at the end of the service seized and dragged her along the aisle, and subsequently by the help of a stout gardener, he carried her home. To save life she again ran away and kept concealed two years, but the reverend wretch found her out, and in a letter, read in court, threatened to again abduct her. The court granted her petition. This brute of a clergyman was ordered to find sureties to keep the peace.

OVERBOARD.—John Kansley, having a little too much liquor on board, on Saturday night, in attempting to navigate Hobson's wharf, Portland, fell into the dock. He was rescued from his perilous position by two private watchmen; the police was called upon, and he was taken to the watch-house. A bottle of rum was found in each of his coat pockets.—Argus.

If the Argus was published here, it might be termed a vilifier, by some scribbling booby who wished to distinguish himself, but did not know how.

☞ The Postmaster General's Report begins with a variety of statistics, showing the alterations which have been made in post-offices, post-routes, and modes of conveyance.

The sources, causes, and amount of receipts and expenditures of the year ending March 30, 1857, are given. The gross revenue, from all sources, was $8,053,952; expenses, $11,567,670; deficit, $3,453-718.

The adoption of the system of money orders, is brought before the attention of Government, but no special recommendation is made.

☞ There has recently been a "grand lion fight" at Warwick, England, between six dogs and a lion. The dogs were brought on in couples, and the lion served them as a cat would mice. The lion was 38 years old, raised in England, by a slut, and weighed 400 lbs. The dogs were the largest and best in England, weighing from 40 to 60 lbs. Smart sport that—about equal to half a dozen men on horseback, and a dozen men chasing a rabbit.

NEWSPAPERS IN KANSAS.—There are twenty-four newspapers published in Kansas, of which twelve are Republican in politics, four are neutral and eight National Democratic.

Byron once said, "I am convinced men do more harm to themselves, than even the devil could do them."

Take care not to go to the brink of vice, lest you fall down the precipice.

Schiller said, "Within thine own bosom are the stars of thy destiny."

Coggswell's Medical Salt,
A PERFECT SUBSTITUTE
FOR THE
LANCET, LEECHES AND BLISTERS.
INSTEAD of being a panacea for all maladies, it has conquered but ONE MALADY—but ONE AIM—accomplishes but ONE THING, to wit: SUBDUES INFLAMMATORY DISEASE—whatever be its form or locality—whether in the head, throat, chest, abdomen, joints, muscles or skin. Every form of inflammation (but no other disease) is subdued, by it as easily as fire is extinguished by water. Is it asked, how it does this?—simply by restoring the lost balance between the fluids and solids. Such is its potency, that like vaccine matter, it requires merely what adheres to the point of an ivory dipper, into a solution of it, to affect the entire system.
☞ Of its intrinsic value, the enlightened community, and not the discoverer, must be the judge.
PRIME COST, $1, 50 per drachm—PRICE $2 per drachm.

Morning Chronicle.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 10, 1857.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.—On Tuesday, President Buchanan sent in his Message to Congress. It begins with an allusion to finances, in which a loan is mentioned as not improbable to be found necessary; a bankrupt law for banks is recommended; the excessive issues of paper money are reprobated, but the President thinks the State Legislatures must apply the remedy. A summary of the foreign relations is presented, and the affairs of Kansas and Utah are discussed at some length.

The President says the Kansas Constitutional Convention was not bound by the Kansas-Nebraska act to submit any other portion of the Constitution to election, except that which relates to the domestic institution of slavery.—The election will be held under legitimate authority, and if any portion of the inhabitants refuse to vote, a fair opportunity to do so having been presented, this will be their own voluntary act, and they alone will be responsible for the consequences.

The President says the rebellion in Utah is the first which has existed in our territories, and humanity requires that it should be put down in such a manner that it will be the last. In order to do this, it will be necessary to raise four additional regiments troops.,

☞ The message was not forwarded to Boston or any part of New England in advance, but only to New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, &c. This has a look of business.

We have deemed it best not to cumber our columns with the message, this time. The universal hurry and scramble of printers, to set up these long documents, at great expense, don't pay.

DROLL EXTRACTS.

A correspondent of the Hartford Press says that the "Maine Law is not a failure; but it is its pretended friends who are a failure."

The Boston Ledger copies the above, and endorses it, by saying "Very True."

We have no clear idea of what the paragraph means. But read what follows.

The Concord, N. H., Patriot, of Dec. 2, 1857, says:

We can tell the fanatics who cling to the Maine Law, in the face of all the evidences against its validity and efficacy, that we, who demand its repeal, are the temperance reformers, and not they.

We presume the public will be greatly edified by the announcement that the editor and managers of the Patriot, are the only genuine temperance reformers—all others being bogus. The Patriot closes its article thus:

What we ask is not the abrogation of all law upon the subject, but the repeal of the present odious and unjust law, and the enactment of one which shall be equal and just in its provisions and effective to accomplish its professed object.

We place this on record for future use. Any body who can believe it, is welcome to do so—but to us it seems very like a humbug, in beautiful harmony with the "temperance reformers" quoted above.

We have no idea that any human law is perfect, or can be made so: but the idea of committing such a statute to the Patriot for revision, is something like submitting the regeneration of a city mission to a committee of gentlemen who never go to church.

CRUSHING OUT.—Unless the telegraph is in error, Mr. McKeon, U. S. District Attorney of New York, is to be deprived of his office by the United States, in this American republic, and the nineteenth century of the Christian Era, because he would not vote for Fernando Wood as Mayor of New York City. Read the following item and tremble at the "vermillion edict."—Who would not be a patriot, when he must swallow, not only every bogus edict of Kansas, but also the prince of scoundrels and rowdies in New York.

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—Intelligence has been received at the office of the District Attorney of the United States for this District, that the official career of that officer will terminate with to-morrow. The reasons assigned are: his opposition to Mayor Wood and to regular Democratic nominations, which the Presidents says must be sustained at all hazards. Special reference is made by the President, to the Speech at the Academy of Music, and the letter to Mr. H. Nicoll. It is also reported that Gen. Cass might have prevented this step, but that he had preferred to decide not to interfere. It is probable that Samuel J. Tilden will be appointed Mr. McKeon's successor, though the compliment of an offer of it will be paid to Judge Parker, who is expected to decline.

☞ Mrs. Cunningham and her two daughters are reported to be in Paris.—Better there than here.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

On Tuesday, Dec. 8, in the Senate, the President's message was received and read.

The President's announcement that an issue of treasury notes is contemplated will be received with satisfaction by those who see in this measure a speedy and certain means of re-establishing domestic exchanges on a sound basis. And it also shows that there is no really valid objection to a sound paper currency, even though there is no specie basis whatever, on which it rests.

It is pitiful to find the President ready to assume a position with regard to Kansas affairs, so unsubstantial and contradictory, as that which he sets forth in this message. He proves by strong argument that the people ought to be allowed a fair vote upon the constitution, and yet justifies the miserable contrivance whereby the Lecompton Convention seeks to make the vote a farce and a deception.

In the Senate, as soon as the message was read, Mr. Douglas took ground squarely in opposition to the views of the President in relation to Kansas.

Mr. Douglas submitted a motion for printing the usual number of copies of the message and documents, and 15,000 copies thereof for the use of the Senate. He remarked that he concurred heartily and cordially in the views of the President, therein expressed, with the exception of that portion relative to Kansas and the Lecompton Convention. At an early day he would express his views, and give the reasons why he believed that the people of Kansas had not been left, as the organic act declared, "perfectly free to form and regulate their institutions in their own way."

Mr. Gwin offered a substitute—"that all this printing be executed by the printer to the Senate at the last session."

Mr. Stuart concured in Mr. Douglas's views respecting the Lecompton movement. At a future day he would speak on the subject, and insist, to the extent of his ability, that the people of Kansas, shall be treated like all others, and have the right to regulate such institutions as they wished to live under.

Mr. Davis concurred in the views of the President on the Kansas question, and would wait the promised remarks of Mr. Douglas before he expressed his own views.

Mr. Bigler gave notice that he should defend the position assumed by the President to the best of his ability; and that he should respond to Mr. Douglas.

Mr. Douglas accepted Mr. Gwin's substitute.

Mr. Hale spoke in opposition to the Constitution formed by the Lecompton Convention, arguing that it would perpetuate slavery in Kansas—no matter whether the people accepted or rejected the slavery clause.

Mr. Seward should be glad to hear the supporters of the President explain his position; for it seemed to him that the message was very lame and impotent in its arguments on Kansas, and that something more would be required to satisfy the public mind than is contained in the document itself. He trusted that the debate upon this point would not be delayed long, for, before we were aware of it, there might be civil war in Kansas. After reviewing other parts of the message, he said he hoped that it would be understood that on Utah affairs Congress was substantially unanimous—that the world might be assured that the government of the United States would not suffer its fame to be tarnished, its power insulted, and the lives of its citizens destroyed, by an enemy, entrenched though it be in the Rocky Mountains, and under the form of the Constitution of the United States.

Mr. Mason was free to declare that all information, for the past six months, relative to Kansas affairs, had come from questionable sources. If he understood the President's position, and he thought he did, it was impregnable.

Mr. Trumbull denied that the Legislature of Kansas had authority to initiate the Convention. It was, according to a speech once delivered in the Senate by Mr. Buchanan himself, an act of usurpation. Congress had repeatedly refused to authorize the people of Kansas to form a State Constitution. Much had been said about popular sovereignty, but this now merely amounts, according to the great expositor of the party, to giving the free white people of Kansas the right to determine the condition of a few negroes; while they are precluded from regulating their own institutions in their own way.

Mr. Brown said there seemed to be great anxiety to enter into discussion, and especially to find fault. They had heard the message imperfectly read by the Clerk, and therefore could not properly understand it. He asked Senators to pause and sleep on the documents, before indulging in a debate which would go forth to the country over the telegraphic wires penetrating even to Kansas, and giving tone to public opinion on the premises, not yet perfectly understood. He asked Senators to reflect before telling their positions and uttering sentiments under the circumstances to which he had referred. On his motion, the Senate then adjourned.

In the House, an animated debate arose upon the subject of the public printer, which was renewed after the reading of the Message.

☞ At the municipal election in Manchester, Tuesday, Alonzo Smith, Republican, was elected Mayor by 61 plurality.—The Board of Aldermen will probably be 5 Republicans to 3 Democrats. The Common Council is strongly Republican.

"HERE AND HEREAFTER."—This is the outer title of a new moral tale of high character, just issued from the press by Crosby, Nichols and Company, of Boston; and for sale by J. H. Foster of this city. The full title is, Here and Hereafter: or the Two Altars. By Anna Athern, author of Step by Step: or Julia Arlington. "Know ye not that to whom ye yield yourselves servants to obey, his servants ye are to whom ye obey."

We have run through the life-like chapters of this book with interest and pleasure, finding very little from which any true man would dissent, and much that every christian moralist would approve.—The work may be read with profit by all ages and all classes.

ATTEMPTED LEG BAIL.—One Charles Vigneron of Cambridge, who was convicted for violating the liquor law, at the late term of the Court of Common Pleas in Lowell, Mass., attempted to forfeit his bail last week, by running away to New York. His bondsmen, however did not fancy the operation, and so pursued him and brought him back and delivered him up for sentence.

☞ Porter's Spirit announces the return of Mr. Richard Ten Brosck to America,—from his racing tour in England—in good spirits, and not only well satisfied with his campaign upon the English Turf, but with a full determination to try his fortune, and the qualities of American racing stock, there, next season.

THE MORMON WAR.—St. Louis, Dec. 8. The Republican received letters this morning from the army to Nov. 3. The Mormons had run off 600 cattle in sight of Col. Alexander's camp, near Ham's Fork, Green river. It was supposed that Col. Johnston had concentrated his forces with Alexander, and that in a fortnight from that time Col. Cooke's command would be with them. They expected to winter at Henry's Fork, Green river.

There was a good deal of suffering from want of provisions and clothing, and the horses were giving out for want of forage.

Gov. Cummings and the other territorial officers were determined to get into Salt Lake City, if possible.

The Mormons were determined on resistance to either the military or civil officers.

A skirmish had taken place between Col. Alexander's troops and the Mormons, and three or four of the latter were captured.

CULPABLE NEGLIGENCE.—We are satisfied that in most cases where coughs end in Consumption, a timely resort to some potent yet simple remedy, like Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, would have saved the life and health of the patient. A.

HARD TIMES.

"Hard Times!" The cry is wafted on each breeze;
Men draw their purse-strings tighter with a groan;
"Hard Times!" The rumor comes across the seas
That Europe echoes Jonathan's sad moan.
"Hard Times!" And housewives quickly take to mending, Making last winter's stock do o'er again;
"Hard Times!" And solid men let up on spending,
Disbursing one cent where they erst gave ten.
I saw a carriage on Thanksgiving day,
Which held four jolly fellows on a bender;
They had a reckless look that seemed to say
"Hard Times" should never force them to surrender;
I thought while looking at their go-cart go off,
Ere the next sun they'd have the "hardest times" we know of.—[Boston Gazette.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

CANKER.

I hereby certify that some three months since my little girl, three years old, was attacked with what appeared to be Mumps, but upon examination was discovered it was Canker in the worst forms; so bad that for two or three days she could scarcely swallow. Having Myers' Extract Rock Rose at hand, we commenced giving it in doses of a teaspoonful every hour. In twenty-four hours there was a decided change for the better, and after administering it (less frequently) for three days, a perfect cure was effected.

I can with confidence recommend it to all similarly affected, and will not be without it in my house. CURTIS B. BLAKESLEE.
Northfield Society, Lichfield, Ct., Dec. 1853.

THERE ARE OCCASIONS

When even the healthiest people need medicine; the changes of diet, of weather, and hundreds of other causes, produce a laxity in the system that needs correcting, or in other words, the liver becomes slightly deranged and needs a stimulator. It all who find themselves in this situation will try Dr Sanford's Invigorator, they may be sure of relief, as we can testify to its efficacy in curing Headache, Indigestion, Sour Stomach, and other ills so common in a family. It acts, as a medicine, easier and better than any dose of pills we ever swallowed, and so mild that the smallest infant can take it.

POLICE COURT.

WEDNESDAY, Dec. 9.

Before Justice Odell.—Henry N. Watson, (otherwise known as Gov. Dorr,) and Daniel T. Adams, were accused of disorderly conduct at the door of the Temple on Tuesday evening,—found guilty, and fined $5 each; costs 2.90.

The same Henry Watson was also accused of breaking window glass and sashes in the Bridewell, on Tuesday night.—Plea not guilty.—Considered guilty, and ordered to give $200 bonds to appear at the S. J. Court on the 4th Tuesday of February next, at Exeter.—For lack of surcties Watson went to jail.

Adams paid his fine.

☞ On Tuesday evening at the Lyceum in the Temple, just as Mr. Crane was giving a musical prelude on the grand piano, there was a noise in the North Entry, which turned out to be made by Governor Dorr alias Henry N. Watson, who insisted on going in without a ticket, but was prevented by Mr. Rugg, door keeper, who, as in duty bound, resisted Watson's entrance. An accomplice, named Adams, helped Watson; but gentlemen from the inside, among whom was Mayor Morrison, aided the doorkeeper to restore order; and Watson went to the lock-up. Here he vented his rage on the windows, which he completely crushed out. But coming into the Police Court on Wednesday morning, both the rioters were fined, and Watson sent to jail.

It is but fair to state, that it is said, probably with truth, that Watson and Adams supposed there was a free meeting at the Temple, when they went there; but were too drunk to have much reason in them—and on their tickets being demanded, insisted on going in free.

THE RECORD.—An Irishman living not far from Hanover street, being "a bit drunk," for three or four days last week, amused himself by breaking glass, &c., in his dwelling—nor ceased his disturbance and demolishing till the police visited him.

Two or three "more of the same sort," living on Hanover street, were taken off by the police—but this is too common, from that locality, to excite much notice.

A short chap was seen leading home a taller one, at dusk, Monday evening, in the same street,—the lengthy one being decidedly disposed to "measure his length" on the sidewalk.

One evening last week, a young married man who originally had some "brains," but from whom the "enemy put into his mouth" seems to have "stolen away" everything of that sort—disturbed a whole neighborhood, by threatening those whom he had sworn to love and protect. The police were called to take care of him—and grim death himself will do that for him soon, if he don't reform,—at least this is to be hoped.

The distinguished, not to say notorious, individual whose name figures conspicuously in our Police Court report to-day—with companions "equally respectable" with himself, (including the great assaulting champion of the law breaking liquor-dealers,)—kicked up considerable of a muss in Manent & Hardy's Oyster Saloon, on Congress street, Monday night. Windows were broken, white heads rather ought to have been, and other outrages committed; but no complaint has been made, except this before the high court of public opinion. The chief actor in this scene is a contemptible nuisance, besides being a great scoundrel—and occupies his time in swindling timid or unsuspecting shop-keepers, and insulting women. He and all "equally respectable" fellows, ought to be sent to the House of Correction as vagrants.

☞ The lecture before the Mercantile Lyceum, on Tuesday evening, was by Arthur Gilman, Esq., of Boston. Subject, Yankee Wit, with numerous illustrations, drawn from the lecturer's exhaustless fund of anecdote. The lecture was pleasantly conceived, well delivered and pleasantly received. The analysis and classification were at once just and humorous; and the whole entertainment was a good antidote to the blues.

☞ It will be observed that we have adopted a new plan in the "make-up" of our paper, this morning—putting a column of reading-matter last on the fourth page. Our plan which we adopted years ago, of putting reading-matter on all four pages, we notice has been followed by many other papers; as has also that of having a special "local" column, and placing it first on the fourth page. We distribute our reading columns around thus for the benefit of advertisers—to whom "dead pages" of advertisements exclusively are not beneficial.

☞ Dr. Preston advertises a new and large assortment of rich soaps, perfumery, and other fancy goods. He always keeps an excellent stock of such articles, and offers them now at greatly reduced prices.—Give him a call: everybody knows that he has one of the handsomest and neatest stores in the city, and his new and beautiful goods are worth examination, at any rate.

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY, solicitor of Patents,

(Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837.)

No. 76 State st, opp. Kilby st, Boston,

AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britian, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Research made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions,—and legal or other advice rendered on all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remmitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove this beyond a doubt. Orders left at THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that his fees are as reasonable as any other, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate.—The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

Testimonials.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

ELIJAH BURRITT,
Late Commissione of Patents."

From the present Commissioner.

AUGUST 17, 1855.—"During the time I have held the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the office, as a Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse.

Commissioner of Patents.

DOVER, N. H., Feb 2, 1857.

Prof. O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents:—While a few days we have received so many orders and calls for Prof. O. J. Wood's Hair Restorative, that today we sent a messenger to send to Boston for a quantity, (the 6 dozen you forwarded all being sold,) while we might order a quantity from you. Every bottle we have sold seems to have produced three or four new orders, and the reputation and patronage it receives from the most substantial and worthy citizens of our vicinity, fully convinces us that it is A MOST VALUABLE PREPARATION.

Send us as soon as may be one gross of 31 size; and one dozen of $3 size; yours very resp'ly.

JOHN L. DANIEL & Co.

Hickory Grove, St. Charles Co., Mo., 1856.

PROF. O. J. WOOD—Dear Sir: Some time last summer we were induced to use some of your Hair Restorative, and its effects were so wonderful, we feel it our duty to you and the afflicted, to report it.

Our little son's head for some time had been perfectly covered with sores, and some called it scald head. The hair almost entirely came off in consequence, when a friend, seeing his sufferings, advised us to use your Restorative, we did so with little hope of success, but, to our surprise, and that of all our friends, a very few applications removed the disease entirely, and a new and luxuriant crop of hair soon started out, and we can now say that our boy has as healthy a scalp, and as luxuriant a crop of hair as any other child. We can therefore, and do hereby, recommend your Restorative, as a perfect remedy for all diseases of the scalp and hair. We are, yours respectfully,

Prof. O. J. Wood—Dear Sir: I have used two bottles of Professor Wood's Hair Restorative, and can truly say it is the greatest discovery of the age for restoring and changing the Hair. Before using it I was a man of seventy, My hair has now attained its original color. You can recommend it to the world without the least fear, as my case was one of the worst kind.

Yours Respectfully.

LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed to superintend their drawings and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as well protected as if they were present. The Manager would respectfully call attention to the fact that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, and the lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are authorized by the Legislature of that State. A lottery will be drawn every month throughout the year, all orders received being filled in the drawing next to take place after the same comes to hand. According to the scheme one ticket in every ten must draw a prize. Tickets are $5 each, or four quarters, $22.50. No tickets sent unless the money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of your numbers on a ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers to mystify the buyer. Prizes vary from $40 to $50,000; every prize being drawn, and result of drawing forwarded to all purchasers.

☞ A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount that each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers:—New Orleans Delta, Mobile Register, Charleston Standard, Nashville Gazette, Atlanta Intelligencer, and New York Weekly Day Book. Write your address plainly, and direct to A. SWAN & Co., Augusta, Georgia

LOTTERIES.

The well-known Maryland Consolidated Lotteries, of which R. M. Cornelius and Wm. Rogers, are chartered by the state of Maryland, and a commissioner elected by the people, who is sworn to superintend and certify that everything connected with them is done in a strictly honorable manner, and that the interests of parties who reside at a distance are as well protected as if they themselves were present at the drawing. Another fact which the managers call attention to, is, that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Maryland, as lotteries are legalized by special law in that state. A lottery is drawn every day of the month. If no particular class is named, orders are filled in the first drawing to take place after the communication comes to hand. The prices of tickets vary from $1 to $20. No tickets are, however, sent unless the money for the same is received with the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers, which has so mystified the community for the past. Prizes vary in amount from $40 to $60,000. Every prize being drawn, and result of drawing, or other information, forwarded to all purchasers.

Magee's Patent Ventilating Stove.

FOR WARMING AND VENTILATING
PARLORS, OFFICES, HALLS, STORES, SCHOOL HOUSES, &c.

WHICH for economy, purity of air, and ease of management, has no equal. It can be regulated so as to give

Any amount of Heat required,

and unlike all other Anthracite Coal Burners, ventilates the apartments quite as thoroughly, as a wood fire or Franklin, producing a current of Air, at once moist, pure and agreeable, and as none of the gases which come in contact with the fire pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache, so much complained of by those using Stoves and Furnaces, is entirely obviated. The fire may be continued from one to four days without replenishing.

These Stoves are beautiful in design, and finished in the most perfect manner. They are equally appropriate, and have given universal satisfaction to all who have adopted them,

For Offices and Stores as well as the Parlor.

The Inventor challenges the world to produce an article by which so much Pure Warm Air can be generated, from so small a quantity of fuel, requiring but about 15 pounds of Anthracite Coal, to warm an ordinary sized parlor for 24 hours, without replenishing, and then leaving fire enough to rekindle without the use of charcoal. The coal is all used, and no clinkers made, consequently, sifting coal is dispensed with.—When this Stove is properly managed,

THE FIRE MAY BE CONTINUED THROUGH THE ENTIRE SEASON,

without once going out. Added to all these qualifications, the purchaser may reasonably expect to save from 30 to 50 per cent. in fuel expense.

☞ The able independent editor of the Newburyport Herald is Temperance candidate for Mayor—and if elected will be a terror to all evil-doers. In his paper of Tuesday he says:

Owing to our position in the coming municipal election, nothing will appear in the Herald this week upon that subject. We publish a paper for the benefit of the public, and not for private and personal objects, and this being the only paper in town, we are unwilling to take advantage of our position. All we seek is a fair field and fair play. The question submitted to the people is a very simple one—"Are you in favor of the present unrestricted and licentious sale of spirituous liquors, or for restricting that sale to proper uses and persons, regulated by laws of the Commonwealth." The verdict will be returned next Monday week. If the people wish the matter to be as it is, they will say so, and no more; and to that decision all must submit, or resort to individual and futile action in another direction.

But because we are so situated, we do not mean to be untrue to those who have put us in the nomination. We shall carry this case directly to the people by word of mouth, and in meetings publicly called, in different wards of the city, we shall consider this question; and if any opposing candidate wishes to take affirmative thereof, we should be happy to meet him, upon the legality, morality and expediency of the traffic as it is now permitted.

☞ Mayor Wood, of New York, the great defeated, considers that in himself the great National democracy was tumbled down in the dirt, by a fire in the rear.—At a large meeting of the mourners in Tammany Hall, at the witching hour of midnight, Mayor Wood took the floor:—

"His speech throughout breathed nothing but vengeance against the traitors.—The result of the election was not with him a matter of personal regret—not at all—but in his person as the candidate of the great democratic candidate—that party which elected James Buchanan—that party which carried the State three weeks ago upon a contest between municipal rights and black Republican usurpation—in his person, as the candidate of such a party, at such a crisis, the democracy of the city, State and nation had been basely betrayed and stabbed by its professed friends. Such traitors deserve no mercy, no quarter.—The committee owed it to their own dignity, to the interests of the democratic party in this city and everywhere, to mete out full and signal punishment to such traitors. The laws of war should be applied. In war a deserter is brought to a drum-head court martial, and shot down. The men who failed to support the regular democratic ticket were deserters, and deserved the same fate."

"Ann Arbor," cried the conductor, looking in at the door of a car on the Erie Railroad. Mrs. Partington looked around, and seeing nobody move, she resumed her knitting. "Ann Arbor," said another voice, at the door of the rear end of the car. Well, I declare," said the old lady, "I hope he will find her. Can you tell me, sir," said she, reaching over the back of the seat and speaking to a gentleman with a plush cap on and a ticket sticking in the front of it, "who Miss Ann Arber is?" "Nein forstan," replied he. "Well," she continued, "I didn't mean nothing harmonious, and it wouldn't have cost you anything to have given a civil answer."—The man looked persistently out of the window, and the cars moved on, Mrs. Partington consoling herself with the reflection that Ann Arbor must be in the other car.—Boston Gazette.

"OLD VIRGINNY."—Fight.—A furious fight took place, yesterday, on High street, between ex-Mayor H. Stoker and J. G. Hodsden, furniture dealer. Very heavy blows were passed by each combatant, and the blood flowed profusely.

So says the Argus of this morning. We have only to add that whatever may have induced this little game of fisticuffiana, has been explained away and amicable relations restored. Of course, Richard is himself again.—Portsmouth (Va.) Trans.

INCENDIARY.—A domestic employed in the family of Dr. Akinson in Strong street, Newburyport, made four attempts on Tuesday to fire the barn on his premises. Her actions excited suspicions, and being watched she was caught in the act on the fourth attempt. The fire was extinguished without any material damage. She was arrested and committed for trial.—She was intoxicated at the time.—Herald.

The Chinese mix arsenic and various other drugs with their smoking tobacco, so much to the disgust of the mosquitos that they all leave a room where medicated tobacco is smoked.

It is the opinion of the doctor that the lawyer gets his living by plunder, whilst the lawyer thinks that the doctor obtains his by pillage.

☞ John C. Fremont was made Knight of the new Order of Sons of Malta, in Boston, last week.

When was Noah's wife's cradle like a county in New Hampshire? When it was Rocking Ham."

"Died by visitation of God." What a verdict for a sensible body of men to bring in! As if God, after setting the "harp of a thousand strings" in tune, snapped the wires at one fell swoop.

A LARGE STORY SPOILED.—The Albany Journal has the following refference to a matter that has elicited some comment in this vicinity. The sum named by the Journal is, doubtless correct, but we have heard rather a different version of the other parts of the story. The transaction which has given rise to so much scandal, was honorable in the highest degree to both parties. The story increased from $700 in Milk street to $10,000 when it reached State street, and when it reached Albany was $85,000! The Albany Argus, in repeating the story, insinuates that the $10,000 was paid by corporations to secure Mr. Banks' services in procuring legislation favorable to their interests. The Albany Journal thus disposes of the story:

"The facts of the case are: Mr. Banks, a few years ago, built an addition to his house at Waltham, and to meet the carpenter's bills, obtained discount at a bank on his note for $700, endorsed by Mr. Lawrence, who was his personal friend, though a political opponent. When the note matured, it was duly paid, and Mr. Lawrence made a memorandum of the fact in his books. Coming across this memorandum, the other day, the Democratic quid nunc thought they had made a discovery of Congressional corruption, and thereupon raised a hue and cry which led to their own discomfiture and ridicule, inasmuch as it turned out to be the simple business transaction stated — having no more connection with Congressional legislation than the man in the moon.

This $700, the Argus, with its usual genius for exaggeration, expands to $85,000! Falstaff's "eleven men in buckram grown out of two" were not a more absurd production of "sack" and falsehood, than the whole story as published in the Atlas and Argus."

NO SCARCITY OF SPECIE.—Specie is now so plentiful in general circulation, that brokers have no purchasers, as was before the case upon a general suspension of the banks. One keeper of a restorator in this city states that he has deposited in the bank $25 per day in silver for several weeks past.—Boston Traveller.

This proves too or three things, viz:

1. Small bills do not drive away nor destroy the specie.

2. The suspension of the Banks does not destroy confidence in their soundness.

3. The restorator man thinks a bank-promise safer or more convenient for him, than the silver in his till.

THE TRIAL OF TUCKERMAN.—The New Haven Palladium says it is well that Tuckerman is to be tried in Connecticut, and not in New York, otherwise he would unquestionably be found "morally insane," and cleared.

☞ The Florida war still forms a very serious item of national expense; 2000 men are about to take the field for a winter campaign, in order to hunt, says a writer, Billy Bowlegs, three papooses and a squaw.

☞ Prentice says that the fault with the female Yankee teachers who go westward, is, that instead of teaching other people's children, they scon get to teaching their own.

☞ Information is received of the confiscation, by the Austrian government, of all the property of Louis Kossuth within its reach.

☞ The Governor of Louisiana has appointed Dec. 16 for Thanksgiving, in accordance, as is alleged, with the general desire of the people of the State.

☞ Michael Cancemi, who murdered policeman Eugene Anderson in New York, has been sentenced to be hung on the 15th of January

HIS BOOTS.—A whale of the humpback species, drove asore at Nahant a few days since, and upon being cut open, a pair of boots marked "J." in a good state of preservation, were found in his entrails. It is supposed that the boots as they were marked "J." belonged to Jonah, and were left behind by accident when he made his exit from the fish.—Charlestown Adv.

A landlord recently called out to a temperance man—"why, you are looking yellow with your abstinence." "Yes," said the man, putting his hand into his pocket, and pulling out some eagles, "and my pocket is looking yellow too."

On a pretty girl saying to Leigh Hunt, "I am very sad, you see," he replied—"Oh, no, you belong to the Jewish sect, you are very fair, I see."

He who laughs at the frailties of others, thereby exposes his own.

Coggswell's Medical Salt,
A PERFECT SUBSTITUTE
FOR THE
LANCET, LEECHES AND BLISTERS.
INSTEAD of being a panacea for all maladies, it has control over but ONE MALADY—has but ONE AIM—accomplishes but ONE THING, to wit: SUBDUES INFLAMMATORY DISEASE—whatever be its form or locality—whether in the head, throat, chest, abdomen, extremities or skin. Every form of inflammation (but no other disease) is subdued, by it as easily as fire is extinguished by water. Is it asked, how it does this?—simply by restoring the lost balance between the fluids and solids. Such is its potency, that like vaccine matter, it requires merely what adheres to the point of a pin dipped into a solution of it, to affect the entire system.

Pressed Boat, Ship, Brad & Countersunk
Railroad Spikes
ARE well known in the United States, and are conspicuous for their regularity and finish, their unvarying uniformity of size, and for the excellent quality of iron from which they are made, to which may be attributed their superior strength. They are everywhere considered far superior to hand made spike of common English iron, and inferior to nothing of the kind yet introduced to the public.

Morning Chronicle.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 11, 1857.

☞ The Boston Pilot estimates the number of naturalized voters and Roman Catholic voters in Massachusetts, at about 29,000: and supposing that all these in 1856, voted for Mr. Beach as Governor, the Pilot concludes that only about 11,000 native protestant voters cast the democratic ticket.—That paper therefore complains that in the distribution of 1161 federal offices in the state of Massachusetts, only six or eight appointments fell to the foreign born voters, and only four or five to the native catholics. The Pilot says:

Since the issue of the Pilot of the 5th inst., we have been repeatedly asked, if we make the fact of being a Catholic or a naturalized citizen, a qualification for office? We answer, No. All we ask is that it shall not be made a ground for exclusion from office. We say in the first place, that the offices should be given to those who need them and can fill them acceptably, and that all other claims being equal, Catholics and non-Catholics, native born and naturalized citizens, should stand equal before the representative of the administration.

Now, as the Pilot puts this to the democratic party and the present federal administration, it cannot easily be set aside. But as put before the country and common sense, it can be answered conclusively,—that new foreign immigrants, as a class, do not and cannot understand our complicated systems of government,—and therefore ought never to have been allowed to vote, without a long residence,—and except those who were in the country at the revolution, they should never have been put into office at all. They should have, (to borrow the thought of one of the best immigrants we ever had,) protection of person, property, and business,—and their sons, born and trained here, should vote and hold office.

☞ The Christian Era, a Baptist paper published in Boston, states that the Tremont Temple Church have not yet accepted Mr. Kalloch's resignation, and will not at present. The Era regrets Mr. K's conclusion; but says "there is a lack of cordiality somewhere; and implies want of confidence, which a man of brother K's spirit cannot brook."

The Boston Journal, in noticing the resignation, says: "The spacious audience room of the Temple is filled every Sabbath with an audience of from 2,500 to 3,000, which is largely composed of young men and young women who come to the city from the country."

The Era adds:—

"Hundreds of these were former attendants upon Theodore Parker's service; hundreds more of them were without a sanctuary, until under brother Kalloch's preaching they have been brought to the Temple. We confess that we feel concerned for this vast multitude, who are to be left as sheep without a shepherd."

If those hundreds who came from Mr. Parker's audience should go back, they might bear less of some doctrines, but they would see before them a pastor on whose moral walk no breath of suspicion has left a cloud. And somebody else, quite as pure as Mr. Kalloch, if not quite so eloquent or plausible, may preach in the Temple. The most spotless ministers were but earthen vessels in Paul's estimation; and Mr. Kalloch seems not to be an exception to the rule. Let nobody persecute Mr. K.—but he does wisely to resign.—The ministry can do without him.

JUVENILE MURDER IN ST. LOUIS.—In St. Louis, last week, a lad aged ten years, named John Conrad Heidenreich, was murdered by a lad of about the same age, named Theodore Danjars.

The two quarreled about a basket of chips, when Danjars, being the strongest, threw Heidenreich down, planted a knee firmly upon his throat, and holding him helpless, choked him and pummelled him in the face for several minutes. During this time older persons were standing in the vicinity, and a young man only on the opposite side of the street, watching the sport! At length the mother of the dying child heard of his situation, and ran to his assistance. With her own hands she pulled the still revengeful victor from his victim. She then took up and bore to her room the corpse of her murdered boy.—The little fellow was black in the face, and life had hopelessly fled. A neighboring barber applied leeches, and a physician was summoned, in vain.

☞ George Smith alias Henry M'Laughlin, John Lavery alias George Sullivan, and Charles Williams, all old offenders, have been arrested in Boston, for store-breaking.

SENATOR DOUGLAS.

On Wednesday, Dec. 9, in the Senate, Mr. Douglas said that yesterday he was under the impression that the President had approved the action of the Lecompton Convention; and while under that impression he felt it his duty to state that, while he concurred in the general views of the message, yet so far as it did approve or endorse the action of that Convention, he entirely dissented from it, and he would avail himself of an early opportunity to give his reasons for such dissent. Upon more careful and critical examination of the message he was rejoiced to find that the President had not entirely approved the action of that Convention.

He was also rejoiced to find that the President had not recommended that Congress should pass laws receiving Kansas into the Union as a State, under the Constitution framed at Lecompton. True, the tone of the message indicates the willingness of the President to sign any bill that Congress might pass for receiving Kansas as a State under that Constitution; but it was a very significant fact that the President had refrained from any endorsement of the Constitution, and any recommendation as to the course which Congress should pursue in regard to the admission of Kansas. Indeed, the President had expressed deep mortification and disappointment that the whole Constitution had not been submitted to the people of Kansas for their acceptance or rejection.

He proceeded to show that Congress could not properly receive Kansas into the Union under the Lecompton Constitution. Not only the slavery question, but all others must be submitted to the people of Kansas, as they are guaranteed to establish all their domestic institutions for themselves. On this principle the whole Constitution must be submitted, to ascertain whether it meets with their approbation.

Mr. Douglas contended that the people of Kansas ought to have an opportunity to vote against the Constitution, if they choose to do so. He compared the proposed mode of voting on the Lecompton Constitution to the freedom of election in Paris, when Louis Napoleon was chosen. The reason assigned why the people should not be allowed to vote on its acceptance was, that if they had a chance they would vote it down by an overwhelming majority. He believed that it was a clear violation of the organic act, to force an obnoxious Constitution upon them.

When Mr. Douglas concluded, there was applause from the galleries.

A warm and somewhat personal debate ensued, chiefly between Senators Douglas and Bigler.

Mr. Bigler of Pennsylvania replied to Mr. Douglas, saying that the Convention was called according to law and had been recognized by the President and Governor of the Territory. It was their right to submit the Constitution to the people or send it to Congress without such submission. He would have preferred that the whole Constitution had been submitted to the people, but persons outside of the Territory have no right to interfere with the slavery question there. He believed that the people of Kansas now have an opportunity to decide whether to have a free or slave State. He could not, however, determine his entire course until they shall make such decision.

Mr. Douglas—The simple question is, that they only allow the people to vote on slavery—nothing else. The Senator from Pennsylvania assumed an air which I thought unnecessary, and rather intimated to me that he spoke by authority.

Mr. Bigler—I expressed my own views, deliberately formed, and they are in concurrence with those of the President.

Mr. Douglas—I may have misunderstood him. I am certain he did not speak for the President. I know that, for the President has just spoken for himself, in his Message, in which he condemns the Convention for not submitting the Constitution to the people, and refuses to recommend me to receive it. The President is a bold, frank man, and if he intended to give us an administration measure he would say so. It is not respectful to assume that we will do what he will not recommend us to do. Of course I know the Senator from Pennsylvania did not speak by authority.

Mr. Bigler—I think this deducible from the Message, that the President does not hold that, because the entire Constitution was not submitted to the people, Kansas should be kept out of the Union.

Mr. Douglas—A gentleman (meaning Mr. Trumbull,) yesterday read from a speech by Mr. Buchanan twenty years ago, to show that the Leglislature had no right to create a Convention to supersede the Territorial government, and to attempt it would be gross usurpation. The Democratic party has has held that doctrine ever since, and asserted it years ago by endorsing his (Douglas') report from the Committee on Territories. Three hundred thousand copies were circulated as a party document, and he himself paid for an hundred thousand of them. [Laughter.]

Here is a singular controversy.—The president's message, in one place, contradicts almost in direct terms what it asserts in another. Mr. Bigler assumes that the president favors the admission of Kansas under the bogus constitution, which the people have never voted on, and cannot vote on, by the bogus laws there existing. He does so favor it in one paragraph.

And Douglas assumes that the president condemns the convention, and talks in favor of referring all to the people. So he does, in a half column or so. He is not noncommittal: he commits himself to both sides of the question.

☞ The Washington dispatches of the 9th are important. In the close of Douglas's speech he is reported to have said with great energy, that if the administration and the Democratic party persisted in the course they were now pursuing upon the Kansas question, he should be compelled by every consideration of faith, honor and consistency, to separate himself from them.

The administration, having been informed by telegraph that acting Gov. Stanton had called a special meeting of the Territorial Legislature of Kansas, the President on Wednesday forthwith removed him, and nominated to the Senate as his successor Gen. Denver, now Commissioner of Indian Affairs, who left Washington for the West last week. There was no definite action by the Senate on Gen. Denver's nomination.

Doubts are expressed as to whether Gov. Walker's name will be sent to the Senate for confirmation.

Mr. Clifford's name was sent into the Senate for confirmation to fill the vacancy on the Supreme Bench.

The treasury department has suspended payment; requisitions to the amount of nearly half a million dollars are held in the department.

Dispatches received by the government state that the British steamer Alectra had captured a slaver with six hundred captives, two hundred of whom were drowned.

☞ The rush for appointments is again renewed. The President adheres, as a general rule, to the policy of retaining office-holders until the expiration of their commissions, though intending to make some marked exceptions. President Pierce filled nearly all important consulates during the last year of the term—a fact which is quite embarrassing now, in view of the policy adopted. There are but ten valuable appointments of that grade open. For these and others there are nearly 700 applicants.

ALLEGED EXTENSIVE EMBEZZLEMENT FROM A CONNECTICUT BANK.—A short time ago, Mr. Samuel F. Jones, Cashier of the Colchester Bank, Connecticut, resigned his situation and removed to New York. A couple of weeks after his departure a deficiency of over $75,000 was discovered in the funds of the bank. An investigation showed clearly that the ex-cashier's accounts were, at least, most unsatisfactory. The officers of the bank were convinced of the dishonesty of Mr. Jones, and charged him with the default. He was arrested and carried to the Metropolitan Hotel, where he was requested to wait until the proper extradition papers were procured. In the meantime, Jones very naturally stepped quietly off, and has not since been heard of.

The dentist who filled the tooth of Time doesn't advertise. He is an old fogy.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

CANKER.

I hereby certify that some three months since my little girl, three years old, was attacked with what appeared to be Mumps, but upon examination was discovered it was Canker in the worst forms; so bad that for two or three days she could scarcely swallow. Having Myers' Extract Rock Rose at hand, we commenced giving it in doses of a teaspoonful every hour. In twenty-four hours there was a decided change for the better, and after administering it (less frequently) for three days, a perfect cure was effected.

I can with confidence recommend it to all similarly affected, and will not be without it in my house.

THERE ARE OCCASIONS

When even the healthiest people need medicine; the changes of diet, of weather, and hundreds of other causes, produce a laxity in the system that needs correcting, or in other words, the liver becomes slightly deranged and needs a stimulator. If all who find themselves in this situation will try Dr Sanford's Invigorator, they may be sure of relief, as we can testify to its efficacy in curing Headache, Indigestion, Sour Stomach, and other ills so common in a family. It acts, as a medicine, easier and better than any dose of pills we ever swallowed, and so mild that the smallest infant can take it.

OUR SENTIMENTS.—We can adopt the following paragraph from the Gloucester Telegraph, without the change of a word—merely promising that we intend in the future to invariably adhere to a rule which we have generally followed in the past—to take no notice of personal articles directed against us, or of any others not couched in the most gentlemanly terms. F.

"Having continued to the present time, we propose to live a little longer, with the assistance of our friends and the permission of our enemies. About the latter we are not especially particular; they have not assisted us remarkably in the past, and probably will not promote our advantage greatly in the future. We are quite as independent of them, as they can possibly be of us."

☞ We are pleased to acknowledge a goodly accession of new Weekly subscribers—also the receipt of back dues from many old ones. Send along your names and money—we have room for more of both yet. Only $1 a year in advance, and the paper thrown in till Jan. 1.

☞ It will be seen by his advertisement, that Mr. Thomas Neil has been appointed Agent for the great "Continental Insurance Company," of New York,—having a capital of more than half a million dollars.—This is one of the soundest and most reliable companies in the country—as the list of officers is a sufficient guaranty.

☞ Mr. Dessauer, French Optician, well known to many of our citizens, has concluded to remain at the City Hotel till Saturday afternoon. He advertises Spectacles at half-price or loss.

☞ A Lecture on the Laws of Health as affected by Religious Excitements, will be delivered in Hanover street Chapel, on Saturday evening, Dec. 12th, commencing at 7 o'clock. The public are invited.

☞ On Sunday, Nov. 1, Mr. Ebridge Gerry Jefferson, a great nephew of the author of the declaration of independence, was solemly set apart to the gospel ministry of Sharon Baptist church, near Scottsville, in Albemarle county, Va.

☞ When a disputant acknowledges the arguments of his opponent to be "unanswerable," it is generally considered about the same as "giving up, beat," we believe.

BOILER EXPLOSION.—Wednesday morning a steam boiler, carrying an engine of six horse power, in the foundry of F. H. Myrick, in Lowell, exploded, tearing the building into fragments, and scattering them in all directions. Mr. George Trotter, the engineer, who was in the engine room at the time, was taken from the ruins a corpse. His body was terribly battered. At the time of the explosion there were eight or ten men in the building, most of whom escaped uninjured. The names of the wounded are John Ward, was badly injured, and it is feared that he may not recover. Albert Nichols received a bad gash on the nose and another on his cheek. Hiram P. Drake received a bad wound on the right side of his head, and Henry Jefts was wounded. These are the only ones who were injured in the establishment.

One piece of the boiler was thrown against and broke in the gable end of a house just in rear of the shop; another piece about three feet wide and five feet long was carried over the houses and landed on the edge of the sidewalk on Middlesex street; another piece came over at the same spot and fell upon and broke the back of a horse belonging to C. C. Hall; and other pieces lay scattering in the street.

The cause of the explosion is to be investigated by a Coroner's jury, summoned by Coroner Jewett. Blame attaches to the engineer who was killed, and great carelessness is attributted to him. The loss to Mr. Myrick is said to be very large. The engineer was an Irishman, 45 years old and leave a family.

TAMMANY HALL IN A BLAZE.—The Democratic General Committee of New York city met on Tuesday evening at Tammany Hall, and rescinded the order by which Messrs. Sickels and Gunther were expelled. A serious fight occurred in the bar-room of the hall during the evening, between Dead Rabbits and similar "metropolitan" animals, in which a man was shot, but not dangerously injured.

☞ On Wednesday, in the House of Representatives, at Washington, Mr. Steadman was chosen printer; and the members drew their seats by lot.

Punch advises married men, if they wish to prevent their hair from coming out, to be careful and not let their wives catch them kissing the servant girl.

THE GREAT BEAUTIFIER

So long unsuccessfully sought,
FOUND AT LAST.

FOR IT RESTORES PERMANENTLY GRAY HAIR to its original color; covers luxuriantly the bald head; removes all dandruff, itching, and all scrofula, scald head and all eruptions; makes the hair soft, healthy, and glossy, and will preserve it to any imaginable age; removes, by magic, all blotches, &c., from the face, and cures all neuralgia and nervous headache. See circular and the following.

DOVER, N. H., Feb 2, 1857.

Prof. O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: Within a few days we have received so many orders and calls for Prof. O. J. Wood's Hair Restorative, that today we were compelled to send to Boston for a quantity, (the 6 dozen you forwarded all being sold,) while we might order a quantity from you every bottle we have sold seems to have produced three or four new customers, and the approbation and patronage it receives from the most substantial and worthy citizens of our vicinity, fully convinces us that it is A MOST VALUABLE PREPARATION.

Send us as soon as may be one gross of $1 size; and one dozen of $2 size; yours very rapidly.

DANIEL LATHROP & CO.

Hickory Grove, St. Charles Co., Mo., 1856.

PROF. O. J. WOOD—Dear Sir: Some time last summer we were induced to use some of your Hair Restorative, and its effects were so wonderful, we feel it our duty to you and the afflicted, to report it.

Our little son's head for some time had been perfectly covered with sores, and some called it scald head. The hair almost entirely came off in consequence, when a friend, seeing his sufferings, advised us to use your Restorative, we did so with little hope of success, but, to our surprise, and that of all our friends, a very few applications removed the disease entirely, and a new and luxuriant crop of hair soon started out, and we can now say that our boy has as healthy a scalp, and as luxuriant a crop of hair as any other child. We can therefore, and do hereby recommend your Restorative, as a perfect remedy for all diseases of the scalp and hair. We are, yours respectfully,

GEORGE W. HUGHES, ELIZABETH HUGHES, SARAH A. HUGHES.

GARDINER, Me., June 22, 1855.

Prof. O. J. Wood—Dear Sir: I have used two bottles of your Wood's Hair Restorative, and can truly say it is the greatest discovery of the age for restoring and changing the Hair. Before using it I was a man of seventy. My hair has now attained its original color. You can recommend it to the world without the least fear, as my case was one of the worst kind.

Yours Respectfully,

O. J. WOOD & CO., 312 Broadway, N. Y., (in great N. Y. Wire Railing Establishment) and 114 Market street, St. Louis, Mo.

LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed to superintend their drawings and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as well protected as if they were present. The Manager would respectfully call attention to the fact that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, and the lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are authorized by the Legislature of that State. A lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year, all orders received being filled in the drawing next to take place after the same comes to hand. According to the scheme one ticket in every ten must draw a prize. Prices vary from $40 to $51, quarters, $2.50. No tickets sent unless the money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers to mystify the buyer. Prizes vary from $40 to $50,000; every prize being drawn, and result of drawing forwarded to all purchasers.
☞ A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount that each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers:—New Orleans Delta, Mobile Register, Charleston Standard, Nashville Gazette, Atlanta Intelligencer, and New York Weekly Day Book. Write your address plainly, and direct to S. SWAN & Co., Augusta, Georgia

LOTTERIES.

The well-known Maryland Consolidated Lotteries, of which R. FARNS and R. W. Jones are managers, are chartered by the state of Maryland, and a commissioner elected by the people, who is sworn to superintend and certify that everything connected with them is done in a strictly honorable manner, and that the interests of parties who reside at a distance are as well protected as if they themselves were present at the drawing. Another fact which the managers call attention to, is, that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Maryland, as lotteries are legalized by special law in that state. A lottery is drawn every day of the month. If no particular class is named, orders are filled in the first drawing to take place after the communication comes to hand. The prices of tickets vary from $1 to $20. No tickets are, however, sent unless the money for the same is received with the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers, which has mystified the community for years past. Prizes vary in amount from $40 to $60,000. Every prize being drawn, and result of drawing, or other information, forwarded to all purchasers.
A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount that each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers: New Orleans Delta, Savannah News, New York Herald, and New York Atlas. Write your address plainly, and direct to

Magee's Patent Ventilating Stove.

FOR WARMING AND VENTILATING
PARLORS, OFFICES, HALLS, STORES,
SCHOOL HOUSES, &c.
WHICH for economy, purity of air, and ease of management, has no equal. It can be regulated so as to give
Any amount of Heat required,
and unlike all other Anthracite Coal Burners, ventilates the apartments quite as thoroughly, as a wood fire or Franklin, producing a current of Air, at once moist, pure and agreeable, and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache, so much complained of by those using Stoves and Furnaces, is entirely obviated. The fire may be continued from one to four days without replenishing.
These Stoves are beautiful in design, and finished in the most perfect manner. They are equally appropriate, and have given universal satisfaction to all who have adopted them,
For Offices and Stores as well as the Parlor.
The Inventor challenges the world to produce an article by which so much Pure Warm Air can be generated, from so small an amount of fuel, requiring but about 15 pounds of Anthracite Coal, to warm an ordinary sized parlor for 24 hours, without replenishing, and then leaving fire enough to relight without the use of charcoal. The coal is all used, and no clinkers made, consequently, sifting coal is dispensed with.—When this Stove is properly managed,
THE FIRE MAY BE CONVERTED THROUGH THE ENTIRE SEASON,
without once going out. Added to all these qualifications, the purchaser may reasonably expect to save from 30 to 50 per cent, in fuel expense.

Re-establishment of the old Plan of management.

The accommodations and conveniences of the House are unsurpassed, and the recent improvements and alterations, for the comfort of guests, leave nothing to be desired.

A PROCLAMATION
TO THE LADIES.
WHEREAS, it appears that the days of right, honor, and integrity are fast fading away, and WHEREAS, the unscrupulous and ignorant are daily taking advantage of the prudent and learned. BE IT KNOWN THEREFORE, to all, whether MAIDS, WIVES, or WIDOWS, that DR. CHEESEMAN'S FEMALE PILLS are a CERTAIN remedy in case of the troubles incident to female disorganization; they ALONE correcting all painful menstruation, assuaging palpitations of the heart, disturbed sleep, pain in the side, and causing health and happiness to whole sex; more especially to the MARRIED PORTION, as they are certain to bring on the monthly period to a regularity.—AND WHEREAS, these PILLS are purely vegetable and entirely free from mineral's, therefore perfectly harmless in their operations and wholly unlike other medicines thrust upon the public, purporting to effect the objects already detailed. THEREFORE, BE IT KNOWN, that NOTHING but the said PILLS of DR. CHEESEMAN will accomplish the desired object, when DISAPPOINTMENT has been experienced under the regime of OTHER PILLS; and the Ladies will cease this Proclamation to spread abroad the fame of them, to their own benefit—always promising that said Proclamation in one case must be considered NULL and VOID; that is to say the PILLS MUST NOT be taken when any female is in an INTERESTING SITUATION, otherwise a MISCARRIAGE will be the inevitable result.
Explicit directions, to be carefully read, accompany each box. Price $1. Sent by mail on enclosing $1 to DR. CORNELIUS L. CHEESEMAN, Box No. 4,531, Post Office, New York City. Sold by Druggists in every town in the United States.

THAT DEALER IN DRAMS.—His grandfather I knew—he drank to excess. His father I knew—he had a standing in a church; but he drank, and while a member of the church was frequently so intoxicated that he could not walk; he would not reform, and the church rejected him.

The son is a rumseller. Two of his brothers might have been alive now, had it not been for the free use of liquor. He sold to both of them, and helped them down to the tipler's grave. He spread misery and ruin around him, making husbands, fathers and sons, demons in human shape, if infuriated drunkards may be said to be in human shape.

But what was the effect upon himself? He lives, and those who see him can see what it has been. He that digs a pit for others, is likely to fall into it himself. Indeed Heaven has decreed that he shall. He is poor; the traffic has not advanced his property, as the curse of the Almighty is upon it. He is not at peace at home. Domestic quarrels are frequent and terrible. The assistance of neighbors has been often sought. His home is a place where joy and peace never enter to abide. His face is red and bloated, so that it is a terrible sight to behold. It witnesses against him, and publishes his disgrace wherever he goes. He is now but middle-aged, but evidently a premature grave awaits him; and if he dies as he now lives, he will be remembered only with infamy.

Reader, is there anything in the life of such a man that looks desirable?

Raymond. SOLON.

HOW "OLD BULLION" WAS MADE.—Hon. Thomas H. Benton, in a speech in New York, turned to the ladies, and referring to his mother, said:

My mother asked me never to use tobacco. and I never touched it from that time to the present day. She asked me not to game, and I have never gamed; and I cannot tell this day who is winning and who is losing in games that are played. She admonished me, too, against hard drink;—and whatever capacity for endurance I may have at present, and whatever usefulness I may attain in life, I attribute to having complied with her pious and earnest wishes.

☞ There has been a great revival of religion in East Winsted, Connecticut. Rev. Otis Saxton writes to the N. Y. Christian Advocate that more than 200 have been converted, among them several infidels, and the pastor of the Congregational church in that village. The language of the writer is as follows:

One hundred and forty-four have joined the Church on probation, and the good work still goes on in the strength of the Lord. The Congregational minister of this village was stricken down in our altar (the Methodist,) by the power of God's spirit; and since, himself and wife have publicly professed the blessing of sanctification."

NO BANKS. — There are no chartered Banks, or banks of issue, in Florida, Arkansas, Mississippi, California, or Texas; and Oregon has just had presented to her, a State Constitution adopting the same principle.

This innovation upon the established usages of civilized society, has begun in the remotest corners of the Union—in States by no means conspicuous above their sisters, for the knowledge, honesty, or prudence of their people. We shall see, those of us who live long enough, what kinds of paper issues these States will make use of, when they become more civil—or if the reader pleases, more civilized.

☞ The American Bible Society has elected to the office of Vice President, Hon. John B. O'Neil of South Carolina, and he has accepted the office. He may have a great love and reverence for the teaching of the Bible, but manifests it strangely. What has most distinguished him, says the Register, is his pronouncing sentence of death in 1843, as Judge of the Supreme Court of his State, upon a free man of color, for the alleged crime of encouraging his wife to escape from slavery.

☞ The publishers of the New York Home Journal, announce that, in compliance with a request often repeated, N. P. Willis will give, in the course of the coming volume of the Home Journal, a new Series of Scripture Sketchs, in poetry, and of a character of those already before the public. This will be a great attraction, in that always attractive paper.

Mr. John H. P. Cole, of Northampton County, N. C., has got rid of a graceless and ungrateful negro. He offers $20 reward for him, and declares "he may attempt to pass himself off as a free man, as he is rascal enough to do so." Oh the degeneracy of times, when negroes are depraved enough to pass themselves off for free men!—Morning Star.

"THE LAST MAN."
NOT BY THOMAS CAMPBELL.

THE PETTICOAT CATASTROPHE.

I dreamed a dream the other night,
When everything was hushed and still,
Which made each hair stand straight with fright,
Stiff as the porcupine's last quill.
Methought that petticoats had grown
To such a vast and monstrous size,
That there was room for them alone—
And none for man—beneath the skies.

The beasts and every creeping thing
Had died. The flowers bloomed no more,
The grass and tender herbs of Spring
Were withered on the desert shore;
Ten million leagues of Crinoline
Stretched over all like a funeral pall;
And on the cold and cheerless scene,
The sun's warm rays could never fall.

On Ararat's cloud-curtained peak,
The last man stood with pallid face,
Sick, trembling, weary, worn and weak—
Sad remnant of a smothering race.
In vain—alas! poor man! in vain—
His footsteps sought that rest of old,
For clouds of skirts soon filled the plain,
And hid the mountain in their fold.

Still bigger grew those spheres of white,
Until they reached the summit high,
And streamed above the wretched wight,
Like snowy banners in the sky.
The man looked o'er the precipice,
"Make way for petticoats!" he cried,
And plunging down the dark abyss,
Made way for petticoats—and died.

RUSSIAN JUSTICE.

The following story, translated from a French paper for the Boston Courier, gives some idea of Russian justice.

Just before the death of the Emperor Nicholas of Russia, an affair occurred, in which the firm justice of his character was nobly displayed. The child of a gamekeeper, attached to the household of a severe and cruel nobleman, a veritable Nero among his serfs, was so unfortunate as to accidentally break the leg of a little dog belonging to the hunting pack of the estate. The nobleman, furious, seized the poor child, dragged him into the armory, and with the butt of a pistol shattered his skull. Overbearing the tumult, the gamekeeper hurried to the scene, and found himself in the presence of the dead body of his son, and the murderer standing near his victim.

"Was it you that killed my child?" demanded the gamekeeper, in a voice broken with despair.

"It was I."

"Why did you so?"

"Because he had broken the leg of one of my dogs."

"Recommend your soul to God! You are about to die!"

The lordly assassin tried to grasp another pistol: but before he could succeed, the gamekeeper with an iron hand threw him on his knees.

"Recommend your soul to God! I tell you—that he may have pity on your soul, if such monsters have souls!"

"Mercy! Pity! Help!" cried the nobleman, struggling in vain with the fierce grasp which held him to the ground. "Do you want gold? I will give you as much as you can need."

"Gold will not stop the flow of blood!"

"Do you wish your freedom? you shall have it!"

"Liberty will not restore me my child."

"Pardon me! Mercy! Help! To the rescue!"

Attracted by these cries, a dozen serfs ran to defend their master. But at the sight of the corpse, of the father's despair, they comprehended all the horror of the tragedy which had just passed in that blood-stained hall.

"Help me, my children," cried the nobleman, "defend me!"

But not a voice was heard, not an arm was extended to help the murderer.

"These honest men have not come here to save you," said the gamekeeper. "They are here to judge and assist in the execution of your sentence." Raising him then he bound his arms, and made him sit down. Then briefly recounting all the acts of violence and abuses of authority of which the nobleman had been guilty, the gamekeeper, transformed into a judge, subjected him to a long interrogation in presence of the body of the murdered child—terrible and silent evidence of his last crime; then addressing the serfs, he demanded—"What punishment should this man receive?"

"Death!" replied with one voice the members of that tribunal of justice; but who will take upon himself the office of executioner?"

"The father who is now childless!" answered the gamekeeper, and, repeating a third time, "Recommend your soul to God," he plunged the sword to the hilt into the nobleman's breast. The same day he delivered himself up to the local authorities, but the Emperor, on being informed of the affair, ordered that he should be set at liberty, saying, "This man has committed no crime; to a dog the death of a dog."

WORCESTER CO. MASS.—Last week, 39 liquor cases were tried in the Worcester Co. C. C. P. Found guilty; fined from $10 to 50 each; and sentenced to House of Correction from 30 days to 10 months.

INSTEAD of being a panacea for all maladies, it has control over but ONE MALADY—but ONE AIM—accomplishes but ONE THING, to wit: SUBDUES INFLAMMATORY DISEASE—whatever be its form or locality—whether in the head, throat, chest, abdomen, extremities or skin. Every form of inflammation (but no other disease) is subdued, by it as easily as fire is extinguished by water. Is it asked, how it does all this?—simply by restoring the lost balance between the fluids and solids. Such is its potency, that like vaccine matter, it requires merely what adheres to the point of a pin dipped into a solution of it, to affect the entire system.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 12, 1857.

CONGRESS.

THURSDAY, Dec. 10.

SENATE.—Mr. Douglas gave notice of his intention to introduce a bill at an early day, to enable the people of Kansas to form a Constitution and State government, preparatory to an admission into the Union.

After executive session, the Senate adjourned till Monday.

HOUSE.—On motion of Mr. Banks, the Speaker was authorized to appoint the Standing Committees, and in order to afford him an opportunity to do so, moved that when the House adjourn it be until Monday next.

A resolution was offered, requesting the ministers of the Gospel in Washington to alternately open the daily sessions of the House with prayer. It was stated that various ministers had tendered their services gratuitously. The resolution was adopted.

Mr. Stephens of Ga. offered a resolution, which was adopted, providing for the distribution of books heretofore ordered, to new members.

Mr. Letcher of Va. took occasion to say that it was the duty of the House to stop the evil of book distribution. Some volumes are now in preparation, a single one which will cost $2000. Everything to be printed should be first scrutinized, especially as lately they had heard so much about plunder.

The House adjourned till Monday.

APPOINTMENTS.—Washington, Dec. 10. The nomination of Col. Richardson as Governor of Nebraska, was to-day confirmed by the Senate. This implies that his position on the subject of Kansas is satisfactory to the administration.

Gen. Denver's appointment, as Secretary of State of Kansas, was confirmed by 29 Democratic votes to 19 Republicans against it. Mr. Douglas was absent. Gen. Denver has been telegraphed to at Boonville.

The removal of Gov. Walker is daily expected. It is stated on high authority, that should he now move in the direction of Kansas, this result would immediately follow.

The Boston Courier remarks that the removal of Governor Stanton clearly demonstrates that the President is determined that the Kansas question shall no longer be kept open for political purposes, if the conduct of the Executive or its officers can control it.

Indeed it does demonstrate all that, and more too, viz. the executive and its officers will do all they can to crush out freedom there.

☞ In the U. S. Senate, Dec. 10, Executive session on the confirmation of Denver, in place of Stanton, Senator Douglass led off with a speech against the confirmation, and was followed by Seward, Hale, Trumbull and Doolittle; while on the Democratic side the action of the Administration was sustained by Slidell, Mason, and others. After an animated debate of two hours and a half, the vote was taken and he was confirmed. Senators Gwinn and Pugh spoke on the subject in an equivocal manner, but finally sustained the Administration. Douglass carried but one Democratic Senator with him, viz., Broderick of California.

☞ The Independent Treasury, at the present time, is about "as independent as a hog on the ice,"—having suspended specie payments, and having no power to pay anything but specie. The president and secretary of the treasury, call for treasury notes, and Congress will undoubtedly grant liberty to issue them.

This knocks all the exclusive hard money schemes higher than a kite.

Will not some of the political organists get out a new chorus in praise of the subtreasury, patting in a few millions of treasury notes by way by of interlude?

☞ The "Baker University," established in Kansas recently, has for one of its rules, that "no one who habitually uses tobacco" can be made president or a member of the faculty.

It is said 'there is a silver lining to every cloud.' In that case one would think some of the men who are 'under a cloud' about these days would be tempted to steal the lining.

SUDDEN DEATHS.—Washington, Dec. 10. Col. William Turnbull, of the U. S. Topographical Engineers, was found dead in his bed, at a hotel, this morning. He had died of disease of the heart.

Schenectady, Dec. 10.—Col. John Kries Paige, an officer of the U. S. Army of 1812, and formerly Mayor of Albany, died at noon to-day, at his residence in this city.

FATAL RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—Zanesville, O., Dec. 10.—Last night, the mail train, going east on the Central Road, ran into a rock near Glencoe, smashing the engine and cars, and killing Charles E. Brown, express messenger for Adams & Co. No others were seriously injured.

U. S. SENATOR FROM VIRGINIA.—Richmond, Dec. 10.—Mr. Hunter was to-day re-elected United States Senator from Virginia, by an almost unanimous vote of the Legislature.

AFRICAN MISSIONS AND THEIR RESULTS.—The Austrian Roman Catholic Mission in Abyssinia, stationed at Charitoum, has been discontinued. The causes assigned are the unhealthy climate of the country, and the utter lack of success which has hitherto characterized the mission. Fifty thousand florins were annually expended in the enterprise. The result of this expenditure was at the utmost the conversion of a few dozen young blacks to the Romish faith. These neophytes, however, were powerless to propagate Catholicism among their countrymen, being estranged from them and deprived of all influence by their connection with the missionaries. This missionary enterprise, appears to have been less beneficial to the heathen than to its promoters and supporters—the latter having, at least, in return for their outlay, obtained much valuable information concerning the country and the people whom they desired to Christianise.

DARING BURGLARY IN SPRINGFIELD.—In Springfield, on Tuesday night, four men entered the house occupied by the Widow Lannagan and another Irishwoman, fastened the women into a room by themselves, and robbed the premises of about fifty-five dollars in money, a watch an overcoat and some few other articles. There was a young man in the house at the time, but when he awoke he found one of the burglars standing over him with a pistol and a dagger in his hands; and the robbers, having thus overawed the inmates of the house, escaped without detection.

ATTEMPTED BURGLARY.—Burglars Shot by a Woman.—The house of Dr. Hodges of Ashland, Mass., was entered between one and two o'clock Wednesday morning, during the absence of the Doctor from town, by turning the key to the front door with nippers. The burglars went up stairs and selected considerable clothing, which was carried below and put into a pile. They then collected various articles of clothing in the rooms below, as also vases and some fancy articles. Mrs. Hodges was awakened, as she at first thought by the tinkling of a tea bell, but which was probably the noise occasioned by their moving a solar lamp with glass drops. She immediately arose and went to the head of the stairs and listened, when she heard whispering in the room below. She then went to her own room, took a loaded gun and returned to the head of the stairs, when she saw indistinctly the form of a man upon the first or second stair. She asked "what is wanted?" and he replied "hold your tongue or I'll blow your brains out;" upon which Mrs. Hodges fired upon him. The only thing she heard him say was "My God!" The report of the gun brought the neighbors to the house, but nothing could be found of the burglars. There was blood on the stairs and floor, which proved that Mrs. Hodges was not very wide of her mark. The rogues left behind a paper upon which was written the names of several citizens, giving a description of their houses and whether they kept a dog or not.—The wounds on one of the rogues, received from Mrs. Hodges, will, we hope, lead to his detection. Her spirited conduct is above all praise.—Boston Journal.

☞ The Belvidere Intelligencer says the farmers in New Jersey, in 1855, lost three millions of dollars by keeping their produce back till the country was blockaded with other. It recommends the farmers in that vicinity to send their grain forthwith to market, as there is no possibility of higher prices being realized by delay.

☞ Mr. Jarvis Slade, of the firm of Lawrence, Stone & Co., Boston, attempted to commit suicide at Bath, Me., on Thursday evening. The Bee says he cannot survive. He is 51 years of age, well connected, and highly respected. The pecuniary and moral troubles in his firm distressed his mind, and led to this sad result.

☞ One day last week a large black snake was discovered endeavoring to cross a mill pond on the ice, in Boxford. His snakeship was about an hour in crossing, progressing very slowly, not having very good foothold whereby to propel himself. When within about ten feet of the shore, he became so chilled by the ice he could go no further, and he was drawn ashore by means of a pole and captured. He measured between four and five feet in length.

FATAL AFFRAY AT WEST POINT, ARKANSAS.—A party of gentlemen were assembled at the house of Col. Rogers, at West Point, White county, Arkansas, on the 2d ult., when Mr. Isaac Felsenthral and Dr. C. C. Webb got into a dispute, which ended in the shooting of Dr. Webb by Felsenthral. The murderer then attempted to escape on horseback, when Dr. Burney, at the urgent request of the dying man, shot him through the head, killing him instantly.

☞ A Free State Convention assembled at Lawrence, Kansas, Dec. 2,—to consult on measures for the general welfare.

☞ The town of Falmouth, Mass., has exported 5000 bushels of cranberries, raised the present season.

THE DIFFERENCE.—After a fire, once on a time, not far from this, the word "stock" (material) not being found in a certain policy, the holder had to pocket a loss of $100 or so in that line. This was a mere quibble of the company, as the insurance-agent and the policy-holder had both intended and supposed the stock was insured.

In another instance in a neighboring city, a fire burned property on which was insurance to the amount of $25,000. But the last three policies of $5,000 each having been made without due notice being given to the other companies, of course all was legally invalidated, and the companies interested were clear of liability. It appearing on investigation, however, that no fraud was intended, and that the parties insured acted in good faith—the insurance companies, within a week after the loss, paid the whole amount, like men, as they should do.

When a man pays for insurance, he wants to be assured from loss by fire in his premises, and not to be chased by a budget of lawyer's quibbles, in case of disaster. Of course there must be rules and regulations; but there is no sense in such quibbles as are often made.

☞ An attempt to rob Mr. John Jewett, a freight conductor on the Kennebec and Portland Railroad, was recently made as he was crossing the bridge between Gardiner and Pittston. He was knocked down with a slung shot, but retained sufficient consciousness and strength to resist the further assaults of the ruffian, who finding himself matched in the encounter, took to his heels. Mr. Jewett had $100 in money about his person.

☞ The Bath Organ, in speaking of a cotemporary, says his "article on Kansas expresses no views at all, but only complains of those who have expressed an opinion?" and compares him to "the old negro who prayed awhile to Deity and then to the Devil, because he didn't know whose hands he would fall into. He was prudent, to say the least—over the left."

Some folks regard every calamity that happens to themselves a trial, and every one that happens to others a judgment.

"If you would rise in the world, you must not stop to kick at every cur that barks at you as you pass along."

TORONTO MARKET REPORT.—Dec. 8.

Since my last Report, the weather took a sudden turn for shippers, an almost hurricane blowing, rendering the immediate suspension of both Canal and Lake navigation. A change to open weather dispelled these fears, and our harbor, which was deserted for a fortnight, again presents a busy aspect, and there is eager anxiety on the part of shippers to avail themselves of the few days we now can depend on of lake navigation. The Welland and Erie canals are again open, the former alone releasing ½ of a million bushels of Grain.

Flour has, in the absence of vessels, accumulated here and at adjoining ports, and there is an evident downward tendency of prices. A good many orders for the Eastern States are now being received, and the prospect is good for an active business at lower prices, although the only currency for such orders continues still to be Bank drafts.

Fine Flour, $2.50 to 2.60 per bl.; No. 2 Superfine 3.10 to 3.50; No. 1 do., 4.30 to 4.35; Fancy, 4.55 to 4.60; Extra, 4.80 to 5.00; Double Ex., 5.00 to 5.25.

The demand is active for extra and Double—but for all, the tendency is downward, owing to the continued stringency of our Banks; and as we anticipate that wheat will be purchased at extremely low figures this winter, the price of flour will rule relatively lower in this than in any other market.

Wheat has fallen off in value, and there is but one vessel loading. Prices range from 85 to 90c per 60 lbs. for good to prime white winter; Spring is worth 65 to 70c per 60 lbs.

Bank Drafts on New York par to ¼ per cent. premium; Boston ¼ per cent. discount to par.

Freights from Toronto by rail, for full car loads only, to Montreal 60c a bl., 15c bush.; to Boston 120c a bl., 35c a bush.; to Portland 110c a bl., 33c a bush.; to Ogdensburgh 50c a bl., 15c a bush.; to New York 135c a bl., 40c a bush. Rates to Island Pond, Northumberland, Danville Junction, are the same as to Portland; to Bangor 25c per bl. more than to Portland.

T. M. CLARK, PURCHASING BROKER, and Consular Agent for the United States.

STATE TEMPERANCE CONVENTION.

The next annual New Hampshire State Temperance Convention will be held at Smyth's Hall, in Manchester, on Tuesday, Dec. 15, at ten o'clock, for the choice of officers, and for the transaction of other important business connected with the interests of the cause in the State. Will not the friends of Temperance gather in large numbers, to consider the best means of carrying forward this enterprise at the present time? Much has been done, but still the work is not accomplished. We wish to see delegations from as many towns as possible. Let us have a great gathering of the working men, and lay our plans, and then let us carry them forward, till ruinsalling, with all its terrible results, is driven from our State. Among the speakers expected to be present and address the convention, are the Rev. Messrs. Whiting, Lamson and Hall, of Portsmouth; Prof. J. G. Hoyt, of Exeter; Rev. Mr. Holman of Great Falls;—Rev. Mr. Hartwell, of Nashua; as well as many other active friends from different parts of the State.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

CLOAKS AND CLOAK GOODS.

If any of our readers are about purchasing a Cloak, or the materials to make one, they will of course visit NUMBER FIFTEEN MARKET ST., before buying.—Allen & Paine having appropriated one room of their store to that business entirely, are opening to-day one of the largest stocks in this city, including Cloaks, Broadcloths, Black, Brown and Drab Plush for Trimming. To those of their customers who prefer making their own Cloaks, they will give a pattern of any Cloak in their store.

☞ The only place in this city where an Ambrotype can be obtained, is at Davis' Ambrotype Gallery, No. 8 Daniel Street, as they have the Patent, and all infringements will be prosecuted. sept9

CANKER.

I hereby certify that some three months since my little girl, three years old, was attacked with what appeared to be Mumps, but upon examination was discovered it was Canker in the worst forms; so bad that for two or three days she could scarcely swallow. Having Myers' Extract Rock Rose at hand, we commenced giving it in doses of a teaspoonful every hour. In twenty-four hours there was a decided change for the better, and after administering it (less frequently) for three days, a perfect cure was effected.

I can with confidence recommend it to all similarly affected; and will not be without it in my house. CURTIS B. BLAKESLEE.
Northfield Society, Lichfield, Ct., Dec. 1853.

THERE ARE OCCASIONS

When even the healthiest people need medicine; the changes of diet, of weather, and hundreds of other causes, produce a laxity in the system that needs correcting, or in other words, the liver becomes slightly deranged and needs a stimulator. If all who find themselves in this situation will try Dr Sanford's Invigorator, they may be sure of relief, as we can testify to its efficacy in curing Headache, Indigestion, Sour Stomach, and other ills so common in a family. It acts, as a medicine, easier and better than any dose of pills we ever swallowed, and so mild that the smallest infant can take it.

LOCAL.

No Contradiction.—If the editor of the "Chronic" "Maine Law" paper in this city had not been more anxious to show a seeming contradiction than to tell the truth, he would have given the whole sentence of which he copies a part, from the Gazette of April 18. The whole sentence expresses the same idea as did our paragraph of "advice," which the Rev. gentleman insinuated we were not authorized to offer.—N. H. Gazette, Dec. 5.

Uncle Toby does not think it necessary nor desirable to say the above paragraph is a lie;—but he does deem it his duty to show, by the quotations from the Gazette referred to, that there is a contradiction between them.

First then, we copy a whole sentence from the Gazette, of November, 1857, advising the drinker to leave off drinking. Here it is.

Finally leave off drinking and smoking, improve your evenings by reading and study, and wait patiently for better times.

Second, let us copy the whole sentence from the Gazette of April 1857, which advises the drinker to continue to use alcohol.

It (alchohol) is among the most useful and beneficent gifts of a good Providence, which the wise will continue to use, cautiously and temperately; and the foolish, whose unnatural passions and appetites control reason and overbalance sense, will still worship, alas! too often to the ruin of themselves, the great injury of their families, and the detriment of society, which has, sooner or later, to support the idle and the dissolute.

Now will the reader please to observe that the November Gazette advises the drinker to leave off—but the April Gazette advices him to keep on, temperately, if he is a wise man.

The remainder of the sentence, which we copy at the Gazette's suggestion, is nothing to the purpose of this discussion, and does not diminish the contradiction, which is flat and positive!

Now is the editor or writer of that paper really so stupid as not to see the difference between moderate drinking and total abstinence?

Or if he does see it, does he intend to deceive his readers by the false pretence that we unfairly quoted a part of a sentence from the Gazette of April 18? We have now copied the whole, which shows that the part which we first copied was a fair extract. On which horn will he hang—stupidity, or falsehood?

Rockingham County Agricultural Society.—A correspondent of the Gazette refers to "the action of the Society" at the late annual meeting in Exeter, on a petition of the Committee of Arrangements in Portsmouth for reimbursement of expenses in behalf of the annual fair held here.

This committee were liable for about $90, and it is but just, under the circumstances, that they should be relieved from the payment of that sum out of their own pockets, in addition to the expenditure of their time and labor. To the energy and judgment of this committee, the success of the exhibition was entirely due, and the society should relieve them from pecuniary loss. Without those efforts the society would have been totally bankrupt.

Dr. Preston, of Portsmouth, appeared in behalf of the Committee. After some discussion, the Society voted to pay the Committee thirty dollars—the amount expended for music in the evening. The Trustees had previously allowed $30 of the claim, and there still remains about $30 which the committee will have to pay from their own pockets.

As we happened to be among the first applied to by the Trustees, relative to holding the Fair in this city, it may not be amiss for us to explain this matter a little. The agreement was that our citizens should "furnish the music," among other things. The City paid for one Band, and it was expected that the Exeter delegation would bring their Band. When it was known, at the last moment, that the Exeter Band was not coming, the Committee of Arrangements sent for another.

Although not bound by any agreement to pay for any music, we are glad the Society voted to do so—and wish they had paid all the bills presented by the Committee—who rendered most efficient service, and ought not to have been subjected to a cent of other expense.

As to the Society becoming "totally bankrupt," however—this was hardly possible, this time; for, if we mistake not, they commenced with a fund of $1500, raised by five-years' subscriptions—which we believe has not been diminished.

☞ A Lecture on the Laws of Health as affected by Religious Excitements, will be delivered in Hanover street Chapel, on Saturday evening, Dec. 12th, commencing at 7 o'clock. The public are invited.

☞ The President of the Howard Benevolent Society, Hon. I. Goodwin, acknowledges the receipt of $25 from Hon. Thos. B. Laighton, of Appledore, Isles of Shoals; and $100 from Mrs. Levi Woodbury—for the benefit of the poor, of course.

☞ The ladies of Portsmouth, aided by the Portsmouth Cornet Band, will hold a Fair at Jefferson Hall on the the 30th and 31st of December, and Jan. 1; one half the proceeds of which are to help in providing the Band with a uniform, and the other half to be given to the Ladies' Charitable Society, to aid the poor. A generous patronage of the public is solicited. The evening entertainments will be varied by singing and tableaux.

☞ In the Board of Aldermen, Thursday evening, the Street Commissioner was directed to superintend operations in State street during the building of the Drain for the Custom House; to see that the street be left in good order by the contractors, and to look to the general interests of the city in relation to it.

☞ The Hartford Fire Insurance Company have just declared a semi-annual dividedd of six per cent. Since July 1st they given to the stockholders $200,000 of their surplus in additional stock, making their capital $500,000; and have a handsome surplus in reserve. Mr. John Sise, No. 5 Market Square, is agent for the above company for Portsmouth and vicinity.

Whose Bones?—In digging the trench in State street for the Custom House sewer, the laborers on Monday dug up a lot of human bones, among them a part of a jaw containing several sound teeth. The body thus buried was found about four feet below the surface of the street, and appeared to have been completely surrounded with stone, as if a vault had been built and a coffin placed inside. Just by the side of this is to be seen a wall of stones, probably the remains of a house in Buck street after the fire of 1813. It is a question for the antiquarians to discuss, how the body happened to be buried in such a place?—N. H. Gazette.

☞ Mr. John F. Milliken, flagman at the Portland, Saco & Portsmouth Depot in Portland, was on Thursday morning run over by a train of cars. He was watching the train coming in, when a train that was backing, and which he did not notice, ran against him, throwing him on to the track and running over his foot, crushing it in such a manner as to require amputation between the knee and the ancle. He also received several other injuries, among which was a slight fracture of the skull, but hopes are entertained of his recovery.

LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed by the State, to conduct their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as well protected as if they were present. The Manager would respectfully call attention to the fact that persons living at a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are authorized by the Legislature of that State. A lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year, all orders received being filled in the drawing next to take place after the same comes to hand. According to the scheme one ticket in every ten must draw a prize. Tickets are $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2.50. No tickets sent unless the money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers to mystify the player. Prizes range from $2 to $50,000; every prize being drawn, and result of drawing forwarded to all purchasers.

☞ A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount of each prize to be entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers:—New Orleans Delta, Mobile Register, Charleston Standard, Nashville Gazette, Atlanta Intelligencer, and New York Weekly Day Book. Write your address plainly, and direct to SWAN & Co., Augusta, Georgia.

Prizes paid in full; no percentage deducted from prizes as in other lotteries.

LOTTERIES.

The well-known Maryland Consolidated Lotteries, of which R. Fayne & Co. are the managers, are chartered by the state of Maryland, and a commissioner elected by the people, who is sworn to superintend and see that everything connected with them is done in a strictly honorable manner, and that the interests of parties who reside at a distance are as well protected as if they themselves were present at the drawing. Another fact which the managers call attention to, is, that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Maryland, as lotteries are legalized by special law in that state. A lottery is drawn every day of the month. If no particular class is named, orders are filled in the next lottery to take place after the communication comes to hand. The prices of tickets vary from $1 to $20. No tickets are, however, sent unless the money for the same is received. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket (after the Havana plan), and Ternary combinations of three varies in amount from $30 to $100,000. All orders for tickets or packages will receive prompt attention, and the drawing mailed to all purchasers immediately after it is over.

☞ The drawn numbers of the Maryland Lotteries are published by the State Commissioner in the following papers, viz: Sun, Clipper, Patriot, American, Argus, of Baltimore; also the National Intelligencer and Union, of Washington, D.C.

Magee's Patent Ventilating Stove.

FOR WARMING AND VENTILATING
PARLORS, OFFICES, HALLS, STORES, SCHOOL HOUSES, &c.

WHICH for economy, purity of air, and ease of management, has no equal. It can be regulated so as to give

Any amount of Heat required,

and unlike all other Anthracite Coal Burners, ventilates the apartments quite as thoroughly, as a wood fire or Franklin, producing a current of Air, at once moist, pure and agreeable, and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache, so much complained of by those using Stoves and Furnaces, is entirely obviated. The fire may be continued from one to four days without replenishing.

These Stoves are beautiful in design, and finished in the most perfect manner. They are equally appropriate, and have given universal satisfaction to all who have adopted them.

For Offices and Stores as well as the Parlor.

The Inventor challenges the world to produce an article by which so much Pure Warm Air can be generated, with the same amount of fuel, requiring but about 15 pounds of Anthracite Coal, to warm an ordinary sized parlor for 24 hours, without replenishing, and then leaving fire enough to rekindle without the use of charcoal. The coal is all used, and no clinkers made, consequently, sifting coal is dispensed with.—When this Stove is properly managed.

THE FIRE MAY BE CONTINUED THROUGH THE ENTIRE SEASON,

without once going out. Added to all these qualifications, the purchaser may reasonably expect to save from 30 to 50 per cent. in fuel expense.

LANCET, LEECHES AND BLISTERS.
INSTEAD of being a nauseous or all maladies, it has control over but ONE MALADY—has but ONE AIM—accomplishes but ONE THING, to wit: SUBDUES INFLAMMATORY DISEASE—whatever be its form or locality—whether in the head, throat, chest, abdomen, extremities or skin. Every form of inflammation (but no other disease) is subdued, by it as easily as fire is extinguished by water. Is it asked, how it effects this?—simply by restoring the lost balance between the fluids and solids. Such is its potency, that like vaccine matter, it requires merely what adheres to the point of a pin dipped into a solution of it, to affect the entire system.

THE WIGGINSES.

From Arthur's Home Magazine, January 1858.

Joel Wiggins is a 'merchant.' You will see his sign at No. — Second street. It is a small tin sign, with red letters on a white ground. If I mistake not, the word 'Notions' is just under the name.

'What is your husband's business?' asked a prying inquisitive of Mrs. Wiggins, at Newport, last summer.

'He is a Philadelphia merchant,' answered the lady, with dignity.

That of course settled the matter. If a woman doesn't know how to designate her husband, in the name of wonder, who should? Yes, Mr. Wiggins is a merchant.

'And occupies that handsome store with the brown stone front?'

No, not exactly. If you look a little closer, you will see that Dick & Dixon, Importers, are the occupants of that elegant establishment. You must ascend to the second floor to find our 'Notion' merchant.

Bustling, active, self-important Joel Wiggins; there he is in his curiosity shop, surrounded by things grotesque and arabesque, symmetrical and deformed, useful and ornamental, gathered originally from all parts of the earth. Fire-crackers, crying babies, red and white tape, fans, marbles, toys, games, puzzles, masks, hobby horses, porcelain, bisque and Parian figures, motto cups and motto wafers, and—but the inventory is hopeless! If your curiosity is excited on the subject, reader, call at No. — and see for yourself. Wiggins's store is a perfect museum.

Times were prosperous, and the credit of Wiggins was good for anything he wished to purchase. So he bought freely in New York and Boston, as well as from importers in Philadelphia. He sold as freely, on the principle, we suppose, of 'come easy, go easy.' He had but to select goods, to any amount, and they were promptly delivered, the invoice rendered, and a note at four or six months taken in payment. And as he was treated, so he treated his customers, and they found their way to his 'Notion' room from all parts of the country, far and near.

What a splendid business he was doing! Sales mounted upwards, at the rate of seventy, eighty, and one hundred thousand dollars a year, and his profits ranged from ten to forty per cent. Wiggins was getting rich so fast that his head swam as he looked from the sudden height he had obtained. Twenty-five per cent. clear profit annually! that was the flattering unction which he laid to his soul, and not very far in the golden distance he saw himself a merchant prince.

Buying on time and selling on time are all very well, if the selling time is shorter than the buying. The reverse is generally the case. It was so with Joel Wiggins.—He bought at four, six and eight months, and sold at six, eight, nine and twelve months. Of course, when his own notes became due, he had to meet them by discounts. The two banks in which he kept his accounts—checking from one and depositing in the other a great many times every day, to indicate active business, just as a doctor with limited practice rides hurriedly about the streets, to indicate the existence of numerous pressing calls—the two banks gave him a certain "line" of discount, about ten cents on the dollar of his wants. The ninety per cent. was raised 'on the street,' through bill brokers who represented private money-lenders and unscrupulous bank officers. On this ninety per cent. Wiggins paid at the rate of from one to two and a half per cent. a month, according to the estimated value of paper or collateral which he had to offer.

So affairs went on swimmingly with Mr. Joel Wiggins. He was getting rich fast, "hand over fist," as he sometimes elegantly expressed it. His Bills Receivable and stock of goods showed always a large surplusage over Bills Payable.

With the comfortable feeling consequent upon the fact that money was being so rapidly accumulated, Mr. Wiggin, and Mrs. Wiggin and Araminta Jane Wiggin, the wife and oldest daughter, naturally enough concluded that it was time to live in a style better agreeing with their position. So the modest little house on Buttonwood street, at three hundred and fifty dollars a year, was given up, and a stylish affair beyond Broad street, rented at eight hundred per annum.

Now, the mere increase of rent from three hundred and fifty to eight hundred a year would not have been so very serious a matter, if the affair could have stopped at the simple removal from Buttonwood street to the West End. But that was out of the question. The single item of new furniture was twenty-five hundred and fifty dollars, and the annual increase of expenditure, exclusive of rent, one thousand. Mrs. Wiggin and Araminta Jane, moreover, attempted the fashionable, and this cost something—not a dime less than another thousand dollars; for shawl, silk, lace and jewelry bills mount up wonderfully fast! No, a thousand dollars is below the mark. It costs a trifle to be fashionable!

Next a carriage, and next a country house. They came naturally. A cottage and garden overlooking the Delaware. That was the climax!

Everything went on charmingly. Mrs. Wiggins and Araminta Jane were at Newport, last summer, bent on making a sensation. Mr. Wiggins was in Philadelphia, taking care of his payments, which were heavy. Money all at once grew a little tight; Banks were unaccommodating, and Mr. Wiggins found himself obliged to submit to sundry terrible hard shaves, in order to "raise the wind." Our day his bill broker could get nothing on the paper he had to offer. So he was forced into Third street, where, on 'undoubted' collateral, he raised two thousand dollars for two days, at one per cent. a day!

On the next day money was a little tighter. He had five thousand to pay.—He got through, but only at a 'terrible sacrifice.' On the day following he raised three thousand more to lift maturing notes, but not enough to meet the two thousand covered by collaterals, on which he was paying one per cent. a day. That arrangement was continued for two days longer.

Mr. Wiggins began to feel a little uneasy. Plump, on to one of his desponding after-three-o'clock hours came a letter from Mrs. Wiggins, asking for five hundred dollars. Mr. Wiggins crushed the letter passionately, muttering 'Five hundred devils!' It was unamiable and unconjugal; but he was in trouble, and excited.

On the following day, Mr. Wiggins sent his wife one hundred and fifty dollars, with directions to pay her bills and return with Araminta Jane immediately. Both she and Araminta Jane demurred, and scolded him soundly for his niggardly response to their demand for money. They did not mean to leave until the close of the season. But Mr. Wiggins was in earnest, and he made them comprehend it in another letter. This brought them off by the next boat for New York.

Joel Wiggins was getting frightened. The Banks threw him out altogether, and he was at the mercy of the shavers. But few country merchants had been in, and few of them brought money. Sales were light against an unusually large stock of goods, which could not be forced on the market. His country house had cost him ten thousand dollars. He mortgaged it for five. Trial a second mortgage for three thousand dollars, but no one bid. It must be sold, then—matters were pressing. Mr. Wiggins announced the fact at home like one who expected a strife. It came. Mrs. Wiggins and Araminta Jane were astounded and indignant.

'Never!' said Mrs. Wiggins.

'Never!' cried Araminta Jane.

'What will people say at this coming down?' queried Mrs. Wiggins.

'It will kill me!' sobbed Araminta Jane, who had caught a beautiful beau at Newport, and was expecting an offer of marriage by every mail.

'They'll say that Joel Wiggins has been living too fast,' was answered, bluntly;—'and they'll say the truth: I'd no business with a country house yet awhile.'

'You'll put down the carriage next, I suppose!' said Araminta Jane, indignantly, not really meaning to be understood as in dread of that extreme measure, but rather intending her words as a cutting rebuke.

'Just so!' replied Mr. Wiggins, who, now that the ice was broken at the edge of the stream, felt his courage rise into a desperate resolution to go through. 'Just so, my dear; the carriage will have to be put down, and Mrs. Wiggins and Araminta Jane must walk, or take sixpenny rides in the omnibus! Necessity knows no law.'

We will not describe the scene that followed. Mrs. Wiggins was at first indignant; but after awhile she calmed down, and hearkened a little to reason. Araminta Jane indulged in a fit of hysterics, from which she did not recover for some hours. But Mr. Joel Wiggins was inexorable.

On the next day the country house was advertised for sale. On the next came the startling announcement of the failure of the Ohio Life and Trust Company. And then——but the disastrous events that followed are of too recent occurrence to require a word of detail. Joel Wiggins was borne down in the general crash, a fact that will in no way surprise the reader.—Mrs. Wiggins was inconsolable for a time; Araminta Jane in despair. Oh, the disgrace of coming down! It seemed as if it would kill them. The carriage went, of course, and with it the caped and banded coachman. The folly had gone that far.

The broken "Notion" merchant, who had kept his carriage, and boasted a country house, called together his creditors, and made an exhibit of his affairs. Alas! The column of assets did not foot up as large as the column of liabilities, by many thousands of dollars. The Discount and Interest account showed a fearful balance on the wrong side. Thirty thousand dollars had been paid for the use of money, in less than four years! Mr. Wiggins owed eighty-three thousand dollars, and his nominal assets were sixty-four! So much for the rich merchant, who had set up his carriage, and sent his wife and daughter to see high life and spend money at Saratoga and Newport! He represents a class, and is rather a favorable specimen; for Mr. Wiggins really meant to be honest, but the inflation of the times led him into error.

The creditors of Mr. Wiggin were not hard on him. They agreed to accept forty cents on the dollar, taking his own notes at six, twelve, eighteen and twenty-four months, in settlement. A few wanted to close him up. They were outraged at the country house, and carriage part of the business; but the majority pitied poor Wiggins, who was deeply humiliated, and almost ready to shoot himself in despair.

'We must give up this house!' said Mr. Wiggins, on returning home from the meeting of his creditors. He spoke like a man in earnest. Mrs. Wiggins started and flushed; Araminta Jane turned pale.

'Your creditors have been so exacting, so cruel!'

'Are you nothing but selfish tools!' exclaimed Mr. Wiggins, his wrath leaping over all barriers. 'Hard! Cruel! They have been kinder than I had dared to hope for!'

'Oh, then we will not be forced to move from here!' sobbed Araminta Jane. 'It would kill me. I could never survive the humiliation! You must not think of it pa.'

'It is thought of and decided,' said the resolute Mr. Wiggins. 'The bubble has burst, and I am now a bankrupt. We went up like a rocket, and now we are coming down like the stick.'

'But we will economize,' said Mrs. Wiggins.

'I know you will, for necessity knows no law,' was answered.

'We'll send away the waiter, and let the chamber-maid attend the door and table.'

'The cook can attend the door, and we can wait on ourselves at table. It won't be the first time in our lives! I, for one, shall feel relieved. It always annoys me to have a waiter gaping at me while I eat.'

Poor Araminta Jane was in despair.

'We can't get all our furniture into a smaller house,' said Mrs. Wiggins.

'Very true,' replied Mr. Wiggins. I've thought of that. We'll have a sale, and get rid of the costly lumber that surrounds us. Plainer furniture will suit better our reduced style of living, and—my honorable purposes.'

'A sale! O, disgrace! disgrace! Would you kill me, sir?' And Araminta Jane confronted her resolute papa, with the countenance and attitude of a tragedienne.

'You don't seem to have common sense or common decency enough to live in this world, so the sooner you are killed off the better,' coldly replied Mr. Wiggins. 'I shall have the sale and risk the consequences.'

And he did according to his word. The red flag, in less than a week, was unfurled from one of the windows of the handsome West End house; and the humbled and disconsolate Wigginses retired to a meaner abode, in a smaller street, the furniture of which corresponded much better with the condition of a man who could pay only forty cents on the dollar!

Wiggins himself was honest at heart; but the Wigginses in the mass were weak, vain and pretentious. The suddenness with which they fell from an extreme height stunned and blinded them, and it was some time before a new and better life began to vitalize their actions. It did, however, thanks to the resolute conductor of their head!

There is a lesson in the fall of the Wigginses, and a good many lessons in the way they managed to get along after their fall. With the reader's leave we may look upon them again at intervals. We think them worth observing.

Morning Chronicle.

MONDAY, DECEMBER 14, 1857.

CURRENCY.—The Washington Union, the organ of the administration, has for a series of weeks devoted a large portion of its space to the bank and currency discussion. The Union takes the anti-bank side of the question.

So says the Bath (Me.) Organ, which also says:

The Tribune of this city—nominally democratic—has come out as a decided bank paper, claiming that "capital in the hands of private individuals, for the last twenty years, has not been managed with one-half the public benefit that it has been in the hands of our banking corporations."

The Portland Advertiser says:

We confess ourselves somewhat curious to see whether the present "loud denunciations of banks which we hear in certain quarters are to be taken as mere gas, for party purposes, or whether in reality they mean any thing tangible and practical.—The action of the Ohio and Pennsylvania Legislatures during the coming winter will put these loud professions to a test. Let us wait and "see what we shall see."

We suppose it is mostly gas,—because we remember a similar emission of gas twenty years ago or so. The Demagogues, led off by Mr. Van Buren and others, got up various humbugs about banks, specie, and small bills. Simpletons, among the people, to the number of many thousands, took their leaders to be in earnest, and swallowed down their gammon for gospel. But these simpletons carried the joke too far to suit their masters;—and so, after having made anti-small-bill laws, individual liability laws, &c., these same masters went to work, and devised ways and means to go round these laws, and to render them null and void, or to exempt some favorite corporation from their active operation.

What President Buchanan says about the currency in his message, is only talk, as his recommendation to the States is of no force whatever. Any body in New England, who wishes to go over the old farce of small bill laws, is welcome to do so. But who will do it?

A German in Albany lately came into possession of $24,000, the bequest of his wife, who ran away to California with another man some years ago, made money infamously, but repented on her death bed, and made atonement by leaving her money to the injured husband. Meanwhile the German married a second wife and has several children, who will have the benefit of the fortune so oddly come by.

WAGES REDUCED.—We understand the Western (Albany and Boston) Railroad Co. have reduced the wages of engineers some $10 per month, and of the laborers 20 cents per day.—Troy Times.

SECRETARY STANTON.

Little reason was there to expect, when Messrs. Walker and Stanton went to Kansas by order of President Buchanan, that the country would see them denounced as Freedom shrickers. But so it is. The Washington Star, in announcing Stanton's removal from the office of Secretary, takes occasion to say that "there can be no halfway position on the Kansas question," and that "those occupying a common platform with reference to it, side by side with Senators Seward and Hale, cannot be regarded as hereafter entitled to democratic fellowship."

This, of course, throws over Stanton, Walker, and Douglas; and will throw over a few thousand voters more, in New England.

But let us turn to Kansas, and look at Stanton there.

On the 27th of November, there was a great free state convention at Leavenworth, which desired the new free state legislature to convene at Lecompton Dec. 3d,—and requested Secretary Stanton to issue an order convening them.

At this convention, Mr. Stanton being called for, said:

I came here from the South, with the hope that Kansas would be a slave State. It would be very agreeable to me to find the pro-slavery party, if there be such a party here, in the majority. But whether I found it so or not, I determined to support the majority. The troubles of Kansas were agitating the whole country, and the Governor determined to settle them by a fair election. I said if the thing could be fairly done I should rejoice, for then our difficulties would be at an end. But while we were determined the majority should rule, it became a perplexing question to decide which party had that majority. Obstacles were thrown in the way of a fair vote; the tax qualification was brought up and insisted on by Judge Cato of the Supreme Court, and by Mr. Wier, the Attorney General. We set that tax and their opinions aside, and they can never be brought up again; the country has approved our action; Presidents, Governors, Judges, People, and all approve it. The few, the faction, those who seek to accomplish mischief, alone oppose us; but they are a miserable minority, not one to twenty of the whole people, and of course they cannot rule.

The next thing that came up for our decision was the election frauds of Oxford and those from McGee county. We traveled to Oxford that we might see with our own eyes and hear with our own ears;—and, gentleman, what did we find? For miles, in Johnson county, we found no cabins, and when found they were not inhabited; there are not as many inhabitants in the whole county as there are names on that one poll list. The inhabitants of Oxford told us that were not 200 persons in the town during the whole two days of the election. We rejected the returns, and the public have approved of our course; the objection made to it by mischief-makers is simply technical. They say we have no right to go behind the returns and decide whether they were fictitious or real. It is admitted that no such votes were given, but that we had no right to ascertain that fact, nor act in reference to it if it were ascertained. But we did go behind the records and act in reference to the facts, and the people are here to day to sustain us, and they have sustained us all over the country.

When I first came to Kansas I declared it my intention to secure a fair vote, and here, to-day, I claim that I have fulfilled my pledge; and I have fulfilled it without violating the law. In fact, it would have been a great misfortune had I not done so. I considered the law as valid while a large majority thought otherwise. I thought the people ought to pay taxes, but they would not. I thought they ought to submit to the laws of the Territorial Legislature, but they would not. And there was no way to settle this question but by a fair and full vote of the people, and that you have had; and as I regret that my party should be defeated, yet, gentlemen, I must confess that you have the majority of at least twenty to one. But if the opposition are not satisfied they have a remedy. Let them go to Congress and have a Committee of Investigation appointed. The next Congress will be democratic, the Speaker will be democratic, and the Committee will be democratic. Democrats will do justice to their own party, and to that tribunal I appeal.

Another free convention met at Lawrence Dec. 2. The entire Territory was represented. Charles Robinson was the President. Resolutions were unanimously adopted, repudiation the Lecompton Constitutions, pledging ceaseless hostility to it; denouncing the elections to be held on the 21st inst. and 4th proximo; declaring that the Legislature elected October 5 shall not be suspended by any Constitution or State Government, until a fair and impartial vote be had; endorsing the Topeka Constitution, and requesting the Territorial Legislature in their extra session to frame an election law and submit the Topeka and Lecompton Constitutions to the people, the one receiving the majority of the legislative vote to become the fundamental law of the State of Kansas.

Resolutions also passed, returning thanks to Secretary Stanton for calling a special session of the Legislature. Speeches were made by Gov. Robinson, Gen. Lane, and Messrs. Tucker, Redpath and others.

The free legislature has doubtless assembled before this time, and is legally in operation.

But there is yet a lower deep, in a new plot against liberty in Kansas.

Jack Henderson of Kansas, one of the leading members of the Lecompton Constitutional Convention, is in Washington.—From the Evening Post it appears he "has been closeted with James Buchanan. He says that before he left the territory the Missourians were organizing in large numbers, for the avowed purpose of invading the territory to vote for the slavery proposition on the 21st of this month. The pro-slavery men, fearing the defiant tone of the Free State men, who, under Gen. Lane are preparing to resist sent Henderson to Washington. He declares that the result of his interview with the President has secured fresh orders for more troops to surround the polls, and protect those who present themselves to vote; in other words, to protect the invaders from Missouri!"

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.(—N. Y. Herald correspondence.)—It is rumored here that Gov. Walker has left post-haste for Kansas. Another rumor is current this evening, to the effect that Walker has been removed from the Governorship of Kansas. If he has not been already, he will be in less than a fortnight.

It is stated in confidential circles that the Democratic delegation from Indiana have had a long interview with President Buchanan, in the course of which they said that on full consultation they could not support the Lecompton Constitution after the expose of Senator Douglas. There can be no doubt that such a consultation was held.

KENTUCKY LEGISLATURE.—The new Legislature of Kentucky convened at Frankfort on the 7th inst., choosing American officers to the Senate and Demcrats to the house.

—The Senate, by a strict party vote, has tabled a resolution to elect an United States Senator, in place of Hon. John B. Thompson. This action will constitutionally postpone the election to the next Legislature.

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—At another meeting of the city banks last evening it was resolved to resume specie payments to-day. Thirty-eight banks were represented. All the other banks of the city are understood to be in favor of the movement.

CANKER.

I hereby certify that some three months since my little girl, three years old, was attacked with what appeared to be Mumps, but upon examination was discovered it was Canker in the worst forms; so bad that for two or three days she could scarcely swallow. Having Myers' Extract Rock Rose at hand, we commenced giving it in doses of a teaspoonful every hour. In twenty-four hours there was a decided change for the better, and after administering it (less frequently) for three days, a perfect cure was effected.

I can with confidence recommend it to all similarly affected, and will not be without it in my house. CURTIS B. BLAKESLEE.

THERE ARE OCCASIONS

When even the healthiest people need medicine; the changes of diet, of weather, and hundreds of other causes, produce a laxity in the system that needs correcting, or in other words, the liver becomes slightly deranged and needs a stimulator. To all who find themselves in this situation will try Dr Sanford's Invigorator, they may be sure of relief, as we can testify to its efficacy in curing Headache, Indigestion, Sour Stomach, and other ills so common in a family. It acts, as a medicine, easier and best than any dose of pills we ever swallowed, and so mild that the smallest infant can take it.

LOCAL.

NEW ENGLAND SHIPS AT THE SOUTH.—The Charleston (S. C.) Mercury, of Dec. 7th, thus favorably notices several noble specimens of new American freighting-ships now lying at that port—among them the "R. H. Tucker," built by Tobey & Littlefield, in this city; and the "Mary Washington," from the yard of George Raynes & Son, also on the Piscataqua.

To lovers of marine architecture, whether our friends in the city or country, these splendid vessels commend themselves. A look at them outwardly, in their fine proportions, tapering spars, and white canvass, is a gratification to a well-cultivated taste. They are all worthy of a visit from landsmen. Their commanders are gentlemen, proud of their ships, and take pleasure in attending to visitors. These ships are not the only fine ones in our harbor, but being new, and just arrived, they are attracting much attention. They show that notwithstanding the low freights which are now and have been for a long time prevailing, our countrymen are still advancing in the great art of ship-building.

☞ A Lecture on the Philosophy of Spiritual Manifestations, will be delivered at Hanover Street Chapel, this (Monday) evening, commencing at 7 o'clock. The public are invited.

☞ There will be preaching at the Second Advent Chapel, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, by Elder D. I Robinson.

THE GOVERNMENT LOAN.—The New York Commercial Advertiser says the information from Washington assures us that the Administration is maturing its plans for the issue of the Loan proposed by Secretary Cobb. Something of the nature of a conference on this subject is talked of, and well informed circles say there are intimations of a project of more than a mere loan.

Mr. Cisco, the U. S. Treasurer of New York, is now in Washington in consultation with the President and Secretary of the Treasury. It is said that there is in contemplation something like Gen. Jackson's plan of a Bank.

☞ The War Department has received despatches from the army in Utah, up to October 18. They were all in good spirits and afraid of nothing but snow. It will be necessary to winter upon the route, but the expedition "will make no retrograde movement," and will press forward to Salt Lake city in the spring. Col. Johnston recommends a strong reinforcement, to render the contest short and decisive.—The conduct of Col. Johnston is approved by Lieut. General Scott.

MANUMISSION OF SLAVES.—The will of the late George W. P. Curtis has been admitted to Probate in Fairfax County, Va. It appears that he directed that all his slaves, on his different plantations, be set free within the next five years, leaving it with his executors to provide the necessary funds from his estate to remove them from the Commonwealth. There are some two or three hundred slaves thus set free.

SIXTY SLAVES EMANCIPATED.—Mayor Weaver recently received a letter, dated New Orleans, from R. K. Walker, who states that he was appointed executor of the estate of Baker Woodruff of Louisiana, lately deceased, who by his will liberated all his slaves, numbering about sixty, and left instructions that they should be conveyed to Pennsylvania, and provision made for them for one year Mr. Walker writes that Pittsburg will probably be the destination of these people.—Pittsburg Gazette.

☞ Godey for January is the most elegant Magazine we have ever seen. It is the twenty-eighth year of the Lady's Book. This number contains 49 engravings, 60 articles, and one hundred pages! Godey is a most punctual publisher. The Lady's Book is $3 per ann. Louis A. Godey, publisher, Philadelphia.

PERSONAL.—Rev. John Pierpont has entered into conjugal relations with Mrs. Fowler, daughter of the late Mr. Arcibald Campbell, of Campbellville, N. Y. The reverend gentleman is 72 years of age, and this is his third marriage.

☞ A Quincy, Ill., paper tells a sad story of destitution. A German named Cramer, residing in that city, died lately of small pox, and the infection was caught by his wife and two children. No female nurse could be prevailed upon to attend them; but finally a man, whose name is not given but should be, volunteered his services, and attended the sick people with devoted care. Both the children died, but the mother is recovering. She has seen no female face since the beginning of her illness.

City Phalanx, Attention!

A MEETING of the Company will be held at their Armory, on Ladd Street, on TUESDAY EVENING, Dec. 15th, at 7 o'clock. The attendance of every member is requested, as business of special importance will come before them.

MARINE CHRONICLE.

PORT OF PORTSMOUTH.

Ship Anna Decatur, Parsons, from Gloucester, England, arr at Mobile 5th.

NAVAL.—The U. S. surveying schooner Meredith, Capt. Mitchell, arrived at Savannah 5th inst. from Portland, Me.

The U. S. steamer Powhatan, Commander George F. Pearson, for East Indies, sailed from below Norfolk 10th inst., having repaired the slight breakage in the main valve, which caused her detention.—The Powhatan will touch at Madeira, St. Helena and Cape Good Hope, at all of which places the steamer will receive coals. From thence she proceeds to the Isles of France and Shanghae, and finally to Hong Kong, in China, which is the station of the fleet. In the course of the cruise it is expected that she will visit Japan or Batavia, and all the islands in their waters. In returning she may come by the way of the Sandwich Islands and Cape Horn.—The cruise is for two years.

☞ There is in Richmond, Va., a family of juvenile slaves, seven innumber, who play on the sax-horn. Sixty thousand dollars have been offered for them, but they are to be sent to Europe, where it is expected that their musical talents, from the fact of their being slaves, will create a sensation.

STATE TEMPERANCE CONVENTION. The next annual New Hampshire State Temperance Convention will be held at Smyth's Hall, in Manchester, on Tuesday, Dec.15, at ten o'clock, for the choice of officers, and for the transaction of other important business connected with the interests of the cause in the State. Will not the friends of Temperance gather in large numbers, to consider the best means of carrying forward this enterprise at the present time? Much has been done, but still the work is not accomplished. We wish to see delegations from as many towns as possible. Let us have a great gathering of the working men, and lay our plans, and then let us carry them forward, till rumselling, with all its terrible results, is driven from our State. Among the speakers expected to be present and address the convention, are the Rev. Messrs. Whiting, Lamson and Hall, of Portsmouth; Prof. J. G. Hoyt, of Exeter; Rev. Mr. Holman of Great Falls;—Rev Mr. Hartwell, of Nashua; as well as many other active friends from different parts of the State.

LOTTERIES.

The well-known Maryland Consolidated Lotteries, of which Messrs. Mason & Sarvanah, managers, are chartered by the state of Maryland, and a commissioner elected by the people, who is sworn to superintend and certify that everything connected with them is done in a strictly honorable manner, and that the interests of parties who reside at a distance are as well protected as if they themselves were present at the drawing. Another fact which the managers call attention to, is, that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as lotteries are legalized by special law in that state. A lottery is drawn every month, and the prizes are all filled in the first drawing to take place after the communication comes to hand. The prices of tickets are from $1 to $10. No tickets are, however, sent unless the money for the same is received with the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers, which has so mystified the community for years past. Prizes vary in amount from $40 to $60,000. Magee's Patent Ventilating Stove.

FOR WARMING AND VENTILATING
PARLORS, OFFICES, HALLS, STORES, SCHOOL HOUSES, &c.

WHICH for economy, purity of air, and ease of management, has no equal. It can be regulated so as to give

Any amount of Heat required,

and unlike all other Anthracite Coal Burners, ventilates the apartments quite as thoroughly, as a wood fire or Franklin, producing a current of Air, at once moist, pure and agreeable, and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache, so much complained of by those using Stoves and Furnaces, is entirely obviated. The fire may be continued from one to four days without replenishing.

These Stoves are beautiful in design, and finished in the most perfect manner. They are equally appropriate, and have given universal satisfaction to all who have adopted them.

For Offices and Stores as well as the Parlor.

The Inventor challenges the world to produce an article by which so much Pure Warm Air can be generated, from so small an amount of fuel, requiring but about 15 pounds of Anthracite Coal, to warm an ordinary sized parlor for 24 hours, without replenishing, and then leaving fire enough to rekindle without the use of charcoal. The coal is all used, and no clinkers made, consequently, sifting coal is dispensed with.—When this Stove is properly managed,

THE FIRE MAY BE CONTINUED THROUGH THE ENTIRE SEASON,

without once going out. Added to all these qualifications, the purchaser may reasonably expect to save from 50 to 50 per cent. in fuel expense.

THE OLD YEAR.

Dropping, dropping, dropping,
Slowly dropping away,
Like the silent sands of the hour-glass,
Drops the old year, day by day.

Dropping, dropping, dropping:
No sound of spoken word;
But every day had a tale to tell,
Which only God has heard.

Dropping, dropping, dropping,
Swiftly dropping away;
So go the years of the earthly life
On their appointed way.

Dropping, dropping, dropping:
O, joy to see them go,
If they tell a tale in the Father's ear,
Of a holy life below.—Child's Paper.

ADULTERATED BRANDY.—A recent case was heard before Judge Gholson of Cincinnati, which is of interest to importers, retailers and drinkers of brandy. Wm. Glenny had purchased of Alexander Levy a lot of brandy, which, he says, was represented to him as pure French brandy, but which turned out to be a bogus article, and which, on an analysis by the professors of chemistry in the Ohio Medical College, was found to have as its base, corn whiskey, to which had been added Cognac oil, red pepper and burnt sugar. The Cincinnati Enquirer remarks upon this case, that—

"It is well understood that large quantities of neutral spirits, made from our common whiskey, are shipped to France, there manufactured into brandy, and returned to this country under the name of French brandy. It is returned in French casks, and comes through the custom-house to the public, as if it were the genuine article. Now that kind of brandy can be manufactured as well in Cincinnati as in France, and what is more, it is manufactured here, and of as good quality as that which comes through the custom house.

The idea of sending neutral spirit abroad to have it returned as French brandy, is to have the custom-house marks put on the casks so that purchasers may be made to understand that the article is a foreign one and not home made. There are tricks in all trades, it is said, and that is one practised by the dealers in foreign liquors."

Yes,—and these tricks are so bad, and so numerous, that there is no safety in meddling with the stuff.

☞ Mr. Webster considered it re-enacting the will of God to exclude slavery by law from New Mexico, which he believed naturally unfit for slave labor; but Senor Otero, the delegate to Congress from that territory, owes his election to his advocacy of the establishment of slavery there, and Judge Davenport, who opposed his election on that ground, will probably be removed, in accordance with the demands of the proslavery majority in the territory.

INDIAN SLAVES.—The St. Louis Democrat is "informed by a gentleman just from Nebraska, that some Indians are now held in slavery by a citizen of that place. The holder of them is recently from Utah, where he purchased them from the Mormons, where Indian slavery is one of the adjuncts of the plurality wife system, and he now continues to hold them, doubtless, 'in conformity with the Dred Scott decision.'"

Ye who drink, be warned by what you have seen. Remember, that the longer you indulge in the ruinous habit, the harder it will be for you to reform, and that the only surety you have against filling a drunkard's grave, and meeting the stormy terrors of a drunkard's doom, is to taste not the accursed thing.—Temp. Vis.

"Boy," said a gentleman a few days ago to an eight year old son of the Emerald Isle who stood looking at a funeral procession, with a countenance on which dirt and sympathy struggled for the supremacy—"boy, whose funeral is that?" "The man's in the coffin, sir," was the instant reply.

CHARADE.

My first has scared o'er Pisgah's top,
And crossed the Baltic Sea;
Again on earth it makes a stop,
Where authors use it free,
Wielded by Marshal, Back and Ross,

My next is plated, silver, gold:
Kings, Princes, at their dinner hold;
Thousands in Time by it they fell,
Ancient and modern histories tell.
My whole the scholars greatly prize,
When they from paper raise their eyes
To make repairs and think once more,
While their brief rests new thoughts restore.

LIFE OF A LION.

Let us sketch the story of a lion's life, beginning with his marriage, which takes place toward the end of January. He has first to seek his wife, but as the males are more abundant than females, who are often cut off in infancy, it is not rare to find a young lady pestered by the addresses of three or four gallants, who quarrel with the acerbity of jealous lovers. If one does not succeed in disabling or driving away the others, madam, impatient and dissatisfied, leads them into the presence of an old lion, whom she has appreciated at a distance. The lovers fly at him with the temerity of youth and exasperation—the old fellow receives them with calm assurance, breaks the neck of the first with his terrible jaws, smashes the leg of the second, and tears out the eye of the third. No sooner is the day won and the field clear, than the lion tosses his mane in the air, as he roars, and then crouches by the side of the lady, who, as a reward for his courage, licks his wounds caressingly. When two adult lions are the rivals, the encounter is more serious.

An Arab perched in a tree, one night, saw a lioness followed by a tawny lion with a full-grown mane; she lay down at the foot of a tree—the lion stopped on his path, and seemed to listen. The Arab then heard the distant growling of a lion, which was instantly replied to by the lioness under the tree. This made her husband roar furiously.

The distant lion was heard approaching; and as he came nearer, the lioness roared louder—which seemed to agitate her husband, for he marched towards her, as if to force her to be silent, and then sprung back to his old post, roaring defiance at his distant rival.

This continued about an hour, when a black lion made his appearance on the plain. The lioness rose to go towards him, but her husband, guessing her intention, bounded towards his rival. The two crouched and sprang at each other, rolling on the grass in the embrace of death. Their bones cracked, their flesh was torn, their cries of rage and agony rent the air: and all this time the lioness crouched, and wagged her tail slowly in sign of satisfaction.

When the combat ended, and both warriors were stretched on the plain, she rose, smelt them, satisfied herself that they were dead, and trotted off, quite regardless of the uncomplimentary epithet which the indignant Arab shouted after her.

This, Gerard, the lion-killer, tell us, is an example of the conjugal fidelity of my lady; whereas the lion never quits his wife, unless forced, and is quite a pattern of conjugal affection.

Our lion, then, is married, let us say.—He is the slave of his wife. It is she who always takes precedence; when she stops, he stops. On arriving at the douar (the collection of tents—what we call a 'village,') for their supper, she lies down while he leaps into the enclosure, and brings to her the booty. He watches her while she eats, taking care no one disturbs her; and not until her appetite is satisfied, does he begin his meal. Towards the end of December they seek an isolated ravine, and there she presents her lord with one, two, and sometimes three puppies: generally one male and one female. If the reader has ever seen or handled a puppy lion, he will understand the idolatry of the father and mother. She never quits them for an instant, and he only quits them to bring home supper. When they are three months old their weaning commences. The mother accustoms them gradually to it, by absenting herself for longer and longer periods, and bringing them peices of mutton carefully skinned.

The father, whose habitual demeanor is grave, becomes fatigued with the frivolous sports of his children, and for the sake of tranquility removes his lodging to a distance—within reach, however, to render assistance if required. At the age of four or five months the children follow their mother to the border of the forest, where their father brings them the supper. At six months old they accompany their father and mother in all their nocturnal expeditions. From eight to twelve months they learn to attack sheep, goats, and even bulls; but they are so awkward they usually wound too for one they kill; it is not till they are two years old that they can kill a horse or bull at one bite.

While their education is thus in progress they are ten times more ruinous to the Arabs, since the family does not content itself with killing the cattle required for its own consumption, but killing that the children may learn how to kill. At three years old, the children quit home and set up for themselves, becoming fathers and mothers in their turn. Their places are occupied by another brood. At eight years old the lion reaches maturity—he lives to thirty or forty. When adult he is a magnificent creature, very different in size, aspect, color and disposition from the lions to be seen in the menageries, and zoological gardens—animals taken from the mother's breast, bred like rabbits, deprived of the fresh mountain air and ample nourishment. As an indication of the size attained by lions in a state of nature, we may cite the fact mentioned by Gerard, that the strongest man in the cavalry regiment to which he belonged was unable to carry the skin and head of the lion Gerard had killed.—Westminster Review.

INSTEAD of being a panacea for all maladies, it has control over but ONE MALADY—has but ONE AIM—accomplishes but ONE THING, to wit: SUBDUES INFLAMMATORY DISEASE—whatever be its form or locality—whether in the head, throat, chest, abdomen, extremities or skin. Every form of inflammation (but no other disease) is subdued, by it as easily as fire is extinguished by water. Is it asked, how it does this?—simply by restoring the electrical balance in the fluids and solids. Such is its potency, that like vaccine matter, it requires merely what adheres to the point of a pin, slipped into a solution of it, to affect the entire system.

Morning Chronicle.

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 15, 1857.

IMPORTANT FROM WASHINGTON.—A dispatch from Washington, dated Dec. 12, states that the government is much pressed for money. So urgent, indeed, is the necessity for an immediate supply, that the Secretary of the Treasury on Saturday sent for Mr. Hunter, Chairman of the Committee on Finance of the Senate, urging Congressional action immediately, authorizing the issue of Treasury notes. The Secretary wanted Congress to take action on the matter on Monday; but in consequence of the arrangements already made to announce the death of the late Senator Butler on that day, the Senate will probably not act until to-day, (Tuesday,) when it is understood the Finance Committee will report a bill for the relief of the Treasury.

More than $100,000 has been distributed by the Sergeant-at-Arms, in part payment of the mileage of members of Congress.

It is contemplated to pass a resolution this week, to pay arrearages of salary, from the 4th of March last, now, instead of waiting until the end of the session. About $600,000 will be required for this purpose.

The House committee, appointed to inquire when the new hall will be ready for occupancy, have agreed to recommend a removal on Wednesday, although the premises are banked with rubbish and in an unfinished condition. Capt. Meigs, the Superintendent, has made no provision for the newspaper press, an omission for which he is justly censured. The Senate caucus yesterday postponed the proposition for the election of new officers, excepting the public printer, until December next. They were driven to this course by the importunateness of office-seekers. Speaker Orr on Saturday was closeted all day at the Capitol with his political friends, forming the standing committees.

Theodore Sedgwick has been appointed District Attorney of New York, vice McKeon, removed.

☞ We notice in papers all over the country, notices of revivals of religion—very numerous and extensive. This is especially true of New England. A while ago, when there was nothing of this sort, and when there were stories of declensions in some societies, there was a "shriek" for humbug, to this purpose—viz., that the 3000 protestant clergymen who dared to take an active part against slavery and intemperance were running down the churches. We laughed at the whim, and laugh at it now,—nevertheless we will use it now, turning it inside out. Are all these ministers who are filling their churches, old fogies, who preach only against the sins before the flood, but never trouble the moderns? We trow not.

☞ It is a remarkable coincidence, that just at the time when the Northern Banks are resuming specie payments, after a brief suspension, our hard money federal government should happen to be afflicted with "the shorts," and calling lustily on congress to authorise the issue of mammoth "shinplasters" in the shape of treasury notes. No doubt Congress will make the grant,—and from present appearances, Treasury Notes and U. S. Loans will be a common and favorite stock in the market this year and next.

A GREAT SCAMP.—The Bath Organ says "N. S. Stimpson, who is now in Augusta jail, charged with firing his own house in Windsor, confesses to a whole catalogue of crimes—that he set fire to his own house in that city, that he set the fire in which a woman and two children were burned, a few years ago, near Deacon Mitchell's, that he led the mob in burning the South Church, and that he was ringleader in the corner-stone mob on the site of the Catholic Church.

☞ Wolves and bears are very plenty and very audacious in Maine. One night recently a mail wagon twenty miles from Bangor, without passengers, was beset by about a dozen wolves, fierce and noisy. As they pressed hard upon the team, the driver let go the contents of a rifle, which laid out one of the hungry crew, and for a time checked their pursuit. This was providentially near the stopping place, upon arriving at which the driver was pretty well overcome with excitement and fright.

☞ Walker, the fillibuster, has landed in his new expedition, in the presence of U. S. ships of war. It will be difficult to make the people of this country believe that our government make any honest effort to prevent his movements.

Austrian engineers are using gun cotton for blasting purposes, with great success. The saving is two-thirds over powder.

"THE LITTLE GIANT."—The course of Senator Douglas on the Kansas question is exciting great attention. While many persons have not much faith in his motives or in his determined persistent earnestness, Southern ultraism may complicate affairs for him so that it will be impossible for him to retreat with any show of honor. In any event, he has passed the Rubicon, and is henceforth a marked man with the ruling power—that is with the Slave power—which never trusts a politician who has once faltered in its service. He must now abandon all hope of the aid of the South-ern Democracy in his aspirations for the Presidency.

But his position now is one of great interest, and if his character is such as has been claimed for him by his admirers, he will not be likely to shrink from the consequences. He has made a brave beginning, and if he is determined to show whether or not he is a power in his party, he has a glorious opportunity.

The correspondent of the Tribune writes:

Office-seekers are patriotically indignant at Douglas' opposition, and denounce him as worse than Republican. The President is much exercised, also, and told a gentleman yesterday, that he would determine on his appointment next week, unless demolished by Douglas.

The New York Courier and Enquirer's correspondent says:

"The President is stated, upon credible authority to have last evening declared, in a public company, that Mr. Douglas has ruined himself, and had better suffer the loss of his seat in the Senate, than to forfeit the attachment of the South.

The Herald has the following, dated the 10th:

A caucus of Southern Senators (thirteen in number) was held last evening, to consider what course they should pursue in reference to Senator Douglas. I understand they denounced his course, and unanimously read him out of the party.

The Times correspondent says:

Senator Wade of Ohio, who never misses the opportunity for a joke, met the defection of Douglas and Stuart with the declaration that it was the first slave insurrection he ever saw—a suggestion which excited not a little merriment among those who heard it.

The Washington Star declares that "there can be no half-way position on the Kansas question, as it has been precipitated upon the national administration and Congress;" and from the manner in which the party screws are threatened, as in the cases of Stanton, Walker, and McKeon, the administration will probably have a precious time of it.

The correspondent of the Baltimore Republican (Democratic) sustains Douglas, saying:

No one who did not hear can properly estimate the forcible, stirring, electrifying presentation of the arguments which the Senator has interwoven to sustain his position. Step by step, link by link, he traced the pledges of the supporters of the Nebraska bill in Congress, the Democracy in national convention at Cincinnati, the President in his instructions to Gov. Walker, the Kansas Governor in his acceptance of that appointment, the delegates to the Locompton convention—that popular sovereignty as applied to Kansas meant that the people should form their own institutions in their own way.

Mrs. Douglas and her mother were in the Senate gallery.

The correspondent of Forney's Press says that "Judge Douglas's speech will be printed in great numbers and circulated throughout the country. He may be said to have barely commenced the contest."

GOLD IN KANSAS.—Gold has been discovered in Kansas. George Buttler, United States Indian Agent in the Creek Nation, says that a portion of Kansas, between the 38th and 39th parallels, near Pike's on the South Platte, is auriferous. Mr. Beck, from the mining regions of North Georgia, has visited that part of the Territory, and says that for three hundred miles around gold may be obtainded.

QUICK TRAVELLING.—A gentleman left Bangor on Wednesday morning last at seven o'clock, and arrived at Gloucester at half past seven o'clock in the evening of the same day, making the passage of 296 miles in less than thirteen hours, including stoppages, or about 23 miles an hour.

☞ A man calling himself Charles Wood alias Blair, was arrested at Bridgeport, Conn., on Monday evening, and sent to jail, for passing four counterfeit bills on the Exchange Bank of Salem, Mass.

THE EFFECTS OF STRYCHNINE WHISKEY. A young woman in Cincinnati got drunk the other day, and was taken to the station; while there she had constant convulsions during which two men could not hold her, and she afterwards died. The doctors said the fits were caused by indulgence in strychnine whiskey.—Boston Courier.

What is the difference between having an exact copy of anything, and having an ailing wife and all the children down with the measels? One is a fac simile, and the other a sick family.

3 DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

ARRIVAL OF THE EUROPA AT NEW YORK.

Later from India—Defeat of the Mutineers at Agra—1000 of them Killed—Gen. Havelock safe at Lucknow.

NEW YORK, Dec. 14,—Steamship Europa, from Liverpool, 28th ult., arrived here this morning.

INDIA.—Fifteen troop ships, with 6000 men, had reached the India ports.

The mutineers were defeated at Agra, with the loss of 43 guns, and a great amount of treasure. 1000 were killed.

Gen. Havelock was still safe at Lucknow.

There will be 7000 troops there by the end of October. The enemy was in great force in the vicinity.

The King of Delhi is to be tried by a military commission. Two more of his sons have been shot.

ENGLAND.—The demand for money was diminishing, and the issues of the Bank of England were almost within limits again. Gold was flowing in steadily.

The British government will not bring forward financial measures until February.

The Ministers will propose the total abolition of the East India Company's government as soon as Parliament meets, the Indian empire to be brought under the British Crown and Parliament.

No further failures in London were announced.

The Bank of France had reduced its rate of discount 1 per cent.

It is reported that Spain has instructed Gen. Concha of Cuba to organize a force for Mexico if negotiations fail.

An extraordinary fight between a lion and a tiger, in a menagerie, is mentioned by a late English paper. The tiger was only eighteen months old, but of very large size; the lion was aged some six or seven years. It happened as follows:—

"The attendants had all left the menagerie to go to breakfast, when suddenly those in the carriage which the proprietors occupy were alarmed by an unusual outcry among the beasts. They soon discovered the cause. The tiger had burglariously broken through the slide, or partition dividing his den from that of the lion, and had the latter in his terrible grasp. The combat which ensued was a terrific one.—The lion acted chiefly on the defensive, and having probably been considerably tamed by his three years' confinement, the newly-imported tiger had the advantage. His attacks were of the most ferocious kind.—The lion's mane saved his head and neck from being injured, but his savage assailant at last succeeded in ripping open his belly, and then the poor animal was at the tiger's mercy. The lion was dead in a few minutes. The scene was a fearful one.—The inmates of every den seemed to be excited by the conflict, and their roaring and howling might have been heard a quarter of a mile distant. Of course men could not interfere while the conflict lasted, but when the tiger's fury had partially subsided, they managed to remove the carcase. He must have used his paws as a sort of battering-ram against the partition, as it was pushed in rather than torn down."

A citizen of Clinton village, Mo., (in imitation of a recent similar occurrence in Gardiner,) offered to give a barrel of flour to the clergyman of the village, if a party of fifty ladies would haul it to his residence with music. The challenge was accepted, and the ladies assembled, and, in place of a brass band, preceded by a cart containing a melodeon and player, and a good treble singer, took hold of the drag ropes, and toted the flour to the minister's house, singing on their way.—Arrived at the minister's house, the question was how to take the barrel from the wagon. But there was a woman ready even for that emergency. A strong-armed as well as strong-minded one came forward and lifted it out alone, as though it had been an infant, and deposited it at the minister's feet.—Portland Advertiser.

BOSTON BANKS.—At a meeting of Boston Bank directors at the Clearing House on Monday morning, all the banks except the Columbian were represented, and it was unanimously resolved to resume specie payments.

The banks of New Haven and Albany have resumed specie payments.

☞ Mr. Wm. Felton of Marblehead, was drowned in Salem harbor last week. He was in a dory, with a companion, lowling; and the gun kicked, and knocked him overboard, upsetting the boat. The two men clung to the dory for some time, and finally undertook to swim ashore, but Felton sank before he reached it. His companion was rescued.

☞ The papers have reported the death of Mr. Slade, who attempted to commit suicide in Bath. But the Organ says that though quite feeble, he is likely to recover.

Sidney Smith says "the Anglo-Saxon race was made for two purposes—to manufacture calico, and steal land which God gave for every man to use."

Do all the good you can in the world, and make as little noise about it as possible.

Should the democrats redeem New Hampshire at the next election, it seems quite probable that General Pierce will be elected to the U. S. Senate—if he will accept.—Bath Organ.

A lady describing an ill-tempered man, says, "He never smiles but he feels ashamed of it."

FROM CALIFORNIA.

TWO WEEKS LATER.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 12.—The Steamship Empire City, from New York, 24 inst., via Havana, is ashore at the Belize, but will probably be got off to-night. She connected at Havana with the Steamship Star of the West, from Aspinwall, with the California mails and about two and a quarter millions in treasure, for New York.

Walker, who, it will be remembered, took his departure from Mobile bay on the 13th ult. in the steamship Fashion, landed at Punta Arenas, in Nicaragua, on the 25th, with one hundred and fifty men. Not the slightest attempt was made to prevent the landing, and in fact the purpose of the expedition appeared to have not been even guessed.

The U. S. sloop-of-war Saratoga was lying in the harbor, and the Fashion passed under stern at full speed, with only ten men on deck. The whole party were landed on Scott's Wharf. Walker had, it seems, sent fifty men up the river by other entrances before making his appearance at Punta Arenas. After landing the expedition, the Fashion took her departure for Aspinwall, where, at the departure of the Star of the West, she was taking in coal.

Commodore Paulding, of the U. S. frigate Wabash, attempted to seize her at Aspinwall, but on examination of her papers found them correct, and consequently could take no further steps against her.

The British and American naval forces had sailed from Aspinwall for San Juan, and would very probably take part in the scenes in that vicinity, or at least prevent the landing of any more fillibusters.

It was supposed that the difficulties between Costa Rica, and Nicaragua, alluded to in previous accounts, would be settled without a resort to hostile measures.

The news by this arrival from California embraces no points of special interest. The public were much excited with regard to the seaworthiness of the Pacific mail steamers.

The Concord, N. H., Standard comes to us with a long leader marked with a pen, designed to sustain the abstract principle of slavery. We never before have seen such doctrines in a Northern paper, and the publishers may in future as well save their ink upon numbers sent to us. There are two subjects upon which we do not claim to be open to conviction; viz.: the right to burn heretics, and the abstract right of human slavery. We would not so degrade ourself in the estimation of every honorable Southerner as to defend the institution on abstract principles. Southern statesmen seldom attempt it, and they regard as the veriest likspittle any Northerner who does.—Bath Organ.

THE JEWETT CASE SETTLED.—We understand that the case of the Rev. George B. Jewett vs. the Concord Railroad Company, will not come to trial again, having been settled by the parties. Mr. Jewett is to receive from the Company an annuity of a thousand dollars a year during his life, and should Mrs. Jewett survive him, she will thenceforth receive five hundred a year until her decease. The annuity is to be reckoned from the time of the accident, and it is said that a bonus of one thousand is added, making $2500 for the first payment. Salem Register.

☞ It is reported that Frederick Lincoln was elected Mayor of Boston on Monday, and Caleb Cushing Mayor of Newburyport on the same day,—both Democrats.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

CLOAKS AND CLOAK GOODS.

If any of our readers are about purchasing a Cloak, or the materials to make one, they will of course visit NUMBER FIFTEEN MARKET ST., before buying.—Allen & Paine having appropriated one room of their store to that business entirely, are opening to-day one of the largest stocks in this city, including Cloaks, Broadcloths, Black, Brown and Drab Plush for Trimming. To those of their customers who prefer making their own Cloaks, they will give a pattern of any Cloak in their store.

☞ The only place in this city where an Ambrotype can be obtained, is at Davis' Ambrotype Gallery, No. 8 Daniel Street, as they have the Patent, and all infringements will be prosecuted. sept9

CANKER.

I hereby certify that some three months since my little girl, three years old, was attacked with what appeared to be Mumps, but upon examination was discovered it was Canker in the worst forms; so bad that for two or three days she could scarcely swallow. Having Myers' Extract Rock Rose at hand, we commenced giving it in doses of a teaspoonful every hour. In twenty-four hours there was a decided change for the better, and after administering it (less frequently) for three days, a perfect cure was effected.

I can with confidence recommend it to all similarly affected, and will not be without it in my house. CURTIS B. BLAKESLEE.
Northfield Society, Lichfield, Ct., Dec. 1853.

THERE ARE OCCASIONS

When even the healthiest people need medicine; the changes of diet, of weather, and hundreds of other causes, produce a laxity in the system that needs correcting, or in other words, the liver becomes slightly deranged and needs a stimulator. If all who find themselves in this situation will try Dr Sanford's Liver Invigorator, they may be sure of relief, as we can testify to its efficacy in curing Headache, Indigestion, Sour Stomach, and other ills so common in a family. It acts, as a medicine, easier and better than any dose of pills we ever swallowed, and so mild that the smallest infant can take it.

CROSS EXAMINED.

Am. Ballot, Dec. 10.—The evidence before the jury contradicted the statement of the Chronicle, that Capt. Wm. Walsh was drunk on the night of his disappearance.

Uncle Toby.—The evidence did no such thing—for two reasons. First, because the Chronicle made no such statement; and second, because the evidence was not full and perfect. It is rather remarkable that the Ballot should have blindly followed the blunder of the Gazette in both these respects; and more remarkable still, if both papers independently made the same blunders. But Mr. Gazette Blunderer, please to speak for yourself.

Gazette Blunderer, Dec. 5th.—A statement of the fact was made in a newspaper in this city; and the aspersion volunteered that the man was drunk, and thereby unable to control his own movements.

Uncle T.—Stop one moment. Who volunteered all this?

G. Blun.—The reverend editor.

U. T.—Ah, you mean Uncle Toby, in the Chronicle, as no other paper answers this description. But Uncle Toby did not say a word about it, and the Chronicle did not say this. Now, Chronicle, what did you say?

Chronicle, October 28th.—Capt. Walsh is supposed to have had considerable money about him; and is reported to have been in a condition in comparison to which drowning is far preferable.

Uncle T.—This is a very safe statement. There certainly were such reports and suppositions current among those who knew and valued the deceased man. But now Mr. Blunderer, please to give the evidence.

Gaz. Blunderer.—Not a particle of evidence has been obtained to show that the man had been drinking anything stronger than a glass of cider. Moreover it has been proved that the person in question seldom, if ever, drank intoxicating liquors.

Uncle T.—Seldom means sometimes but not often. And this is precisely what the man's habits were, generally good, but with occasional spress. And the other "particle of evidence" shows that on the fatal night he did drink cider. Mr. Blunderer, your evidence contradicts nobody but yourself; —your case came into court by your own blunder—and goes out as it came in.

☞ We understand that the Freewill Baptist Society which has recently met in the Temple, will now worship in the Old South Meeting House, where Rev. Mr. Perkins will preach to the united congregation. The City Missionary, who recently preached there, found himself obliged to suspend this portion of his labors, and will devote himself to the other departments of his work, which demand unusual effort this season.

☞ We are authorized to state that the Banks in this city have resumed specie payments.

☞ A horse driven by Mr. John Nutter, of this city, kicked up, on Mason's Hill, on Monday morning, and cleared himself from the wagon by breaking the shafts, &c.,—though without doing other damage.

As Mrs. John Sherburne of this city was riding to church in Greenland, Sunday, with Capt. Edward A. Frye of Boston, the horse was startled by the breaking of a bolt, and dashed the carriage against a fence—clearing himself, with the shafts attached to him, he ran half a mile. No great injury done.

☞ There will be preaching at the Second Advent Chapel, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, by Elder D. I Robinson.

☞ It will be seen that the first cargo of Fresh Oysters for the season, is just received by W. Freeman. Of course they are good. There is nothing better—or cheaper, for a lunch at the saloon, or a dinner at home.

☞ Several advertisements intended for this morning's paper, are unavoidably deferred till to-morrow.

UNCLE SAM.—This extensive individual has at last succombed to the pressure, and has suspended. We can imagine the old gentleman taking one or two of his steam-frigates to the pawnbrokers. It will be something new for "Uncle" to "shin it" on Wall Street for "anything over." His pocket has entirely recovered from its plethoric fit, and like common folks he will understand the worrying nature of the shorts.

THE GREAT BEAUTIFIER

So long unsuccessfully sought, FOUND AT LAST.

FOR IT RESTORES PERMANENTLY GRAY HAIR to its original color; covers luxuriantly the bald head; removes all dandruff, itching, and all scurfiness, scald head and all eruptions;—makes the hair soft, healthy, and glossy, and will preserve it to any imaginable age; removes, as if by magic, all blotches, &c., from the face, and cures all neuralgia and nervous headache. See circular and the following.

DOVER, N. H., Feb. 2, 1857.

Prof. O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: Within a few days we have received so many orders and calls for Prof. O. J. Wood's Hair Restorative, that today we were compelled to send to Boston for a quantity, (the 6 dozen you forwarded all being sold,) while we might order a quantity from you. Every bottle we have sold seems to have produced three or four new customers, and the approbation and patronage it received from the most substantial and worthy citizens of our vicinity, fully convinces us that it is A MOST VALUABLE PREPARATION.

Send us as soon as may be one gross of $1 size; and one dozen of $2 size; yours very resp'ly,

DANIEL LATHROP & CO.

Hickory Grove, Cheshire Co., Mo., 1856.

PROF. O. J. WOOD—Dear Sir: Some time last summer we were induced to use some of your Hair Restorative, and its effects were so wonderful, we feel it our duty to you and the afflicted, to report it.

Our little son's head for some time had been perfectly covered with sores, and some called it a scald head. The hair almost entirely came off in consequence, when a friend, seeing his sufferings, advised us to use your Restorative, we did so with little hope of success, but to our surprise, and that of all our friends, a very few applications removed the disease entirely, and a new and luxuriant crop of hair soon commenced growing, we now say that our boy has as healthy a scalp, and as luxuriant a crop of hair as any other child. We can therefore, and do hereby, recommend your Restoratives as a perfect remedy for all diseases of the scalp and hair. We are, yours respectfully.

GEORGE W. BRIGHTHARAN,
SARAH A. BRIGHTHARAN.

GARDINER, Me., June 22, 1855.

Prof. O. J. Wood—Dear Sir: I have used two bottles of Professor Wood's Hair Restorative, and can truly say it is the greatest discovery of the age for restoring and changing the hair. Before using it I was a man of seventy. My hair has now attained its original color. You can recommend it to the world without the least fear, as my case was one of the worst kind.

Yours Respectfully,

O. J. WOOD & CO., 312 Broadway, N. Y., (in great N. Y. Wire Building, Establishment) and 114 Market street, St. Louis, Mo.

GEORGIA LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Annuar & Son, are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed by the State, to superintend their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner, and that the interests of parties who reside at a distance are as well protected as if they themselves were present at the drawings. Another fact which the managers call attention to, is, that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as lotteries are legalized by special law in that state. A lottery is drawn at Savannah, Ga., about the 15th of every month, and another is drawn at Macon, Ga., every fortnight. As no particular class is named, orders are filled by the first drawing to take place after the communication comes to hand. The prices of tickets are from $1 to $10, no tickets are sold unless the money for the same is received with the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers, which has so mystified the community for years past. Prizes vary in amount from $40 to $30,000. Every prize being drawn, and result of drawing, or other information, forwarded to all purchasers.

A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount that each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers: New Orleans Delta, Savannah News, New York Dispatch, and New York Atlas. Write your address plainly, and direct to

Magee's Patent Ventilating Stove.

FOR WARMING AND VENTILATING
PARLORS, OFFICES, HALLS, STORES, SCHOOL HOUSES, &c.

WHICH for economy, purity of air, and ease of management, has no equal. It can be regulated so as to give

Any amount of Heat required,

and unlike all other Anthracite Coal Burners, ventilates the apartments quite as thoroughly, as a wood fire or Franklin, producing a current of Air, at once moist, pure and agreeable, and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache, so much complained of by those using Stoves and Furnaces, is entirely obviated. The fire may be continued from one to four days without replenishing.

These Stoves are beautiful in design, and finished in the most perfect manner. They are equally appropriate, and have given universal satisfaction to all who have adopted them.

For Offices and Stores as well as the Parlor.

The Inventor challenges the world to produce an article by which so much Pure Warm Air can be generated, from so small an amount of fuel, requiring the same attention as a Anthracite Coal, to warm an ordinary sized parlor for 24 hours, without replenishing, and then leaving fire enough to relaight without the use of charcoal. The coal is all used, and no clinkers made, consequently, sifting coal is dispensed with.—When this Stove is properly managed,

THE FIRE MAY BE CONTINUED THROUGH THE ENTIRE SEASON,

without once going out. Added to all these qualifications, the purchaser may reasonably expect to save from 30 to 50 per cent, in fuel expense.

A PROCLAMATION
TO THE LADIES.

WHEREAS, it appears that the days of right, honor, and integrity are fast fading away, and WHEREAS, the unscrupulous and ignorant are daily taking advantage of the profound and learned. BE IT KNOWN THEREFORE, to all, whether MAIDS, WIVES, or WIDOWS, that DR. CHEESEMAN'S FEMALE PILLS are ALONE the certain panacea for the female complaints incident to her organization; they ALONE correcting all painful menstruation, assuaging palpitations of the heart, fatness, pain in the side, and causing health and happiness to whole sex; more reliable fully to the MARRIED POSITION, as they are certain to bring on the monthly period with regularity.—AND WHEREAS, these PILLS are purely vegetable and entirely free from mineral's, therefore perfectly harmless in their operations and wholly unlike other medicines thrust upon the public, purporting to effect the objects already detailed. THEREFORE, BE IT KNOWN, that NOTHING but the said PILLS of DR. CHEESEMAN will accomplish the desired object, when unsuccessful has been experienced under the regime of OTHER PILLS; and the Ladies will cause this Proclamation to spread amongst them, to their own everlasting benefit—always promising that the said Proclamation in one case must be considered NULL and VOID; that is to say the PILLS SHALL NOT be taken when any female is in an interesting situation, otherwise a MISCARRIAGE will be the inevitable result.

Explicit directions, to be carefully read, accompany each box. Price $1. Sent by mail on enclosing $1 to Dr. CORNELIUS L. CHEESEMAN, Box No. 4,591, Post Office, New York City. Sold by Druggists in every town in the United States.

GARDINER, ME.—A letter writer says:—"A short time since a merchant from Boston, through a deputy Sheriff here, attached some jewelry, which was placed in the safe of an unoccupied store. One of the keys of this safe had been lost. Yesterday a man went into the store to make some repairs, and picked up several leather watch cases. Upon examination it was found that the safe had been opened and some $1500 worth of watches taken away. The plated ware the robber left.

Last Sunday night, Mr. Brooking's house was discovered to be on fire. He is an old miser. After the fire, the cellar resembled a Mexican silver or California gold mine, so busy were people—searching for gold and silver. Some $3,000 of melted gold and silver were sifted from the ashes, filling a large milk-pan holding some ten quarts.

Brookings has been in the habit of hiding his money in stone heaps and walls on his farm; and a long stocking full of silver coin was found in a stone heap, by his brother, a short time ago.

At the time of the fire he had $600 in bills and the silver and gold found in the cellar, stowed away under the chamber floor, next to the plastering. It was a sight to behold, to see the old miser frantically calling upon the bystanders to shoot him."

EXPENSES OF THE WORTH FUNERAL CELEBRATION.—The items of the funeral expenses of a great man are worth an analysis. The N. Y. Post says some of the items in the bills of the Gen. Worth funeral in that city are unique. Mr. Brown, (perhaps the most important member of New York society,) received $3,75 for tolling Trinity bell. The catafalque cost $1893. The war horse led behind the hearse was hired for a couple of dollars, from some livery stable. This is said to be his third appearance as the steed of deceased Generals. The liquor bill for the mourners was some $400. The artillery horses were hired from the Knickerbocker Stage Company. The erection of the platform for the feet of Mayor Wood, was supposed to be worth $110; and the removal of the rickety fence around it, which the wind would have done for nothing, cost $16.

BRIGHTER TIMES ARE COMING.—It must be so. Brighter times are coming. You cannot keep the American community down. They will rise. Business will improve. It is like a spiral spring, the harder you press it down, the greater will be its ascensive power. It will come up again. You cannot keep the American community down. With all our Railroads, our Telegraphs, our steamships, our merchant commerce, our cotton fields, our sugar plantations, our rich prairies in the West overloaded with grain, our factories in the North, our manufactories in almost every town, of every article adapted to human use,—you cannot keep the American people idle. They will work; business will revive; it is now on the very point of changing; the tide is now on young flood, and the waters will swell in, wave after wave, until not only the broad bay, but every creek and inlet will be full.—Shoe-makers, factory-hands, carpenters, masons, and all other kinds of operatives, will have as much as can do.—Trumpet.

☞ An attack by hooped petticoats on hooped barrels, came off at Milledgeville, Correll county, Illinois, a few days ago; and resulted in a signal victory by the former. The ladies attacked a grog shop about twelve o'clock at night, smashed the bottles, stove in the barrels, and wound up by putting fire to a keg of powder, which blew the concern "all to flinders."

☞ Capt. A. S. Dearborn, Postmaster at Chester, having engaged extensively in certain bogus lottery schemes, has been superceded by Thomas J. Hazelton.

☞ Mr. Talford of Bedford, N. H., raised this year from one potato 66 lbs., or a little over a bushel of fine healthy tubers,—of the California potato, excellent for the table.

"GOUGE ON BANKING" is the title of a work, a new edition of which has just issued from the press. A contemporary aptly remarks that "Banks on Gouging" would be an appropriate title for a work setting forth the operations of the present system.—Boston Post.

HARD TIMES.—The liquor dealers in Broadway, New York, poor fellows! are suffering. Their business has fallen off 40 per cent. Many are falling and some are mizzling. Some should suspend—in the old way.—Boston Bee.

☞ There are 50,051 rice plantations in the South, the annual product of which is worth about $4,000,000.

An Emeralder, being charged with stealing a wagon, swore he had had it ever since it was a wheelbarrow.

The chairs of the new Hall of Representatives at Washington, cost $70 each, and the desks $90 each.

VOL. 11. PORTSMOUTH, N. H., WEDNESDAY, DEC. 16, 1857. NO. 112.

A STORY FROM THE NUTMEG STATE.—Many years ago, when as yet there was but one church in the old town of Lyme, Connecticut, the people were without a pastor. They had been for a long time destitute, and now were on the point of making a unanimous call for a very acceptable preacher, when a cross grained man, by the name of Dorr, began a violent opposition to the candidate, rallied a party, and threatened to defeat the settlement.—At a parish meeting while the matter was under discussion, a half-witted fellow rose in the house and said he wanted to tell a dream he had last night. He thought he died, and went away where the wicked people go, and as soon as Satan saw him, "he asked me where I came from."

"From Lyme, in Connecticut," I told him right out.

"Ah! and what are they doing in Lyme?" he asked.

"They are trying to settle a minister," I said.

"Settle a minister," he cried out. "I must put a stop to that! Bring me my boots; I must go to Lyme this very night!"

"I then told him, as he was drawing on his boots, that Mr. Dorr was opposing the settlement, and very likely he would prevent it altogether."

"My sarvent Dorr!" exclaimed his majesty. "My sarvent Dorr! Here, take my boots; if my sarvent Dorr is at work, there is no need of my going at all!"

This speech did the business. Mr. Dorr made no further opposition; the minister was settled, but his opponent carried the title "My sarvent Dorr" with him to the grave.—Harper's Magazine.

CALIFORNIA CIRCULATING RHYMES.—When from my room I chance to stray, to spend an hour at close of day, I ever find a place most dear, where some friend treats lager beer.—Sacramento Age.

Ah! yes, my friend of city life, sure such a treat cures such a strife; but better than such a dose by far, are pleasures of a fine cigar.—Placer Herald.

Such pleasure may suit baser minds, but with the good no favor finds; we think the purest joy in life, is making love to one's own wife.—Volcano Ledger.

Most worthy choice, my worthy friend, in Hymen's joys your cares to end; but we, though tired of single life, can't boast of having our own wife, and so, when 'neath our cares we faint, we fly to kiss some gal that ain't—yet.—Napa Reporter.

"That 'lager beer" will bile provoke, while "fine Havanas" end in smoke. To court one's wife, is better far, than lager beer or vile cigar; kisses, the dew of life's young morn, break on the lips as soon as born.—These are all naught to that greatest joy, the first-born boy.—Evening Ledg.

'Tis true a boy's a wished-for blessing, but then suppose the first's a girl? a dear, sweet child, with ways caressing, with pouting lips and flaxen curl, whose dimpled cheeks and laughing eye, to come and bid "papa" good bye? So whether boy or whether t'other, embrace the babe and then the mother.—San Francisco Globe.

"This is my home!" cried a little one, a treasured boy of four summers, as, fresh and rosy, he came in from school, at the close of a short winter afternoon.

"Indeed, little Willie," said his mother's visitor, "how is it? Suppose you go out on the sidewalk and try the next door; suppose you step into the entry, throw off your little sack as you do here, and proceed to the parlor—wouldn't that be your home?"

"No indeed," said Willie, "that wouldn't be it."

"But tell me why not?"

Willie had never thought of this. He paused for a moment, then directing his eyes to where his mother sat quietly sewing, he replied with an earnest gesture—"She lives here."

USURY IN THE RURAL DISTRICTS.—Rural Money-lender—"You want a hundred dollars! Here's the money; I charge five per cent. a month, and as you want it for a year, that leaves just forty dollars coming to you."

Innocent Borrower—"Then if I wanted it for two years, there'd be something coming to you, oh?"

It is a melancholy reflection, says the Louisville Journal, that the state of our domestic relations is such that it would be a doubtful compliment to call any citizen the Father of his Country.

"Sir, can you tell me how to find the sheriff's office?" "Yes, sir," was the reply; "every time you earn five dollars, spend ten!"

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 16, 1857.

THE SLAVE TRADE.

Our readers may know that the African slave trade has been for years denounced, and that it is, by the laws of the United States, considered piracy to engage in it.—Some of them may remember that during the last five years many articles have been published in Southern papers (and extracts from them re-published in the free States,) advocating the reopening of the African slave trade, as well as the making of slavery perpetual and general in the States and Territories.

A few people may also remember that the ultra pro-slavery men of the South, the men who hold these very doctrines,—held the balance of power in the Cincinnati Convention, controlled the platform and the nomination of President, and put in a Vice President of their own.

Many papers of the Democratic party in the free States, however, during the Presidential canvas, and since, have ridiculed the idea than anybody but a few fire-eaters had any idea of opening the slave trade, or any wish to open it.

Now we have before us the Concord, N. H., Democratic Standard, containing as its leading editorial an article of two columns and a half, of pleas for slavery and the slave trade,—from which we make a few extracts, merely to show that one paper in New Hampshire is an open advocate of slavery. The Standard has the reputation of being edited in part by Mr. Burke. In the discussions of late years it has been against Pierce and the Patriot, and for Buchanan and his administration so far. It bore the name of Asa P. Cate as candidate for governor,—and under this head it has the article whence we make the following extracts:—

It seems to us that slavery is a necessity to our brethren of the planting States—primarily to them, and consequently, we may add, to the whole civilized world, as we will endeavor to show hereafter. Therefore they do and will insist on retaining the institution. * * * We have now much more land capable of producing sugar and cotton than we have slave labor to cultivate it. Hence there is a large and increasing demand for an addition to slave labor by means other than the natural increase of the slaves. An increase by any other means is, and probably would be, successfully opposed by the free States of the Union. Yet the necessity will continue to increase and its want continue to be more deeply felt by the people of the South. And here we may note another cause which will, in future, constantly operate to bring about a dissolution of the Union.

That is to say—if they cannot be allowed to commit this slave piracy, they will dissolve the union. But let us hear the Democratic Standard again.

Is not the negro a barbarian and cannibal in his native land? Is he not benefited by slavery? And while he is benefited in that condition, does he not contribute largely to the comforts and luxuries of civilized man? Is he not, in a state of servitude, a great and valuable agent in the great scheme of modern civilization? And if he were set free, would he not be the reverse, and would he not relapse into his awful state of barbarism? * * *

But, let us be understood. We are no advocate for the introduction of slavery into the northern agricultural and manufacturing States.

[Seems to me, (says an old fellow bystander,) I have read something about our southern brethern bringing their servants this way in summer.] Once more hear the Democratic Standard.

Now, each section should let the system and institutions of the other alone, and all will be well. And under the introduction of both systems, this great Union of confederated sovereign States will march on its great career of prosperity, progress, and civilization, until it reaches an acme of population, wealth, power, and grandeur, such as the world has never yet beheld.

Democrats of New Hampshire—is not this a beautiful programme? Under the double system of slavery and freedom, in which slavery must bear rule and dictate to freedom, you shall have just so much liberty as your masters allow you,—perfect freedom to act as you are told. Servants, obey your masters! and let them re-open the slave trade!! If you don't—they will dissolve the Union. Think of that, Master Burke.

THE SLAVE TRADE.—A minority of the Committee of the House of Representatives of South Carolina, on so much of the Governor's message as proposed a revival of the slave trade, have presented a report which discourages the project, as unlikely to benefit the State.

☞ In London $130,000,000 are annually expended for bread,—$250,000,000 for ardent spirits.

☞ 12-13ths of the idiots are offsprings of drunken parents.

CONGRESS.—In the U. S. Senate, Monday, the death of Senator Butler was formally announced, and no business was transacted.

Mr. Wilson said he had been desired by Mr. Sumner to state that owing to the condition of his health, he desired to be excused from serving upon any of the standing committees.

In the House, the standing committees were announced.

THE NEW SPEAKER.—The New York Post says, "Col. Orr, who has just been elected Speaker of the U. S. House of Representatives, like his able and accomplished predecessor, Mr. Banks, started in humble life, being the son of a South Carolina clock peddler. He is some-what unpopular with the fire-eating exclusives at the South, as well from his Union-saving principles as from what they consider his plebian origin and associations. Col. Orr is about forty, of large frame, of a rotund stomach, and with a set of lungs of immense power. When he rises to catch the speaker's attention, his shrill voice soars above the tumult of the House like the whistle of a locomotive. He is singularly prompt, quick-witted in argument and retort, and pays the closest attention to every detail of House business. Orr is a man of the world, of pleasant social feelings, and thus is enabled to put through the partizan work he assumes more effectually than a person of more austerity and ostentation."

☞ The municipal election in Boston, on Monday, resulted in the choice of Frederic W. Lincoln, jr., for Mayor, by a majority of nearly four thousand. The vote was large—and the result, we take it, is no temperance victory, but rather otherwise,—as might naturally be expected of Boston. The Journal states that "Mr. Lincoln is a man of high moral character, and is generally known and respected by the citizens. He is a mechanic, has filled many offices of trust in the State government, and has identified himself with the great charitable and religious works of the day. He is also known as an active temperance man, although not, we believe, in favor of the present prohibitory law."

This may be all correct—though the real temperance (total-abstinence) men who oppose the prohibitory law, are scarce. It may be well in this connection to give another paragraph from the Journal, which may have some connection with this "temperance but no Maine law" theory.

The polls were kept open until seven o'clock in the evening for the first time in the history of our city, and the experience of this occasion is such as to lead all good citizens to hope that it may be the last.—At a number of the ward-rooms, between five and seven o'clock, there was a display of noisy conduct, bordering on rowdyism, such as we are unused to witness at the polls in Boston. We believe we coincide with the almost unanimous wish of the better portion of our citizens, when we express the hope that we may have no more voting by gaslight.

☞ The Herald states that the municipal election in Newburyport on Monday was more closely contested than ever before.—For a week the people had been kept in a high state of excitement. The only issue was the liquor law: Wm. Cushing being opposed this year, as last, simply on the ground of his opposition to that law and a refusal to apply its provisions to the liquor traffic in Newburyport. The people are very equally divided, and it was so full a vote—larger in proportion to the number of names on the check lists than was ever cast before—that this may be considered as an expression of the decision of the legal voters that they do not wish any change to be made in the matter at issue. The vote was for Cushing, (anti-temperance,) 968; Colby, (temperance,) 931. The Board of Aldermen stands 3 anti-temperance to 3 temperance. In the Common Council the Cushing party have a majority. Cushing's plurality in 1855 was 82; in 1856, 261; in 1857, 38.

JUSTICE COURT AT WEST NEWBURY.—T. L. Tyler was taken before H. F. Emery, Esq., on Saturday last, on complaint of William F. Loring, for a violation of the liquor law. He was convicted on two indictments, and fined ten dollars and twenty days in the House of Correction on the first, and twenty dollars and thirty days on the second. Appealed.

W learn that the house kept by Tyler has been a place of resort for the young men of the town, and many have been led from the paths of respectability and sobriety thereby. We think that th Justice exercised a degree of clemency in this matter, that he could hardly have commended had his own children been the victims of rumselling diabolism.—Newburyport Her.

NEW YORK BANKS.—New York, Dec. 14. The weekly bank statement shows an increase in loans of $192,350; decrease in specie of $600,955; decrease in circulation of $210,506; decrease in deposites of $3,126,931. Total specie $26,058,877.

THE LANDING OF GENERAL WALKER.—Aspinwall, Dec. 2.—Gen Walker has landed at Greytown.

The following is all that is known at present, of this fresh expedition:—

On the 24th of November, a small steamer called the Fashion, appeared off the port. It did not attempt to enter, but ran down to the Colorado river, where Gen. Walker landed 60 men. On the following day, she came into Greytown at full speed, with only ten men on deck, ran alongside a hulk, and before the boats of the U. S. sloop Saratoga could board her. Walker and his party, amounting to 150 men, had landed. At Mr. Scott's, Capt. Chatard of the Saratoga, ordered them away from Mr. S.'s premises, and has taken Greytown and the property belonging to the Transit Company, under his protection. He has also informed Walker that he will not allow any depredations to be committed in either place.

On the Fashion's papers being overhauled, it was found that she regularly cleared from the Custom House at Mobile. She is now here (Aspinwall.)

Gen. Walker landed 300 men at San Juan del Norte, and took possession of the town.

A lieutenant of the Saratoga, who happened to be on shore, was ordered by Walker to go on board his (the lieutenants' ship.

On the evening of the 3d, the frigate Wabash, together with the English ship-of-the-line Brunswick and steam frigate Leopard, sailed for San Juan, which place they would blockade. They would also probably take measures to prevent Walker's troops from passing up the river.

One hundred and forty-one landed on the hulk on the point opposite Greytown, making 186 in all; Walker, at the head of all, scrambled over the side of the hulk, and from thence to dry land. They are all well-armed with Minnie rifles. The party of 45, landed at the mouth of the Colorado, is commanded by Capt. Frank Anderson, who was one of the original 56 who went from California with Walker in his first invasion of Nicaragua. Upon landing, the party immediately proceeded up the Colorado to its junction with the San Juan, twenty miles from Greytown, and took possession of the warehouse of the Transit Company, and began to appropriate lumber. They were ordered off by Capt. Chatard, of the Saratoga, and they then took possession of some native huts. Lieut. Cilley attempted to land on the point with two men, on a gunning excursion. He was ordered off by Walker. Cilley replied that he was an American citizen, and had as good a right there as Walker. Walker answered,—"I have here 150 men to your two. If you do not leave immediately, I will arrest you." Cilley left.

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—The Times' Aspinwall correspondent gives the following particulars of affairs at Greytown: "Our first report here was that the Fashion, when the town hove in sight, ran in under a full head of steam, and anchored close to the Point before Capt. Chatard could get his boats out to stop her. The inference was that he had no time to prevent the landing of the men and arms, but this is not so.

☞ Peterson's Magazine, for January, 1858, is a capital number—fully equal to most of the $3 magazines. Two fine engravings—"Grandpapa's carriage," and "Mother's darling;" with fashion-plates, &c. The literary contents are up to the highest standard of the lighter reading.—J. P. Morse is agent in Portsmouth—J. J. Dyer & Co., 38 School st., Boston. Only $2 per year. Chas. J. Peterson, publisher, Philadelphia.

SALE OF PRESIDENT PIERCE'S CARRIAGE. The carriage presented to ex-President by the citizens of Boston was sold on Saturday in Boston, for $410. Messrs. Brown & Severance, Boston, were the purchasers. The proceeds are to be devoted to the support of the poor of Concord, N. H.

☞ There are 300,000 drunkards in our country, 40,000 of whom annually find a drunkard's grave; 20,000 widows are made annually, and 100,000 orphans, 10,000 of whom become a public charge. Four-fifths of all the crime in our midst is traced directly to the use of intoxicating liquors.

American and Foreign Patents.
R. H. EDDY, solicitor of Patents,
(Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837.)
No. 70 State st, oppo. Kilby st, Boston,
AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions,—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.
This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate.—The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining patents.
All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
Testimonials.
"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUNDBURKE,
Late Commissione of Patents."
From the present Commissioner.
AUGUST 17, 1855.—During the time I have held the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the office, as a Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse.
CHAS. MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

S. D. & H. W. Smith,
—MANUFACTURERS OF—
Melodeons, Organ Melodeons,
—and—
PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,
No. 511 Washington St., Boston.
The first premium over all competitors, at the Fair of the Mass. Charitable Mechanic Association, of the National Fair, Washington, D. C., also at the Ohio State Fair, held at Columbus, Ohio, were awarded to these Manufacturers.
By means of a new method of Voicing, known only to themselves, they have succeeded in removing the harsh and buzzing sound which formerly characterized the instrument, and rendering the tones full, clear and organ like. The action is prompt and reliable, enabling the performer to execute the most rapid music without blurring the tones. The swell is arranged to give great expression.
THE PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,
Are designed particularly for Churches, Lodges, Halls, &c. He is arranged with two manuals, or banks of Keys, the lower set running an octave higher than the other, and may be used separately, and thus get in one case two distinct instruments; or by use of the coupler, the two banks of keys may be played at the same time by use of the front set only. This connected with the Pedal Bass, will produce the effect of a large organ, and is sufficiently heavy to fill a house that seats from 1000 to 1500 persons.
THE ORGAN MELODEON
Is designed for parlor and private use. The construction is similar to the Church instrument, being arranged with two banks of Keys, and when used together, by means of the coupler, is capable of as great volume of power as the Church instrument when used without the pedals. Also, every variety of MELODEONS for Parlor use.
Purchasers may rely upon instruments from our Manufactory, being made in the most complete and thorough manner. Having removed to the spacious Buildings
511 Washington Street,
We have every facility for manufacturing purposes, and employ none but the most experienced and skilful workmen. In short, we will promise our customers an instrument equal, if not superior, to any Manufacturer, and guarantee an entire and perfect satisfaction.

CANKER.
I hereby certify that some three months since my little girl, three years old, was attacked with what appeared to be Mumps, but upon examination was discovered it was Canker in the worst forms; so bad that for two or three days she could scarcely swallow. Having Myers' Extract Rock Rose at hand, we commenced giving it in doses of a teaspoonful every hour. In twenty-four hours there was a decided change for the better, and after administering it (less frequently) for three days, a perfect cure was effected.
I can with confidence recommend it to all similarly affected, and will not be without it in my house. CURTIS B. BLAKESLEE.
Northfield Society, Lichfield, Ct., Dec. 1858.

THERE ARE OCCASIONS
When even the healthiest people need medicine; the changes of diet, of weather, and hundreds of other causes, produce a laxity in the system that needs correcting, or in other words, the liver becomes slightly deranged and needs a stimulator. If all who find themselves in this situation will try Dr Sanford's Invigorator, they may be sure of relief, as we can testify to its efficacy in curing Headache, Indigestion, Sour Stomach, and other Bilious Complaints in a family. It acts, as a medicine, easier and better than any dose of pills we ever swallowed, and so mild that the smallest infant can take it.

POLICE COURT.

TUESDAY, DEC, 15.

Before Justice Odell. Daniel F. Hayes complained of Edward H. Hill and two younger brothers, for theft of sundry cows from the Hill farm. Hayes is tenant on said farm, and claims the cows by virtue of a lease—which Hill contends Hayes has broken, and thereby forfeited all claim in the premises.

Hayes was charged with breaking the terms of the lease, before this same Court, last summer; and received legal notice to quit the premises. Justice Odell decided in favor of Hill; but Hayes appealed to a higher Court; and, while awaiting decision, continues to live on the farm—where Hill contends he is a trespasser, since receiving the notice to quit.

To keep the cows from Hayes, Hill drove them away from the farm on the night of the 3rd of December, to the farm of Mr. York in Greenland—hoping, as stated in the evidence, thereby to induce Hayes to quit the premises—they being his chief dependence.

Hayes advertised the cows as stolen; and after discovering that Hill removed them, brought this action against Hill for theft.

The Justice decided that Hill, having a "color of claim or title" to the property, no action for stealing the same could be brought against him—and dismissed the case, Hayes of course to pay the costs.

Oliver Edgerly of Newington, also complained of Edward L. Hill, for aiming and snapping a pistol at him, on the morning of the 8th December. After Hayes had discovered the whereabouts of the cows, and driven them back to the Hill farm; Hill, in driving them away again, was opposed by Edgerly, (who afterwards claimed authority from Richard Pickering, who had claim on two of the cows.) It was given in evidence that Edgerly brandished a club at Hill, and that Hill was only acting in self-defence.

But the Justice decided that Hill went too far, in aiming the pistol, even if unloaded and uncapped; and fined Hill $5 and costs.

We did not hear all the evidence in these cases, but have endeavored to give a correct report.

☞ The work on the Custom House in course of erection here, is now progressing, apparently, very favorably, under the direction of Mr. —— Strong, who takes charge of the work for Mr. Brooks, bondsman for the contractor, Mr. Merrill. The big Drain, through State street, Mr. Strong informs us, will be completed in a few days, if the weather continues favorable. The back wages of the laborers and others, due for services rendered when Mr. Merrill was in charge, have never been paid; but the laborers don't mean to lose if they can help it—for which who can blame them? Mr. Strong has employed many of the same men—some of whom were disposed to make trouble after they had worked three days, (it being Saturday night,) because they could not get their dues then.

Mr. Strong tells us that he has had much trouble with some of these men, who have in various ways interrupted and insulted him and thus disturbed the men at work, during the past ten days; and on Saturday last, there was quite a row occasioned by one of them. After some words had passed between Strong and an Irishman, the latter began to throw dirt into the trench, upon which Strong grappled the Irishman. A general row ensued, and Mr. Strong was knocked into the trench, badly cut and bruised by the laborer's tools—and would perhaps have been killed, but for the interposition of the masons near. Strong says he has complained several times to the city authorities, and called for legal protection—but without effect. He thinks Portsmouth has no police—and is the first city he ever saw that was ruled by Irishmen.

We should regret this state of things, if so,—but there are two sides to every story; and it is said that Strong, being used to living in a land of slavery, is not too careful of the rights of the free working-man.—We certainly hope that the work will be carried on smoothly in future; and the men get their wages promptly, as they ought to.

☞ We understand that the Sabbath School at the old South Church, will be continued under the direction of the City Mission; and that the Missionary is expected to resume preaching there at the opening of the ensuing Spring, should the house not be otherwise occupied.

☞ The "Remembrance Mazurka" is the title of a new and beautiful peice of Sheet Music for the Piano, just received, with a host of others, by Charles C. Harvey.

THE PHILOSOPHY OF SPIRITUAL MANIFESTATIONS"—Messrs. Editors:—We were led by the idlest curiosity to attend the lecture at Hanover st. Chapel, Monday evening. Not knowing what views were to be presented, whether an expose like that of Dr. Mahan, or a warm defence by some neophytic believer, we were to give the lecturer his due. We had heard of, and partialy beleived in, the manifestations called spiritual. There seems to be a power within, dormant in some, active though unhealthy in others, which mysterious at present, will yet be as clearly seen and understood as is permitted in the province of metaphysics.

Of course in every science, empirics will be found, nor is that of spiritualism free from them. It seemed to us to be an imperative duty for every honest man, to inquire into the matter; and with such a laudable errand, we proceeded to the hall.

Never before was it our fortune to listen to a more condensed amount of the veriest twaddle. The lecturer, Mr. Asa Fitts of Boston, seemed to have mingled a dozen different philosophies into one heterogeneous mass; which, sifted through the views of his own individuality, assumed a form still more incongruous. But of the depth of this new philosophy your readers may perhaps prefer to form their own judgment. Reserving such remarks as we should like to make, till some future paper, we will endeavor, as memory will permit, to give a brief synopsis. But before commencing, we would state that the lecturer professed to base his theory wholly upon the Bible.

The argument was as follows: The days in which, according to Genesis, our sidereal system was created, are merely symbolical. The Spirit of God, in electricity, moved upon the waters. In the centrifugal force thus called into action, the planetary system flew off, like scintillations, from the sun. The vapors formed from this phenomenon for a time, obscured the new-born earth; this gradually exhaled, and light was! After this, man, vegetable-like, grew out of the earth. All races are aborigines, and of different degrees of intellect, graded by the concomitants of their birth. There are ten races, and as many separate origins. The Caucassian is the superior, all others slaves.

He then turns to spirits. Of these the Bible gives numerous instances. It is through ministering angels that all inspiration exists. Moses and Christ were men, continually surrounded by angels who dictated their speech.

All nature is spirit. The trees, the flowers, all things have two spirits, the material and immaterial. That which we call our reason, constitutes the soul: without the senses, no man can be cognizant of an exterior world—ergo, can have no soul. But no man was ever thus found, for God has never created man without sensibility in a more or less modified degree.

The spirits are possessed of the same beauties and the same defects as pertained to their bodies while mortals. (Oh, what a tittering among the fairer portion of the audience, at this.) These spirits know, think, feel, smell, like ourselves. They are always around us; we should therefore keep ourselves both spiritually and carnally pure.

The lecturer then went on to show that there are other phenomena in the physical world which as yet have not met with sufficient explanation. The wise men of Harvard will not believe in these manifestations because their minds are not large enough to compass them.

Here we left,—and cannot therefore follow him farther. J. K.

Portsmouth, Dec. 15.

☞ It is probable that a much larger number of persons than common, are now attending religious meetings in this city, both on the Sabbath and other days and evenings of the week. Besides the usual attendance, and rather more than that, at the churches in which no change has recently been made; a very large congregation is gathered at the Temple on the Sabbath,—and meetings held in the vestry through the week, by the Christian Society worshipping there; the Free Will Baptists gather a considerable congregation, hereafter to worship in the Old South Church; and the Spiritualist lecturers or preachers fill Academy Hall or Hanover Street Chapel. "Prove all things—hold fast that which is good."

Rev. Dr. Peabody, of Portsmouth, delivered the second lecture of the course upon "Religious history," before the Boston Young Men's Christian Union, on Thursday evening. The relation of the Grecian and Roman mythologies to Christianity was discussed with great perspicuity of language and fullness of illustration. The large audience in attendance listened with evident satisfaction to the learned speaker. —Transcript.

LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have seven commissioners appointed to superintend their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as well protected as if they were present. The Manager would respectfully call attention to the fact that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are authorized by the Legislature of that State. A Lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year, all orders received being filled in the drawing next to take place after the receipt of the same. According to the schemes one ticket in every ten must draw a prize. Tickets are $10: halves, $5; quarters, $2.50. No tickets sent unless the money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers to mystify the buyer. Prizes vary from $40 to $50,000; every prize being drawn, and result of drawing forwarded to all purchasers.
☞ A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers:—New Orleans Delta, Mobile Register, Charleston Standard, Nashville Gazette, Atlanta Intelligencer, and New York Weekly Day Book. Write your address plainly, and direct to
S. SWAN & CO., Macon, Georgia.
Prizes paid in full—no percentage deducted from prizes as in other lotteries.

LOTTERIES.

The well-known Maryland and Georgia consolidated Lotteries, of which R. FARRAS & Co are the managers, are chartered by the state of Maryland, and a commissioner elected by the people, who is sworn to superintend and certify that everything connected with them is done in a strictly honorable manner, and that the interests of parties who reside at a distance are as well protected as if they themselves were present at the drawing. Another fact which the managers call attention to, is, that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Maryland, as lotteries are legalized by special law in that state. A lottery is drawn every day of the month. If no particular class is named, orders are filled in the first drawing to take place after the communication comes to hand. The price of tickets vary from $1 to $20. No tickets are, however, sent out unless the money for the same is received with the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers, which has so mystified the community for years past. Prizes vary in amount from $40 to $50,000. Every prize being drawn, and result of drawing, or other information, forwarded to all purchasers.
A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount that each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers: New Orleans Delta, Savannah News, New York Dispatch, and New York Atlas. Write your address plainly, and direct to

So long unsuccessfully sought,
FOUND AT LAST.

FOR IT RESTORES PERMANENTLY GRAY HAIR to its original color; covers luxuriant hair, prevents its falling, dandruff, itching, and all scrofula, scald head and all eruptions;—makes the hair soft, healthy, and glossy, and will preserve it to any imaginable age; removes, as if by magic, all blotches, &c., from the face, and cures all neuralgia and nervous headache See circular and the following.

DOVER, N. H., Feb. 2, 1857.

Prof. O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: Within a few days we have received so many orders and calls for Prof. O. J. Wood's Hair Restorative, that today we were compelled to send to Boston for a quantity, (the last we received, being all used, sold,) while we might order a quantity from you. Every bottle we have sold seems to have produced three fold more customers. In the opinion of the proprietors of all our friends, very few applications removed the disease entirely, and a new and luxuriant crop of hair sometimes grew out, so that we say that our boy has as healthy a scalp, and as luxuriant a crop of hair as any other child. We can therefore, and do heartily, recommend your Restorative, as a perfect remedy for all diseases of the scalp and hair. We are, yours respectfully,
GEORGE W. HIGGINBOTHAM,
JOHN H. HIGGINBOTHAM.

GARDNER, Me., June 22, 1856.

Prof. O. J. Wood—Dear Sir: I have used two bottles of Professor Wood's Hair Restorative, and can truly say it is the greatest discovery of the age for restoring and changing the Hair. Before using it I was a man of seventy. My hair has attained its original color. You can recommend it to the world without the least fear, as my case was one of the worst kind.
Yours Respectfully.

Magee's Patent Ventilating Stove.

FOR WARMING AND VENTILATING
PARLORS, OFFICES, HALLS, STORES,
SCHOOL HOUSES, &c.

WHICH for economy, purity of air, and ease of management, has no equal. It can be regulated so as to give
Any amount of Heat required,
and unlike all other Anthracite Coal Burners, ventilates the apartments quite as thoroughly, as a wood fire or Franklin, producing a current of air, at once moist, pure and agreeable, and so none of the air which comes in contact with the fire pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache, so much complained of by those using Stoves and Furnaces, is entirely obviated. The fire may be continued from one to four days without replenishing.
These Stoves are beautiful in design, and finished in the most perfect manner. They are equally appropriate, and have given universal satisfaction to all who have adopted them,
For Offices and Stores as well as the Parlor.
The Inventor challenges the world to produce an article by which so much Pure Warm Air can be generated from so small an amount of fuel, requiring but about 15 pounds of Anthracite Coal, to warm an ordinary sized parlor for 24 hours without replenishing, and then leaving fire enough to rekindle without the use of charcoal. The coal is all used, and no clinkers made, consequently, sifting coal is dispensed with.—When this Stove is properly managed,
THE FIRE MAY BE CONTINUED THROUGH THE ENTIRE SEASON,
without once going out. Added to all these qualifications, the purchaser may reasonably expect to save from 30 to 50 per cent, in fuel expense.

SONS OF TEMPERANCE.

The Grand Division of S. of T. of New Hampshire met at Marlboro' Dec. 2, 1857. Officers present—S. W. Buffum, G. W. P.; A. Griffin, G. S.; E. P. Tenney, G. T.; and Oren Starkey, G. C. The G. W. P. filled vacancies by appointing S. S. Wilkinson, P. G. W. P.; N. R. Cook, G. W. A.; S. Sawyer, G. Sen.; and Rev. N. Culver, G. Chap. Bros. J. F. Adams, and M. Kingman, of Monadnock Division, Asa Maynard and Charles Mansfield, of Granite vile Division, were formally initiated. The Grand Scribe's report was read and accepted. Grand Treasurer's report was also accepted. Officers for the ensuing year—S. W. Buffum, G. W. P.; A. Maynard, G. W. A.; A. Griffin, G. S.; E. P. Tenney, G. T.; O. Starkey, G. C.; S. Sawyer, G. Sen.; and Rev. N. Culver, G. Chap. All present, and installed.

The following Bros. were elected Representatives to the National Division: S. W. Buffum, James Dolat, Chas. F. Hill, J. E. Goodwin, Thos. B. Jones, Asa Maynard, and Asa Griffin. On motion, voted to appoint a Committee to co-operate with the State Central Committee. M. Kingman, S. W. Buffum of Winchester, and S. Woodward of Keene, were appointed said Committee. Voted that location of G. D. be left with G. W. P. and G. S.

Quite a "goodly" number were in attendance, and a determination was manifested to persevere and uphold the order, and discountenance and put down intemperance and the traffic in intoxicating drinks. Harmony and good feeling prevailed during the session.

A REGULAR JACK SHEPPARD.—An interestingly laughable robbery was perpetrated at the Jarrett House, St. Anthony, on Thursday night, which in boldness, eclipses any similar enterprise of modern times. Col. H. Wiltse, hearing somebody knocking around in the hall, near his room, and suspecting it might be some villain who meant to rob him, rose from his bed, fixed the door of his room open, got his brace of pistols and prepared them for "an emergency," then sat down on the bed to wait for the anticipated scamp to present himself. In this position he fell asleep!—and while enjoying a perpendicular dream,—(probably of a robber writhing with a bullet in his thorax,) the ungrateful and inconsiderate vagabond afore aid, walked into the room through the open door, helped himself to a new dress coat, two pairs of pantaloons and a vest, six dollars and fifty cents in money, deliberately became an accomplice of procrastination (the thief of time) by stealing a valuable gold watch, took the gold studs out of the shirt of the slumberer, and reluctantly departed! Mr. W. awoke just in time to find his "victim" vamoosed, and himself minus property to the amount of $200 or $300. In fact, almost everything in the room had "gone off" except his faithful pistols, which were firmly grasped in either hand, ready capped and cocked! The funny gentleman with the dark lantern has not been seen or heard of since.

☞ The New York Musical Review is published every other Saturday, by Mason Brothers, New York, and presents a rich amount and variety of musical matter. Dr. Lowell Mason, Wm. B. Bradbury, Geo. F. Root, and others of the most eminent musicians in the country are among its regular contributors. Only $1 a year,—cheap in price, but not in quality.

☞ The Boston Post thinks it a fact "not pleasing to contemplate" that "Senator Hamlin, of Maine, received 19 votes for president pro tem. of the U. S. Senate."

FOR THE
LANCET, LEECHES AND BLISTERS.
INSTEAD of being a panacea for all maladies, it has control over but ONE MALADY—has but ONE AIM—accomplishes but ONE THING, to wit: SUBDUE INFLAMMATORY DISEASE—whatever be its form or locality—whether in the head, throat, chest, abdomen, extremities or skin. Every form of inflammation (but no other disease) is subdued, if it be taken in time, or is extinguished by water. It is asked, how it does all this? Simply by restoring the lost balance between the fluids and solids. Such is its potency, that like vaccine matter, it requires but a single application at the point of a quill dipped into a solution of it, to affect the entire system.
☞ Of its intrinsic value, the enlightened community, and not the discoverer, must be the judge.

MYER'S EXTRACT OF ROCK ROSE, is peculiarly applicable, and if freely used will not fail to protect the constitution against the sudden and extreme changes of our variable climate. Morning Chronicle.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 17, 1857.

EVILS COMPLAINED OF.

A writer in the Christian Era, a Baptist paper, points out, for correction, some faults in "our Denomination." He says:

Churches receive excluded members without the consent and against the remonstrance of the sister church from which the offenders have been cast out. One church, in its annual epistle to the Boston South Association, said openly:—"We are not in fellowship with such churches—naming them: they have received members who have been excluded by us, and we cannot fellowship them." The Association voted that it had no power in the premises, and the churches that have disfellowshiped each other, are allowed to be connected with the same Association. The democratic rule allows one church to receive the excluded member of another, and permits one church to openly sever the tie that binds it to another. The democracy of Baptists has gone mad, and is used to cover practices not only abhorrent to Christianity, but uncourteous, and offensive to common propriety.

A minister may commit murder, or set his neighbor's house on fire, or run away with his neighbor's wife, and as long as his church, though that church may be composed of only twenty members, uphold him, he can stand in his pulpit, be a regular minister of the denomination, and set the whole Christian world at defiance. If his clerical brethren take the matter up, a hue and cry is raised about the independence of the church, and the importance of preserving the democratic element. Now this democratic element often costs more than it is worth, and becomes injurious to the church, and dishonorable to God.

Our benevolent societies have been suffered to accumulate, until it has almost ceased to be charitable to give to some of them. Two or three are doing the same work; hosts of agents are supported on the same ground; duties which should be performed by pastors are turned over to secretaries, and vast sums are spent to keep the worse than useless machinery in motion.

Our colleges and theological schools are so numerous, and in some cases so badly conducted, that they are elements of weakness rather than strength, and should be so consolidated as to make them at least respectably efficient. * * *

One Theological seminary for the North East is sufficient, and there should be but one.

The evils of Democracy and Independency in the Baptist Church are no doubt keenly felt by the writer.—But query,—would a Republic of Baptists, like the Presbyterian Kirk, be free from evils?—Would an Episcopacy like the English? or a Hierarchy, like the Roman, be free from evils?

They might not have the same evils—but others as great belong to them, to the grief of good men in all.

Forms of governments in church as well in state, are indispensable: and there is a choice of forms in both: but after all, a good administration is of great consequence under the best constitution.

BUSINESS.—The Boston Shipping List says:

There has been more inquiry for money within a few days and the opinion is gaining strength that the market will be no easier, to say the least, until after the first of January. Money rates continue nominal at 9 to 15 per cent, but scarcely anything is done under 12, and must be a well received article to get through at that. The want of confidence, in everything, prevails to a great extent and the good suffer alike with the bad.

The Banks of New York and Boston have suddenly resumed specie payments, the former forced into the measure by fears of Legislative action, and the latter following the lead of New York, as in the suspension. The movement is generally considered a premature one, and would not have taken place so early by some months, but for the peculiar position of the New York Banks respecting their liability to be wound up at any moment, while in a suspended state. That the general business of the country is not in a position to benefited by a resumption of specie payments at this time, is conceded on all hands, but now that it has been effected, we trust that every effort will be made to sustain it, so that the evil of a second suspension may not befall us as in the crisis of 1837. The banks have remained in a state of suspension just two months, but some of them have been paying specie quite liberally for some weeks.

☞ The news from the Utah expedition is up to the 18th of October. Col. Johnson did not intend to enter the valley before spring. Col. Alexander was in advance and pressing forward to winter by the Salt Lake. The Mormons have determined to prevent his entrance if posible. The winter being at hand and the force small, the prospects of the expedition are anything but encouraging.

☞ Upwards of twelve hundred and fifty laborers and mechanics are now employed at the Charlestown Navy Yard, and the pay-rolls amount to between $22,000 and $25,000.

☞ The Post says, "the cloak of religion may be known by the fine nap it has during sermon time."

THE AUTOCRAT OF THE DINNER PAIL.

EVERY MAN HIS OWN BOS——.

What a magnificent bass is there in the sound of swift-running machinery, varying in tone with the power and resistance to be overcome! How strangely my voice echoes, now that all is still, and I am alone for a midday half-hour, in this grand hall of labor,—now noiseless and motionless, save the slowly settling cloud of dust, like the falling snow, without. This silence begets in me a habit of self-talking; and I was just saying, between bites, that few know, or knowing do appreciate, the many luxuries which are incident to daily labor, rude and toilsome though it may be,—luxuries which we are compelled to partake of: the occasional sniffs of fresh air, the well-known splinters of sunshine that hourly come gleaming round our work; the well-earned and relished dinner, and the luscious complacency with which we turn our backs on a satisfactory day's work,—all serve in part to fill up a pleasant round of existence, if viewed aright. Some temperaments may esteem it luxurious, after daylight, to resist the attacks of Frosty Jack, beneath bulky defences of cotton, just exposing their noses (which unlike Achilles' heel, seem baptized with invulnerability); but I love the early morning and bath, the light breaking of the fast, the walk through the "nipping and eager air" to some old, dark giant of a mill, already steaming and waiting for the dawn, to work with and for you through the day, (provided that there are no explosions.) And when our daily chafing gear is donned, and the fire alive, we back up to our friendly stove, whose fiery gap in front seems to grin delight at our return, and look forth upon the twilighted world with a feeling of being "ahead."

Every position has its extreme satisfactions—so they say. I've been "dead broke"—a very expressive phrase I know, from an experience of its force. There is a joy in being destitute of what the silly world calls "the needful;" for then comes, inevitably, adventure, which is food for the stirring soul; many well-housed lads have dragged their homesick hearts around the world, only to find the value of three meals per day and a bed. The conscientious workman at a well learned trade, who will wear American cloth, eat coarse healthy bread, and eschew tobacco and poisonous liquors, lives up to the assertion that every man can be his own Boss.

I gave a fair share of my dinner, the other day, to a brother chip, who had come many miles to us for a job; he ate with a relish, and departed, I thought, a shade lighter-hearted, tho' denied the work. But I know that before he crossed the town lines, I and my work and poor fare were disparagingly commented upon by him. So with some of our renowned lecturers—keep away from my fireside, O man of letters, if you want my love; thy book still smiles, though thou art bankrupt.

Thou, too, most popular Doctor, who came among us, greeted by the most anti-Puritanical favor,—to whom we gave our four hundred hours and the best blood of our tender sensibilities,—whose genius our simple-minded folks did delight to honor,—and whose purse at departure seemed nebulous with glittering sixpences,—must need, in the serene and select columns of the choice Monthly, brand our rural admiration as "stagey." (A bitter tear at this moment fell into the now empty Pail.—Those beans must have been too strongly peppered,—I must correct my household edition of Eve in this matter.)

You're caught, or rather a bad cold has caught you, grappling you so severely by the throat that you cannot tell your anxious street friend of the fact. Don't attend church next Sabbath, to disturb the serious by your unnatural "hawking." Don't spend your money for lozenges, or bottles of questionable liquids; but go to the family jug and pump, mix a table-spoonful of unsifted Indian meal into a glass of sweetened water, and drink it ere it settles; do this three evenings, and then if you can speak retail the cure at cost to other unfortunates. Finally, send your saved $1 to the Chronicle, and cause the editor thereof to feel it to be really a happy new year. I have other self-talkings which I may yet publish, if not cautioned otherwise by judicious friends. SPOONHUNT.

Milford, N. H., December, 1857.

IN CONGRESS, Tuesday, the death of Senator Bell of New Hampshire, was formally announced in both branches, and no business was transacted.

☞ The New Hall of Representatives in Washington was dedicated on the 12th by a mock session, over which Mr. Banks, of Massachusetts, presided; and speeches, "able and eloquent" of course, were delivered by Mr. Clingman of North Carolina, Mr. Stanton of Ohio, Mr. Seward of Georgia, Messrs. Davis, Chaffee and Dawes of Massachusetts, and others. The scene is described as a most merry one.

☞ A man named Stewart was found dead in the woods about three miles from St. John, N. B., 15th inst., with his head severed from the body. Young Slavin confessed that he was another victim of the McKenzie murderers.

☞ The citizens of Roxbury, have voted, by a majority of 46, that it is expedient to petition the General Court for annexation to Boston.

THE FINANCIAL CRASH.

An intelligent correspondent of the Newburyport Herald, in the course of an able article on the times, asks—"Can the commercial world 'got through' this 'tightness' without the application of a 'general bankrupt' cataplasm? It would seem to be doubtful. And although it seems to be exploded, the grand want is a grand national bank.

"The present crisis shows how little a United States Bank had to do with old disasters, and it does show how much might have been done—how much could be done, by a Bank of the Nation, based upon the national hordes and the national wealth. Surely, with the experience of France and England, with our own experience, a bank might be established which would be in the great commercial world a conservator and regulator."

"In this, as in many things beside, it is curious to observe how the government of the people fails to represent some of their strongest tendencies. It is probably to be explained by the fact that prejudices, ignorance and passion in the majority is too much for intelligence, and even wealth, in the minority. The vast majority hate banks and lawyers, though they must have both—both are native products in modern civilization; and their faults are the faults of that civilization."

"The men who laugh at the notion of an honest lawyer, are often the first to employ the one most noted for chicanery and sharpness, to use no harsher terms. And the 'Democratic' Bank smasher is as much delighted as anybody if he can but get a 'little note' discounted. The fact is, the course of business runs through the Banks, and cannot now be turned (at any rate, not easily,) from those channels. In England, the fact is recognized and acted upon by Government. Why should it not be so here? Unconstitutional!! Humbug.—There is nothing unconstitutional which the people by the condition of their organism will. Such is the experience of all history. Written constitutions and laws shape themselves to suit the irresistible, physical and mental constitutions of the people."

☞ The importation of camels for the use of the United States army upon the plains, has proved highly successful; and now some enterprising citizen has ventured upon the experiment of importing another quadruped, for the use of peace. A vessel has arrived at Norfolk, Va., with 42 South American Lamas, which are imported only on account of their value as producers of wool. The design being, no doubt, to introduce them among the elevated portions of New England, where sheep and alpacas flourish. This animal is extremely hardy, and is said to breed rapidly.

The lama differs from the camel in being destitute of humps on the back. The legs are shorter than in the camel. The neck is long—more vertical. The ears and hoofs are long. The toes are separated, or not united, as in the camel, by a callous sole. The actual species of this genus belong to this continent exclusively, where they represent the camels of the Eastern. They are confined to the mountainous regions of South America. The lama, the most common of the specie, is as large as a stag, and was known at the time of the conquest of Peru by Pizzaro, in 1534; and indeed was the only domesticated animal, being for the inhabitants of the country what the reindeer is to the Laplanders.

GETTING THE WRONG PIG BY THE EAR. The N. H. Patriot having had much to say about the rottenness or rascality of the Exeter Bank, and boldly charging the republicans with the responsibility of its management, James M. Lovering, Esq., the former Cashier of the Bank, has published a letter in the Concord Statesman, stating that a majority of its Directors, since it has been in operation, have always been Democrats, and that its President and Cashier are also both of that party—John Scammon, the President, having been formerly a democratic Judge of the Court of Common Pleas, and Wm. B. Morril, its Cashier, democratic Register of Probate in Rockingham County. John Sullivan was the first President, but resigned after he found the institution unsafe.

☞ A young French woman, a factory operative at Manchester, was found on the sidewalk, Monday night, apparently ill and suffering intense pain; and on being taken to the watch-house, was delivered of a "fine" nine-pound boy.

The lady calls this sher first born, and says her name is Eliza Smith, and that her husband went off and left her some three months since. The mother and child are doing "as well as could be expected."

☞ Hon. John S. Sleeper, the present incumbent, was re-elected Mayor of Roxbury, by a plurality of 188.

All of the old and favorite Contributors will continue to write for THE LEDGER as heretofore.

No expense will be spared to secure others whose pens shall be considered competent to add to THE LEDGER'S attractions and usefulness.

Mrs. EMMA D. E. N. SOUTHWORTH writes only for THE NEW YORK LEDGER.

A high moral tone characterizes every article in THE LEDGER. When even the healthiest people need medicine; the changes of diet, of weather, and hundreds of other causes, produce a laxity in the system that needs correcting, or in other words, the liver becomes slightly deranged and needs a stimulator. ☞ The beautiful weather we have had, the last few days, is the delight and praise of all. Half-a-dozen Indian Summers in one season. It is astonishing how forgetful people are, especially with regard to the weather. We hear men daily prophesying an open winter, a mild winter, no sleighing this winter, &c. Well, now, last winter we think, could hardly be called a very mild or very open season; and yet, if memory serves us, there was no sleighing and little if any snow till Christmas, last year or year before. We don't believe winter will "spoil in the sky," this time,—wait a bit; and meantime enjoy the fine days all you can if we have any more of them.

☞ In the U. S. District Court at Exeter, on Tuesday, Dec. 15th; in the case of Ferdinand Clark, in Bankruptcy, S. E. Sewall appeared for the bankrupt, and moved for a postponement of all the proceedings in the case until the bill in equity against the assignee was disposed of. This motion was resisted by W. H. Y. Hackett, the assignee, and by C. L. Woodbury, J. W. Emery, and others representing the different creditors and claimants of the fund.

The Judge decided that he should not order the fund to be divided until the suit against the Assignee in the U. S. Circuit Court was disposed of. But he will hear objections and decide questions preliminary to a distribution.

Fight Between Two New York Councilmen.—A fight took place on Monday, in the New York City Hall, between Councilman Haswell, and Mr. Genet, Councilman elect. Mr. Genet, on meeting Mr. Haswell in the Clerk's office, accused him of promising to form committees in a certain way, provided he should be chosen President. Ma. Haswell told him it was a falsehood. Genet pulled out a handful of gold and offered to bet $100 it was so, but Mr. Haswell would not bet. Some hasty words passed, in which the lie was given on both sides, when Haswell struck Genet a blow in the face, causing Mr. Genet's gold, which he had in his hand, to scatter over the floor. Genet struck Haswell in the eye, and by this time the clerks managed to separate the belligerants. Neither was severely hurt, but both ought to have been.

A Ship's Crew Devoured.—The El Mercurio of Valparaiso, Chili, has the following statement:—

"The occurrence of a lamentable event, which we dreaded before, has been unfortunately confirmed during the last three days. We have no details of this dreadful calamity."

GENERAL WALKER.

New York, Dec. 15.—The Times' Aspinwall correspondent gives the following particulars of affairs at Greytown: "Our first report here was that the Fashion, when the town hove in sight, ran in under a full head of steam, and anchored close to the Point before Capt. Chatard could get his boats out to stop her. The inference was that he had no time to prevent the landing of the men and arms, but this is not so.

I am assured by an officer of the British steamship Dee that the Fashion was seen by the officers of the Saratoga the day before off the harbor—that there was ample time while she was coming in for the Saratoga to have hove her to with a swivel from one of her boats, and to have boarded her before she got in; besides, Walker was two whole days landing men, provisions, and munitions of war, by the boats of the steamer while lying directly under the guns of the sloop-of-war. When the Dee came into the harbor Capt. Chatard requested her master to anchor inside of the Saratoga, so that she might not be between his guns and the Fashion, but he took no steps against the landing of either men or stores.

Capt. Wolcott of the Dee, knowing there was considerable British property in Greytown, on the other side of Punta Arenas, asked Capt. Chatard if he would protect the town against Walker, if he should attempt to lay it under contribution, to which he replied that he could give no assurances to that effect; that his orders were very general in their nature; that what he did he must do on his own personal responsibility, and as he was dependent upon his profession for the support of a large family, he was not disposed to run the risk of incurring the displeasure of his government by interference with matters on shore, or to lay himself personally liable to suits on the part of the fillibusters or the merchants of Greytown. So, as no guarantees could be got, and there was no British man-of-war in port, some of the merchants shipped the more valuable portion of their goods to Aspinwall. The Dee brought away about 120 large packages, which she landed there to-day.

A correspondent of the New York Herald, purporting to write from the Saratoga, makes the extraordinary statement, that General Walker visited the sloop-of-war, and was received in a favorable manner.—According to this correspondent:—

A boat was sent for him, in charge of an officer. As he was about to leave the ship, he remarked to our captain that he seldom requested favors, but in this case he would request him not to form a predjudiced opinion until he knew him better. He mentioned, also, that he would not have started on this expedition, had he not been aware that the Government was not inclined to prevent him.'

The following paragraph from the Mobile Mercury of Dec. 9, implies that the Fashion has returned to Mobile Bay, and agian departed, possibly with reinforcements for Walker:—

Information has reached us, through a channel which hardly permits us to doubt its authenticity, that this steamer (the Fashion) put into Mobile Bay on Friday night, the 27th ult., from the storm which was then prevailing, and lay till Sunday morning, when she departed for an unascertained destination. She reported that she had landed her cargo and live stock in safety, but where our informant did not inquire. In connection with the movements of the Fashion, we happen to know that the Florida, on Monday last, brought over some fifty steerage passengers from New Orleans, who left the boat in one body, apparently under orders.

Washington, Dec. 15.—(Herald correspondence.)—Instructions were to-day sent by telegraph to the collectors at New Orleans, and to the District Attorneys of Louisiana and Alabama, to use all the means in their power, according to law, to prevent the departure of any hostile expedition against Central America. Instructions have also been given to prosecute the steamer Fashion, as soon as she returnes to the United States. The frigate Jamestown will immediately leave for San Juan, and Capt. Chatard of the Saratoga, who permitted the Fashion to enter the harbor of San Juan, and to pass under his stern and then to land the fillibusters, will be immediately recalled and succeeded by a more energetic officer.

The Kansas Legislature.—St. Louis, Dec. 14.—The special session of the Kansas Legislature, organized on the 8th inst.,

After reviewing the formation and action of the Constitutional Convention, Mr. Stanton recommends the passage of an act directing the election to be held under different officers on the same day and at the same place as are provided for in the proclamation of the President of the Convention, authorizing the people to vote for a constitution in either of the forms presented by the Convention. The Governor also recommends the passage of a law making a fraudulent return of votes a felony, with suitable punishment.

Kansas letters to the Republican, state that intense excitement prevails among all classes of the people in the Territory, and the probabilities are that the party opposed to the Lecompton Convention will not permit the election on the 21st.

Gen. Lane with 300 or 400 men, were encamped near Lecompton, and threats had been made of driving Gen. Calhoun and the members of the Convention out of the Territory, but no outbreak had yet been attempted.

☞ It is reported that Gov. Walker will soon resign his post of Governor of Kansas, and will accompany the letter with a statement defining his position.

LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed to superintend their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as well protected as if they were present. The Manager would respectfully call attention to the fact that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are authorized by the Legislature of that State. A Lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year, all orders received being filled in the drawing next to take place after the receipt of the orders. According to the scheme one ticket in every ten must draw a prize. Tickets are $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2.50. No tickets sent unless the money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no opportunity for numbers to mystify the buyer. Prizes vary from $40 to $50,000; every prize being drawn, and result of drawing forwarded to all purchasers.

☞ A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers:—New Orleans Delta, Mobile Register, Charleston Standard, Nashville Gazette, Atlanta Intelligencer, and New York Weekly Dispatch. Write orders address plainly, and direct to S. SWAN & CO., Augusta, Georgia.

Prizes paid in full—no percentage deducted from them as in other lotteries.

LOTTERIES.

The well-known Maryland Consolidated Lotteries, of which R. Tyson & Co are the managers, are chartered by the state of Maryland, and a commissioner elected by the people is sworn to superintend and certify that everything connected with them is done in a strictly honorable manner, and that the interests of parties who reside at a distance are as well protected as if they themselves were present at the drawing. Another fact which the managers call attention to, is, that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Maryland, as lotteries are legalized by special law in that state. A lottery is drawn every day of the month, Sundays excepted, and is named, orders are filled in the first drawing to take place after the communication comes to hand. The prices of tickets are from $1 to $20. No tickets are, however, sent unless the money for the same is received with the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket; after the Havana plan), and Tyrnary combination. Prizes vary in amount from $20 to $100,000. All orders for tickets or packages will receive prompt attention, and the drawing mailed to all purchasers immediately after it is over.

☞ The drawn numbers of the Maryland Lotteries are published by the State Commissioner in the following papers, viz: Sun, Clipper, Patriot, American, Argus, of Baltimore; also, the National Intelligencer and Union, of Washington, D.C.

Prof. O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: Within a few days we have received so many orders and calls for Prof. O. J. Wood's Hair Restorative, that to supply the demand we have to Boston for a considerable quantity, (the 6 dozen you forwarded all being sold,) while we might order a quantity from you. Everywhere it gives unmistakable satisfaction, and for new customers, and the approbation and patronage it receives from the most substantial and worthy citizens of our vicinity, fully convinces us that it is A MOST VALUABLE PREPARATION.

DANIEL LATHROP & Co.

Hickory Grove, St. Charles Co., Mo., 1856.

PROF. O. J. WOOD—Dear Sir: Some time last summer we were induced to use some of your Hair Restorative, and found it to be a wonderful, we feel it our duty to you and the afflicted, to report it.

Our little son's head for some time had been perfectly covered with sores, and some called it scald head. The hair almost entirely came off in consequence, which a friend, seeing his sufferings, advised us to use your Restorative, we did so with little hope of success, but, to our surprise, and that of all our friends, very few applications removed the disease entirely, and in a few days an luxuriant a crop of hair as any other child. We can therefore, and do hereby, recommend your Restorative, as a perfect remedy for all diseases of the scalp and hair. We are, yours respectfully,

GEORGE W. HIGGINBOTHAM,
SARAH A. HIGGINBOTHAM.

GARDINER, Me., June 22, 1855.

Prof. O. J. Wood—Dear Sir: I have used two bottles of Professor Wood's Hair Restorative, and can truly say it is the most wonderful preparation for restoring and changing the Hair. Before using it I was a man of seventy. My hair has not attained its original color. You can recommend it to the world without the least fear, as my case was one of the worst kind.

Yours Respectfully,

LOTTERIES.

The well-known Maryland Consolidated Lotteries, of which R. Tyson & Co are the managers, are chartered by the state of Maryland, and a commissioner elected by the people is sworn to superintend and certify that everything connected with them is done in a strictly honorable manner, and that the interests of parties who reside at a distance are as well protected as if they themselves were present at the drawing. Another fact which the managers call attention to, is, that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Maryland, as lotteries are legalized by special law in that state. A lottery is drawn every day of the month, Sundays excepted, and is named, orders are filled in the first drawing to take place after the communication comes to hand. The prices of tickets are from $1 to $20. No tickets are, however, sent unless the money for the same is received with the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket; after the Havana plan), and Tyrnary combination. Prizes vary in amount from $20 to $100,000. All orders for tickets or packages will receive prompt attention, and the drawing mailed to all purchasers immediately after it is over.

☞ The drawn numbers of the Maryland Lotteries are published by the State Commissioner in the following papers, viz: Sun, Clipper, Patriot, American, Argus, of Baltimore; also, the National Intelligencer and Union, of Washington, D.C.

Magee's Patent Ventilating Stove.

FOR WARMING AND VENTILATING

PARLORS, OFFICES, HALLS, STORES,
SCHOOL HOUSES, &c.

WHICH for economy, purity of air, and ease of management, has no equal. It can be regulated so as to give

Any amount of Heat required,

and unlike all other Anthracite Coal Burners, ventilates the apartments quite as thoroughly, as a wood fire or Franklin, producing a current of Air, at once moist, pure and agreeable, and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire pot is used for respiration, the tendency to cause headache, so much complained of by those using Stoves and Furnaces, is entirely obviated. The fire may be continued from one to four days without replenishing.

These Stoves are beautiful in design, and finished in the most perfect manner. They are equally appropriate, and have given universal satisfaction to all who have adopted them,

For Offices and Stores as well as the Parlor.

The Inventor challenges the world to produce an article by which so much Pure Warm Air can be generated, from so small an amount of fuel, requiring but about 15 pounds of Anthracite Coal, to warm an office-sized parlor for 24 hours, without replenishing, and then leaving fire enough to rekindle without the use of charcoal. The coal is all used, and no clinkers remain, consequently, sifting coal is dispensed with.—When this Stove is properly managed, without once going out. Added to all these qualities, the purchaser may reasonably expect to save from 30 to 50 per cent, in fuel expense.

THE FIRE MAY BE CONTINUED, THROUGH

THE ENTIRE SEASON,

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY, solicitor of Patents,

(Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837.)

No. 76 State st, oppo. Kilby st, Boston,

AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions,—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting Ten Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantage for securing patents, ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The confidential advice given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and his SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services rendered.—The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents; these, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

Testimonials.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business as agent at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most skillful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in securing inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

From the present Commissioner.

AUGUST 17, 1855.—During the time I have held the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the office, as a Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most competent and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHAS. MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

—MANUFACTURERS OF—

Melodeons, Organ Melodeons,
—and—
PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

No. 511 Washington St., Boston,

The first premium over all competitors, at the Fair of the Mass. Charitable Mechanic Association, of the National Fair, Washington, D. C., also at the Ohio State Fair, held at Columbus, Ohio, was awarded to these Manufactures.

By means of a new method of Voicing, known only to themselves, they have succeeded in removing the harsh and buzzing sound which formerly characterized the instrument, and rendering the tones full, clear and organ like. The action is prompt and reliable, enabling the performer to execute the most rapid music without blurring the tones. The swell is arranged to give great expression.

THE PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

Are designed particularly for Churches, Lodges, Halls, &c. It is arranged with two manuals, or banks of Keys, the lower set running an octave higher than the other, and may be used separately, and thus get in one case two distinct instruments; or by use of the coupler, the two banks of keys may be played at the same time by use of the front set only. This connected with the Pedal Bass, will produce the effect of a large organ, and is sufficiently heavy to fill a house that seats from 1000 to 1500 persons.

THE ORGAN MELODEON

Is designed for parlor and private use. The construction is similar to the Church Instrument, being arranged with two banks of keys, and when used together, by means of the coupler, is capable of as great volume of power as the Church Instrument when used without the pedals. Also, every variety of MELODEONS for Parlor use.

Purchasers may rely upon instruments from our Manufactory, being made in the most complete and thorough manner. Having removed to the spacious Buildings

511 Washington Street,

We have every facility for manufacturing purposes, and employ none but the most experienced and skillful workmen. In short, we will promise our customers an Instrument equal, if not superior, to any Manufacturer, and guarantee an entire and perfect satisfaction.

Music Teachers, Leaders of Choirs, and others interested in musical matters, are respectfully invited to visit our Rooms at any time and examine or try our instruments on exhibition for sale at their pleasure.

As a still further guarantee to the public as to the excellence of the MELODEONS from our Manufactory, we beg leave to refer, by permission, to the following who have examined our Instruments, and will give their testimony when called upon:

Piano Forte Manufacturers of Boston,

FOR THE
LANCET, LEECHES AND BLISTERS.
INSTEAD of being a panacea for all maladies, it has control over but ONE MALADY—has but ONE AIM—accomplishes but ONE THING, to wit: SUBDUE INFLAMMATORY DISEASE—whatever be its form or locality—whether in the head, throat, chest, abdomen, extremities or skin. Every form of inflammation (but no other disease) is subdued, by its application, as fire is extinguished by water. Is it asked, how it does it? I answer, by restoring the lost balance between the fluids and solids. Such is its potency, that like vaccine matter, it requires only to be merely wet to the point of a quill dipped into a solution of it, to affect the entire system.

STATE TEMPERANCE CONVENTION.

TOWN HALL, MANCHESTER, Dec. 15.

The N. H. State Temperance Convention met at the Town Hall in Manchester, Tuesday, Dec. 15. The meeting was called to order by Rev. J. W. Ray, Secretary for the last year.

Rev. Mr. Wallace of Manchester was chosen Chairman.

Rev. Mr. French of Hudson offered prayer.

Rev. T. H. Miller of Portsmouth was chosen Secretary pro tem.

Rev. Messrs. Ray, Turner and Clark were appointed a Committee to nominate officers for the Convention.

This Committee reported as follows:—

President, Hon. John Preston, of New Ipswich.

Vice Presidents.

Hon. T. T. Abbot of Manchester;
Rev. Mr. Page of Salem;
Nath'l White, Esq., of Concord;
Alonzo Smyth Esq., of Manchester;
Hon. T. Gillis of Nashua;

Secretary, Rev. T. H. Miller of Portsmouth.

This report was accepted; these officers elected; and Mr. Abbot presided over the Convention, assisted by Mr. Page.

On motion of Rev. Mr. Wallace, Voted that a Committee be appointed to draft Resolutions; also a Committee on Future Action. These Committees were appointed as follows:

On Resolutions.—Rev. Messrs. Wallace and Clark, and Pike Chase, Esq., of Auburn.

On Future Action.—Rev. Messrs. Whiting, Willey, Ray, and Herrick of Candia, and Jacob Sawyer, Esq., of Manchester.

The presiding officer made a few appropriate remarks of a hopeful and encouraging character, recommending stability, perseverance and united action.

Rev. Mr. Page of Salem stated that in his place, temperance has gained decided advantages within the last three years. Prosecutions were commenced, after preliminary temperance meetings. On town meeting day several Massachusetts immigrant ramsellers were taken, imprisoned and fined.

Mr. Ray informed the meeting that the search clause in our law had just been sustained by the Supreme Judicial Court.

Rev. Mr. Whiting, of Portsmouth, gave some interesting views of temperance efforts in Massachusetts, drawing great encouragement from providential occurrences and persevering efforts.

Rev. Mr. Wallace, from the committee on that subject, reported a series of resolutions, which, after discussion and amendment, read as follows:—

Resolved, that the principles of total abstinence from the use of all intoxicating drinks as a beverage, are intimately connected with the success of secular enterprise, as well as the progress of morality and religion in our country.

Resolved, That while we must depend mainly upon moral arguments to advance the cause of temperance, still we are confident that the faithful execution of the laws of the State is indispensable to secure its complete triumph.

Resolved, That we regard the traffic in intoxicating liquors to be used as a beverage, as a great evil and a crime of great magnitude, and that renewed efforts should be made to suppress it at once.

Resolved, That we look with reprobation on those Jurors who violate their oath by refusing to convict offenders against our wholesome law for the Suppression of Intemperance,—on those Selectmen who put vile names into the jury box—and on those Witnesses who testify falsely to screen the guilty.

Resolved, That the friends of temperance, order, and quiet, have reason to take courage from the fact that convictions under this wholesome law, have now been made in all our counties.

Resolved, That the recent decision of the Supreme Court, by which the searching clause in our temperance law is sustained, is the occasion of great encouragement to the friends of truth and righteousness.

Resolved, That we earnestly recommend to the friends of temperance in this State to renew their efforts in this most important moral enterprise, that they labor by lectures and the circulation of the pledge to keep the young from the use of ardent spirits, that they strive to save the intemperate from the destruction which awaits them, and especially that they use the most vigorous efforts to suppress the unlawful traffic by every lawful and honorable means within their power.

Remarks on the resolutions were made by T. H. Miller of Portsmouth, to the purport that, so far, all the ruling of the courts had gone to sustain the law,—and that as large a number of convictions had taken place under this, as under any law, in proportion to the number of arrests.

Mr. J. Chamberlain, Warren, gave accounts of success in temperance efforts, moral and legal, as put forth in his county.

Rev. Mr. Kendall of East Concord closed the morning session by some earnest pleas for zeal and liberality in the cause of temperance.

In the afternoon session, Rev. I. Willey, J. W. Ray, and Mr. J. Chamberlain, were appointed a committee to nominate a State Committee. They reported—

Hon. T. T. Abbot of Manchester;
Rev. Isaac Willey of Goffstown;
Hon. Geo. H. Morrison of Nashua;
Benjamin Chase, Esq., of Auburn;
J. Chamberlain, Esq., of Warren;
Hon. Horton D. Walker of Portsmouth;
Dr. Hoyt of Wentworth;
William Ramsdell, Esq., of Milford;
Nathaniel White, Esq., of Concord;
Rev. T. H. Miller of Portsmouth;
John E. Goodwin, Esq., of West Milton;
Mr. Jeremiah Smith of Lee.

Which report was accepted, and the Committee appointed.

Rev. Wm. Clark, Missionary Agent, offered some practical suggestions; also Mr. J. Smith of Lee, and Mr. Chase of Auburn.

Rev. Mr. Whiting, gave a written answer to the question, Why is not our temperance law better executed? This answer was an able document, and was very favorably received by the large audience.

On motion of Rev. Mr. Wallace, voted that the Answer be accepted, adopted as the sentiment of this Convention,—and published in the papers of the State.

Mr. Thos. W. Mordough, from Wakefield, Strafford Co., addressed the meeting, and depicted the dreadful evils of intemperance in glowing colors, and with much earnestness.

Judge Upton, of Manchester spoke favorably of the action of our courts, on the law, as brought before them. His very pertinent remarks closed the debate.

The Resolutions, after an interesting debate, were passed unanimously—and the Convention adjourned to half-past 6 in the evening.

In the evening session, Rev. Mr. Willey addressed the meeting in a strain of encouragement, derived from a comparison of the present condition of temperance in this State with that of 35 years ago.

The Committee on Future Action reported as follows:—

The Committee appointed to report modes of future action in relation to the present Prohibitory Law, offer the following recommendation:

Two classes of work seem to your Committee now to demand the attention of the friends tribute and in this State,—both designed to distribute Law, make personal the labor now needed.

The First class, we style the primary labor, to be done in neighborhoods, school districts and towns. The main feature being the use of the Pledge constantly for Signatures.

Also Temperance Conferences in Towns and Districts, in which the common people relate experiences and views;—aiming at the creating, educating and animating a just public sentiment and feeling for the Suppression of Intemperance.

The Second Class we term the Organic Mode, viz. by local Conventions or Meetings, called from two or several adjacent towns, systematically organized,—the plan of meeting settled beforehand, and definite work prepared as far as may be.

Out of these meetings, we should look for concerted action in prosecution, and in direct attack upon abusers of the Law.

As few and as many towns uniting in these meetings, as can work efficiently; the State Committee to apportion these sectional meetings, as judged best,—send a plan of meeting with circulars to some one or more tried friends of temperance in the district, that they may call, or cause to be called, the meetings.

The Committee also beg that funds be raised in all those meetings to pay expenses of State Committee service, and for their use in the cause. The above we respectfully submit.

L. WHITING,
Chairman, for Com.

Messrs. Chamberlain and Kendall made remarks on finance, the latter laying down a $5 bill for a text—and a collection was taken up.

Rev. Mr. Herrick stated that in Candia, last spring, in connexion with the plan to furnish a testament to every child in the place, the temperance pledge was circulated throughout the town, with great and encouraging success.

At 9 o'clock the Convention adjourned,—having been an occasion of much interest, and of hopeful benefit. T. H. MILLER, Sec'y.

NOTICE.

The State Temperance Committee, chosen at the late convention, will hold their first meeting at the Phenix Hotel in Concord, on Friday, Jan. 1st, 1858, at 12 o'clock, noon. A full attendance is requested. T. H. MILLER,

Secretary of the Convention.

CONGRESS.—In the Senate, Wednesday, the list of standing committees was announced. An animated debate sprang up, upon the injustice of the selections, but the list was adopted by vote of 39 to 19.

Mr. Green of Missouri, then undertook to counteract the effect of the speech of Mr. Douglas upon Kansas, and was answered by the latter gentlemen.

In the House, Mr. Cox, (dem.) of Ohio, avowed his hostility to the Lecompton Convention, and provoked a reply in its defence from Mr. Hughes, (dem.) of Indiana. The debate occupied the greater part of the session.

☞ There was a large gathering of the unemployed in Quebec, on Monday last.—Col. Gugy, who attempted to pacify the crowd, was chased into the Court House, the doors of which, being closed after him, were beaten down. The mob was then dispersed by the police, but afterwards an unsuccessful attempt was made to rob some flour stores in the lower town.

☞ In the Supreme Court in Salem on Wednesday, the case of Anne Swasey v. Geo. A. Swasey, of Newburyport—a libel for divorce—was tried and a verdict rendered for the plaintiff—granting her a divorce; and $300 per annum alimony was decreed.

RAILROAD DISCONTINUED.—Over that portion of the Contoocook Valley Railroad, which lies between Contoocookville and Henniker, N. H., no cars have been run for several weeks, a stage-coach conveying the passengers.

The best mode of revenge is not to imitate the injury.

THE MORMON WAR.

The New York Times has correspondence from Ham's Fork of Green River, the camp of the Utah Army, down to the 28th of October. The detail we cannot give, but a brief summary of it is:—that the Mormons are capturing cattle and provision trains belonging to the U. S. Army—that our troops drive these Mormons and make some prisoners, when they meet them; but that the Mormons, by stealing cattle, burning wagons and even burning the grass for a long distance, are rendering pursuit almost impossible.

"On the 16th a party of 100 volunteers set out from Babbitt's Cut Off, under the command of Capt. Marcy, to explore the neighboring country. When about two miles from camp, they came upon a party of 60 Mormons, with whom they had a parley. Their Captain then advanced half way, and had a talk with Capt. Marcy,—He declared it to be the purpose of the Mormons to resist any attempt on the part of the U. S. troops to advance, and also that it was by Brigham's order that the trains had been burnt. Soon after starting to return to camp they surprised a party of five Mormons, two of whom were captured, and proved to be important personages. They gave their names as Colonel Taylor and Adjutant Stowell. Important dispatches were found upon the person of Taylor, from Lieutenant General Wells, at fort Bridger, directing all the parties in the neighborhood of Green River to return and concentrate in advance of the troops, on Bear River, and stating that there were some 800 U. S. Dragoons on their way to reinforce our command. They went further directed to burn the grass, steal the animals, fell trees in our path, and in every possible manner annoy us by night and by day.

In consequence of this information, Captain Marcy was sent back (Oct. 18) with two companies, to meet Col. Johnston, as we apprehend that our expresses may have been captured, and it was decided that we should go into winter quarters on Henry's Fork of Green River, as the cattle and mules of the command were very weak.—Soon after Capt. Marcy had left, two expressmen came into camp, bringing word from Brigham Young, the purport of it being that he did not blame the officers and soldiers, as they were merely tools in the hands of a corrupt government, and had to obey its orders, &c., &c. He also advised us to place all the women and children with the command in a separate train from the others, as he wished, by all means, to spare them."

If Congress will authorize a volunteer force to be raised in the North West, 50,000 men would march in the Spring, and sweep the Mormon horde with the besom of destruction.

BIRD'S EYE VIEW.—The Washington correspondent of the N. Y. Courier & Enquirer gives the following view of affairs in Kansas, derived from a remarkable source.

I have just conversed with an intelligent man who left Lecompton after the call was issued by Gov. Stanton. This man is a Southerner and intensely pro-slavery. He was a Deputy Marshal and was employed in worrying the free-state men with false charges and trumped-up warrants for high treason. It was in his presence that Mr. Bailey, a respectable free-state man, was most brutally stabbed to death a few months since by a savage villain from Washington, named Brockett. That my informant is a witness deeply committed on the democratic side, is shown by the fact that Brockett was acting under his authority when he perpetrated this foul murder, and his own life would be forfeited if the reign of law be restored by the triumph of the majority.

This person informs me that the new Legislature was to have met on the 7th, last Monday, and that no one in Kansas dreamed that any other body was meant in the call of the acting Governor. He says moreover that there is now no immediate question of slavery or no slavery in Kansas, but that it is a question of self-government alone. There is no party in favor of the Lecompton outrage. Pro-slavery men will generally, he thinks, oppose the Constitution in any shape, as they are satisfied that no permanent settlement of the question can be reached by means so flagitious. This man, himself, although associated with the late pretenders to authority, is shocked at the acts of the Lecompton Convention, and justifies the free state men in the most violent course they have proposed to pursue. I quote his own words: "If Congress adopts that Constitution, there will be the most bloody civil war in Kansas, next Spring, ever known; for the free-state party will not submit to it, and they have a majority of ten thousand men." These are the very words of a man who is implicated in the most exciting events of the last three years, who has just left the scene, and who is now, I doubt not, an applicant for an appointment from this Administration. The Mayor of Leavenworth who is also here, coincides in this opinion.

HOMICIDE BY A CATHOLIC PRIEST.—On Sunday night last, at Staunton, Va., Wm. Mollant was shot by Daniel Downey, a Catholic Priest, who was committed, together with four witnesses. He confesses the deed, and pleads self-defence.

THE INDEPENDENT TREASURY.—Uncle Toby has indulged in some merriment over the silly boasting which he has read for years, of the beauties and glories of the Independent Treasury, that embodiment of financial and political wisdom.

At the present time Uncle Toby gets some valuable aid from strange sources.—For example, the Boston Courier is one of the most earnest advocates of the present federal administration, in all New England. That paper, of the 17th, says:

"As we are now situated, the extraordinary claims upon the Treasury will probably be very large, for a year or perhaps more to come. In order to meet such contingencies as may arise, the Secretary proposes to issue Treasury notes bearing interest, which we have no doubt will be absolutely needed, in a very short time.

We must admit, however, that the proper and necessary recommendation, just considered, strikes us as a little inconsistent with that portion of the report which eulogizes the Sub-Treasury, and with that still more pointed commendation bestowed upon it in the President's Message."

The President informed us:

Thanks to the independent treasury, the government has not suspended payment, as it was compelled to do by the failure of the banks in 1837. It will continue to discharge its liabilities to the people in gold and silver. Its disbursements in coin will pass into circulation, and materially assist in restoring a sound currency. From its high credit, should we be compelled to make a temporary loan, it can be effected on advantageous terms. This, however, shall, if possible, be avoided; but if not, then the amount shall be limited to the lowest possible terms.

In another part of the same document we are told:

The amount of estimated expenditures for the remaining three-quarters of the fiscal year will, in all probability, be increased from the causes set forth in the report of the Secretary. His suggestion, therefore, that authority should be given to supply any temporary deficiency by the issue of a limited amount of treasury notes, is approved, and I accordingly recommend the passage of such a law.

This strikes us as a contradiction. In one breath our president tells how bravely our Treasury will continue to pay gold; and in the next prays Congress to authorize a limited batch of government shin-plasters.

THERE ARE OCCASIONS

When even the healthiest people need medicine; the changes of diet, of weather, and hundreds of other causes, produce a laxity in the system that needs correcting, or in other words, the liver becomes slightly deranged and needs a stimulator. If all who find themselves in this situation will try Dr Sanford's Invigorator, they may be sure of relief, as we can testify to its efficacy in curing Headache, Indigestion, Sour Stomach, and other ills so common in a family. It acts, as a medicine, easier and better than any dose of pills we ever swallowed, and so mild that the smallest infant can take it.

LOCAL.

☞ Mr. Augevine Ham, aged 21 years, youngest son of the late Timothy Ham of this city, died very suddenly, recently, in Monte Christo, California.

☞ Our Greenland correspondent was slightly in error, in his report of the accident caused by the breaking of a carriage-bolt a few days ago. It was Mr. Edwin A. Frye, of Boston, not Capt. Edward A. Frye; and not Mrs. John Sherburne, but two of her daughters—in the carriage.

☞ The Ladies' Charitable Society of Greenland, propose to hold a Christmas Levee at the Academy Hall on Thursday eve, Dec. 24. Tickets 25 cts. Collation free. A general invitation is extended.

☞ At the Law Term of the Supreme Judicial Court held in Dover, on the 8th inst., 32 actions on the Rockingham Docket were disposed of, and 5 on the Strafford. 14 cases were continued.

☞ The State Temperance Convention, at Manchester, was so well attended and of such interest, as to show that the friends of temperance in New Hampshire, are not disposed to neglect any means of doing good within their power.

A brief sketch of their proceeding is in this paper,—and the very able address of Rev. Mr. Whiting will appear next week

☞ The end of the year is at hand—and the close of the 5th volume of the Weekly Chronicle. Will all subscribers who can, please remit the small amounts due, that we may commence the new year with a clean record. Many have recently done so —but there are some yet who have money belonging to us.

A MAN BURIED WITH A BELT OF GOLD AROUND HIM.—About a month ago, the body of Nicholas Wertner of Mascoutha, St. Clair county, Illinois, was found in the water near Jersey City, and it was interred at Bergen. Justice Bedford addressed a letter to Mascoutha, relating the occurrence, and a day or two since the widow of the deceased made her appearance in Jersey City, and stated that her husband had a considerable amount of gold with him, which he carried in a belt about his waist. Justice Bedford engaged an undertaker to examine the remains, and the result was the finding of a belt about the body containing $1600 in gold. It may seem strange that this was not discovered at the inquest, by the jurors; but it is explained by the fact that the body, having been long in the water was almost past handling, and was, in consequence, not closely examined.

A KIDNAPPED NEGRO RESTORED TO FREEDOM.—Napoleon B. Van Tuyl, of Geneva, N. Y., heretofore supposed to be a respectable man, attempted to kidnap two negroes living in that town, and sell them into slavery. With one of them he was successful, selling him for $500 to Mr. B. W. Jenkins of Carroll county, Ky. Mr. Jenkins sold the man (whose name was John F. Hite) to Lorenzo Graves, Esq., of Louisville, for $750. Van Tuyl has been arrested for kidnapping, and the negro has been restored to his freedom, by a requisition from the Governor of New York. The parties who bought him gave him up willingly, as soon as they learned the facts.

☞ On the 14th inst. three children of a Frenchman named Joseph Brotte, in the town of Willow Creek, on Lake Huron, Michigan, strayed from their father's shanty into the surrounding woods; two girls of eight and six years, and a boy of four. It was two nights, one whole day, and part of two others, before they were found. The boy had been for some time senseless, and his little sisters had laid him out, composing his limbs, supposing him dead. He was restored to partial consciousness, but only to die in his mother's arms. The other two were restored with difficulty. The children went into the woods to hunt winter-green. A dog was the first to discover them.

NEW YORK, Dec. 17.—A meeting of the council of Tammany Hall Sachems was held yesterday afternoon, at which it was determined that the use of Tammany Hall should not be given to the administration Democrats, who wish to hold a meeting to-night to sustain the President in the course he has taken on Kansas and other public questions. Postmaster Fowler, Surveyor Hart and Supervisor Purdy were among the portion who declined to give the use of the Hall for this purpose. The meeting therefore will be held in the Park instead.

HOT CHASE AFTER A PIG.—Last Friday forenoon, two men drove to a house in Marblehead, upon the Salem road, and immediately jumped into the pig-sty on the premises, where a fat porker was snoring. They applied a murderous knife to the throat of the animal, and as soon as it had given up the ghost they hastily placed the carcass in their wagon, and drove off at full speed. The only witness of the foul deed was a woman in the house, whose husband was absent. She put on her things in a hurry, and ran to the nearest neighbor, who lived at some distance, and informed him of the bold robbery of her pig-sty.

The kind-hearted neighbor, indignant at the audacity of the pig stealers, despatched his hired man towards Lynn, to give the alarm to the officers in that place, and gave chase himself to the marauders, on the road to Salem. He ran to South Danvers, five miles, at a tremendous pace, and found officer Shackly, who is the sharpest detective in Essex county, to whom he told the story of the robbery, and the distress of his female neighbor. The officer left his business immediately, and went to Salem, and soon traced the missing pig to a slaughter house, where it was hanging, hardly cold. Upon asking the proprietor how he came in possession of the porker, he was informed that he had purchased it of its owner, who had given him permission to take it when wanted. This story was soon substantiated, whereupon the officer and the pursuing neighbor voted themselves slightly sold. The gentleman who ran five miles swears he will never chase a pig robber again.

RESIGNATION OF GOV. WALKER.—Washington, Dec. 17.—N. Y. Herald correspondence. Gov. Walker sent in his resignation to the President to-day, accompanied by a very elaborately written document, making some twenty-five pages, in which he endeavors to sustain and justify his course in Kansas. About half the document is devoted to discussing the question of squatter sovereignty. There is nothing objectionable or discourteous in it. The Cabinet had a special meeting this evening, when the paper was read. The President will direct Secretary Cass to receive it. No reply will be made to it. A large number of copies of the letter are being printed for general circulation, and they will be furnished to the newspaper press to-morrow.

It is not Love which is blind, but Lust.

☞ A Mrs. Basil Hall, residing in Alexandria County, Virginia, was killed by a negro servant, about a week since. The family were proverbially tyrannical to their servants, and on this occasion the negress was told to take some wood out of a fire, when she seized her mistress by her head, backed her into the fire, and held her there till her screams called assistance.—She died in an hour or two.

ARREST OF A COUNTERFEITER.—Last week the vigilance committee of Tipton, Iowa, arrested a notorious counterfeiter and horse-thief, named Hiram Roberts, and it is thought they will try him, and hang him.

A WOMAN'S STRATAGEM.—A worthy and industrious woman in this city, the wife of an engineer on one of our railroads, has for some time expected that her husband was in the habit of frequenting a certain house of ill-fame. Yesterday she called at the house and applied for "board," The "lady" of the house very gladly accepted the new boarder, and so the two were on the most agreeable terms.

The new boarder not only became posted in regard to the character of the house, but learned the names of several of its habitues, among which was that of her husband! She left soon after receiving information, ostensibly to get her trunk, but really to get a warrant for the arrest of the housekeeper. This morning the wife made affidavit to the above statement, and the keeper of the house was fined $25 and costs of suit.—Cleveland Plaindealer.

THE OPENING OF THE AFRICAN SLAVE TRADE INDEFINITELY POSTPONED.—The Senate of the State of South Carolina, on the 8th inst., without debate, disposed of the report and resolutions in favor of reopening the slave trade, by indefinite postponement.

Many who suffer from Headache and Nervous Debility are ignorant that the real cause, in most instances, is a deranged state of the stomach and digestive functions. The Oxygenated Bitters are peculiarly adapted to the cure of these symptoms. A.

LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed to superintend their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as well protected as if they were present. The Managers would respectfully call attention to the fact that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are legalized by the Legislature of that State. A lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year, all orders received being filled in the drawing next to take place after the same come to hand. According to the scheme one ticket in every ten must draw a prize. Tickets are $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2.50. No charge for the certificate accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers, which has so mystify the buyer. Prizes vary from $40 to $50,000; every prize being drawn, and result of drawing forwarded to all purchasers.
☞ A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers:—New Orleans Delta, Mobile Register, Charleston Standard, Nashville Gazette, Atlanta Intelligencer, and New York Weekly Day Book. Write your orders plainly and direct to S. SWAN & Co., Augusta, Georgia

LOTTERIES.

The well-known Maryland Consolidated Lotteries, of which E. FRANCK & Co are the managers, are chartered by the state of Maryland, and a commissioner elected by the people, who is sworn to superintend and certify that everything connected with them is done in a strictly honorable manner, and that the interests of parties who reside at a distance are as well protected as if they themselves were present at the drawing. Another fact which the managers call attention to, is, that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Maryland, as lotteries are legalized by special law in that state. A lottery is drawn every day of the month. If no particular plan is named, orders are filled in the first drawing to take place after the communication comes to hand. The prices of tickets vary from $1 to $20. No tickets are sent, nor sent unless the money for the same is received with the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket (after the Manner of the Havana Lottery) and result of drawing mailed to all purchasers immediately after it is over.
☞ The drawn numbers of the Maryland Lotteries are published by the State Commissioner in the following papers, viz: Sun, Clipper, Patriot, American, Argus, of Baltimore; also, the National Intelligencer and Union, of Washington, D.C.

THE GREAT BEAUTIFIER

So long unsuccessfully sought,
FOUND AT LAST.

FOR IT RESTORES PERMANENTLY GRAY HAIR to its original color; covers luxuriantly the bald head; removes all dandruff, itching, and all scrofula, scald head and all eruptions; makes the hair healthy, and glossy, and will preserve it to any imaginable age; removes, as if by magic, all blotches, &c., from the face, and cures all neuralgia and nervous headache See circular and the following.

DOVER, N. H., Feb. 2, 1857.

Prof. O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: Within a few days we have received so many orders and calls for Dr. Wood's Hair Restorative, that to-day we were compelled to send to Boston for a quantity, (the 6 dozen you forwarded all being sold,) while we might order a quantity from you. Every one we have sold seems to have produced three or four new customers, and the approbation and patronage it receives from the most substantial and worthy citizens of our vicinity, fully convinces us that it is A MOST VALUABLE PREPARATION.
Send us as soon as may be one gross of $1 size; and one dozen of $2 size; yours very resp'ly,
DANIEL LATHROP & Co.

Hickory Grove, St. Charles Co., Mo., 1856.

PROF. O. J. WOOD—Dear Sir: Some time last summer we purchased a half dozen bottles of your Hair Restorative, and its effects were so wonderful, we feel it our duty to you and the afflicted, to report it.
Our little son's head for some time had been perfectly covered with sores, and some called it scald head. The hair almost entirely came off in consequence, when a friend, seeing his suffering, advised us to use your Restorative, we did so with little hope of success, but, to our surprise, and that of all our friends, it very soon effectually removed the disease entirely, and a new and luxuriant crop of hair soon started out, and we can now say that our boy has as healthy a scalp, and as luxuriant a crop of hair as any other child. We can therefore, and do hereby, recommend your Restorative, as a perfect remedy for all diseases of the scalp and hair. We are, yours respectfully,
GEORGE W. HOUGHNORNAM,
SARAH A. HIGGINBOTHAM.

GARDINER, Me., June 22, 1856.

Prof. O. J. Wood—Dear Sir: I have used two bottles of Professor Wood's Hair Restorative, and can truly say it is the greatest discovery of the age for restoring and changing the Hair. Before using it I was a man with gray hair, but now attained its original color. You can recommend it to the world without the least fear, as my case was one of the worst kind.
Yours Respectfully.

Magee's Patent Ventilating Stove.

FOR WARMING AND VENTILATING
PARLORS, OFFICES, HALLS, STORES,
SCHOOL HOUSES, &c.

WHICH for economy, purity of air, and ease of management, has no equal. It can be regulated so as to give

Any amount of Heat required,

and unlike all other Anthracite Coal Burners, ventilates the apartments quite as thoroughly, as a wood fire or Franklin, producing a current of Air, at once moist, pure and agreeable, and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache, so much complained of by those using Stoves and Furnaces, is entirely obviated. The fire may be continued from one to four days without replenishing.
These Stoves are beautiful in design, and finished in the most perfect manner. They are equally appropriate, and have given universal satisfaction to all who have adopted them.

For Offices and Stores as well as the Parlor.

The Inventor challenges the world to produce an article by which so much Pure Warm Air can be generated, from so small a quantity of fuel, requiring but about 15 pounds of Anthracite Coal, to warm an ordinary sized parlor for 24 hours, without replenishing, and then leaving fire enough to kindle without the use of charcoal. The coal is all used, and no clinkers made, consequently, sifting coal is dispensed with.—When this Stove is properly managed,
THE FIRE MAY BE CONTINUED THROUGH THE ENTIRE SEASON,
without once going out. Added to all these qualifications, the purchaser may reasonably expect to save from 30 to 50 per cent. in fuel expense.

—MANUFACTURERS OF—

Melodeons, Organ Melodeons,
—and—
PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

No. 511 Washington St., Boston.

The first premium over all competitors, at the Fair of the Mass. Charitable Mechanic Association, of the National Fair, Washington, D. C., also at the Ohio State Fair, held at Columbus, Ohio, was awarded to these Manufacturers.

By means of a new method of Voicing, known only to themselves, they have succeeded in removing the harsh and buzzing sound which formerly characterized the instrument, and offering the tones full, clear and organ like. The action is prompt and reliable, enabling the performer to execute the most rapid music without blurring the tones. The swell is arranged to give great expression.

THE PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

are designed particularly for Churches, Lodges, Halls, &c. It is arranged with two manuals, or banks of keys, the lower running an octave higher than the other, and may be used separately, and thus get in one case two distinct instruments; or by use of the coupler, the two banks of keys may be played at the same time by use of the front set only. American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY, solicitor of Patents,

(Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837.)

No. 70 State st, oppo. Kilby st, Boston,

AFTER an extensive practice of thirteen or twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britian, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity of Patents or Inventions, and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.
This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantage for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The reputation of the subscriber, and the success that attends his efforts, have given proof that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGE OR ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate—that the immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents, in these, besides the extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond any others, to offer superior facilities for obtaining patents.
All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, is thus, and usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

Testimonials.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business as Solicitor at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent office; and there were none who conducted it with more ability, skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

From the Present Commissioner.

AUGUST 17, 1855.—During the time I have held the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the business of Patents with the Office, as a Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and competent practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHAS. MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

—MANUFACTURERS OF—

Melodeons, Organ Melodeons,
—and—
PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

No. 511 Washington St., Boston.

The first premium over all competitors, at the Fair of the Mass. Charitable Mechanic Association, of the National Fair, Washington, D. C., also at the Ohio State Fair, held at Columbus, Ohio, was awarded to these Manufacturers.

By means of a new method of Voicing, known only to themselves, they have succeeded in removing the harsh and buzzing sound which formerly characterized the instrument, and offering the tones full, clear and organ like. The action is prompt and reliable, enabling the performer to execute the most rapid music without blurring the tones. The swell is arranged to give great expression.

THE PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

are designed particularly for Churches, Lodges, Halls, &c. It is arranged with two manuals, or banks of keys, the lower running an octave higher than the other, and may be used separately, and thus get in one case two distinct instruments; or by use of the coupler, the two banks of keys may be played at the same time by use of the front set only. Every form of inflammation (but no other disease) is subdued, by it as easily as fire is extinguished by water. CHRISTMAS.

With the progress of the world, as sectarian prejudices become less violent, and the spirit of him at whose birth "Peace on earth and good will toward man" was proclaimed, becomes more visible—the observance of the anniversary of the Nativity of Christ is becoming more generally observed. The fact has a pleasant indication, if the observance be in keeping with the importance and nature of the interesting event. The birth of a Saviour—the redeemer of a world;—the grand central event in the world's history to which the eye of faith had looked forward for thousands of years—and back upon which the eyes of all christendom have been fixed for nearly two thousand years past. In comparison with all other events it stands like a sun among the stars of the firmament; and in comparison with all other events it should have a like prominence in its observance.

There will, we understand, be services as usual in the Stone Church on Christmas eve, to commence at 7 o'clock. There will also be services the same evening at the same hour, in the Universalist Church. Sermon by Rev. Mr. Patterson.—The church is being decorated with evergreens for the occasion.

On Christmas day, at St. John's Church, which is being handsomely decorated, services will commence at 10 in the morning. We understand that the Rev. Dr. Burroughs, who resigned his pastoral relations some months since, has accepted an invitation to officiate on that day. This will make the forty-eighth successive year in which he has occupied that desk on this anniversary. The Christmas of his first year, 1809, he was absent, but has officiated every year since.

There will also be services at the Catholic Church on that day.

The stores generally have been closed for several years past, and probably will be the present year.

Rev. A. L. Stone of the Park street church Boston, will preach at the North Church in this city on Sunday next.

Last year, 1856, on the evening of the 17th o December, the mercury descended to 4 below 0.—On the 18th it was at 7 below in the morning, at 1 below at noon, at 4 below at night; and on the 19th, was 4 below in the morning. We have as yet not had colder weather than 14 above.

NORTHERN LIGHTS.—Between 1 and 4 o'clock on Thursday morning there was the most brilliant display of northern lights ever witnessed in this region. They reflected as much light into the windows as the moon after its first quarter. The emanations seemed to be from a point thirty or forty degrees above the horizon.

CORRECTION.—A fortnight since we copied from a Dover paper a statement that the Hon. Joseph Wentworth of Sandwich, at the Ossipee Court, was fined $50 and costs for selling liquors. Jos Wentworth was fined, but he was a man belong to another town, and not the gentleman the paragraph unintentionally indicated. Mr. W. who is the Postmaster of Sandwich, we are pleased to say, is a temperance man, and has no occasion to be called to account by any court for any infringements of the law.

MUNICIPAL.—In Board of Aldermen, Dec. 17.—The bill of J. H. Thatcher, for glass broken by concussions from Clinton House, while blasting rocks—leave to withdraw.

Petition of Samuel Strong, to be heard in relation to the difficulty between the Street Commissioner and himself, in relation to the occupation of State street, granted. A. R. Hatch appeared for Mr. Strong. The Mayor was appointed a committee to confer with the Street Commissioner.

The committee on Fire Department, to whom was referred the report of the Chief Engineer, recommend that old engine No. 3 be kept, as in case of a large fire it might be of much service; also, that the building of a reservoir be postponed to another year.

The Newburyport Herald has the following comments on the President's message:

That part of the message which refers to Kansas, has all the insolence of a slave driver's proclamation. "Kansas," says he, "has for some years occupied too much of the public attention. It is high time that this should be diverted to far more important objects." We believe that Mr. Buchanan will find his hands full to manage the present Congress, without telling the public how their attention shall be occupied. That is just a matter that Mr. Buchanan has nothing to do with, and the people will place their attention where they please. He makes issue with that public upon this Kansas question, and they will pick up the glove he has thrown down. Nor will he find his opponents in the American and Republican ranks only, the foremost of them will be men whose fealty to democratic principles is as undoubted as his own.

The New York Courier of Monday concludes an able political article with the subjoined pithy remarks:

The Administration has just now three pieces of work before it, which we think will give it some trouble to finish in a workmanlike manner. It has made a treaty with Nicaragua, and suffered a fillibuster to invade Nicaragua; it has sent a handful of soldiers to conquer Utah, and the handful of soldiers is, at this moment, exposed to annihilation; it has promised that Kansas should govern itself, broken that promise, and Kansas is on fire with the indignation of a people outraged in their right of sovereignty, and resolved at all hazard to maintain it. This is a pretty good beginning for an administration only one year old. What will three years bring forth?

The Providence Journal says:

A singular misapprehension seems to prevail, in Congress and throughout the country. We all know that the slavery question was settled long ago. It was settled first by the repeal of the Missouri Compromise, and then, to make the matter sure, it was settled over again by the election of Mr. Buchanan. Of this we are assured in the most positive terms by all the organs of the Democratic party, and yet in spite of this final and reiterated settlement, the President's message is full of it, the debates in Congress open upon it, the newspapers are all discussing it, and every body is talking about it, just as though it had not been settled, wiped out, dried up, and stowed away, as safe and forgotten as a used up principle of the Democratic party.

Something should be done to stop this. It is high time, as the President justly observes, to stop talking about the subject that forms the principal topic of his message. The President has certainly done his share, but the fire blazes out of the very holes that he stops up with shavings, and in spite of the oil with which he attempts to extinguish it. This is very strange; fire ought not to do so, but it will.

Morning Chronicle.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 19, 1857.

THE REASONS:

AN ADDRESS DELIVERED BY REV. L. WHITING,

At the N. H. State Temperance Convention.

At the request of a Committee of the New Hampshire State Temperance Society, the following ADDRESS was written and read at the State Temperance Convention in Manchester, Dec. 15th.

After reading, on motion of Rev. C. W. Wallace, it was Voted, That the written Answer given by Rev. Mr. Whiting, to the Question, "Why is not our Temperance Law better executed?"—be accepted, adopted as the sentiment of this Convention,—and published in the papers of the State.

The Committee asked for a reply to the question, "Why is not the law prohibiting the sale of alcoholic drinks in this State, better executed?"

Mr. President, ladies and gentlemen:—

Scores of sinking, struggling drunkards, thousands of wo-worn wives and mothers, of shamed, ragged and hungry children; all friends of good morals, temperance and public prosperity, send this sad question to this State Convention to-day.

Amid stricken families, from blighted homes, out of terrible wastes of choicest character and dearest hopes, comes the despairing enquiry. Murdered men, incendiary fires, robberies, private and public violence, crimes of all forms, press the question. Courts of justice, prisons, poor houses, echo it in shame. Vile saloons, defiant tavern bars, and lowest drinking dens, do the same in derisive taunts.

But some approach can be made. Some of the reasons can be set in order. With the question itself let us begin. What is a Law? a Prohibitory Law, and what is its enforcement?

In a republic, certain established or constitutional forms or principles, fundamental in a republic, call for and get the will or choice of the people in a given population, on a thing to be done or not to be done. The united expression of a State, the way they wish to do themselves and have others who come among them do about given things, is put into one of those forms, and by that expression and embodyment, becomes what is termed a law, always having in it one of two forces of authority; either a position commanding or requiring force—as to the thing or things that form reaches;—or a forbidding, prohibiting, limiting of that thing or things. Into one of these forms, all Law finally resolves itself; either it requires or permits,—or it forbids and restrains. Any work of legislation not having one of these forces in it, stronger than any other force, falls at once to the rank of mere precept or advice. There is no legal power, or authority in it, unless one of these two forms frame and act in it.

The will of a State, city or town, that a thing shall be done, or shall not be done, constitutionally expressed, that is the Law there. Nothing else is law.

So then Secondly; the word "prohibitory" before Law, only declares as a title which one of the forces,—its very existence implies,—prevails in it. The Prohibitory Law of this State is simply the lawfully expressed will of the people on the business of selling deadly drinks—that it shall not be done.

We stop in the argument a moment to say, we suppose that scarce a law among the statutes of the State is more distinctly the will of the people than this. After years of consideration, a Legislature was specially chosen to frame and establish it.

Choosing them was the first utterance of the will and choice of the people, on that matter. Accepting and approving the Law they enacted, was a second or satisfying expression of that will.

What then hinders the prevalence and carrying out of this Law? If all the essentials of a Law and of a Prohibitory law are in in it, why is the havoc of drunkenness so terrible among us yet? If not from from causes in itself, what are the causes out of itself? An army of reasons could be set in the way of reply, but no one would be an entire answer to the question.

There may be some reason which enters into, and comprehends the vitality of all others. We think there is, and shall come to it after stating a few commonly accepted answers.

One man is sure that the blind, almost brutal passion of party politics stops the action of this beneficient prohibition. Granted that partizan enmities do in cases outride it. In other cases, party spirit keeps it. So it is not an intrinsic or prevalent reason, for it points to a cause which works both ways in diverse times and places, though it must in shame be confessed, that partizan degradation may over a whole State gather to its standard those who use and befriend this terrible scourge of all human welfare.

Another broader reason we think to be, the power of the twin lusts of gain in the seller, and of appetite in the buyer. The vender says, "I love gain, even the remorseless grabs of it a trader in this infernal business can make. True, it's a hard, dirty desperate business. You have to go in face of conscience, humanity, reason, and the law,—but—, gain is my lust. I'm down on the level of this base, outlawed, abominable work. I'd rather do it, than to get my living by any honest, decent work. I know 'tis a mean, sneaking way to live,—this devouring your customers, dangerous too just now, if people have a mind to make it so, but, if you'll pay me, I'll do it."

The drunkard (we mean any man who hangs upon a grog-shop in a daily, or less constant frequency)—replies, I love the drunkard's drink, and though I know it is burning my body and soul to death, poisoning my blood and filling my bones with pains,—yet if you will keep and sell it, I must have it; I can't stand before my appetite. I like to get it, a glass at a time, and get it in your den or palace, as may be, for the company of drunkards is needed to form the drunkard, and I couldn't keep it in my place of business, or at my house, and stay in them. So I'll conspire with you to stand against this law. I'll pay you the outrageous profits of the trade, swear any thing for you, perjure myself in any court of justice to screen you; in short put my lust for drink, with yours for gain, and we, and all like us, will set ourselves against this Law.

So they frame a conspiracy of defiance and of resistance against the State which protects them and theirs, and must even feed and shelter them if their vices disable them before killing them.

They are a positive organized conspiracy against the will of the State, and the good of all in it. Their meetings are not yearly, or quarterly, or weekly even,—nor at the call of committees or leaders; but daily, bi-daily, tri-daily, they meet in the grog-shop, saloon and bar-room. These places are the seats of defiant conspirators. They need no other organization than above shown—no chairman, scribe, committee, resolve, or public acts. 'Tis a secret, base league—each conspirator is officer and member—ever in session, so long as the places of sale stay open, they unceasingly pervert and counterwork the law. Every dram mixed, sold and drank is a fresh assault upon the law, and all the sanctions and supports appertaining to it. This is indeed a formidable reason, among the reasons why the blessings of this law are kept from us. But not all the hindrance comes in that form. On the other side—the want of physical courage in temperance and peaceable people impedes the law.

The rumseller and his fellow conspirators are desperate men. Their calling is that of outlaws and bandits, and of course their own defence they must take into their own hands. So, firebrands, slung-shot, knives, fire-arms, combustible and nauseous mixtures to be cast into private dwellings, to the peril of the lives of those within,—these and secret malicious depredations upon shrubbery, favorite animals, or other personal possessions, are the favorite weapons and chosen arguments of these conspirators. No crime, to the shedding of blood, do they stick at, if their ends require it.

But peaceable, law-observing people can not fight—at least not with such weapons, even in self-defence. The common sentiment of civilized society is above the use of these brutal forces, either in attack or defence. But the rum league begins with them. Now, to meet such combatants, few men are ready. Since wild beasts, Indians and foreign warriors have ceased from our land, our hands are unused to the bow or the spear. Our swords have gone for ploughshares and our spears for pruning-hooks. We shrink from personal violence—are afraid of the man of blood and violent dealing. But scarce an active friend of temperance can be found, who has not felt it, from the foes of the law. From that "New Edition of Temperance Tales"—as Rev. B. E. Hale termed his shorn horse (a mean malicious cruelty, perpetrated in one of the western towns of this State,)—to the barn-burning in the eastern towns, more recently, the rum weapon is physical violence. Temperance, virtuous people are restrained in violence. They do not freely dare to encounter it.

The other reason is,—The pressure of lawful business pursuits so engrosses good men, that they have no time or strength to pursue violations of the law. The urgency of nearly all prosperous business among us keeps men in a perpetual confinement to their calling. If a man will do any thing, he must do more than he really ought to do, or reasonably should do. Few margins for temporary leisure, or for attention to other things are left to business men among us. In this, violators of the law have an evident advantage. Their chief business is to carry on their contraband work.—On it their main attention is spent. Their talk, counsels, voting, conduct in the civil courts, and all their acts, secret and open, aim at this one end,—to counterwork the authority and will of the State they dwell in,—a species of base treachery indeed, which any honorable man abhors. The real business of society; its agriculture, manufactures, trade and education, is not in the hands of drunkards or of those joined with them against temperance. They have neither skill or character to do much but the lowest and least important parts—at least as a rule 'tis so. Drunkards cannot be trusted in any responsible service. They cannot trust themselves. Sober men plan and perform the real work of the world; but while they are building up all the interests of society, the rum-league, through all its range of exertion, from the brawl of the grog-shop to the debased newspaper which panders ("acts as agent for the lust of others."—Web.) is as busy in pulling down every good thing in society.

Other causes I had set down, but none so comprehensive as to show a generic or common quality running through all causes.

Such a cause, as I deem it, will conclude the enumeration, viz: The want of applied moral principle. Not a want of such principle, as existing, but a want of it as applied to this so vital reform.

It is not enough thought of as God's cause. The morality,—the religion if you please,—is too much left out of it. The law of God is not kept in constant sight of men as against this sin. His solemn sanctions are not enough interposed, and his promised blessings on the temperate are not held forth. Who commands "thou shalt not kill?" and who is a more deadly slayer of men, and that by most terrible murder, than the vender of these prohibited drinks? and all who defend and uphold him, aid and abet the crime. "Touch not, taste not," as a command of God is suggestive of temperance pleas. "Wo unto him that giveth his neighbor drink, that putteth thy bottle to him and makest him drunken,"—were words which once were felt in all their applications. We need to bring them back to use. The wickedness, the positive sin of drunkenness is not felt. That the body is "a temple of God, and if any man defileth the temple of God, him shall God destroy"—that "nor thieves, nor covetous, nor drunkards * shall inherit the kingdom of God"—we have too much forgotten.

These outlaws of God and man are to be pitied, not mocked,—to be plucked as "brands from the burning," and saved as "pulling them out of the fire." There is an immorality in the common style of recording scenes of drunkenness in the public prints. Into a jest, as some laughable news item, most of these dreadful records are fashioned. The poor blighted being, body and soul staggering down to an horrible perdition, is jeered at, on his awful way. The sentiment of pity seldom infuses these most sorrowful records of human ruin. This is wrong. It damages the moral sensibility of the community to have these wretched beings in their most wretched fate set forth as laughing-stocks. The sanctity of the human laws they defy, is weakened by forgetting the divine laws they also set at naught. The moral guilt is not felt and spoken against, and the whole work of redeeming men from this curse is hindered. A weeping prophet is more needed than a mocking and sport-making prophet, to carry on this work.

The word of God must recover its place and influence in our arguments and appeals, if the work is to prosper in our hands. How few quotations from sacred scriptures are heard in either argument or appeal at the present day. The place religious convictions once had in the temperance work, is now given to political, organic and legislative means. These all are good as allies, but perilous as substitutes. A stern but tender moral earnestness should meet this iniquity. The prayers of ministers and people, and the entire sentiment of resistance to the evil, should feel it. Forsaking God, he forsakes us, in this, as in every other work of life, for "not by might nor by power" of men alone, but from the divine arm comes the real force of all human renovation.

Men and brethren: while we sit here, hundreds of men—young men—are sinking in drunkenness. Our sons, brothers or fathers they may be. They and their destroyers mock us by open defiance of a law which is the will of the people of this State, and which would save them from their terrible doom.

O, is it not a matter to be morally earnest about? Is not the evil big enough to stir our strongest convictions? "Yes,"—I know you answer yes.—Then call forth those convictions. The cruel chains of party, of political thwarts will then become as tow in the flame; the conspiring lusts of appetite and gain will find their league and conspiracy, but as a spider's web before them. Then too, courage, that royal robe of manhood, will awe the violent and shedder of blood, and then the engrossing cares of business shall cease their pressure, or yield to the stronger pressure of resolute pity towards those dying in the most fearful of deaths.

Thus every cause that hinders, waits on this cause. Summon moral energy to the work, and all energies now applied will rise in power, and all clouds dwindle as clouds before the sun. If God be on our side, who can withstand? One man then can chase a thousand, and two put ten thousand to flight.

CONGRESS.—In the Senate Thursday, Mr. Hunter of Virginia, from the Committee on Finance, in accordance with the recommendation of the Treasury, reported a bill authorizing the issue of Treasury notes for an amount not exceeding twenty million dollars. An abstract of the bill is furnished by telegraph; it prescribes the mode in which the bills shall be issued and redeemed, and contains the other essential particulars of such a bill.

In the House, the death of Mr. Montgomery, a member from Pennsylvania, was announced. Eulogies were pronounced, and the customary resolutions passed, when an adjournment took place.

BANK SUSPENSIONS OF THE SOUTH.—Augusta, Ga., Dec. 17.—The Legislature of South Carolina refuses to legalize the suspension of the banks in that State.

GOOD PUMPKIN PIE WITHOUT EGGS—One quart of boiling milk, two soda or Boston crackers rolled fine, put to the boiling milk two teacups of sugar, extract of lemon, little ginger. If this quantity will not make two pies, put in a little cold milk. Bake in a hot oven.

THERE ARE OCCASIONS

When even the healthiest people need medicine; the changes of diet, of weather, and hundreds of other causes, produce a laxity in the system that needs correcting, or in other words, the liver becomes slightly deranged and needs a stimulator. It all who find themselves in this situation will try Dr Sanford's Invigorator, they may be sure of relief, as we can testify to its efficacy in curing Sick Headache, Indigestion, Sour Stomach, and other ills so common in a family. It acts, as a medicine, easier and better than any dose of pills we ever swallowed, and so mild that the smallest infant can take it.

LOCAL.

☞ The Concord correspondent of the Manchester Mirror, has the following in reference to the sale of the Gazette establishment:—

We learn here that Amos S. Alexander, Esq., Attorney at Law at Boscawen, has purchased the oldest paper in New England, the New Hampshire Gazette, at Portsmouth, and will commence his editorial labors the first of next month. Mr. A. is a man of ability, and will make a ready and able editor. At heart, he is strongly with Senator Douglas and Gov. Walker, upon the Kansas issues, rather than with the President, and he is one of that better class of politicians who are quite apt and ready to speak as they believe.

It would seem by the above that the venerable Gazette is about to depart from the principles of "its fathers," abandon the President and his administration, and go in for "popular sovereignty" and "Free Soil."

WALKER'S RESIGNATION.

Robert J. Walker, late Governor of Kansas, is (strange to say) now numbered among the freedom shriekers.

Gov. Walker's letter to Secretary Cass, resigning the office of Governor of Kansas, is furnished by telegraph. He enters into a full exposition of his reasons for taking the course, and shows the inconsistency of the administration, which first promised him its support, and apparently coincided in his views, especially as to the propriety of submitting to the people of the Territory the constitution framed by the convention assembled by the Legislature. Unless it is so submitted, he declares that it ought to be rejected by Congress.

It is intimated from Washington that the President will return the letter of Gov. Walker, and will dismiss him outright, instead of accepting his resignation.

It would seem from this, that president Buchanan has learnt some wisdom since his unlucky attempt at answering the New Haven memorialists. He can easily dismiss Walker—but he cannot answer him.

In the letter of resignation, Gov. Walker says:—

"The grounds that are assumed by the President in his late message to Congress, and in recent instructions in connection with events now transpiring here and in Kansas, admonished me that as Governor of that Territory it will no longer be in my power to preserve the peace or promote the public welfare.

At the earnest solicitation of the President, after repeated refusals—the last being in writing, I formally accepted this office upon his letter showing the dangers and difficulties of the Kansas question, and the necessity of my undertaking the task of adjustment. Under these circumstances, notwithstanding the great sacrifice to my personal, political and pecuniary interests, I felt that I could no longer refuse such a call from my country through her Chief Magistrate, more than a soldier in battle who is ordered to the command of a forlorn hope.

I accepted, however, on the express condition that I should advocate the submission of the Constitution to a vote of the people for ratification or rejection. These views were clearly understood by the President and all his cabinet. They were distictly set forth in my letter on my acceptance of this office on the 26th of March last, and reiterated in my inaugural Address of the 27th of May last, as follows: 'Indeed I cannot doubt that the Convention after having framed a State Constitution will submit it for ratification or rejection by a majority of the then actual bona fide resident settlers of Kansas.'

With these views well known to the President and the Cabinet, and approved by them, I accepted the appointment of Governor of Kansas. My instructions from the President through the Secretary of State under date of 30th March last, sustain the regular Legislature of the Territory in assembling a Convention to form a Constitution, and they express the opinion of the President that, 'when such a Constitution shall be submitted to the people of the Territory, they must be protected in the exercise of their right of voting for or against that instrument, and the fair expression of the popular will must not be interrupted by fraud or violence.'

I repeat, then, as my clear conviction, that, unless the convention submit the Constitution to the vote of all the actual resident settlers of Kansas, and the election be fairly and justly conducted, the Constitution will be, and ought to be, rejected by Congress."

☞ The St. Louis Democrat has information from Kansas, which confirms the statements made previously by several Washington correspondents, to the effect that the Administration is exerting its influence in the territory to have the Lecompton constitution without slavery adopted on the 21st inst. By this means, it is thought, the northern Democratic members of Congress, with due official appliances, can be brought to approve the constitution; while so far as Kansas is concerned, it will still remain a slave State sufficient for all present purposes.

Iron Sinks.

SIX dozen of the celebrated Providence Iron Sinks for sale by d18 E. A. STEVENS.

GROSS ERROR.—The N. H. Gazette of the 19th, says, of the State Temperance Convention at Manchester;—

The attendance was small, the largest number present, in the evening, being not more than 200.

From what quarter the Gazette obtained this information, we know not,—but from whatever quarter it came, it is notoriously false.

Uncle Toby was there all day—and he set down the assembly at 200 in the morning; 400 in the afternoon, and 600 or 700 in the evening.

And to show that he does not talk with out book, we copy the following item from a correspondent of the Manchester Mirror, who evidently wished to belittle the whole thing. He says.

The evening session was better attended. The hall was tolerably well filled, though there were plenty of spare seats, both in the body of the house and the galleries.

The meetings were in Smyth's Hall, which is the largest hall in Manchester, and which will hold more people than the Temple and Jefferson Hall in Portsmouth can hold both together!

Now the correspondent of the Mirror, wishing to make the least of the audience, would not think that 200 people tolerably well filled a room that would hold eight or ten times as many!

No, no, Mr. editor of Gazette, brush up your eyesight, abd revise your figures,—for you lie under a great mistake in this matter, and had better correct it in your next, if you wish ever to be believed in any future statement.

EXETERIANA.

EXETER, Friday, Dec. 18.

DISASTROUS CONFLAGRATION IN EXETER. About half past six o'clock, Thursday evening, the almost obsolete cry of fire was heard in our streets. It proved to proceed from the burning of the large wooden buildings on River Street, known as the New England Gas and Steam pipe Company's Factory. When we arrived, vast volumes of thick, white smoke, were rolling over the roof of the building farthest south; while the blazing interior lighted up the neighborhood far and wide. It was some considerable time before a stream was thrown on the fire, and then it was of no avail. The counting-room, (from which the safe was rescued without injury,) the coal-shed and Foundry were saved.—In an hour, nothing save the chimneys and two brick walls of the main building were left standing.

Loss estimated at 6000 or $8000—fully insured.

It is not certainly known how the fire originated. It is supposed that it caught from a fire which had been made in the boiler room. The Factory has been idle for a month or more, and the engine was started (it is said) to run a part of the machinery in the Foundry, on the opposite side of the street. Some suppose that it was the work of an incendiary, but it is to be hoped that such was not the case.

From the remarks of the crowd, we should infer that the Fire Department on this occasion added nothing to what laurels they might have before obtained. The first half-hour that the engines were on the ground, was spent in getting ready to play on the wrong place; and after getting ready, the pumps would not work more than five minutes. Afterwards, an occasional stream was brought to bear on the fire, and the neighboring property was saved.

This is a severe blow to the prosperity of Exeter. As many as fifty families have been dependent for a living on this Factory; and indeed, it has been the most important branch of business we have ever had here. The owners thought of removing the works to some place nearer Boston, and this event will no doubt settle the question; for the Factory will not in any probability be rebuilt here. The loss to the owners must be heavy. Among the valuable machinery, was a fine steam engine. This occasion is probably a finis to all Pipe Shop operations in this town.

The First Congregational society propose to hold a Fair, or Concert, or Exhibition or something of that nature, on Christmas Eve. The representation of Tableaux is expected to be brilliant. The object is to paocure an organist for their church.

Flagg's (Fuller's) Paper Mills have commenced running once more. The demand for their paper is so great, that they run during a part of the night.—The fall term of the Academy began on Wednesday.—The Indians, it seems, love Squamscot—The tribe which were here a few weeks ago, have removed their tents, and gone to housekeeping in a half-civilized manner.

Yours, F. G.

Stray Horse.

CAME into my enclosure about ten days since, a young Horse, bay color, white strip in the face, and one white hind foot. The owner is requested to prove property, pay charges and take him away. DANIEL F. HAYES.

Newington, Dec. 17, 1857.

KANSAS.—St. Louis, Dec. 17.—The Republican has Kansas dates to the 10th inst. The Legislature had done nothing towards carrying out the recommendations in Secretary Stanton's message.

The election returns of Kickapoo had been declared by a committee of investigation, and the republican members admitted to their seats in the House.

Kansas letters to the Democrat say that an attempt is being made in the border counties of Missouri, to form companies of voters to control the election on the 21st inst.

At a mass convention held at Lecompton on the 16th inst., resolutions were passed, endorsing the proceedings of the Delegate Convention held at Lawrence on the 2d inst., and pledging themselves individually and collectively, to oppose to the utmost, the Constitution adopted at Lecompton, and resist every attempt made to put the government in operation under the same.

LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed to superintend their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as well protected as if they were present. The undersigned would respectfully call attention to the fact that all persons have the right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are authorized by the Legislature of that State. A lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year; all orders received being filled in the drawing next to take place after the same comes to hand. According to the scheme published every ticket must draw a prize. Tickets are $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2.50. No tickets sent unless the money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers to mystify the buyer. Prizes varying from $5 to $50,000; every prize being drawn, and result of drawing forwarded to all purchasers.

☞ A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers:—New Orleans Delta, Mobile Register, Charleston Standard, Savannah Republican, Atlanta Intelligencer, and New York Weekly Day Book. Write your address plainly, and direct to SWAN & CO., Augusta, Georgia.

Prizes paid in full—no percentage deducted from prizes as in other lotteries.

LOTTERIES.

The well-known Maryland and Consolidated Lotteries, of which E. FRANCK & CO are the managers, are chartered by the state of Maryland, and a commissioner appointed by the people, who is sworn to superintend and certify that everything connected with them is done in a strictly honorable manner, and that the interests of parties who reside at a distance are as well protected as if they themselves were present at the drawing. Another fact which the managers call attention to, is, that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as lotteries are legalized by special law in that state. A lottery is drawn at Savannah, Ga., about the 15th of every month, and another is drawn at Macon, Ga., every Saturday throughout the year. By no particular class is named, orders are filled in the first drawing to take place after the communication comes to hand. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers, which has so mystified the community for years past. Prizes vary in amount from $40 to $60,000. Every prize being drawn, and result of drawing, or other information, forwarded to all purchasers.

A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount that each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers: New Orleans Delta, Charleston News, New York Dispatch, and New York Atlas. Write your address plainly, and direct to ANDERSON & SON, MANAGERS,
Macon or Savannah, Ga.

Prizes paid in full; no per centage deducted from prizes, as in other lotteries. All communications strictly confidential. oct29 1y
